THE GATE

The 1992 "GATE"is the 66th edition of the magazine of Dandenong High School.

As you read this magazine, the Gate Committee draws your attention to the legends of Dandenong High School and how we celebrate our personal best, and the school best.

We would like to thank the following people for the help and encouragement they have given us over the year. Mrs. Schmidt for getting us on the way, before she had Catherine. Mrs. Coote for urging us on and assisting with layout and final compilation. Mr. Roy for computer layout and laser printing. Mr. Pegram for his help with photography. Mrs. Gardiner for typing the articles and all the writers and photographers that made the "GATE 92" a reality. Cover design by Roshan Jayasinghe Year 11.

Celebrate The Best

So what is "the best?" And how do we achieve it? At Dandenong High School this seems to be a pertinent question as the new wave of VCE students strive for excellence. Both the VCE and the school pressurise students to achieve their best by consistently and constantly working towards it for their own personal satisfaction and the greater glory of the school. A somewhat familiar system perhaps? By doing thus, we can celebrate our best through ourselves and the school.

Dandenong High School is fortunate enough to have the staff and facilities to celebrate - and reward - its best. Athletics carnivals, swimming carnivals, interschool sports, music Eisteddfods, school productions, art competitions and maths competitions are all available within the school and are all readily available to students in all year levels. What, however, of those who have never received a blue ribbon in swimming, a distinction in a maths or taken a bow in the school play? Are they to be forgotten? Surely particularly in High School, we need to accommodate the needs of each student as an individual so that they can find, show and celebrate their best through the school.

Since 1919 Dandenong High School has enjoyed a high standing in the community as well as a similar reputation for academic achievement. It would be a shame to lose this by not celebrating everybody's personal best as individuals and as a School.

Principal's Page

It is traditional in this section of 'The Gate' to make some observations directly to students.

As a teacher, my major teaching area has been in English and I have a longstanding enjoyment of poetry. Poetry allows us the luxury of interpretation and the opportunity to consider the lines of a poem in the context of where we may be personally.

I ask our VCE students who are leaving the school this year to reflect upon the following lines of T.S. Eliot.

... to make an end is to make a beginning.

The end is where we start from. I wonder whether your own review of the school year allows you to pinpoint particular times when worthwhile things were begun or brought to a successful end. Did you regard the completion of a particular segment of work or project as the end of your quest for knowledge in that area? Or did it arouse your curiosity and encourage you to explore and expand your own horizons?

My message is that school really marks the beginning of a learning process which is not confined to the hours spent within the school boundaries, nor is it a process which ends at the point of finally leaving school. The end of school days should herald the beginning of a satisfying journey of learning throughout your life.

This journey of learning not only involves the development of occupational skills but also at important social skills which influence people in their judgement of your personal qualities of honesty, cooperation and the capacity to offer goodwill to friends and the local community.

If your years at this school have guided you towards a lifelong process of learning and developing as a person in the above areas, I will be well satisfied.

B.R. Rayment, PRINCIPAL.

The End Of An Era

1992 saw the end of Mr Daryl Allemand's teaching at Dandenong High School. He joined the staff in 1975 as a Senior Teacher and quickly became accepted as an exceedingly efficient and dedicated teacher with a strong commitment to State Education.

Students taught by Daryl established very good relationships with him and excellent HSC results reflected his success as a teacher.

He served this school with great loyalty and enthusiasm in the roles of Year 12 Coordinator, Daily Organiser, Senior Master, Acting Deputy Principal, Senior Master, Timetabler and School Coordinator. In addition he served on the School Council and several of its sub-committees. His extra curricula involvement included liaising with Student Council and organising many successful walkathons, MCing debutante balls and Year 12 dinners, coaching football teams.

A part of the DHS spirit has now moved on. Daryl was always diligent in efforts to maintain and enhance this fine school which he had grown to love.

DHS misses Daryl Allemand. To say the school thanks him seems so small for so much.

President's Report

This is my last report as President of the Dandenong High School Council.

Reflecting back over the past five years, I am struck by the staunchness of the school. Amid sometimes turbulent changes in society and in education, Dandenong High School has retained its essential character and quality.

I admire our teachers for their hard work and integrity in evolving and teaching the best possible curriculum, for their thoughtful response to changing demands, and their enthusiastic involvement in extra curricular activities. Members of staff also frequently "look after" students in a wider sense: in particular, School Chaplain, Mrs. Megan Coote, and Student Welfare Coordinator, Mrs. Del Wright, give unfailing care and help to students whose needs extend beyond the classroom.

I wish to pay special tribute to three people who have been on School Council since before my first meeting six years ago: Mr. Mel. Gardiner, a careful and expert Treasurer who makes complex financial management seem easy, and has given an enormous amount of time and energy to all aspects of Council business; Mr. Bill Good, who takes care of the school in so many unseen and taken for granted ways - from cleaning up vandal damage to mending furniture - and who knows the exact state of every inch and nook and cranny of the grounds and buildings. Finally Mr. Bruce Rayment, whose courtesy and kindness, quick sense of humour, and strong commitment to the ideals of good education and scholarship, have been a focus for the high quality of the school, and have made my work easy and enjoyable.

Dandenong High School has educated me as well as my children, and I thank School Councillors, past and present, and all members of the School community.

Geraldine O'Dwyer.

From the Chaplain

Choices,choices and choices. Each day we make many choices, some to do with what time we get up in the morning or go to bed at night. Others to do with the choice of friends,or maybe how we use our time, how much study we will do , and so on. Some of those choices will influence our career, the choice of our life partner, or the sort of worl we will live in.

Phillip Adams, a member of the Commission for the Future once said

"The future is not some place we are going, but something we are creating."

So if we are to be part of our own creating, then taking control of our own lives seems pretty important. That's not all that easy to do in this current economical and political climate. There are certainly many restrictions in the way of some career paths at present.

But for all of us, I believe it is important to make the most of all our opportunities and make the sort of choices that will benefit us in the longer term. Wise choices bring good consequences.

Megan Coote - Chaplain.

Parents' and Friends' Group

About thirty years ago I began my career as a student at Dandenong High School. At the beginning of 1992 I commenced my career as a parent at DHS. This new career led me into the path of the Parents'and Friends' Group which consists of a tireless, and extremely dedicated group of mothers whose energy and enthusiasm has seen this Group complete yet another successful year of fundraising.

The dedication and commitment shown by these parents towards our school is indeed to be commended. Through their 'Car Boot Sales', 'Trivia Nights', raffles, and Book and Uniform Sales they have once again managed to provide the school with much needed funds.

This year Parents' and Friends' Group has been willing to serve as a multi-purpose target. Yet, there will always be something more to do and more people needed to complete these things. Our Group needs to further expand its network of support so Parents' and Friends' extend a warm welcome and an invitation to all, and hopes that the new 1993 school year will see this Group continue to prosper and grow.

Our sincere thanks to all for their support during 1992.

Exchange Teacher

Ms Elliott was on exchange for 1991 with Moffat Academy in Scotland. Whilst there she travelled to Africa in her mid year holiday break.

An African Adventure

We began our journey clean and smart,
From Nairobi our trip did start,
With Ian our leader and our guide,
Caroline as cook and Tim by our side,
Leaving Kenya in a day,
Through Tanzania was the way,
"Jambo mamma!", smiling faces,
We really saw some interesting places.
Onward we went to Ngorongoro Crater
Lions, Hyena, Flamingo and 'gater,
Across the Serengetti Plain
Too many birds and animals to name.
Dusty roads for days on end,
Will eyes and noses ever mend,
July 21, it was a Sunday night,
Jumping about and screaming with fright,
Had we disturbed some ancient ant place?
Who cares! Quick to the truck we had to race.
Drums, rhythm, fire and dance made us all fell merry,
Then across Lake Victoria, packed like sardines on the ferry
Into Burundi and onto Bujumbura,
Tanzania certainly seemed much poorer
Many of us were sick that day,
But whatever it was it "passed away."
The border to Zaire was painfully slow,
After checking everything they finally let us go.
At last we arrived at Kahuzi-Biega Park,
The misty rain made it appear quite dark.
Climbing, gasping, ever higher,
Through the jungle, vines like wire.
"Gorilla ahead"our guide quietly said,
Our heartbeats quickened, onward we were led.
Proud, gentle, trusting faces,
We were privileged to share their places,
Our visit was wonderful, but all too short,
Perhaps we'll be back one day I thought.
It was fun camping and cooking rough,
But washing in a bowl of cold water was tough,
Kiwi, Aussie, Pom and Canuck,
We had a menagerie aboard the truck!
The experience of a lifetime we have been able to share,
Good friends and memories like these are rare.

Exchange Student

While America eagerly awaits the arrival of Dandenong High School's Rotary Exchange student, Colleen Morris, Australian citizens are going into bankruptcy as they are all purchasing her scorched almonds, scorched sultanas and chocolate bars, which will provide Colleen with the price of the airfare.

Colleen will be spending one year in Pheonix and will be living with three different host families. Besides going to school she will also be granted a free two-week holiday to Disneyland, Hollywood and other tourist attractions which we can only dream about.

On behalf of all the staff and students at DHS we wish her all the best in her travels and studies, and sincerely hope she will enjoy herself (there is no doubt about that, knowing Colleen!). We also hope she will make many new friends; will establish everlasting friendships and upon her return to Australia, discovers her new American accent.

P.S. Oh, by the way, Colleen will not be taking any more orders for Nike shoes.

Canteen

Where would we be without our School Canteen?

We, the students of Dandenong High School would just like to thank Julie and Lorraine for their commitment in the Canteen. You would not believe how much food they have to prepare for you to fill your tummies. I have been there and done that. We must also recognise the voluntary helpers (the parents of the students in the school), who give up their time to wait on YOU. They have to put up with one or two bad-mannered students who can't help themselves, but many of the students they serve are very well mannered, who always say 'thank you' and 'please'.

