Beyond Bushfires, a continuing look into community resilience and recovery

The University of Melbourne is leading a long-term study into the health and wellbeing of community members affected by the 2009 Victorian bushfires.

The study aims to capture the diverse experiences of people in rural communities across Victoria, including those directly or indirectly affected by the tragic bushfires in February 2009.

Researchers launched the study in response to a need for evidence-based research to better support the development of policy and service delivery for fire affected families and communities over time.

Dr Lisa Gibbs of the University's School of Population Health and McCaughey Centre said it was expected the results of the study would be applied to future policies to help communities and services with strategies to improve recovery in future catastrophes.

"We hope to establish some mental health and wellbeing strategies that individuals, communities and agencies can rely on if they ever face future natural disasters again," Dr Gibbs said.

Titled 'Beyond Bushfires: Community Resilience and Recovery', the study has been funded by a five-year grant from the Australian Research Council with additional support from a number of research partners.

The study brings together a multidisciplinary team of leading international researchers with expertise in mental health, trauma, recovery, social networks, community and family health, child research, policy and emergency services.

"Our point of difference from other studies that have looked at the impact of disaster on individual mental health or post traumatic stress disorder, is our long term trajectory and emphasis on the connection between individual and community recovery," Dr Gibbs said.

Dr Rob Gordon, a Clinical Psychologist who has worked with people in more than 25 disasters in Australia and New Zealand said the study will be invaluable to gather urgently needed evidence about the patterns of impact and recovery and the full timescale involved.

"This information will be vital in preparing for effective support in future disasters," he said.

Over the five-year period researchers will survey around 3000 children, adolescents and adults from about 16 communities across Victoria, which experienced varying levels of fire impact. Participants will be asked to do a phone or online survey (about 30 mins) three times over five years. A small group will be invited to do more in-depth interviews to further explore their experiences of community and recovery.

Collaborators include the Victorian Department of Health, Australian Red Cross, Centrelink, Australian Rotary Health, Australian Centre for Posttraumatic Mental Health, and community groups and Primary Care Partnerships in the regions affected.

Principal Investigator Professor Elizabeth Waters said the community partnerships in the study provided a great hope for positive outcomes for the communities.

"With partnerships large and small in the communities affected, we hope they will be able to drive the changes that are needed to promote health and wellbeing for those affected by the February 2009 Bushfires," Professor Waters said.

This first phase of the project was trialled in the Bendigo and Darnum region in late 2011 and is now being extended to the following areas. It will include everyone living in those communities now and those who were living there in February 2009:

Bruaarong	Dederang
Glen Creek	Gundowring
Kancoona	Mudgegonga
Rosewhite	Running Creek
Axedale	Buxton
Callignee	Tallarook
Dixon's Creek	Eildon
Granton	Kinglake Central
Kinglake	Kinglake West
Koornalla	Marysville
Narbethong	Pheasant Creek
Steels Creek	Taggerty

Celebrate the first home game and the 2012 season for the Marysville Villains football team with a Sunday roast at 12 noon on Sunday May 6.

The Marysville Villains Football and Netball Club reformed in 2009 and the green and the gold took to the field again in 2011 for the first time in an official league competition since 1983.

Twelve months later they have superb new Community clubrooms and associated recreation facilities in the Marysville Community Centre.

Come and celebrate when the Villains play their first home game for the season – Marysville vs North Croydon.

The day includes a three course meal including roast as the mains, dessert, cheese platter and coffee.

Paul Harvey (Harv), creator of the Villain in the club logo and AFL appointee will be drawing caricatures, Dennis Tucker and his band will be playing, drinks will be available at bar prices, and you can watch the game in play in the comfort of the new facility.

Tickets are $45 for club members, or non-members $60 which includes one year's membership of the Marysville District Football & Netball Club

Bookings are being taken now. Contact Merran Guest on 0412 592 937 or merranc@bigpond.com, or Terry Ross 0419 512 363

Mayor's Chair

I have been attending a conference of Victoria's Rural Councils. One of the sessions related to the reasons for people staying in, coming to, or returning to, rural areas to live and work. There was a series of case studies with people presenting their own stories. A key influence throughout the presentations was involvement in community organisations and volunteer groups.

