at work on some very interesting models. Junior School tables were also in course of construction by Thurston Francis and appeared to be very efficient and impressive jobs.

The Chemistry Laboratory was visited and found to be much tidier than formerly although still leaving much to be desired.

In the Art School examinations were in progress also but they gained the impression that Mr. Johnston is filling the position of Head of this department in a very efficient manner.

They found in the course of their inspection that the lighting of the various classrooms was generally deplorable and in some instances, dangerous.

The comprehensive report at present being prepared by Officers of the State Electricity Commission would not be available for a week or two but the information obtained disclosed a very serious state of affairs.

In many instances lighting shades were very dusty and cleaning would effect a marked improvement.

On the matter of tidiness there was still much to be desired and the question arose as to whether there were sufficient cleaners employed or whether their duties could be better arranged.

The Students' Room was in an untidy condition and appeared not to have been cleaned for days. It was suggested that a duty master might solve the problem.

The report was received on the motion of Mr. Lederman, seconded by Mr. Lynch.
