Ringwood District's Horticultural Socy's Show.

The annual exhibition of fruit, vegetables, flowers, dairy produce &c was held under the auspices of Ringwood, Mooroolbark, Goydon, Scoresby, and Wantwidge Horticultural Society in the Ringwood Hall and a spacious marquee adjoining on Tuesday. It was an intensely hot day, but that did not militate against the success of the Show, which in extent and attractiveness proved to be the best one ever run by the Society. In the absence of the "genial" member for the District, the opening ceremony was performed by Mr J. C. Campbell, of Vic. Leg. Council and horse bazaar fame. There was keen competition in all sections, and the various displays were magnificent. The display of flowers were small ones, the specimens shown were of a high order. A very complete display of fruits exhibited by the Agricultural Deptt. attracted considerable attention. In the grounds, dairying and gardening implements were shown at work. There was no competition this time for gardeners turnouts and baguettes. Poultry a new feature made a creditable display, and the whole show was an immense success. The Committee and especially the President Ct. Hall, and Secretary Mr G. A. Williams worked like Trojans and are worthy

 Amongst those who took part were Signor & Signora Boy, and Concurrent with general growth of forests, there is an increase in species richness of plants associated with forest development. This increase in species richness may be due to the introduction of alien species or due to increased availability of resources. It is known that alien species often out-compete native species, especially when they are introduced in large numbers.

However, some alien species are well adapted to local conditions and may even become dominant in certain areas. For example, in the case of bamboo, it has been observed that it has become more abundant in certain areas due to the removal of other vegetation by humans.

Plant species richness is generally higher in areas where there is more rainfall and less human activity. This is because there is more available water and less human activity leads to less disturbance of the environment.

30/2/1900 Ringwood District Horticultural Show - Shows,

The fourth annual Show of the Ringwood Horticultural Society was opened at the Hall Ringwood on Thursday 15th inst. The day being beautifully fine, the attendance was large and during the evening the large Hall and the Marquee adjoining were taxed to their utmost capacity.

The past season has not been a favorable one from a fruit-growing stand point, and an inspection of the general run of orchards throughout the large fruit-growing centre of Ringwood and district would provide ample proof of the fact. The Ringwood Society however, which, though only in its infancy, being hardly four years in existence, has of late been catering for the premier position by offering special advantages and benefits to the growers of the district, and the determination of the promoters to "stem the tide" by offering in the face of all odds a liberal schedule of prizes is certainly commendable. After the opening of the Show by Mr. Cameron an adjournment was made to the Club Hotel where about 50 Gentlemen sat down to a sumptuous spread the chairs being occupied by the President Mr H. Thatcher after the good things provided by Hoslers Sweeney, the various toasts were proposed and responded to in the usual happy spirit.

The annual meeting of the Socy was held at Ringwood on Thursday last, and there was a fair attendance of members. The proposal to erect a Horticultural Hall opposite the Station was favourably received by many of the members, but with a view of entering upon it with caution and safety a Committee consisting of Messrs J. Hann, P. Yarmilo, and H. Maggs were appointed to go into particulars and report at the next meeting. The following office bearers were appointed, elected for the ensuing year. — President Mr H. A meeting of the Special Committee ^{appointed by} of the Ringwood Horticultural Socy was held last week. When a Scheme was placed before them for the proposed Cooperative fruitgrowers preserving factory, and after full consideration and a lengthy discussion, it was resolved that such should be submitted to the Council of the Victorian fruitgrowers Association at their monthly meeting on Monday 19th inst. The Socy are certainly to be commended for taking this definite step and though possibly their Scheme may literally be pulled to pieces it may set others thinking with the result that something may be constructed which may prove acceptable to the majority.
