The late C. J. Barrow.

Before commencing proceedings the President referred to the loss sustained by the Council through the death of C. J. Barrow ^{the 11th inst.}. C. Barrow was one of the first students to attend the Art School and he had been a member of the School Council for the past 25 years.

C. Maxwell supported the President and said that C. Barrow would be missed very much. His keen interest in school affairs and intimate knowledge of its history was of great value in a member of the Council. Members of the Visiting Committee's Report.

C. Bealand reported that in company with C. Lynch an inspection had been made on the 5th inst. In the Art School they found only one class working. This was Engineering Drawing and a ~~good~~ large number of students was in attendance.

They next visited the Essay Department and found that considerable changes had been effected by Mr. Ellis who spoke them as being a very efficient Instructor. They next visited the Machine Shop and on the way down noticed that the last flight of steps was poorly lighted. They recommended that the steps be repainted with white paint and that a more powerful light be installed.

In the Machine Shop a class of Turnout Trainees was working under Mr. J. J. Edwards and was doing good work.
