CAULFIELD GOES TO THE POLLS SATURDAY, AUGUST 27

The City of Caulfield Annual Council Elections will be held on Saturday, August 27 in each of the four wards of the City.

TWO FIRSTS

The 1977 Caulfield Council elections promise to be one of the busiest ever.

It will be the first time in Caulfield that voting has been compulsory and the first time that there has been a 'spill' of the whole Council.

The 'spill' was announced early in May by the Minister for Local Government, Mr A.

J. Hunt when, on the recommendation of the Governor in Council, he approved the re-subdivision of the City.

The alteration to the City's ward boundaries were of such a substantial nature that Mr Hunt, along with the Advisory Board, saw no alternative to a fresh election of the full Council.

CANDIDATES

Candidates for the position of Councillor with Caulfield Council are as follows:

North Ward

Irene Capek; Anthony Hordern; John Journeaux; Michael Michelson; Maxwell Blair; David Nolan.

South Ward

Albert Caldwell; Geoffrey Patience; Dorothy Ford; Kenneth Forshaw; John Zeleznikow; Julian Tame.

East Ward

Robert Baxter; Glenister Richards; William Walters; Harold Boulter; Primrose Boulter; Elizabeth Morton.

West Ward

Geoffrey Doolan; Raymond Mann; Brian Rudzki; Donald Dunstan; David Hardy; Peter Baitz.

COMPULSORY VOTING

Voting for the first time is compulsory for all owners or tenants of property in the City of Caulfield who are on the municipal voter's roll and who are natural born or naturalized Australian citizens over the age of 18 years.

The boundaries of the wards of the City and the polling booths at which persons may cast their vote are listed on Page 2.

SPECIAL POSTAL VOTING SERVICE

Voters who are unable to attend a polling booth because they will be away from Caulfield on polling day because they are ill or infirm or because they have conscientious scruples against voting on the day appointed for the election, may apply for a postal vote.

A special postal voting office has been set up at the Glen Eira Rd entrance to the Town Hall. It is open daily. In addition it will be open until 8 p.m. from Monday August 22 to Thursday August 25, and until 6 p.m. on Friday August 26.

For those who are unable to call personally, application may be made by writing or phoning the Town Hall, corner of Glen Eira and Hawthorn Roads, Caulfield, 528 5366, and asking for application forms for postal voting. Time must be allowed to enable the ballot papers to be posted out and returned on or before August 27.

NEW ADMIN FACILITIES—NOT TO PROCEED

Proposals for the development of new administrative offices and Council facilities have been abandoned, but the Council will proceed with planning for alterations and renovations to the existing office accommodation.

This announcement was made by the Mayor of Caulfield, Cr. Max Blair, at the Ordinary Meeting of the Council on Tuesday, August 9th. The Mayor was reporting on the Meeting of the Committee of the whole Council held on Monday, August 8th.

He said that as adequate and prudent long-term borrowings were unavailable during the present economic climate, without unduly burdening the rates of the City and without curbing the ongoing capital works programme, the Council could no longer proceed with the previously considered proposals for the erection of new office facilities.

It was, in fact, the seventh meeting in the past 10 months of the Special Committee of the whole Council set up to consider alternatives for new administrative accommodation.

Following the hearings of objections to the Civic Centre proposal in August, 1976, the conclusion was reached that the existing office accommodation was inadequate and substandard and that some new or altered accommodation was necessary.

PARAMETERS

Two specific parameters were borne in mind throughout the Committee's investigations.

Firstly, the need to provide adequate and prudent long-term borrowings for the work, within the capacity of the Council to finance.

It was essential that within the provision, the ongoing capital works programme vital to the City's development was not disrupted and that an undue burden was not placed on ratepayers.

Secondly, an undertaking to consult the residents of the City on any proposal before commitments were made. In fact, a scientific survey to be conducted by one of the major pollsters was to be carried out.

Within the course of the investigations, the Committee obtained details of the costs of three alternative proposals.

The result of the consideration of financing these proposals is evident from the Mayor's statement to the Council.

