Central Library

Ces Jones reported that Mr M. Colvin, an expert on libraries from England and Mr M. Gallum, Librarian in Chief of the Melbourne Public Library, had paid a visit to the school during their recent visit to Ballarat in connection with a survey of libraries for the Commonwealth Government.

Mr M. Colvin was very interested in the school's recently established central library and Ces Jones had suggested that Mr M. Colvin might comment on it in his report.

This might be the means of obtaining some assistance from the Commonwealth Government on the grounds that the library would be used by a number of Reconstruction trainees.

It was resolved that copies of the school's Prospectus and Jubilee Booklet be sent to Mr M. Colvin together with a letter expressing the Council's appreciation of his interest.

This concluded the business and the meeting closed with an exchange of seasonal greetings.
