confirmed, and the accounts presented amounting to £136.0.2, with the exception of one item of £27 which was referred back to the Finance Committee were passed for payment.

Progress Reports for the month of February submitted by the Staff were received. - A scale of Fees prepared by the Professors and recommended for adoption was referred to the Education Committee:-

A letter from the Education Department with accompanying 'Extract from Act Inspector's Report on Ballarat School of Mines' was read. - The replies of the Instructors in this department of School <sup>work</sup> were also read - No action was taken. - A letter relative to the erection of a No. 10th Forest Cyanide Plant was also received from the Department, intimating that the Managing Director proposed visiting Ballarat and Consulting Professor Smith in regard to the introduction of the process.

Professors Smith and Horwood, and Mr. Lecturer Dawson were introduced to the Council Chamber when Professor Smith submitted the views entertained by the Professorial Board in regard to the working of this Institution under the Rules for the management of Technical Schools'.
The following is a summary of the Board's remarks on some of the Chief points at issue:-

Capitation grant allowed for only two subjects for each student whilst some attend ten or twelve subjects.

Credited with December passes only instead of for the passes extending over the whole of 1893, (except in the case of the June passes in Electricity).

Deferred capitation allowance (forwarded to The School two months after expiration of Session) is quite inexplicable upon any basis we can think of. - The claim was made according to the School's reading of the printed regulations.

Holding examinations only once a year instead of two or four times is a great hardship to the student, and an injustice to The School, as most students go over more than one grade of a subject in the year. - Our second year's course in Electricity corresponds to the Department's third year.

The new Attendance Rolls (drawn out for Art classes) wholly unsuitable to our teaching arrangements.

We were asked to give the new rules and regulations a trial; we have done so, and find them to be quite unworkable and beyond patching.

If the Department insists on enforcing these regulations it must hold itself responsible for dealing a death-blow to The School of Mines.

Insisting upon a School of Mines such as this entering into competition for a bare subsistence with classes for plain needlework and dressmaking is an undeserved indignity. The Department overrides all our arrangements and drags us down ruthlessly from the position of a School of Mines to 'Technical School No. 10', and forces us to teach each student only two subjects for two hours a week each, spread over the whole year, instead of as now, giving our students a complete School of Mines course so as to equip them as fully as possible for mining careers.

The three gentlemen retired and it was resolved to arrange for a deputation to wait upon the Hon. the Minister of Public Instruction with a view to advising him in regard to
