They found that the quadrangle was now in excellent condition although the area was very limited for the large number of students who use it. Fluorescent lighting in class rooms was a big improvement but extension to other rooms was desirable. Repairing of some of the class rooms was also required.
They found that the wooden stairway to the balcony was in poor condition and suggested that it be covered to give protection in wet weather. In the art room they were impressed with the work of students under Mr J. Shirling Killick.

The gardens and grounds appeared to be in first class condition for this time of year but the ramp to the playing area was very slippery and dangerous.
The report was received and adopted.
(Mrs Lawry & Beanland)
