

At the house we made the acquaintance of some fifty-odd persons but, as none of them interested me even slightly, on shaking the dust of the place off my feet the following week, I immediately forgot their existence.

Seeing that it would be impossible for me to continue the narrative without resurrecting at least a few of these uninteresting individuals, I will now conclude & wish you all a "happy quypox". Grrrrrr

Finis