COMEDY FESTIVAL SUCCESS – AGAIN!

Saturday 13th June 2015 saw the Melbourne International Comedy Festival come to Marysville, to deliver a night of side splitting laughs for another year!

Thanks to a dedicated team of Lions, Marysville welcomed MC Anne Edmonds, and acts Justin Hamilton, David Quirk, Tom Ballard and Lloyd Langford to the Community Centre for a delicious two course dinner and comedy show.

The Marysville Jazz and Blues Festival were on hand to offer a sample of what to expect later in October, with live band Ben Mitchell and the Stylists offering a serenading of music to enjoy with dinner.

You might recognise Anne Edmonds from ABC TV's Backseat Driver, It's a date and Wednesday night fever. Ms Edmonds was nominated for Best Emerging Comedy Talent in 2010, and has since performed at the Edinburgh Festival Fringe and Melbourne International Comedy Festival.

Justin Hamilton brought to the stage hilarious stories based on real situations, including arguments in the airport, the benefits of love, and his single lifestyle.

David Quirk provided a hilarious insight into life in the retail industry, specifically in a skate shop, as he had the audience in stitches re-counting his unusual customer interactions.

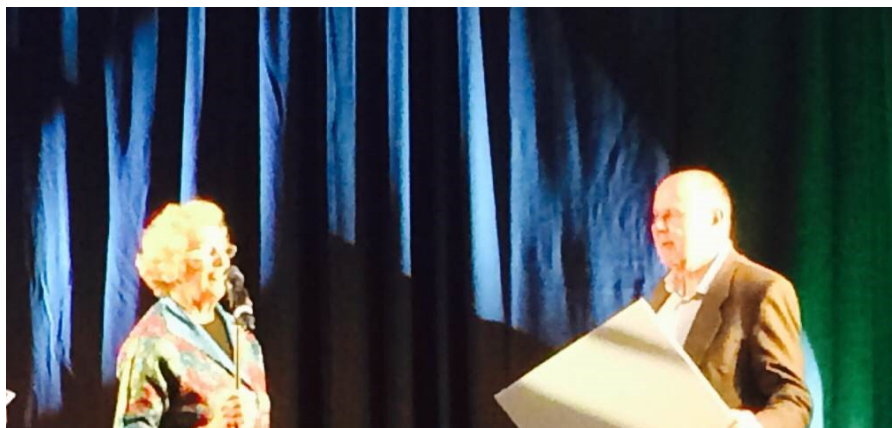

Tom Ballard spent majority of his set discussing his weight issues and homosexuality, delivered in a light hearted, self-mocking style.

Lloyd Langford, direct from London, had a unique way of showcasing his profound confusion about the "glad wrap on the trees" in the main street of Marysville (to prevent the possums) and the love shown for the ducks. He obviously did some homework when he reached Marysville as he discovered we didn't have electric cigarette shop, and he made quite a humorous joke about the curtains in the stadium partitioning off half the stadium, suggesting that the opposing basketball team played on the other side with no carpet

The Melbourne International Comedy Festival has now been to Marysville three years in a row, and offers a great night out for all. Congratulations to the Lions Club and all who helped on another successful event for Marysville

New officer on the beat in North East region

Environment Protection Authority Victoria (EPA) has 14 new Authorised Officers on the beat, each enthusiastically committed to working with Victorians to protect our environment.

Officers from Bendigo, to Wangaratta, to Geelong and Melbourne graduated in May from 12 weeks of intensive training. The training involved time in the classroom and time in the field with business inspections, water and soil sampling training, and odour investigations.

EPA Chief Executive Officer Nial Finegan said the officers now had the power to inspect premises, enforce remediation of environmental risks and issue penalties if appropriate.

"The group of 14 join EPA's 100 existing Authorised Officers who ensure that businesses, government and individuals comply with environmental laws," Mr Finegan said.

"The officers will provide guidance to businesses and individuals on how to meet environmental obligations, and will work with local communities on environmental issues affecting them."

Cheryl Batagol, Chairman of EPA said "EPA was incredibly proud of its Authorised Officers and the hard work they performed."

"This significant investment in our people strengthens our ability to protect the environment for current and future generations," she said.

The North East region has been strengthened with the addition of Authorised Officer Matt Baronio.

