Dear Patricia and John,

Please forgive me for not having written before this to thank you for the most enjoyable Supper you gave Violet and me last Sunday evening. It was so good of you to have us - and to rescue Violet from Lynn's party - for such a relaxing few hours. It did her the world of good and she definitely progressed to her old self as time went by. David tells me in today's paper that he feels he will have no trouble with your ticket requests for London. Affectionately,
Naël