Also thank you to the Year 12 and 11 students who help serve at recess and lunch times. It's not easy sometimes calculating the big orders you give us.

Library Resource Centre

The VCE has placed greater importance on the library, not only as a source of information but as an access point to obtain information from other institutions.

We have been most fortunate this year to be a recipient of a special VCE Resource Grant enabling the school to purchase encyclopedias, reference books, CDROM disks of current information, videos and slides pertaining to the VCE studies.

Computerization of the library commenced in Term 2. Already students are able to access the catalogue via a computer terminal. A CDROM player is available to search large databases including Austguide and Sage (which access the latest magazine articles) an encyclopedia, world almanac and dictionary.

I.D. cards have been made for all students and will be issued to be used in conjunction with the automated borrowing procedures which will be operational in the near future.

ASSEMBLY

Monday, 10th of August, was another unforgettable occasion for Dandenong High School. The annual International Week celebration was held in the junior and senior assemblies entertaining staff and students for a change, as well as educating them about different countries. Once again the talented students of Dandenong High School put together a great show with a variety of beautiful acts. There were acts in the show including dancing, singing, informational talks about countries such as Romania, playing instruments, band and the choir. Of course, we should not forget the teachers dancing, not to mention better than we all expected.

Dandenong High School staff members and students had a funfilled and different day coming together in peace, learning about the traditions of other countries. Thanks to the organisers and students who made this day possible by putting in all their hard work and effort.

LUNCH PARTY

Food, food, food !!! Parties are my profession, and I wouldn't dare miss this one. It was in Room 51 organised by ESL staff members and students. My eyes popped out when I saw the food. I felt as if I was overseas. The smell of different foods took me to different destinations ... Fantastic music was played by DJ Julie Djuric from Year 12. Different colours and different faces were all united once again..

In five minutes, the dishes were empty. The hungriest of all were teachers. At the end of the exciting party Mr. Feher came running with his eyes wide open, "... You invited me, where is all the food?..."

There is no tension or conflict, there is only peace as Dandenong High School begins its International Week

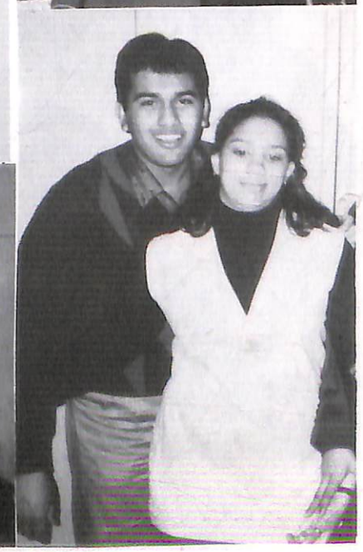

LANGUAGES NIGHT

Once again the Languages Night proved to be a great success. It opened with an attractive selection of foods from many European and Asian countries as well as our own Australian pies and pasties being extremely popular. There were also cakes of all sorts for dessert.

Entertainment was abundant and it was obvious that Mr. Kennedy's Latin class was already on its way to worldwide fame. The French students of Years 9 and 10 displayed their unique abilities to perform and please the enthusiastic audience. I must also mention the comperes for the night, Tanya Roberts and Suellen Pinkey (both from Year 12 French class). They also acted out a play written by themselves with Bert Labonte and Edith Szena. It was extremely amusing.

Everyone had a great time dancing and showing off their abilities in the Limbo competition. Many thanks to everyone who participated in this excellent event which brought International Week to an end.

Driver Education - 1992

It is with great pleasure that I can announce the introduction of the Dandenong High School Driver Education program. Personally, I have recently completed my qualifications and this has allowed the pilot program to commence.

The first three students to benefit from the introduction of Driver Education were Lainie Buckley, Troy Harris and Megan Clarke from Year 10. Their eagerness was well rewarded as they completed three sessions in the carpark of Waverley Park (AFL Park). 'Kangaroo hops' were at a minimum as they gradually mastered the basic driving skills of clutch control, push-pull steering, controlled cornering and hand-brake starts. The practical component was tempered with a small amount of theory, car familiarity, and road laws. By the time this article comes to print many more Year 10's will have taken part in this valuable pilot program. By the beginning of 1993 we hope to have a complete program up and running.

- Other activities that occurred this year were:
- Road Trauma speaker for Year 11 and 12's
- Cross-curriculum Traffic Safety Education for
- Year 10's - emphasis on alcohol and road safety

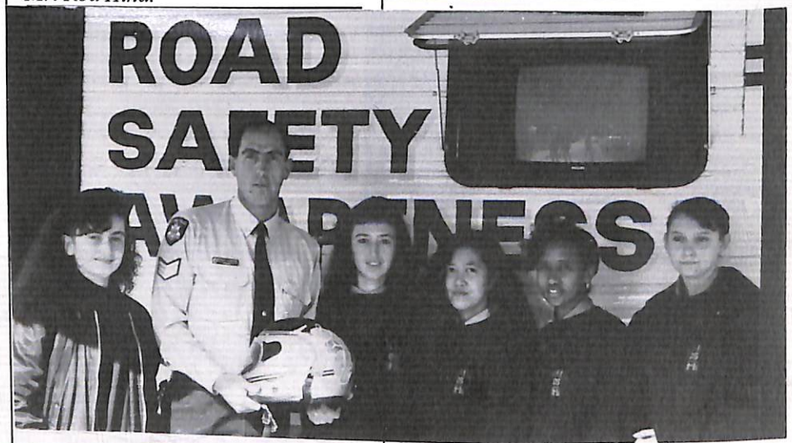

RACV seat-belt sled demonstration for Year 7.

I would like to thank all the staff and administration who have supported me with the implementation of all aspects of this program. The benefits will be of great value to the future of many of Dandenong High School's students.

Mr. Rod Hind.

Guest Speaker

On the 27th of July 1992 the schools special guest speaker at Assembly was Ms. Jane Holmes, from radio station Double TTFM. Jane gave a very informative talk full of light hearted humour about the workings of radio. She successfully managed to explain to the student body that radio wasn't just about announcing and that there are many facets involved sales, production, promotions, administrative, clerical and technical. She also managed to dispell the myth that a radio announcers job was carefree and casual and that there was a lot more involved. Jane's good nature combined with her bright and bubbly personality was not lost on the students, her talk was well received and much appreciated.

Victorian School Of Languages

Learning a second language has assumed great significance in Australian society over the last few years. From being the preserve of the few it has come to be seen as a necessity for those involved in many areas of business, industries, tourism, leisure, education or those simply living in Australia, a country where so many cultures co-exist side by side.

The Victorian and Commonwealth governments have responded to this trend with several major initiatives one of them being the implementation in 1992 of the recommendations of the review of the Victorian School of Languages held the previous year.

The VSL has a proud record of teaching languages to the Victorian community over many years. Faced with new challenges it provided new solutions: a new School Council, a new structure, an invigorating climate and an expansion of services responding to the need of the community. The Dandenong High School Centre, under the leadership of Mr. T. Lascaris, proved to be, once again in 1992, a very popular venue in the South-Eastern suburbs for the teaching of Languages Other Than English. Over 1000 students studying thirteen different languages on Saturday mornings enrolled in that year, thus necessitating the creation of an annexe at Eumemmerring Secondary College where eleven languages classes were established.

The dedication of the staff and the exceptional support given by the administration of the host schools are the foundations of the great success of the Centre, a success reflected in the excellent results achieved by students at VCE and other levels.

It is said that the study of languages if "a means of understanding ourselves and our society, and of resolving some of the problems and tensions that arise from human interaction"; if this is the case then the Dandenong High School Centre is playing its part in promoting peace and harmony in our part of the world.

We wish to place on record the great assistance given by Dr. Henshaw and Mr. Abdalla, Assistant Supervisors, and the significant support bestowed by Mr. B. Rayment, Principal of Dandenong High School, Mr. B. Freeman, Principal of Eumemmerring Secondary College (Endeavour Hills Campus) and the respective School Councils.

Social Service Notes For 1992

Once again Dandenong High school students have shown that they are prepared to help others less fortunate than themselves. This year over $4,072 was raised by the students for Social Service. Of this total $2,105.60 was raised for World Vision through the 40 Hour Famine fundraising effort.

Mr. Zographos worked with the Year 7 and 8 students to raise money for Multiple Sclerosis through their Readathon effort. The students raised $320.60 and read 209 books during this activity. A number of students visited the Belvedere Nursing Home to talk to the residents of the Home and found this a most rewarding experience.

The students of Dandenong High School foster a child in Brazil and have assisted organisations including the Royal Children's Hospital, Red Cross, Arthritis Foundation, Salvation Army, Red Shield Appeal, Amnesty International, RSL, S.I.D.S. and many more throughout the year.

I would like to thank the form teachers and students who contributed regularly towards Social Service. However, 12B was the outright winner, with 7G and 9H making a most worthy effort.

FINAL RESULT: Year 12B raised the highest amount of money with a total of $190.67. Years 7G and 9H each raised $70 - a good effort in a difficult year.

by Marion Thals, Social Service Coordinator.

Self Defence

Self Defence in Term 3 was an eight week course which was divided into the Junior Group (Years 7 - 9) and the Senior Group (Years 10 - 12). I was in the Senior Group and the group consisted of 10 students and 3.5 teachers since Mr. Uwins turned up only twice!!

At first almost everyone was a bit apprehensive about kicking and elbowing their partner especially the girls. The exception was Andrew who already knew how to defend himself in different dangerous situations. That is most situations!

In general we had a lot of fun mutilating our partners (joke) and it was a welcome break from the monotony of school. We learnt heaps about keeping ourselves out of trouble and now all of us know which places hurt the most, where I am undoubtedly the expert without having to boast.