ALTERNATIVES TO EXISTING FACILITIES

However, as an alternative; the Committee recommended that, in recognition of the pressing need for improved office facilities, the Council proceed with planning for suitable alterations and renovations to the existing office accommodation and Council facilities on a gradual basis.

As a result of the recommendations, a projected survey of resident opinion will not proceed.

CRICKET - PRE-SEASON TRAINING STARTS SOON!

Caulfield Sub-District Cricket Club will commence training on the main oval, Caulfield Park on Tuesday 16th August, from 5.30 p.m. onwards. The Club will field 5 Senior Elevens, all on turf, and provide excellent facilities for players and spectators.

The Club went one step further to winning their first Sub-District pennant since season 1932/33 when they were runners-up to Brunswick last season. This was the third season in a row that the first eleven had been in the finals and the Captain/Coach of those three seasons, Mr Peterson, has again been re-appointed for the coming season.

The continued success of the Club's Social Committee will enable further improvement to the standard of equipment and the Social Committee will be making full use of the renovated pavilion for their proposed social events.

As under fourteen side will also be entered into the Moorabbin Districts competition this coming season and is being reformed, there is room for plenty of boys. Expert tuition is available from Len Peterson and his experienced coaching panel, and responsible club members have already been appointed to manage the side.

This team will also form the base of a representative side to be entered into the highly regarded R.M. Hatch under Fourteen Turf Competition to be conducted in January, 1978.

The Club is anxious to obtain the assistance of any citizen interested in acting in an official capacity such as scorer, manager, etc. This is one aspect of the club's operations which is sadly lacking.

Any prospective players or officials can contact the Secretary of the Club, Mr Geoff Reilley on 233 3397 (Home) or 267 4211 (Business).

MAYOR'S MESSAGE

In the last Mayoral Message in Caulfield Contact for the current year I would like to make a few general observations, namely

1. The year has been a productive one: Debate and discussion, particularly in Committee meetings, has at all times been constructive with all Councillors generally contributing in a harmonious manner.

Certain major decisions having quite far reaching effects were taken for the benefit of the City.

2. The question of new administrative facilities was the subject of in-depth, detailed, and extended consideration.

The unanimous decision not to proceed with any major project is reported separately in this issue.

3. The Mayoress and I have thoroughly enjoyed our year and have been extremely appreciative of the unstinted support we have received from my Council colleagues and citizens in all quarters of the City.

We trust that our successors will be equally as happy at the end of their year.

Max Bran

Mayor of City
of Caulfield.

Park of all nations

The rain stopped, the sun broke through the clouds and Caulfield's Ethnic Arbor Day was a tremendous success.

Children representing eighteen different nations, many dressed in national costume, planted their native trees in Caulfield's E. E. Gunn Park, Carnegie.

Countries represented were Canada by Mr Stansfield the Vice Consul, Chile by Mr Yrarrazaval the Honorary Consul, Denmark by Mr Christianson, Finland by Mr Peremaa, Greece by Father Nicholas from the Greek Church, Italy by Mrs Bregu and Mr Cavalier L. Bini, Japan by Mr Nomoto the Consul General, Lebanon by Mr Batrouney the Vice Consul, Netherlands by Mr and Mrs Klaus, New Zealand by Mr Cheyne the Consul General, South Africa by Mr A. Johnson the Trade Commissioner, Sweden by Mr Prydz, Switzerland by Mr Horat, Turkey by Mr Gur the Vice Consul, U.S.A. by Mr P.

Foster the Vice Consul General, Portugal by Mr Dodson the Honorary Consul, Venezuela and Germany by Dr E. Muller the Acting Consul-General.

Trees were planted in three rows along the length of the park and at each plot the flag of the represented country was flown next to the native tree.

The Mayor and Mayoress, Cr and Mrs Max Blair toured the park witnessing the planting of each tree.

Throughout the afternoon the Caulfield Citizens' Band played lively ethnic music adding a touch of authentic flavour.