Long term residents reported that life-long friendships gained through active participation in community projects enabled them to weather any down times. 'Tree Changers' found that while they may have started with the objectives of spending more time fishing, golfing or pottering around, there soon came a time when they wanted to be involved in group activities. And young people who had been involved in sporting clubs and youth groups before they left for further education or trips around the world wanted to return to where they knew they could enjoy the fulfillment of being part of community projects.

This is important for Murrindindi Shire because we still have a major challenge to get our population back to where it was in 2008. In this area we have the opportunity for a win-win. We need strong volunteer groups actively supporting the community but we have a situation where many of the community service groups need new members. We must take every opportunity to bring our youth into community organisations, continue to support current members and welcome newcomers to the area. The key to that being successful is that we must also be prepared to listen to the ideas of those different groups of people and support them in taking leadership positions. In this way, our community groups thrive and our Shire is sustainable through an increasing population base that injects new ideas and enthusiasm.

Marysville Golf Report.

Both the Marysville men's and ladies' pennant teams had a successful round last week. The men played Alexandra at Marysville and won 4 and 3 and the ladies played Yea at Eildon and won 3 ½ and 1 ½. Congratulations to all the players and our thanks to Eildon and Marysville for hosting the pennant games.

On Wednesday a stableford game was played and the winner was Len King (21) with 38 points followed by Murray Edwards (24) with 36 points. Len also won the nearest the pin event with his tee shot on the 4th hole.

It was great to see fourteen players playing in the Thursday nine hole competition when a stroke round was played on the back nine holes. The winner was Dean Connell with nett 33 and Dean also played an excellent 12 putts. Rob Christie was declared the winner of the nine hole Summer Cup.

Three Marysville ladies had a very enjoyable day on Thursday playing in the annual Alexandra Bowl. Gail Leigh (10) played an excellent round and won the A grade section with 36 stableford points and was also given three Dalhousie Player of the Year points. Congratulations to the Kilmore ladies for winning the Bowl and our thanks to the Alexandra ladies for organizing such a successful event.

Autumn is a very popular season for golfers at Marysville and thirty seven golfers decided to play last Saturday. Whilst enjoying their golf they also saw the stunning autumn coloured leaves and the red 'fairy toadstools' poking out from under the trees.

The men played stableford for the second round of the Barton Cup and the ladies played the first round of their Club Championship and the Silver Spoon Round 2. Geoff Ferguson (23) won with 41 points followed by Ron Denmead (36) with 40 points. The ladies winner was Rebecca Lee (30) with nett 79 on a count back from Hellen Elliott. The nearest the pins were won by Roger Thomas, Daniel Archibald, Yewls Kuan and Mark Hoffman. Congratulations to all our weekly winners.

Next Saturday the men will play Round 1 of the Individual Match play and the ladies will play the second round of the Club Championship and the Barton Shield Round 2.

A reminder that the Golf Shop at Marysville Golf Club has an excellent range of golf products and clothing. For information about room hire, green fees and upcoming events ring Grace at the club on 5963 3241 or visit the website on www.marysvillegolfandbowls.com.au

More Tourism Workshops Planned

Following a very successful and well attended event workshop in Marysville, another two workshops have been planned as part of the 'Marysville Tourism and Events Marketing Program 2011-14'. These will take place on Tuesday 8 May in Kinglake and Tuesday 29 May in Yea, both running from 6.30pm – 8.30pm. Visit www.marysvilletourism.com/industry to view the topics and to register.

Also don't forget the event funding applications for this round close on 1 May. Call Brendan at Tourism Victoria on 9653 9883 to find out more.

The Marysville Lake Mountain Visitor Information Centre needs your help

Visitor Information Centre volunteers play an important role as ambassadors for Marysville & the surrounding areas. New volunteers are always welcome to join the enthusiastic and friendly team. Volunteering provides a great opportunity to share local knowledge, ensuring visitors make the most of their stay. Volunteers participate in tours of the region, networking with other volunteers and tourism operators. We are also offering the opportunity to gain a Certificate IV or a Diploma in Tourism whilst volunteering at the centre. If you are interested & would be able to commit to a few hours, once a month please contact Bec on 59634567 or email info@marysvilletourism.com Full training is provided.