The teacher was nice and she was often unintentionally funny when she explained about the techniques. It was amazing that you could even use keys as weapons and pull out hair in order to defend yourself.

Hopefully I have persuaded you to join a class on Self Defence. It might save your life one day or you can help others.

So watch out DHS, don't start a fight with us..... (please?)

House Athletics Carnival

On August 18, in what had to be the coldest day of the year, with sub-zero temperatures and icy biting winds, Dandenong High School held their annual House Athletics Carnival at Knox.

All Houses were represented and staff were amazed at what must have been a record number of senior participants. It was a close finish between Orchid and Clematis for third place, with Orchid just scraping through with a two point advantage. No surprises on overall winner, with Bluegum AGAIN finishing first (GO ORCHID IN 1993).

Final Results:

- 1st BLUEGUM 1204 pts
- 2nd WATTLE 1136 pts
- 3rd ORCHID 1078 pts
- 4th CLEMATIS 1076 pts

Miserable spectators who had nothing to do but shiver in their seats or push and shove in the canteen line were at least treated to some entertainment by some Year 12 students who decided to run (?) the 1500m event with their (rather revealing) wet suits on!

Congratulations to Mr. Cole and the rest of the staff for organising a memorable (but very cold) day.

by Karen Palenzuala

Interschool Athletics Carnival

On September 14 (another freezing cold day), Dandenong High sent an elite team of super athletes (over 100) comprising Junior and Senior students to the VSSSA, Mulgrave Group Athletics Carnival.

With great team spirit, our school had an overall placing of 3rd with about 8 third placing, 12 second placings, and 15 first placings. This was a very encouraging result from Dandy High, considering that our team had no official preparation for events. Lyndale AGAIN showed their super dominance over the athletics with an overall (not surprising) first placing.

Thank you to all the staff who took time away from their beloved teaching to be officials and to keep us (super athletes) under control, and a special thanks to Mr. Cole and Mrs. Hayes for making the day possible. Congratulations to all the students who participated and good luck in 1993.

Girls Soccer

The legends have arrived to the field, Dandenong High girls were ready to win. The team of sixteen girls who were better than Pele, or Maradona.

For one semester we trained hard, during lunch-time hours. These are the unforgetable names;

Julie Djuric (Yr.12 - goalkeeper)
Despina Bazelis (Yr.11 - defender)
Many Elmaze (Yr.7 - forward)
Fasi Aviga (Yr.11 - mid field)
Priscille Pigeot (Yr.12 - forward)
Danielle Cetkovic (Yr. 11 - defender)
Maria Avards (Yr.11 - reserve)
Kasia Bartnicki (Yr.11 - reserve)
Patricia Aiello (Yr.11 - reserve)
Maria Caruso (Yr.11 - reserve)
Ferize Donmez (Yr.11 - defender)
Ava Gani (Yr.9 - reserve)
Monika Wawrzonk (Yr.12 - reserve)
Marcela Toro (Yr.12 - reserve)

The first game we played against our host Lyndale High. We were ready. Then in the twentieth minute Fasi Aviga scored. We lead one-nil. What a sensation, what a feeling! Excitement spread throughout the stadium of around fifteen people. It was filled to its full capacity.

Our coach Mr. Feher, shouted out "Move, run to your positions. . . . " However we didn't listen, we were too excited. Then the penalty kick arrived for the other team. It was a decision made by a very well known referee - Dragan Jovic (Yr.12 of D.H.S.)

Julie Djuric's (goal-keeper) legs were shaking. She was pale and knew that she wouldn't be able to save the ball. To our astonishment and excitement, the Lyndale player missed.

Yes, we have won, and were to go into the next game against Carwatha High. We were ready, but to our disappointment they were stronger. Our goal keeper received 3 goals.

The legends didn't qualify. We felt really down. Then we waited for the bus driver for about three hours. While we waited, we watched other matches. The entire championship went to Lyndale High, whom we have won against in the past.

By Julie Djuric (12B)

The girls soccer team had to play two games to qualify into the next round.

Results: Game 1Dandenong High 1 - Lyndale 0

Game 2 Carwatha 3 -Dandenong 0

The first game was fought hard and fast but the DHS girls showed a lot of skill and determination and all those hours of practice proved a deciding factor. Scorer of our goal was superboot Fasi Aviga. In the second game our lack of fitness let us down, if we are to be a force in future years we must build up our level of fitness. The day was wet and cold but most importantly we enjoyed ourselves.

Mr. Feher.

Boys Soccer

The senior boys soccer team had good hopes in winning the district inter-schools competition. Injuries and fitness kept us from reaching that goal.

In the first game, Dandenong took on Wellington and though there were many attempts to score, the final result is a scoreless draw.

The second game was against Joseph Banks Secondary College. We needed to win this in order to keep up the hopes in staying alive. The players proved themselves, with a 11-3 win.

With only the host Lyndale to play, the team began to feel the pain of injuries and exhaustion. This being considered the final, we needed it to win so that we could preceed into the next round. With most of the players being exhausted, the final resulted in a 5-3 loss, which could have easily been changed.

Congratulations to Mr. Feher and the Senior Soccer Team.

Swimming

After many long hours of negotiation and discussion, General Cole decided to go ahead with the class of the 'titans', the mother of all swimming sports.

Sadly lacking this year were many senior student's support, but what was lacking in support was made up for in enthusiasm and competitive drive in all those who got wet.

The multi-talented juniors were first to hit the water, with many excellent efforts from the girls' such as ALLISON HAYES, BROOKE DALY and ANNA McKELLAR. Following in these steps were the senior competitors - a highlight of the day being the highly competitive Open Men's(?) 50m butterfly. JOE BRASACCHIO and MARLON PIRIE taking it out hard but unable to hold on.

In the afternoon our divers took to the air - leading the way by example our School Captain, David Bradley. Another top performer, our "Olympic standard" diver and ex-World Champion, MARK "the lizard king" GERMANCHIS, showing the WATTLE winning way (apologies for all the 'w's) with gravity defying, miraculous dives.

And so went our heroic team into the inter-school competition with several good performances.

Nathan Gardiner

Senior Boys' Cricket

This year's Senior Boys' Cricket team advanced as far as the Southern Zone Competition. It took a lot of hard work to get there. The foundation for success was laid when Dandenong High convincingly defeated a formidable opponent in Joseph Banks. Dandenong High scored 220 off their allowed 30 overs in chasing Joseph Banks hefty score of 152. Captain Vaughan Baxter and batsmen, Warren Makings and Paulo Quintinalla all scored invaluable half centuries in the run quest. With that success, Dandenong travelled down to our nemesis in sports, Lyndale Secondary College. On this occasion we triumphed by only 2 runs in a real thriller. Dandenong High was decimated early in the top order by Lyndale's bowlers but a dogged 58 by Vaughan Baxter and 24 from Bruno Le Brasse restored pride and thwarted Lyndale's attack. Our bowlers such as Paulo Quintinalla, Dragan Jovic and Vaughan Baxter all snared wickets as we hung on for a great victory. Our third match was perfect as we trounced Carwatha by over 50 runs. Once again Paulo Quintinella came to the fore with 50 runs and some big hitting by Adrian Ghani towards the end helped DHS score over 180. With Carwatha on 8/49 thanks to Dragon Jovic, they looked mediocre. They came back a little bit but defeat was inevitable. After winning this game, we played our Southern Zone quarter final match. Our bowlers gained the ascendancy in restricting Wellington to only 110. This time our batsmen collapsed to score only 70 runs in a spasmodic performance. Kris Akers top scored with only 14 runs other than extras. On the whole though, it was a competent and pleasing performance to progress this far. Our coach Mr. Gow, and Coordinator, Mr. Cole did an excellent job as did the Captain, Vaughan Baxter.All thanks goes out to them. I wish next year's Senior Cricket team all the best and hope they can perform as well as our team did.

by Greg Clarke - Cricket Umpire

Senior Girls' Hockey

The Senior Girls' Hockey team were involved in two extremely high scoring games in which the ball was thumped into the net on no fewer than 20 occasions. Although Natasha wasn't best on ground she was most on ground. The team played very well in both games and best efforts were given by all team members.

by Voglushe

Netball

Another worthwhile year for all those involved in the Netball Round Robins during Term 3 this year.

The enthusiasm of the students is overwhelming, and it certainly is a difficult task selecting one team of 9 from 22 interested students.

It was a great effort by all levels, considering we got a team from each level into the Southern Zone finals. To watch these girls play as hard as they did, in the name of Dandenong High was great.

The other aspect that makes coaching teams for the school worthwhile was parent involvement. Each year I know I can rely on several parents to umpire and help out, and their aid is much appreciated by Mrs. Thals and myself. Thanks also to Lemmuel Leech of Year 10 for his coaching and umpiring skills. The same applies to Allison and Sharon Hook, who always put in extra in the 'name of the game.' Last, but not least, to Mrs. Thals who is out there with the juniors come rain or shine. Such an effort, from so many people make the year a rewarding and enjoyable one. So until next year, keep on bouncing.

All High

The following students were successful in the Southern Zone Athletics and managed to proceed through to the All High Athletics:

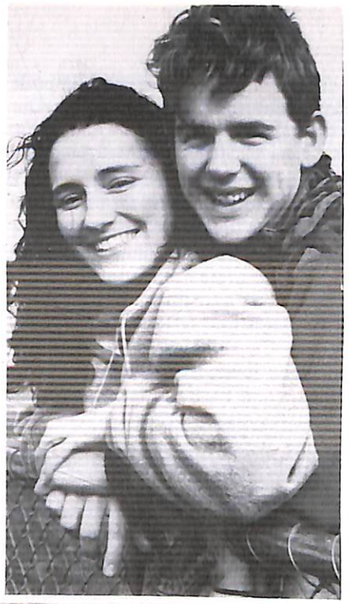

- Marlon Pirie Yr12 - U21 Hurdles
- Kirsten Vanduyl Yr11 - U17 High Jump
- Robert Playdell Yr10 - U16 Discus
- Adam Neal Yr9 - U16 High Jump
- Andrew Abdulla Yr8 - U14 Hurdles
- Daniella Malureanu Yr7 - U14 Discus

Daniella was successful in gaining a 3rd place in her event. Congratulations to all competitors on a fine result.

