Dear Kevin,

Thankyou for forwarding to me correspondence relating to the uniform stamping of eggs throughout Australia.

The points that you raise supporting the present regulations are valid. Consequently I see no reason at present for changing the system.

I understand that the Standing Committee on Agriculture is reviewing quality standards for eggs, particularly in relation to NSW, given that significant problems have arisen in guaranteeing quality standards for the consumer.

If there are any changes to be made to the regulations they should relate directly to NSW, given that their industry is deregulated.

I remain,

Yours faithfully
