

The Dickson Family

Foreward

In publishing this book we have endeavoured to record the history of Moses and Frances Dickson before it is lost.

Moses and Frances worked hard as orchardists in the early 1900's and through their hard work and perseverance helped to establish North Ringwood so that it would prosper and grow to how we see it today. Many of their descendants are still on the land, while others contribute to our society in other ways.

Most of this book has been pieced together from talking to members of their family and the loan of precious photographs

*In nineteen hundred and four
The Dickson family began
When a Croydon lass named Frances
Married Moses a North Ringwood man*

*They settled down in Ringwood North
On a special piece of land
Their orchard grew and flourished
The way they hoped and planned*

*God blessed this happy couple
With seven special joys
They had three lovely daughters
And four handsome bonny boys*

*These children grew with love
Throughout those early days
Each learning all the needs of life
To go their seperate ways*

*With the many happy descendants
Of which they have been blest
The Dickson family continues to grow
Though Nana and Pop have gone to rest*

*Pop and Nana Dickson
Taught a treasured lesson to us all
Love each other as a family
And as a Dickson to stand tall*

FRANCES

Moses Dickson Snr. arrived in Australia, disembarking at Melbourne on the 1st November 1861. He had travelled on the "Elizabeth Bright" a ship of 1919 tons embarking from Liverpool with 458 other passengers on the 12th of August 1861.

Testimony about his arrival shows that he arrived with his brother Thomas. Moses was 19 and Thomas 20 and both were described as Irish labourers and single.

When Moses Dickson married Elizabeth Sargeant both were 23 years of age. Witnesses to the wedding were Richard Carson (a cousin) and Robert Sargeant (bride's brother).

Moses and Elizabeth had a small farm near the north east corner of Middleborough Road and Maroondah Highway in the first years of their married life. In 1875 the family moved to Ringwood where they purchased 121 acres bounded by Loughnan, Oban and Warrandyte Roads. This property was later lost in the economic crash of the late 19th century and the family later purchased a property on the corner of Warrandyte and Oban Roads Ringwood North, Moses and Elizabeth built their house close to Warrandyte Road. Moses Snr. died in 1904 following a stroke at the age of 63. He had worked as a farmer, woodcarter and died an orchardist. He passed on his skills to his sons, Stewart, Moses and Alfred and these skills followed into the succeeding generations. His wife Elizabeth died of blood poisoning following an infection after working in the garden. Elizabeth has been described as being a very happy bright person with auburn hair.

Before the building of churches in the area church meetings were held in the homes of the early settlers including the farm house of Moses and Elizabeth Dickson.

When Moses Snr. died Moses Jnr. and his wife Frances purchased the property from the family, where they lived for the remainder of their lives. Unfortunately the old family home was entirely lost in a fire in 1961 and with it went many family records. The property was later sub-divided into housing blocks and a shopping centre in Warrandyte Road North Ringwood. Some of these shops are still owned by Moses descendants.

There was a time some years ago when you could stand in the middle of the North Ringwood oval in Wonga Road and look at all the orchards in view knowing that the fruit trees had all been planted by some member or descendant of the Dickson Family.

Moses and Elizabeth Dickson and family were true pioneers who helped shape the history and developments of Ringwood.

The State School No. 4120 first opened in Oban Road North Ringwood in 1923 where the four youngest children of Moses and Frances completed their education. The school opened with fifteen pupils on the first day and by the end of the first year the number had increased to twenty four pupils.

In 1929 the single class room had to be enlarged and in 1955 and in 1968 additional class rooms were added. Most of Moses and Frances grandchildren attended North Ringwood school and some of their descendants are being educated at the school at this time, therefore there has been a Dickson or a Dickson descendant at the school ever since it opened.
