INTRODUCTION.

With the issue of the Tramway Time-Table in its present form the Company consider they are supplying a long-felt want.

Visitors will find within its pages a very complete Time-Table, and all the information that is necessary to enable them to travel freely and comfortably from place to place.

The Advertisements published will also denote the Chief Hotels, Places of Amusement, Business Houses, etc.

The Places of Interest notified on a Special Page should be read with pleasure, as all the important points on each route are drawn attention to. There are also many pleasant spots that will come under the notice of visitors as the natural and artificial beauties of Ballarat expand themselves to them. One of the chief features is the altitude of the City, which gives, under ordinary conditions, a temperature in the summer months that is incomparable with any other place in the State. One can live in comfort in Ballarat, whilst their less fortunate citizens who cannot avail themselves of a week-end trip are suffering the discomforts of the metropolis and other cities less advantageously placed. In addition to this you have the attractions of a beautiful City wherein, and in the vicinity, can be found many avenues of pleasure, the whole assisting to make the title of "Queen of Inland Cities," which Ballarat holds, well and deservedly earned.

The Tramway System commands the entire City and environs, and is run on up-to-date lines, giving every facility for the rapid transit of visitors to the many places of attraction.

Visitors are welcomed at all times by the officials at the Traffic Office at the Terminus at Grenville Street, where all information can be obtained, and at which place is displayed in the outside waiting room a large diagram showing plainly the various Tramway Routes.

The Company reserve to themselves the right to amend or alter the Time-Table according to traffic or climatic conditions without notice.

Time-Tables can be obtained gratis at the Power Station, Grenville Street Terminus, or at the Company's Show Room, 330 Sturt Street.
