LOCAL Good Guy proprietor Allen Garb and his team invite everyone to visit his Dandenong store and celebrate its first anniversary of operation at its bigger and better location.

Mr Garb said with the move to its current premises in March last year, the store now had 12 new kitchens on display, allowing customers to browse, touch and get a real feel for what was on offer.

"A kitchen design specialist is also available to help customise kitchens to create exactly what they need," he said.

Located on Frankston-Dandenong Rd, the new store is more than twice the size of the old store.

Mr Garb said the expansion had allowed him to employ more staff and provide customers with a better shopping experience.

"We have ample parking facilities, loading bays, modern displays, airconditioning and live demos on how to use our many appliances," Mr Garb said.

"Our coffee machines, in particular, are becoming very popular with more people purchasing them for the convenience and value."

The Good Guys Dandenong also prides itself on getting the community involved in raising money for its cause partner, Dandenong Hospital, through its Local Giving Program.

The store recently raised $4000 through its annual charity golf day.

Good Guys to a tee

THE Good Guys, Dandenong, will provide vital services for sick young patients through its eighth annual golf day.

Store owner Allen Garb said funds from this year's event at Cranbourne Golf Club on 11 November would go to purchase a CosyTherm neo-natal warming system for the Special Care Nursery at Monash Children's Hospital, Dandenong.

The sophisticated heating system maintains body temperature for babies who are at risk of developing hypothermia.

"The work Monash Children's (hospital) does is terrific and I'm really grateful that both our team here and our suppliers participate in this day every year to raise funds for much needed equipment and, of course, care," Mr Garb said.

More than 120 golfers will take part in the event, which will include a lunch, 18 holes of golf, a barbecue buffet dinner and a guest speaker.