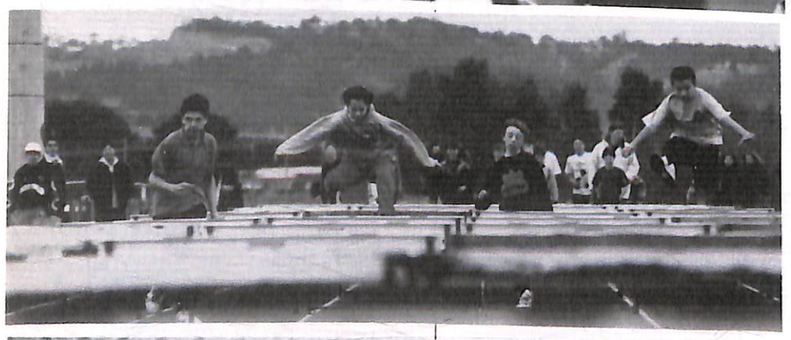

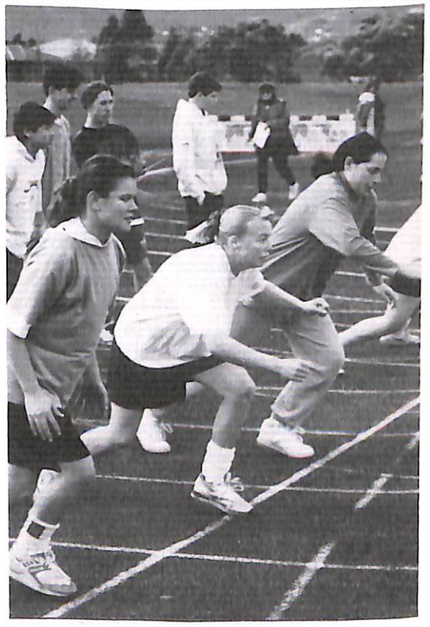

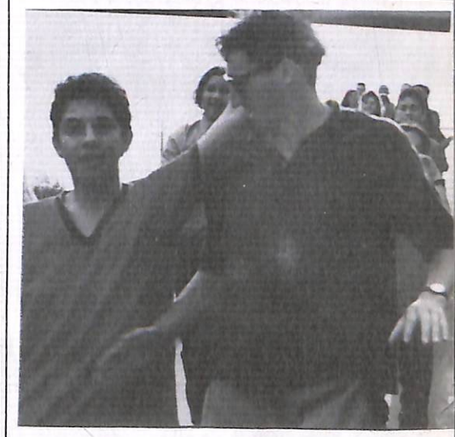

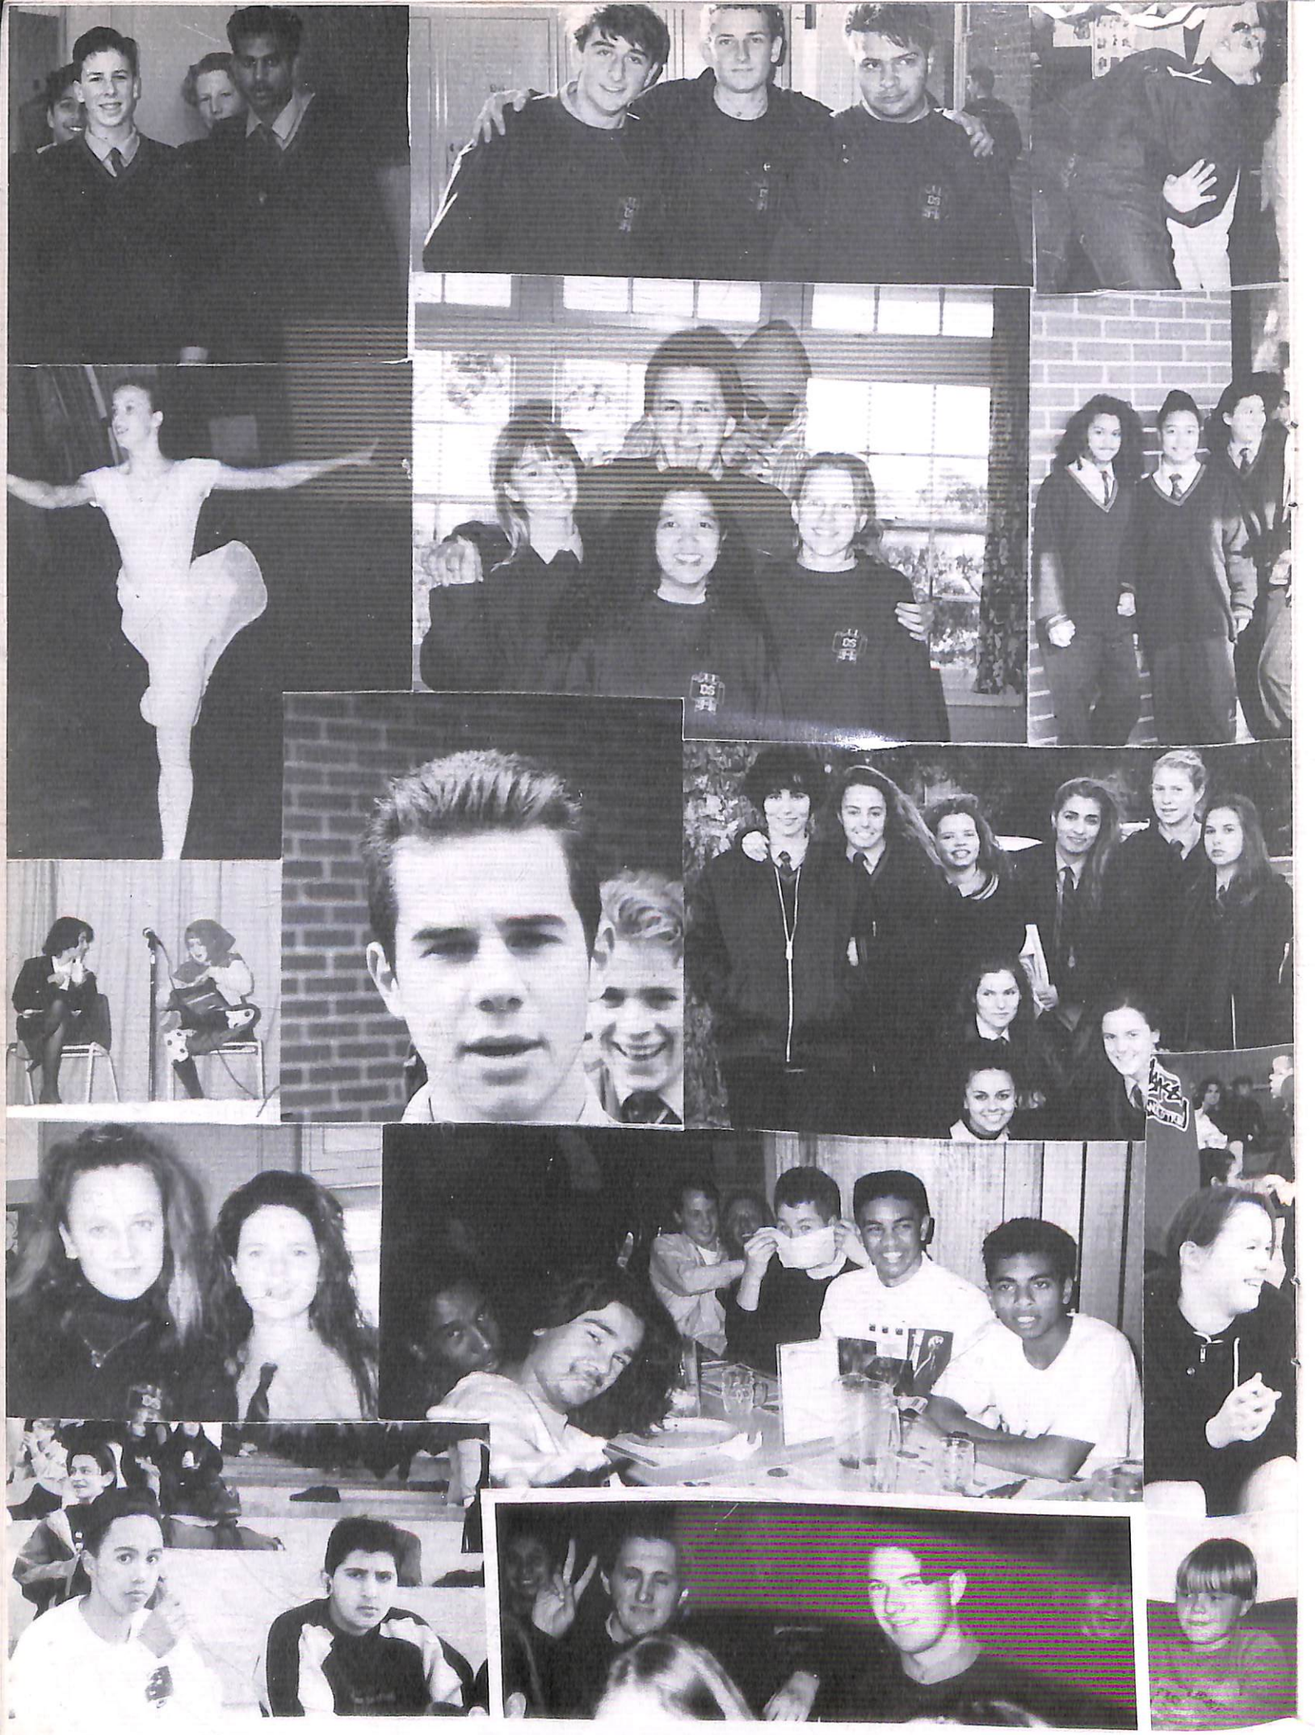

Art

The VCE Art Course has proven to be an interesting yet busy one. Students have done loads of developmental work and tons of theory, it's not all fun and games! VCE students had the opportunity to see the 'Reubens' exhibition at the National Gallery, a very famous Renaissance painter from the 17th Century. The paintings were very mystical and often bizzare, many were half man, half beast!

