Dear Gram

Thank you so much for your very sweet letter.

Tonight we are expecting Mandy and Simon, sometime. They are driving down from Sydney. We are all pretty excited as the time gets so close to leaving. Suzy informs us at intervals that it is "... 137 hours (or 105, or whatever it is) till we're sitting in the plane."

We hope to see Martin in Rome, where we have three days, and Arthur in London.