Mr C. H. Francis, Q.C. M.P. representing the State Government, congratulated the Caulfield Council on its originality in holding an Ethnic Arbor Day. Mr Francis also planted the Australian tree, the Wattle. After the official tree planting, 12 pretty Greek girls danced in their national costumes.

The Mayor invited all guests and spectators to afternoon tea in the marquee erected at the eastern end of the park.

It is hoped that one day the E. E. Gunn Park will become known as the Park of All Nations.

Mildew Growth in the Home

COURTESY OF C.S.I.R.O.

Mildew growth is a primitive form of plant growth which will grow in any home where the humidity remains high.

To keep humidity down, it is necessary to have proper ventilation and adequate heating.

Ventilation takes away the moisture released from cooking, showers, clothes drying, breathing etc.

Heating will raise the temperature of the air and allow it to hold more moisture.

However, proper ventilation is the main need.

How to prevent mildew:

- Make sure that there is some ventilation in all rooms at all times. Many windows slightly open are better than one window fully open.

- Keep the house warm, not too hot, but try to keep the indoor temperature at least 5°C warmer than outside all the time. A little heating kept on continuously does more good than a lot of heating during the evening only.

- Try to avoid:

- Pots and pans boiling longer or harder than needed.
- Drying clothes indoors.
- Steam from showers spreading through the house.

Open windows wider if indoor clothes-drying cannot be avoided. Clothes dryers must be ducted to the outside.

Insulate the ceilings and walls in new homes, and ceilings of existing homes.

Use windows as a guide. If they start collecting too much condensation, open them a little wider.

If mildew grows on wallpaper, clean down with a damp cloth and household bleach solution (1 part bleach and 5 parts water). Try a small area to make sure that the bleach does not take the color out of the wallpaper. If the color is affected, try a fungicide solution available from a paint shop.

Gloss-painted surfaces can be wiped down with bleach (1:5). Matt painted surfaces can be wiped with a fungicide solution to avoid taking out the color.

Never paint directly over mildew.

Slight mildew on curtain or clothing can usually be washed out. If left, permanent stains may occur.

When repairs are completed, make sure you avoid a recurrence by keeping your house moderately ventilated and warm, and avoid creating too much moisture.

If you require any further information, you may contact Council's Health Inspectors on 528 5366 during business hours.

LIONS CHARITY VAN

The Mayor, Cr. Max Blair is pictured with Mr. Barnes of the Carnegie Lions Club after the official presentation of the caravan to the City of Caulfield.

The recently appointed President of the Carnegie Lions Club, Mr. Les Malempre presented the caravan to the Mayor of Caulfield on Sunday August 7 at E. E. Gunn Park prior to the Arbor Day celebrations.

The Mayor, in accepting the van on behalf of the City, said that he believed that it was an extraordinary effort that the 24 members of Carnegie Lions were able to raise the $3,200 required to purchase the van in a mere 12 months. For that he congratulated them sincerely.

The caravan will be available to charitable organizations for use within the City. Special powerpoints will be set up in shopping centres around the municipality so that link up to a power supply will be a simple procedure.

The Lions Club took up the project of raising funds to purchase the van after their attention had been drawn to the successful use of such a van at Box Hill.

The van is spacious, with a door on each side of the front window opening, allowing easy movement of people through the van if required. It is also equipped with ample bench space for use as a street stall.

Organizations wishing to use the caravan should apply to the Caulfield Town Hall.

Salvos and Social Welfare

The house at 52 Blessington Street, St. Kilda is much like the other houses in the street. If you knock at the door you'll probably be greeted by Pam and John Bond, or perhaps one of the kids and you might think for a moment that you've gone to the wrong place. But if it is the St. Kilda Crisis Centre you are looking for, then you are at the right place.

John and Pam have been Salvationists all their lives. Four years ago they decided to give up the conventional life they had been living in Adelaide and become Salvation Army Officers. They moved to Melbourne and put themselves through the 2 year Salvation Army College Course.