Mr Baronio said "I'm passionate about the work EPA does because I want to leave a positive legacy for the next generation. I feel like I'm making a difference."

"I'm very excited to become authorised and I'm keen to get out there and protect the environment".

Mr Baronio is very experienced. He joined EPA after starting his career in the Brazilian EPA, and then moving to Australia to undertake environmental science research at Southern Cross University.

To maintain their authorised status, officers must undergo a biennial review and undertake ongoing training and development programs. The next intake for Authorised Officer training is scheduled for September 2015.

Cod Squad on the lookout for 'The Comeback Cod'

Scientists have started their annual surveys of the Murray and Ovens rivers' hoping for confirmation that the iconic and threatened Murray Cod is making a comeback.

Department of Environment, Land, Water and Planning (DELWP) Arthur Rylah Institute (ARI) Scientist (Fish ecology) Scott Raymond said: "The 2014 survey of both the Murray and Ovens rivers found the highest number of fish in 14 years.

"We have been surveying large-bodied native fish in the Murray River for the past 14 years using electrofishing and last year's survey delivered the highest number of Murray Cod since surveys began," Mr Raymond said.

"Most of the fish found in the survey were very young, so we are keen to get back out there in the next month to see how many of those fish are reaching maturity."

"It was great to see such a large number of juvenile Murray Cod last year but we now need to find out if they are surviving to become adult fish."

"The Murray Cod has had it tough for more than a decade but they are now responding to significant re-establishment of large woody habitat, removal of pest plants, the provision of fishways at instream structures (such as dams) and an increase in river flows including environmental watering."

"It's also possible that the recent changes to the minimum size of Murray Cod that can be caught by anglers may have contributed to an increase in the number of breeding age fish in the river." DELWP researchers are also working closely with Fisheries Victoria and recreational fishers to improve monitoring methods for Murray Cod populations in other popular recreational fishing sites.

The 2015 survey will be conducted on the Murray River between Lake Mulwala and Tocumwal.

The surveys are funded by DELWP with support from other Victorian Government and Commonwealth Government agencies.

Picture: Murray Cod (Maccullochella peelii peelii) is listed as threatened species in Victoria under the Flora and Fauna Guarantee (FFG) Act.

Mayor's Chair Cr Margaret Rae

A lively topic of conversation these days is around the issue of gender equity. It always feels to me that that is a somewhat clinical term for what is a very human issue. I am referring, of course, to the balance of men and women, not only in the workforce but particularly in representing their communities and community interests at many levels.

The current State Government has a very strong policy of gender equity and has articulated a goal of achieving 50% female representation on all government boards. Certainly there is a wide range of board appointments underway at present and it will be interesting to see how this pans out. Because, in reality, this is a two way path. There has to be the opportunity to participate on equal terms but there also needs to be those who not only wish to participate but are also able to participate. This is the real challenge. Women are in many ways the 'doers' in our communities. They are strong, capable and multi-skilled; they can handle many responsibilities at once; they are articulate and passionate speakers on behalf of their communities; and they make up 51% of our population. We see them at fundraising, we see them volunteering, we see them caring for children, for their ageing parents and for those who simply need help. What they do is often extraordinary – but ask them and they will simply say that's just what they do every day – it's nothing special.

So how do we encourage such women to step forward and step up - and how do such busy people find time to do more? Part of the answer is in a more open recognition that their skills are valued and that they can and should be used in other contexts. Women who have juggled tight household budgets successfully, for example, may not have formal financial training – but the knowledge and understanding of the principles involved can be of great value in a committee of management or board position. They need encouragement and they need support.

I was listening to a very interesting discussion on late night radio recently where these issues were highlighted by a speaker who is currently working with a number of agencies, including the CFA, the SES and other volunteer services, to improve participation by women. Talkback callers clearly held more entrenched positions and found it difficult to accept or understand that encouraging participation by women was not the same as appointing people without the requisite skills. Nor did they seem to understand that well cared for employees provide great returns and benefits for the businesses that invest in them.

