

Gave Wrong Name to Police

TWO-UP PLAYER FINED

Caught playing two-up in a paddock at Braybrook on 10th Dec. last, William Pollock McAuslin, of Station Rd., Williamsown, gave a wrong name and address to Const. D. Power, who apprehended him.

Const. Power subsequently interviewed McAuslin and ascertained his correct name and address.

McAuslin's excuse was that he was in business and did not want his name published, said Const. Power, when the case was heard at the Sunshine Court on Tuesday.

McAuslin had to pay £1 for playing two-up and £3 for giving incorrect information to the police.
