THE ORIGINS OF KEW

by Elizabeth Mackie
Kew Historical Society

Sunday, July 27th is an important date for Bodalla, the Uniting Church Home for the Elderly, and for Kew Historical Society.

Colonel Lee-Archer, President of the Royal Historical Society will be unveiling a bronze plaque at Bodalla which has been presented by Kew Historical Society to commemorate the first church in Kew, the Congregational Church, Walpole Street, which was built in 1854. Many residents will remember the brick and cream plaster church, and the simplicity and beauty of the Georgian Colonial style interior. This church was demolished to build extensions to Bodalla.

Historically the church was significant not only because it was the first church in Kew, built on land which was a gift from Mr. N.A. Fenwick, an early pioneer settler in Kew. Walpole Street in those days was described by chronicler James Bonwick in lucid words: "Well do we remember the forests of trees and dense undergrowth of wattles through which we passed to reach this sanctuary in the wilds". The remnants of these forests and wattles can still be seen along the boulevard in Kew, at Studley Park. The church was also very significant because the early settlers used it as their meeting hall in which to plan the lay-out and building sites for the village of Kew. Our city had its origins in the church in Walpole Street and for this reason the Historical Society feels it is of great importance to acknowledge the site even though the building has been demolished.

The beautiful rose window from the church has been preserved and placed in a wall at Bodalla and there are plans for the wooden rafters of the church to be made into a cross which will be placed against the wall so that passers-by can see it from the street, commemorating for the future the fact that the site was once consecrated ground belonging to an historic church in Kew.

INDIAN SERVICE A SUCCESS

More than 90 people enjoyed an "All-Indian-Service" recently at the East Kew Baptist Church.

Songs were sung concurrently in Hindu and English . . . Indian families presented items in song and a "profile of India" was ably presented by Manek Irani . . . the service began at 5.30 p.m. and was followed by an Indian-style meal . . . the whole event was enhanced by the colourful sashis worn by many of the ladies, both Indian and Australian.

The Minister, Rev. Stan Simmons, has already had several requests that a similar service be conducted.

It was a great surprise for Indians present to have Rev. Ruvbukho Terhuja, Executive Secretary of the Baptist Union of India - the second largest Baptist Church Union in the world, attend and afterwards bring greetings from Indian Baptists.

KEW GARDEN CLUB

Anyone interested in - GIVE THE YARRA A GO? - If so, read this.

At the Kew end of the "Give the Yarra a Go" project is Studley Park - the largest natural bush park in close proximity to the City of Melbourne.

The Yarra River runs through this beautiful Park and along its banks are areas overrun with the noxious weed - African Boneseed.

It smothers other natural grasses and plants thereby allowing erosion to take place. There is only one way to eradicate it and that is to pull it out.

The Kew Garden Club as a Community Project has arranged a Boneseed Pulling Day at Kanes Bridge, Boulevard, Kew - near Johnston Street Bridge.

The date - Sunday 10th August, 1980.

Time - 10.30 a.m. to 4 p.m.

Bring your picnic lunch and B.B.Q. to be held at 12.30 p.m.

Let us all join in making Kew a more beautiful place in which to live. Everyone is invited to attend a day in the open air.

For information ring Joan Barrett on 80 2255 or Jack Lyons on 861 9198.

POET'S CORNER

The Poem below has been around for some time, but we feel that there may be some of our readers who may not have seen it before.

The writer's name is unknown to us.

I am fine - Thank you!

*There is nothing the matter with me,
I'm as healthy as I can be,
I have arthritis in both my knees,
And when I talk, I talk with a wheeze,
My pulse is weak and my blood is thin,
But I'm awfully well for the shape I'm in.
Arch supports I have for my feet,
Or I wouldn't be able to be on the street,
Sleep is denied me night after night,
but every morning I find I'm all right;
My memory is failing, my head's in a spin,
But I'm awfully well for the shape I'm in.
The moral is this, as this tale I unfold,
That for you and me who are growing old,
It's better to say "I'm fine" with a grin,
Than to let folks know the shape we are in.
How do I know that my youth is all spent?
Well, my "get up and go" has got up and went,
But I really don't mind when I think with a grin,
Of all the grand places my "get up" has been.
Old age is golden, I've heard it said,
But I sometimes wonder, as I get into bed,
With my "ears" in a drawer, my teeth in a cup
My "eyes" on the table until I wake up,
'Ere sleep comes o'er me, I say to myself,
Is there anything else I should lay on the shelf?
When I was young my slippers were red,
I could kick up my heels right over my head,
When I grew older my slippers were blue,
But still I could dance the whole night thru,
Now, when I'm old my slippers are black,
I walk to the store and puff my way back.
I get up in the morning and dust off my wits,
Pick up the papers and read the "Obits",
If my name is still missing, I know I'm not dead,
So I get a good breakfast and go back to bed.*

C.R.B. - ROUTE E6 ENVIRONMENT EFFECTS

The Country Road Board presented a public display showing plans etc., of the various proposals during February in a church hall in Pakington Street, Kew and about 600 people attended. Much interest was shown and many people recorded their comments.

In addition fourteen informal group discussions between CRB officers and local residents have been conducted in private homes throughout this year. These meetings were well attended and a considerable amount of information and useful comment was noted by CRB staff which will assist in the assessment of the alternative proposals.

Both at the public display and at the group discussions most residents appreciated the need to improve traffic conditions in the area, particularly:-

- at the intersection of High Street and Harp Road
- through the "dog leg" intersection of Belford Road, Valerie Street and Asquith Street
- near the A.P.M. factory at Heidelberg Road/Chandler Highway.

Many residents were concerned about possible air pollution, traffic noise levels, local access, pedestrian safety, parking, increases in trucks and traffic safety. Numerous other points were raised and these, together with the items referred to previously will be examined during the preparation of the Environment Effects Statement.