It is salutary to realise that there are still such entrenched views around and that we clearly have a long way to go in improving understanding and acceptance. However, when I look around our own communities and see the involvement and participation by our own women, I am greatly encouraged. Whilst I am in no way a 'women's libber' nor in favour of affirmative action for its own sake, I do firmly believe that women want and need to be recognised for the skills they have – and we do need to provide equality of opportunity and engagement for this to happen.

Women and men working together bring together a breadth of thinking and analysis in decision making and inform each other on matters in a different way. This leads to better outcomes for the community overall. So let us encourage each other and those around us to become leaders in our community so that those with skills and passion are encouraged to step forward and step up.

OPENING WEEKEND SUCCESS

Queen's Birthday weekend marked the snow season opening at Lake Mountain, with a snowfall earlier in the week providing a winter wonderland for those in attendance. Visitors to the mountain enjoyed snow play and tobogganing, face painting, live music and exhilarating adventure activities including the dual 240 metre flying fox, outdoor laser skirmish and exhilarating tube run. The Howling Huskys were once again a highlight.

The first Fischer Nordic Demo Centre in the Southern Hemisphere was officially launched, as part of a dedicated effort to increase interest in cross country skiing at Lake Mountain. The Demo Centre will greatly improve the opportunities for beginner and experienced cross-country skiers and will bring ski school operations in line with those of European ski schools and offer world-class demonstration equipment for skiers to try before they buy.

With almost 5,000 people visiting the resort during the opening weekend, it was a great start to an exciting season.

Marysville Golf Report

Last Saturday whilst some of the men were playing the second round of the Individual Match play competition the other men played a stroke round. The winner was Steve Kreuger (19) with nett 70 on a countback from his son Brendan. The ladies also played a stroke round and the winner was Heather Jenkins (24) with nett 77 followed by Gail Leigh (9) with nett 78. The nearest the pins were won by Heather Jenkins (2) Ming Kuan, and Rebecca Lee who also won the Golden Shot.

Members welcomed Margaret Blair to the competition and she was able to enter her first card towards getting her handicap. The rules experts were tested when a ball hit by Margaret split in two as it landed on the green. They put their heads together and decided that the shot had to be played again from the same spot without a penalty.

In excellent conditions last Thursday the nine holers played stroke on the back nine holes. The winner was Geoff Ferguson with nett 36 on a countback from Joe Tricarico who also won the putting with 14 putts. A wombat on the 13th fairway had to beat a hasty retreat towards the river when a long drive from the tee zipped past its nose.

Also last Thursday four ladies travelled to Avenel to play in their annual Challenge Plate. An enjoyable day was had by all and we congratulate the Heathcote team for winning the Plate and mastering the tricky sandscapes. We thank the Avenel ladies for their hospitality.

Next Saturday the men will play the second round of the Par Shield and the ladies will also play a Par round.

Lily Morrow Ms McLEISH (Eildon) -

The story of Marysville's Lily Morrow is remarkable and definitely worth informing the house about. For many years now 12-year-old Lily has been performing at local events and wowing audiences with her talent.

At the end of last year Lily made the cut for K-pop Star — Korea's equivalent to Australia's Got Talent and the like. It only got better for Lily, who continually impressed the judges and made it to the last four, gaining an enormous fan base. Lily is the youngest performer to have made it that far. What a fabulous effort!

Lily recently returned to her home in Marysville for a whirlwind three weeks before heading back to Korea to take up a traineeship, which is similar to a recording contract, with JYP Entertainment, a South Korean entertainment company.

Parents Bruce and Jinhee are so proud of her achievements.

For me it has been a delight watching Lily's progress over recent years as she continues to mature. She is now a lovely little entertainer. She is a driven, brave young lady, and I wish her all the best for the future.

More Vietnamese Delegates visit Murrindindi Shire

Murrindindi Shire Councillors hosted another group of visiting Vietnamese Delegates on Wednesday 3 June.

Following a welcome briefing by Mayor Margaret Rae at the Alexandra Council Chambers the group enjoyed presentations by Council officers focusing on the Shire's economy, growth areas and business investment potential, and the role of local government in community recovery following disasters, with particular interest in the aftermath of the 2009 bushfires.

Following a light lunch, the group then made their way back to Melbourne via Lake Mountain which had received a fresh fall of snow.

Groups of delegates have been regular visitors to the Shire in recent years as part of a range of programs run out of RMIT University in Melbourne.