Art on the Junior side of the school has been exciting this year. A student from 7G, Anthony Jeffery, won the Australian Mini Art Competition. This involved the students in designing a new stamp for Australia. The winning stamp was a brightly coloured Australian parrot. The students are also to have artists visit the school to talk about having a career in this field.

Textiles

In August, Years 9 - 12 Textiles students had the opportunity to attend the annual 'Gown of the Year' Awards at Rembrandts. Not only did the students enjoy a delicious lunch, they were also able to view fabulous designer creations, including students from RMIT and top labels such as Adele Palmer. The catwalk was certainly alive at this exciting fashion parade.

This is the first year Technological Design and Development (Textiles) has been introduced and has proved to be a busy, yet interesting course. Year 12 students made a variety of garments for their CATS while Year 11 students adapted a design from the fashion parade and made it up for themselves. Junior students made their silk kiminos and a variety of other garments.

Work from students of all year levels were once again entered in the Dandenong Show and did very well.

Chorals Festival

Once again, the students of Dandenong High School have shown their team spirit and dedication by participating in the 1992 House Chorals. As the hall lights dimmed and the spotlight focused on our comperes, the much anticipated event began! It was a night of incredible excitement, featuring our school band (conducted by - Mr. Earle) and many other talented students who demonstrated the high musical standards within the school.

The Slovenian group "The Big Ben Quartet" overwhelmed the audience with their incredibly uplifting performance. Miss Vrisk awarded the group with several kisses (which we're sure were welcome! Ha, Ha, Ha!) They also received koala bears and souvenir spoons as gifts from Dandenong High School. The girls who presented these received in return little pecks on the cheeks. (Boy, there sure was a lot of 'kissing going on').

Now let's move onto the real reason why this night was held. the set song was "The Sound of Silence", and each House also performed their own choice song:

- BLUEGUM:
  Conductors - Tiana Brown and Deanna Constantine-Cook
  Accompanist - Naomi Bird/Mrs Hume
  Choice Song - "So Long Farewell"
- ORCHID:
  Conductors - Fiona Marshall and Colleen Morris
  Accompanist - John Hildebrand and Gareth Rees
  Choice Song - "Little Help from my Friends"
- CLEMATIS:
  Conductor - Ngaire Keyaerts
  Accompanist - Miss Vrisk and Joe Varveri
  Choice Song - "Fame"
- WATTLE:
  Conductors - Melinda Puglisi and Paul Coad
  Accompanist - Mrs Earle
  Choice Song - "You Light up my Life"

RESULTS

WATTLE 97 points
ORCHID 96 points
BLUEGUM 96 points
CLEMATIS 95 points

Congratulations are in order for all performers. The Choirs close results show just how well they prepared for this BIG night. Thank you to the teachers who helped each House to bring their singing to such a great standard and also the Adjudicator, Miss Champion.

PS We wish Mr. & Mrs. Earle and their baby daughter Jessica Anne all the best for the future.

Junior/Senior Band

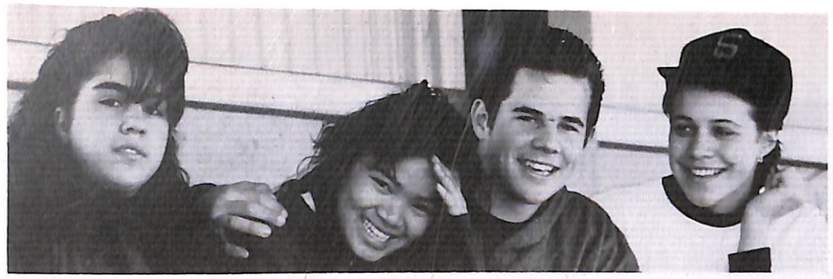

Junior Band this year has been progressing wonderfully. It comprises junior music students who are learning an instrument at the school. It gives many of them performing experience and inspiration to go on with their instrument and on into the Senior Band. This year, the Junior Band has performed for various assemblies and is aspiring to do more performances next year, under the direction of its new conductor, Mrs. Richardson. Senior Band this year has had many performances, these include performances at assemblies, Palm Plaza and McHappy Day.

The Senior Band is also sounding extremely good this year under the direction of its new conductor, Miss Vrisk. Both bands would like to thank Miss Vrisk and Mrs. Richardson for all of their time and dedication put into the band.