In January this year, the Bonds graduated and at the same time were notified of their commission — to set up an experimental Crisis Centre in St. Kilda to act as a resource and community aid and referral centre.

Pam and John make no bones about the fact that they were shocked by their appointment. As 'beginners' they felt inadequate at the prospect of such a vital challenge.

However, 6 months have passed and the sheer need for their services and the hard work has left no time to contemplate those initial fears. Pam and John Bond are not professional social workers — and they don't claim to be. But they are friends to everybody. They work closely with the Police Force, particularly with the Courts, as well as with the Council Social Workers, the Family Support Unit, Elderly

Citizens, and the Salvation Army Headquarters.

Most people that go the Crisis Centre have been helped in the past by other welfare agencies. The Bonds will find people emergency, temporary or permanent accommodation, and provide food vouchers for the needy.

Most importantly they offer friendship, support and comfort 24 hours a day to the lonely. Although the Centre is located in St. Kilda, it services all surrounding municipalities including Caulfield. The Centre can be contacted by phoning 94 4612 or calling at 52 Blessington Street, St. Kilda.

RED SHIELD APPEAL

The St. Kilda Crisis Centre is completely funded by money raised through the Salvation Army's Red Shield Appeal. This year $50,000 will go to the Centre.

The Red Shield Appeal was held on Sunday July 10. In Caulfield $14,780 was raised from the door-knock, an 86% increase on last year's figure of $7,935. It is estimated that when all postal donations are received, the figure will be around $15,700.

On a State wide basis, the Red Shield Appeal objective was $1,015,000. That goal has been reached; in fact the latest count indicates a total of $1,018,000.

If you contributed toward the Red Shield Appeal, or if you occasionally pop a few cents into the tin when a Salvo calls at the pub, then you might be interested to know what happens to that money and in fact how dependent Victorian welfare is on the services of the Salvation Army.

$60,000 will go the Inala Nursing Home in Blackburn for accommodation extensions. This home for the frail aged currently accommodates 584 people; the extensions will provide a home for a further 45 elderly people.

The Altona Hostel is a brand new $1,000,000 project. The 46 bed hostel will be largely subsidised by the Australian Government, however, $50,000 goes to it from the Appeal.

The Kardinia Children's Home in Geelong needs 'updating.' It is to be converted from a dormitory style facility, to what's called a 'home' care children's home. It is anticipated that children living in an environment which closely resembles the family unit will feel more secure than in a 'semi-institutional' set-up. $35,000 from the Appeal will go to Kardinia.

Work is underway on the Anchorage Sheltered Workshop Hostel in Abbotsford. This $1m, 86 bed hostel for men will aid in the rehabilitation of alcoholics. The men staying at the hostel will be encouraged to work at the Workshop involved with the recycling of furniture, clothing and general salvage.

Recreational rooms will be provided at the hostel to aid in the therapeutic rehabilitation of the men.

It is hoped that along with the clothing there will be a recycling of human beings! $51,000 from the Appeal goes to the Anchorage, and the Australian Government provides a substantial subsidy.

$30,000 will be used to set up an emergency hostel at Moe. The hostel will be used by families in crisis — for example during floods and fires.

They are the capital projects which will benefit from the 1977 Red Shield Appeal. However the Salvation Army is also currently running 5 Child Care Centres, 7 Youth Hostels and training centres, 2 Family Emergency Services, 3 Rehabilitation and Counselling Centres, 4 Senior Citizens Centres and Bethesda Hospital at an estimated cost in 1977 of $7,325,059.

And the Salvos say that what they are doing is really "a drop in the ocean!"

A dinner dance with an international flavor

Keep Thursday October 20 free for the International Charity Dinner Dance of the Year.

The organisers — the Committee of the Caulfield Hospital Building Appeal, chaired by Mrs. Audrey Cunningham are delighted to have received the support of Mr. Al Grassby, Commissioner of Ethnic Affairs, and Mr. Jonah the State Minister for Immigration and Ethnic Affairs.

And if you can make it along, you can expect to see Slovenian, Swiss, Italian, Argentinian and Greek Dancing in national costume while you sample the cuisine of many different countries.

