Patterson Cheney Toyota is proud to have jumped on an environmentally friendly journey to make a difference.

The company is pleased to share some major milestones.

Working alongside Simply Cups Australia, they have saved over 1500 cups from going to landfill. They have also partnered up with Mobile Muster and are now officially a drop off centre for mobile phones and batteries. If you have a phone that you no longer use and don't know what to do with, drop it at Patterson Cheney Toyota and they will give it to the experts.

Patterson Cheney also recycles hybrid vehicle batteries with the Toyota Australia recycling program.

Toyota Australia achieved a milestone with hybrid-electric sales during 2019. Toyota Hybrids combine the power of petrol engine and the fuel savings of an electric motor to you give you lower emissions without waiting for the battery to be charged.

On a Dealer level, Patterson Cheney's service facility recycles 4000 litres of oil a month. All waste products are collected and sent to an accredited facility to either re-purpose or recycle to avoid contaminating landfill. All 12 volt batteries are sent to preferred metal recyclers to extract lead and all waste water is treated by a triple interceptor that is serviced in accordance with the appropriate authorities.

Patterson Cheney is proud to be leading the way with their Toyota Hybrid technology for a cleaner, greener future for all Australians.