In The Mood

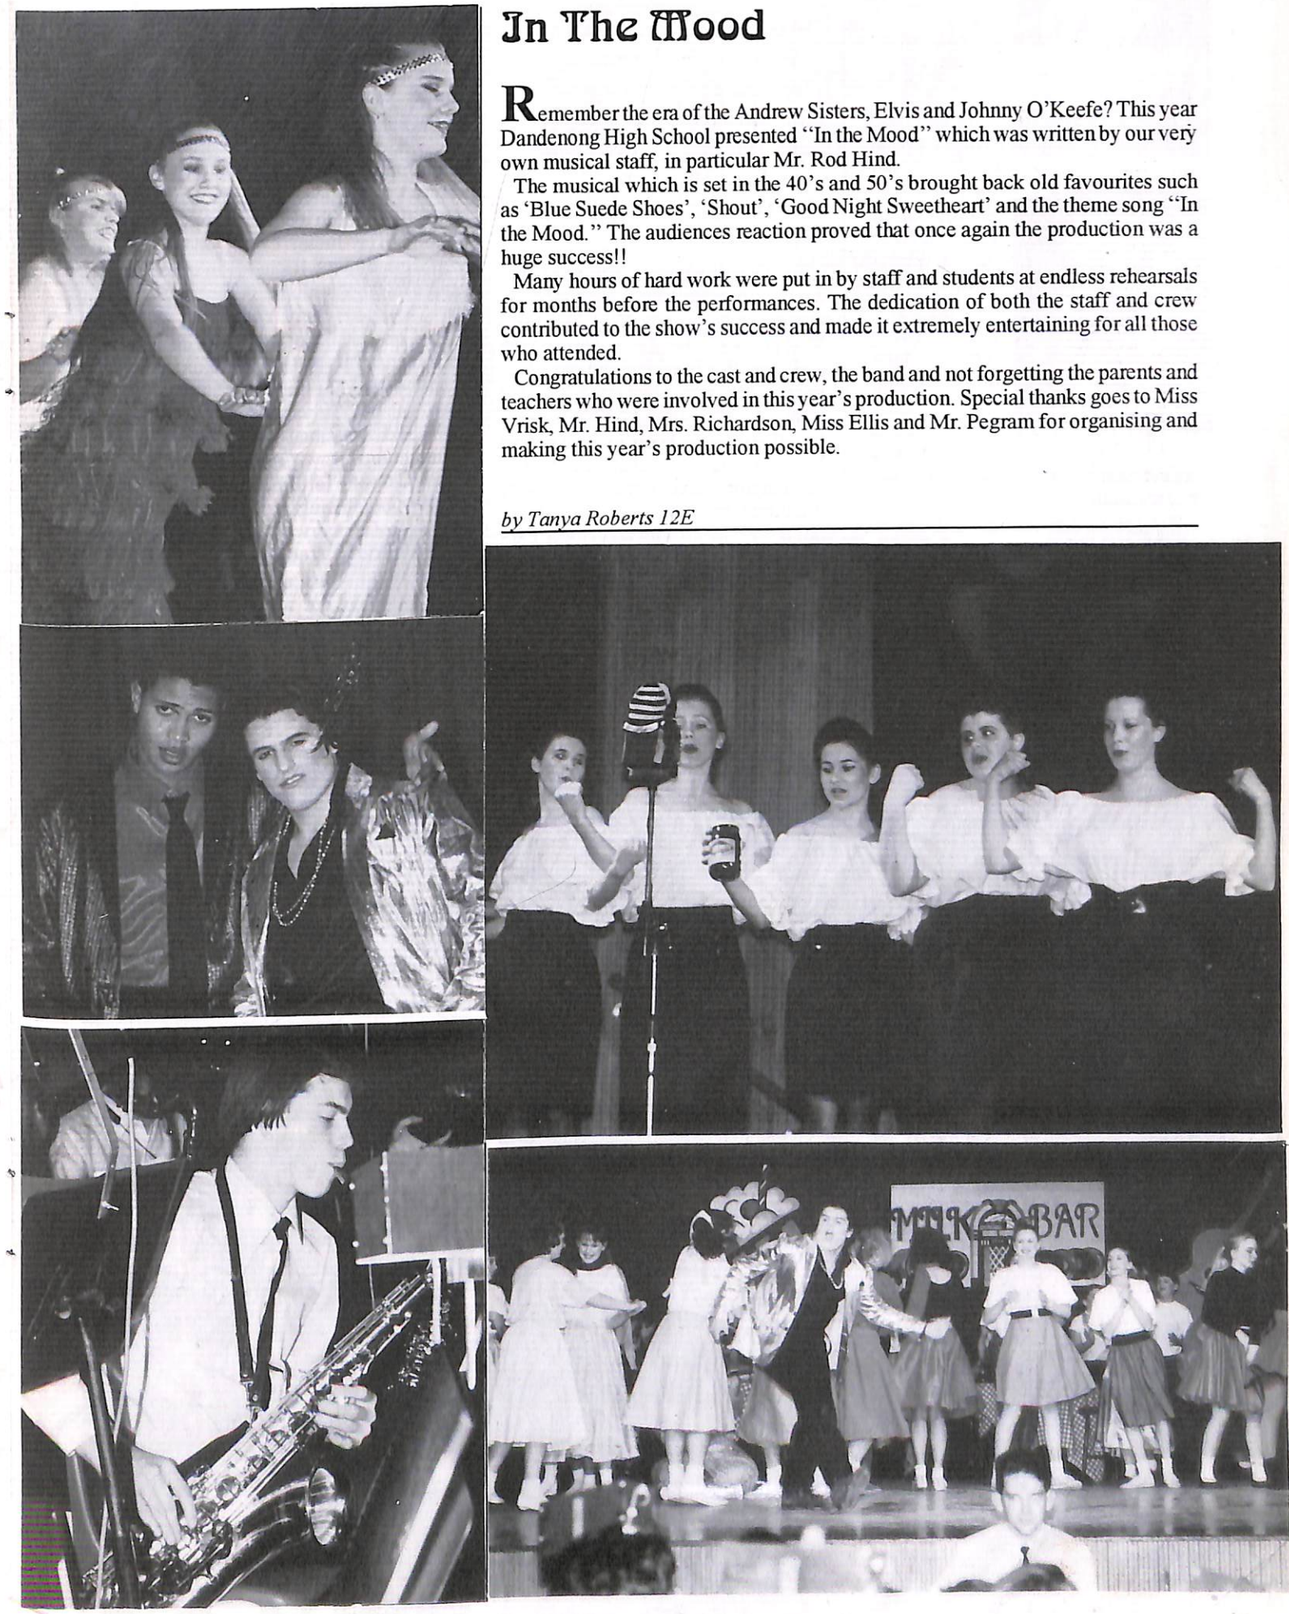

Remember the era of the Andrew Sisters, Elvis and Johnny O'Keefe? This year Dandenong High School presented "In the Mood" which was written by our very own musical staff, in particular Mr. Rod Hind.

The musical which is set in the 40's and 50's brought back old favourites such as 'Blue Suede Shoes', 'Shout', 'Good Night Sweetheart' and the theme song "In the Mood." The audiences reaction proved that once again the production was a huge success!!

Many hours of hard work were put in by staff and students at endless rehearsals for months before the performances. The dedication of both the staff and crew contributed to the show's success and made it extremely entertaining for all those who attended.

Congratulations to the cast and crew, the band and not forgetting the parents and teachers who were involved in this year's production. Special thanks goes to Miss Vrisk, Mr. Hind, Mrs. Richardson, Miss Ellis and Mr. Pegram for organising and making this year's production possible.

Music, Music, Music

Once again Dandenong High School has continued its high standard of music performance throughout the year. Achievements for the faculty include the purchase of a new piano through donations and fundraising activities as well as the purchase of a keyboard lab which has just recently been installed.

Our school has been one of the few in the Dandenong area to offer the subject of music and music craft. These two classes comprise 15 VCE students, all of whom study an instrument. This year we have been fortunate enough to have 9 instrumental staff:

Mr. Lenko	)
Miss Persic	)Keyboard
Mr. Blick	Percussion
Mrs. Shafir	Strings
Mr. Earle	)
Mrs. Indrans	)Woodwind
Mrs. Lauricella	Voice
Mr. McCormick	Guitar
Mr. Webber	Brass

The Department has also been successful in establishing a Saxophone Quartet which comprises two Alto Saxophones, one Tenor Saxophone and one Baritone Saxophone. This quartet has performed at the Capital Centre for Education Week, a concert for all primary schools in the area and has been one of the many acts to perform at our Soiree nights. These were organised by Miss Vrisk and one of our newest additions to the Music Faculty, Mrs. Richardson, taking the place of Mrs. Earle. We welcome her presence and commend her for her efforts throughout an eventful year.

Junior/senior Choir

Interest in choral activity ignited by the Chorals Festival has once again seen many young conscientious students demonstrate school spirit by participating in both the Junior and Senior Choirs. The Junior Choir, under the direction of Mrs. Richardson consists of Years 7 - 9 students, while the Senior Choir consists of Years 9 - 12 students and is under the direction of Miss Vrisk. Both these choirs are to be commended for their excellence in performances at various school functions and communal events such as our International Day Assembly and at the Capital Centre for Education Week, as well as competing in the Dandenong Festival, Camberwell Eisteddfod and Mordialloc Eisteddfod, where the Senior Choir was awarded 2nd Prize and a trophy. We wish the choirs of DHS continued success in the years to come.

Senior Social

For a while there it seemed Dandenong High School was not going to have a Senior Social for 1992. Fortunately, through grit and determination, a handful of staff and students were able to organise a fabulous night with only two weeks preparation.

The old and much "Horror" theme was given new bite by enthusiastic students (mostly Year 12's) who dressed to kill. Included among the interesting characters (who unfortunately fell a few fangs short of being horrifying) were:

The Hunchback of Notre Dame, Freddy Krueger, Satan's Bride, Dracula and his (her?) bride, a haunted house and a curiously attractive Pretty Woman from Hell. Prizes donated by JB HiFi and CC Records were awarded to best dressed Tim Marchinton and Phllip Ivaschenko (both of Year 12). Another prize, curtesy of Rowney's "lunchbag" was awarded to the best dancer.

Unfortunately there was simply insufficient time to organise both a senior and junior social. We of the Social Committee sincerely apologise to juniors, but VCE pressures were just too much.

Congratulations to Mr. Fitchett, Ms. Ellis and the Committee who all worked hard to put together a successful and memorable social. Thank you also to staff who gave up their time to patrol the hall during the night.

PS To those who whinged at the four measly alternative songs that were played - broaden your horizons a little.

Karen Palenzuela - 1992 Social Committee President.

Spaghetti Night Out

On the night of July the 2nd, towards the end of Semester 1, the Year 12's headed off for a consolation dinner at Spaghetti Galore, Dandenong, in place of the customary senior social (which unfortunately could not be arranged). The majority of the Year 12's showed up, no doubt intending to enjoy themselves thoroughly before reports were issued the following day. (the rest. I'm sure, stayed home to pray).

Restaurant staff were pushed to their limit as DHS staff and students shovelled various kinds of pasta down their mouths without pausing for breath. The Year 12's however, were very well behaved and showed their appreciation and support whenever they could, especially during the two times waitresses smashed a few glasses - an event which was greeted by the students with cheers and polite applause.

It was one of the few times the Year 12 class of 1992 was able to have a "bonding experience" - scarce resources had unfortunately made other events such as the Year 12 camp, and the first semester senior social impossible to organise. The dinner made up for it, however, and the Year 12's made the most of the situation; it seemed students brought along more cameras than would be found in a Japanese tourbus!

A great time was had by all before heading off to other local entertainment spots. Heartfelt thanks to Ms. Ellis and Mr. Fitchett who both felt sorry enough for their charges to arrange a great night out for them.

Projects

On the 6th of August this year we undertook what I believe to be Dandenong High School's first ever radio broadcast. The broadcast formed part of my oral Cat No.3. From a makeshift studio in the front office I had my first taste of 'live to the people' radio with all its problems - technical, intrusions for messages etc. For all the difficulties encountered it was a valuable learning experience for an aspiring radio announcer. It was hard to please everyone with music selection, however I tried. From all accounts Rooms 87, and 4 were full and the students enjoyed it as it was a breakaway from the ordinary lunchtime routine. I greatly acknowledge the assistance of Matthew Phillips.

Talent Quest

Four Year 12 students, Natasha Rowney of 12E, Susan Weir of 12F, Renee De Courcy of 12B and Bindi Keating of 12C decided to do something a little different for their Year 12 Communication Project for English. This was to hold a Talent Quest for the students of Dandenong High School to compete for a first, second and two encouragement awards. Kristy Cooke of Year 7 won first prize and Nathan Gardiner, Bert Labonte and Joe Brasacchio of Year 12 won second prize.

These prizes were donated by Brashs (Dandenong), Myer (Dandenong), Radical Records (Dandenong) and MacDonalds (Dandenong). We would like to thank these companies for their generous donations.

Shark Warning

I could not bear the heat much longer, the sweat poured down my forehead like a river. The need to wipe it off my sweltering face was enormous, but the immense heat kept me inactive. My only relief would be the cool beach and to get out of the boiling car that was taking us there. My two sisters were in the same uncomfortable condition until the blue-green glow from the horizon came into sight.

While my big sister parked the car, my other sister and I jumped out of the scorching heat of the car. My destination was the cool fresh beach and nothing could stop me from getting there. I dropped my towel on the sand and took off my T-shirt. I stepped into the water, immediately I felt the coldness enter my body and imagined that steam rose from my heated skin.

The water was chilly at first but after some time I adapted to the calm environment. Soon the temptation to prove to myself what a good swimmer I was came in my mind. I decided to swim to where the edge of the pier ended. I started on my long quest, performing my favourite side stroke, every few seconds I glanced at the pier noticing it come closer and closer.

Suddenly, a loud siren blasted from the far away coast. At first the sound was foreign to me but then I realized that I had to get out of the water.

The pier was still too far away so my only choice was to head back to the beach. I changed my direction and saw people rushing to get out of the endangered waters like a swarm of bees leaving their hive. My mind rushed back to how desperate I was to get into the water, now I was furiously trying to get out of it. I was only approximately 50 metres out. The beach was totally empty, only I was in it.

I swam as hard as I could but it seemed that I wasn't getting anywhere. I glanced behind me and imagined I saw a black fin slowly following me. I was swimming freestyle but in my panicked state my strokes were that of a dog paddle. I looked back again and the fin had disappeared, it had probably submerged to attack me from the bottom. My lungs felt as if they would burst and my arms were aching from exhaustion. I rested my arms at my side and swam, kicking furiously with my legs. Suddenly I felt a lash of pain coming from my arms, my eyes opened in shock as I thought the monster had savagely torn them away. I feared if I lifted my arms I would find it gone with only traces of flesh and blood hanging limply from my shoulders, but my imagination had trailed away again as my arms were still safely attached to my body and I used them again to swim.

