MAV 01258

Dorothea and others - have an old-fashioned flavour today. One sister took the poetic name of Pleasance. A wooden triangle over one grave catches the attention; was it a religious symbol?

In these days the spacious acres, the trees and grass of Retreat House are a refreshing sight to eyes long accustomed to suburban boxes and restless traffic. It is one of the places that helps to give Cheltenham its character. We hope it stays with us.

(Information from the present Sister Superior of Retreat House and Standard News, 1950).

---