

Dear Ellie

Congratulations on the City of Ringwood honor. It is pleasing to receive, just occasionally, some acknowledgement of the countless hours of work ~~given~~
 given to community causes.
 Well done.

I have not overlooked the Bell Brakes back. Frank Stamford has dragged his feet badly on it and I am playing Russia Roulette (in a sense) with telephoning him. He's not so much. BT I contact him with in time for Christmas!!! Very best

Dear Mrs Pullin, thank you very much for offering to help with my family
history research.

I do not wish to be a nuisance, however
the information currently available to me is meagre.

I look forward to hearing
from you. Many thanks, Hamish Turnbull.

6-2 JOHN TURNBULL

Born September 14, 1818, Edinburgh, Midlothian, Scotland. Arrived in Melbourne c1854. Owned a Grocery store and Bakery, and later a Furniture Store in Sandridge, Port Melbourne. Served on the local council for some fifteen years. (Mayor, 1877). Appointed as a Justice of the Peace. At the time of his death he was the oldest Trustee of the Port Melbourne Presbyterian Church.

Married his first wife, Christian Kemp, c1843 at Edinburgh, and from this union had one daughter, Isabella. Married his second wife, Margaret Keith, c1848 also at Edinburgh. Margaret born at Arbroath, Edinburgh, Scotland c1826, daughter of James Keith, Plumber & Gasfitter, and Mary Smith, died December 23, 1865 at Sandridge, Port Melbourne, aged 39 years. John died March 13, 1889 at Sandridge, Victoria. Following is a transcript of his death notice, and a tribute by his colleagues:

DEATH OF A COUNCILLOR

J. TURNBULL, J.P.

It is with feelings of the deepest regret we announce the death of Councillor John Turnbull, which took place in his late residence in Rouse Street, Port Melbourne, somewhat suddenly on Wednesday morning. The deceased was a native of Edinburgh and 69 years of age at the time of his demise. He had been a very old resident having arrived in this Colony 34 years ago and during the whole of this time he carried on business in the borough, first as a baker and grocer, and for the past eleven years as a furniture dealer. Mr. Turnbull was elected to the local council in 1875 and occupied the mayoral chair from August 1877 to August 1878. He had been a member of the Council from the year mentioned, and always took a great interest in matters affecting the welfare of the borough. He was appointed a Justice of the Peace three years ago and was the oldest trustee of the local Presbyterian Church. The deceased was a widower, and leaves six children to mourn their loss.

The funeral of the deceased gentleman took place on Thursday afternoon, and the cortege was amongst the largest ever known in the borough. The body was laid in the family grounds at the Melbourne General Cemetery. The pall-bearers were as follows:- the mayor for the year (Cr. Prohasky J.P.), and seven ex-mayors, viz, - The Hon. F. T. Derham (Postmaster-General), T. Boroughs, H. H. Edwards, M. Quinn, - Tarver, J. Seisman, K. Plummer. Mr. Turnbull was universally respected for his genial and benevolent disposition. He has left a family of four sons and one daughter, all married and living in honor and respect.

SOUTH MELBOURNE RECORD

March 16, 1889

When the first case was called at the Port Melbourne Court of Petty Sessions on Thursday, Mr. Plummer said as senior practitioner at the court, it devolved upon him to refer to a painful subject. The bench were aware of the fact that Mr. John Turnbull, a member of the local council and a Justice of the Peace, had joined the great majority. The deceased gentleman was a personal friend of the speaker, and the fact of his somewhat sudden death was a great shock to him (Mr. Plummer) and he was at a loss to find words to express his feelings. He could however, say without fear of contradiction that by the death of Mr. Turnbull, the Borough of Port Melbourne had lost one of its best citizens. In all his relations of life the late John Turnbull was an exemplary man. As a member of the local council he was painstaking and courteous, and his long residence in the district, and his consequent acquaintance with the requirements of the borough was of great service to the ratepayers.

As a Justice of the Peace he (Mr. Plummer) ventured to say that no man who had occupied a seat on the local bench had performed the duties of the position in a more conscientious manner. In fact no better man than his deceased friend ever lived in Sandridge, and out of respect to his memory he would ask that the court be adjourned for a short time. Mr. Emerson and Mr. Boyd endorsed Mr. Plummer's remarks. The mayor (Mr. H. H. Prohasky) and Mr. N. H. Edwards J's P., who constituted the bench, expressed their sincere regret at the death of Cr. Turnbull J. P., and the Court was adjourned for half-an-hour.

John had one daughter from his marriage to Christian Kemp, and six sons and one daughter from his marriage to Margaret Keith.