My feet touched something rough and hard. The shark was underneath me, it would surface violently and.....but I realized that it was only the sand, I had made it to the safety of the waist-high water and walked to where the crowd stood in horror. My heavy breathing was uncontrollable when I tried to silence it. Far away dinghies were circling the suspected areas and one had come back to make the anxiously awaited report.

Shortly afterwards, an announcement from the speakers informed the crowds that it was a false alarm and that a wandering seal had entered the waters.

The Day I Went To Dandenong North PS

I walked into the small corridor
My head almost touching the ceiling,
I'd never been here before
So I had a weird feeling.

What would they say?
How would they look?
How would they react,
When I read them my book?

They asked a few questions,
And I answered them all,
I gave a few suggestions.
They sat there enthralled.

The time had come to say goodbye,
My weird feeling had passed,
I left the room and heaved a sigh.
I'd finished, at last.

Roman Holiday

Shoot at them!
They'll shoot at us....
Kill their brothers!
They'll kill our fathers....
Destroy their land!
They'll destroy ours too.

Killing our own kind,
Is what we do best.
For we are Man....
Medals, pinned to our chest.

What we do to them,
Is what they do to us.
Pride and revenge,
Involves no Justice.

Kill more of them!
They'll only do the same....
Do you think I feel guilt
Nor shame? ..... no

You might not think so
But I'll confess....
Killing our own kind,
Is what we do best.

No matter which land,
No matter which shore.
They'll always want to kill,
Just a little bit more.

No way to solve the problem,
No way to make amends.
You can't bring life and
Happiness to the dead.

We cannot abolish the conflict,
That is eating up our world.
We cannot solve the puzzle,
That has crushed every boy and girl.

So go away and don't come back,
You're disturbing my peace and Corrupting my mind, I know you lack
The truth of war, it never has stopped,
And furthermore..... it never will.

My Hurt

The weather is dull, the sky is grey,
It's been so long, since he went away.
He left one day as the sun was dawning,
Oh my love, how I've been mourning.

Was it my fault, I really hope not,
So how is that blonde, that you see a lot.
It's been three months, since we last spoke,
Who said I didn't love you, who played that cruel joke.

Oh that day, I remember it well,
It's caught in my mind, I can't help but dwell.
I saw you with her, you saw me too,
You dropped her hand, but I knew it was true.

For it was then, that I knew,
That I wasn't, the one for you.
You used and hurt me, that made me weep,
But ah revenge, revenge is so sweet.

I remember that day, I waited for you,
I told you a lie, that I'd found someone new,
When I saw your face, I knew I had won,
If only you knew, I'd just begun.

I hate you, yet love you, can't make up my mind,
Great guys like you, they are so hard to find.
Yet I'll go without, rather than distrust,
A faithful man, is a definite must!

Friends

Good friends are hard to come by
Though foes are as free as lies
On your toughest days, your friends
Are by your side
So shamely though, foes are hogging on you
All the time
In your shame and pain,
Your friends keep your head held high
Though you feel helpless and lost
In the rain of cane
Never would your friends leave you
On your own to fight
And keep away from you
On your helpless times
In the name of a friend
A friend I have, who gave me faith.

Memories

When they told me you had died
I could not believe it
My mind went blind
That's when I learnt life was short
Too Short.
I remember the times we had together
The times we'd laughed and cried
Remember the time we went to the beach
We had built sand castles along the shore.
Then watched the tide take it away
Into the great depths of the sea.
Then the tide of death came for you
And washed you away from me for good
So now I will say my final goodbye
Please forgive me if I forget you,
But when red roses bloom
The sweetness will remind me of you
I will always keep you as a memory
Goodbye love, goodbye.

Heaven

It was the perfect illusion,
A world with no pollution.
Land unspoiled,
For which men have toiled.
A land of green,
No black to be seen.
A glorious sun of yellow,
And buttercups in the meadow.

A calm lake of blue,
A mountain with a view.
Lambs born in spring,
What wonders they do bring.

Children playing with a ball,
The cool flow of a waterfall.
A clear stream full of fish,
And a child's hopeful wish.

First Impressions Of Australia

I remembered it was morning when the plane arrived in Sydney. I don't remember much about the landing. I just recall that there were ringing sounds in my ears and then everyone was rushing off the plane. The plane was from China.

When I first saw Sydney Airport it was a whole different world to China. Everything was so modern and bright. The feeling was so different to that when I was at Peking's Airport.

The feeling was probably natural because back in China it was summer, where it was warm and sunny. Now ten hours later I arrived into a world of cold winds and icy rains. It was not like winds in China.

I missed winter in China. There was snow lots of it. It was so cold that you can go ice skating in a little creek that was near the woods.

Everybody got off the plane and we met the people, who were picking us up. I don't remember much about the meeting or how I got into the car. Only the view of the streets remained clearly in my head till now. My first impression of the houses were that they were positively neat. The houses were made of colourful brick. Unlike at my home town where houses were constructed of dull mud bricks. There were no front yards with lush green grass and charming flower gardens, as here in Australia.

Another difference was there was no din. The roads were very smooth - compared to the dirt roads in my home town. The houses here did seem to be squashed together, like the ones where I used to live in China.

That day my friend took me to a milk bar, I didn't know it was a milkbar. My friend bought these different coloured coin-like things. She gave me one. I thought it was coins but I thought to myself how can coins be green? My friend must have seen the puzzled expression on my face. She laughed and explained that they are foil-wrapped bubble gums. After she told me I felt my face burn and thought to myself, how can I be so naive to think there are green coins?

Another thing I discovered at the milkbar were these yellow and red packets with yellow twisted sticks in it. I found them very tasty. I had never tasted anything like that before. Before I came to Australia I had never heard of potato chips. There was just one shop where I lived in China. It was like a milkbar, supermarket and a clothing store put together. They sold lollies like a milkbar and they sold groceries like supermarkets. The shop was not even half the size of a supermarket.

Australia opened a whole new world to me, one that I thought never existed. Australia is a beautiful country but it does have its flaws, just as my home country does. Soon, I will go back to visit my true home.

Leaving School

Leaving school is not as great as I had imagined it to be. I thought that it would be the best thing that I have ever done. The real truth is that it wasn't. Now when I look back on what I was thinking at the time I can't believe just how stupid I was.

When I left I had my future all planned out ahead of me. I would leave school and in no later than two weeks I would have a great job. I would be earning lots of money and be a success. I would not let myself become a loser like everyone expected me to become when I left school. You see at first these plans did not sound like high expectations to me but they surely turned out that way.

The real truth about leaving school is that it isn't as great as it sounds. It isn't as easy as walking into your school, signing your exit form, walking out and hopping straight into a job. That's unless you have already had a part-time job and you arranged something with your employer. So if you haven't then there is all this paper work to be done in between. I mean, you need money to survive until you get a job. So it's off to the Social Security Department where they will have to line up for hours just for some forms that you have to take next door to the CES and fill them out there. So you take your SSD forms over to the CES, they look through your answers, sign something, then give you more forms to fill out. When all the paper work is done the Department of Social Security will make an appointment to see you in three weeks.

At the meeting they read through your sheets and decide if your are eligible for any payment. I was eligible for Job Search Allowance that was roughly $28.95 a week. After they interviewed me they sent me home with more papers that had to be filled out and brought back in thirteen weeks to get my first payment.

In the meanwhile I was looking for a job. I was in the CES every day if I wasn't at a job interview. I was going to six job interviews in two days, at one stage.

I thought, at that stage, that I was sure to get a job soon if that kept up, but so were the other girls that might have applied for the same job and got interviewed. I was running from one side of town to another to job interviews and I wasn't getting any replies from my interviews. So I began to thin that I might have done wrong in my interviews and I realized that I wasn't very confident in my interviews so at my next interview I was all prepared.

I got a job interview with "Hungry Jacks" in Knox City. I walked in really confident and I got the job on the spot. I started work two days later and have been working there until three days before I re-started school.

Working there wasn't so bad. It was surely better than being unemployed and on the dole. I made a lot of new friends and I was making a lot of money too.

After a couple of months I was promoted to being a "Hungry Jacks's Ambassador" which meant that I was representing "Hungry Jacks" as a PR. Everything was fine but after a while the money didn't matter any more and something was missing. Everyone kept encouraging me to go back to school and that's what got me thinking about coming back. Then I started thinking what sort of a future would I have without school in the long run. So I decided to go back to school.

I think I shocked a lot of people when I returned because none of my friends really expected me to come back but I proved them wrong and so here I am back to school and back to hitting the books. Except the only difference this time is that I am going to study hard and finish school (all of it) including university if I get in.

I still have a part-time job with "Hungry Jacks" which I am happy about considering they didn't fire me when I only gave them two days notice about going back to school.

So the only advice I have got to give to anyone about leaving school is DON'T DO IT because it isn't worth losing your schooling in the long run just because you couldn't handle a little pressure at school.

Gabriela Cheltuitorul Yr11

Pressure

Hearts palpitate in time,
Pulses racing rapidly
Blood-shot eyes open
With brows furrowed.

Hunched shoulders, trembling hands,
Sweaty armpits, flushed faces,
Dry mouths, cracked voices
The tension is thick.

Rush, rush, panic, panic
Muddled notes, stubbed pencils
Thoughts ooze, pencils itch
Deep breaths - 1, 2, 3.

Cramped conditions, feet shift
Confused looks, doodles drawn
Clocks ticking, time passing
Can it be done?

Papers collected, cool relief
Stale sweat, sighs felt
Big grins, small frowns
Pass or fail?

Results received
Smiles achieved
Tension diminished
Exams finished.

Home Economics

Home Economics was a subject designed explicitly for girls, and taught almost exclusively by women. Its orientation was more towards the practical than the academic. Thank goodness there has been a substantial change at Dandenong High School.

We currently have over 300 students go through the practical foods area each week (ranging from Yr.7 - 12). We also have Human Development - Home Economics at Year 11, and one at Year 12. Also, all year levels now have male participation. We feel that Home Economics provides a useful preparation for employment for all students.

The current courses have been well planned to not only provide students "hands on" work in foods, but enables us to cover the theory work needed to make such courses useful and as popular as they are becoming.

The Year 10 students have once again delved into the catering theme, providing food sales, supper nights for the Trivia Night and School Production and also running Staff Luncheons. The Year 11 and 12 courses follow the technology theme in foods and has been a popular choice for the last two years with males and females seeking places in the course.

VCE has made the year a challenging one for students, and has meant a lot of planning and preparation now falls to the students. It has proven a worthwhile exercise, when one sees the kind of results being produced. Good luck to all who take on these courses in 1993, you will find it rewarding and worthwhile.

by Mrs. Oliphant, Home Economics Coordinator.

- MRS. STEVENSON — "Can the auditorium (hall) please stand to welcome the official party."
- MRS. BANKS — "Pregnancy makes muddle you your words!!"
- MS. COCHRANE — "Scotty, Boggy, what do you think?"
- MR. SIMMONDS — "To my total and utter disgust ....."

Vice Principals' Comments

Much criticism has been directed at the young people of today and this has led to the danger of adopting a pessimistic outlook for the future of our society.

Consider this comment, "I see no hope for the future of our people if they are dependent on the frivolous youth of today. When I was a boy we were taught to be respectful to our elders. Today's youth is exceedingly impatient of restraint." Perhaps this could be a comment in one of today's newspapers. In fact it is a comment written by the Greek poet Hesiod in the 8th Century BC.

As the new Vice Principals of the school we have worked closely with the teachers and students and we have found much to make us feel optimistic. We have been impressed with not only the quality of students' academic endeavour but also with their willingness to take advantage of the many opportunities offered in other areas.

When I was a boy we were taught to be respectful to our elders.

During 1992 many of our students entered their names in the competitive arena; in mathematics competitions, essay competitions, sport, creative arts exhibitions and in music and chorals. These students were prepared to extend themselves and to explore fully their personal potential.

Hopefully, during 1993, many more students will place greater emphasis upon a commitment to achieve goals of the highest standard. As individuals and as a school, we cannot afford to neglect the quest for excellence.

It has been obvious to us that the potential for excellence exists in the majority of our students.

We have seen much evidence of achievement but most importantly we have come across many students who have exhibited sterling qualities of leadership and citizenship, who will contribute immensely to the community of the future.

We have enjoyed working with the vast range of staff, students, parents and members of the community. We found the year to be a challenging and stimulating one and we look forward to an even more enjoyable year in 1993.

Ski Trip

After an early start of 4.30 am on Monday 14th September, a group of forty students from Years 7 to 10 and five teachers (Mrs. Hayes, Mr. Bond, Mr. Hind, Miss Wallis and Mrs. Dyson) set off for the Arlberg Lodge in Merrijig. We arrived at the Lodge at 7.30 am and we were on the mountain (Mt. Buller) by 9.00 am. We had to be up by 6.30 am every morning for breakfast at 7.00 am and on Mt. Buller by 9.00 am. All the teachers made the five days very enjoyable. Only two people collected some trees earlier on in the week, they were Ben Hudson Year 8 and Catherine Carter Year 10, but they were OK by the end of the week. The weather was beautifully sunny, but Tuesday and Wednesday the conditions were very poor, it was cold and visibility was awful. Overall it was a fun filled, exciting week. On behalf of all the students we would like to thank the five teachers who made this all possible for us.

Excursion To Dandenong North P.S.

For Creative Writing this year, our first small excursion was to Dandenong North PS. It was drizzling on our way there and back but we went anyway. I guess everyone was uncertain and hesitant as to what was to be expected there. We were worried that when we read our stories to the Grade 6's that they mightn't like it and react to it rudely.

When we reached the school and walked through the warm corridor, the smiling and welcoming teacher hushed us in. We stared at each other and the Grade 6's stared right back. Exchanging nervous grins at one another, no-one was prepared to volunteer and talk about the course in Creative Writing, so the teacher picked one of us to explain a little about Creative Writing and why we do rough copies for our stories and so on.

Then we were put into groups of six. (Three Grade 6's and three Year 9's). Some groups went out to another room and some stayed around the corridors. We got to know the Grade 6's we were with and introduced ourselves. I think we were all relieved when we realised we were getting along with each other pretty well. We thought the Grade 6's were amazingly well-behaved and had good manners. They were quiet and helpful and some even read their stores to us. We thought their stories were heaps better than ours and their drawings were terrific and so cute. They reminded us of the times we used to do those things as well.

As I looked around the room, I decided everyone was having a good time. The atmosphere of the room was free and relaxed. Soon it was time to gather in the room again and the Grade 6's read some of our stories that they really enjoyed. Mrs. Schmidt talked for a while and said we might come back about the end of the year to do some stores with the Grade 6's. The bell rang for lunch and we walked back to our school.

Year 7 Camp - Gilwell

We left school at 9.00 am on route to Gilwell Scout Camp. Having been given activity books we all watched the sights to answer the questions that the book contained.

When we arrived we unpacked the bus and were shown to our cabins. The boys cabins were near a creek surrounded by marsh and shrubs. Each cabin had 8 beds and another hut for recreational purposes.

After lunch Dr. Henshaw handed out awards for helpfulness. I received one and so did others. They were either a medal or a certificate. These were given out for various reasons to people during the four days we were there.

After lunch we did activities. We were in 4 groups. They were Possums, Wombats, Koalas and Echidnas. After an activity the teacher would give us points. The team at the end of the camp would have all their points added up and the highest scoring team wins a prize.

The activities we did were canoeing, bush art, damper making, pitching tents, a blind obstacle course and the Gilwell Gauntlet. The Gilwell Gauntlet was an obstacle course that we did. It consisted of climbing over a cargo net, walking along a beam suspended above the ground, climbing up and sliding down a structure, straddling a pipe, going along monkey bars, wading through slime, playing tarzan over a slime pit, walking along a stationery beam, climbing over a wall and climbing up a concrete tube.

One of the most exciting parts of the camp was Dr. Henshaw's 'Madonna' impersonation . He ran out singing, dressed in a corset, wig and a fur coat.

The camp was good and congratulations to Possums for winning the competition.

by Michael Grills, Year 7.

Year 11 Camp

Year 11 camp this year was held at Arakoon Resort, near Bendigo. The camp went from the 24th of March to the 27th March, and comprised of water activities and study skills techniques combined.

Supervising teachers included, Mrs. Cain, Miss Arnold, Mr. Sitnai, Miss Hayes and Miss Lozo.

The day usually started at about 7 - 7.30 a.m. with a run, a walk or extremely hard and exhausting aerobic workout (which was largely due to the "happy" nature of many, including teachers, in the morning.)

After breakfast, we went to various activities including orienteering, canoeing, wind surfing, paddle boating, surf skiing, swimming or the most popular of activities WATER SLIDING (for which the most creative or adventurous slide was greatly applauded.)

Activities in the evening included tips on how to get through "the new VCE", watching the extremely funny "Mr. Bean" movies or exhausting night walks designed to tire us out (but didn't always work).

The highlight of the camp was the "Olympics", where we saw the true competitive nature of 16 and 17 year olds (not to mention the teachers). Students pushed their bodies to the limit, did their best for the team and downright cheated to be the final winners. The most enjoyable part of the "The Games" was the finale, the escape from Gilligans Island, which saw Mr. Sitnai stranded on the island with no means to get back, that wasn't until a kind hearted student decided (after there was much discussion whether he should be rescued) to go and save him.

Overall, the camp was extremely enjoyable and all the students would like to thank all the teachers involved in the organisation of the camp and Mrs. Coote for her invaluable "study skills" help.

Year 12 Dinner

Thursday, 5th November, saw the 'gala' event of the year, that annual culmination of students to recognize achievement and memory dating back six years. (For those that did not attend, the following most likely will not make sense).

As for results, judges deliberated for a few secnds before awarding Fatima Sadikay with the award for the best imitation of a "railway sleeper". The award for the most number of visits outside for fresh air (and check their pockets) eventually went to Rod Hind (nice riffs Rod).

All in all, the ball of a time we had at the dinner was basically just a small warm-up for the ensuing night/morning that followed.

PS Hint for future Year 12 students: hire the Mercedes 9 seater, it rocks.

Also congratulations to Greg Clarke, shake that sugar Clarkey.

by Nathan Gardiner 12B

A stunning transformation greeted everyone as the Year 12 students scrubbed up for their celebration dinner at Camelot Receptions in Clayton, on the evening of November 5th. It was a pleasantly stark contrast from the filth and stink of earlier that morning when the students gathered in the chill hours of dawn to say their own special goodbye to Dandenong High School. (Whoever put that succinct sign on top of the canteen roof deserves a medal and a pat on the back.)

The elegant setting, dimmed lights and hefty DJ and his music all contributed to the evening's atmosphere of sheer joy (and a touch of sorrow) as DHS's first full VCE GRADUATES heaved a collective sign of relief on reaching the end of their high school years.

After speeches, awards, songs and food were dealt with, students and staff got down and boogied the night away.

At midnight, final hugs, kisses and autographs were exchanged before everyone took off to continue with celebrations.

High School may indeed be over, but "The Legends of Year 12 1992" will live on in the hearts and memories of everyone..... (NOT!... well, in our own hearts and memories anyway.)