All proceeds will go toward the development of a Hostel for frail, elderly and handicapped persons at Caulfield Hospital in Kooyong Road.

Architects, Stephenson and Turner have designed the Hostel so that each patient has the privacy of his own room but shares a bathroom. Eating will be on a communal basis in the centrally located dining room. Housing 30 people, the Hostel will provide permanent accommodation for frail and aged persons.

The Committee was established in 1974 and since that time has raised $112,550 towards the project.

Tickets for the Ball are available from Mrs. Cunningham by phoning 523 5960.

● From left to right: Mrs Cunningham, Mrs Blair and Mrs Joan Child inspect the model of the hostel.

Caulfield Community Day 1977

This year's annual "Caulfield Community Day" will be held Sunday, December 11, at Caulfield Park. Any organization which is recreation-based, service-based, or community-based is heartily invited to participate.

Applications, via a brief letter to the Manager/Recreation and Culture, Caulfield Town Hall, corner Glen Eira and Hawthorn Roads, Caulfield, are required by September 16th.

Please state the name and purpose of the organisation and the sort(s) of activity you wish to undertake (e.g. information booth, sales of articles or food/drinks, a carnival activity such as throwing rings over pegs, a demonstration such as baton twirling, or any combination of the above).

1977 Mayoral ball

● Mrs Blair presents the cheques to Mr Montgomery.

270 guests attended the 1977 Mayoral Charity Ball which was held on Friday, July 15, at the Caulfield Town Hall. The Ball was given by the Mayor and Mayoress of Caulfield, Cr. and Mrs. Max Blair.

A canopy of red and white streamers draped from the high ceilings of the City Hall centred with hundreds of red and white balloons, and on the stage a massive replica of the City's Coat-of-Arms formed a spectacular backdrop.

Proceeds from the evening totalled $3,285 and went to the Caulfield Hospital toward the development of a hostel and sheltered workshop.

During the evening the Mayoress presented the Caulfield Hospital President, Mr. Bob Montgomery with the cheque.

‘The acceptance has been slow. So many people retain the image of back street minders who looked after children in hordes in substandard accommodation with little knowledge of a child’s needs. 9

FAMILY DAY CARE

What is it?

A question currently being asked by many parents with young children.

Family Day Care is new to Caulfield although in many respects day care has been part of the scene for years. It was first established in Victoria by the Brotherhood of St. Lawrence as a pilot project, but has been used and refined in England and the U.S.A. for some time.

The acceptance of Family Day Care has been slow. Many people retain the image of a series of “back street minders” who looked after children in hordes in substandard accommodation and with little knowledge of a child’s needs.

Educators and social workers have been wary of perpetuating a system of child care which has had much publicity but little research. However, recent studies have shown that Family Day Care offers:

- ★ Individualized care
- ★ Good mothering
- ★ Small numbers of people to react to and become familiar with
- ★ Experience of everyday happenings, experience in helping with home making tasks
- ★ The sharing of feelings with a warm and familiar adult and a small number of children
- ★ Usually experience with a younger or older child
- ★ Good relationships between minder and parent because of their frequent contact which leads to better understanding of adult interaction.
- ★ The advantages of group care
- ★ Professional resource people available to arrange further or different professional services should these be necessary.
- ★ Professional oversight by a responsible person/agency to their health, welfare and educational development needs.
- ★ Adults who are trained to observe their behaviour, assess their development and to take appropriate action to stimulate their growth.

These points are pertinent for all children who need day care but particularly relevant to the very young children, and we are finding in Caulfield that we have a large number of people for whom Family Day Care is not only a remedy for their child care problems, but is a positive bonus to the development of their children.

We need more minders to become involved in our scheme in order to place the children in the right setting for their particular needs and to allow for greater flexibility in terms of times and situations.

A JOINT VENTURE

Our venture is a joint one, Caulfield Council and Caulfield Institute of Technology having received (as far as can be ascertained) the first Federal Grant for a Council and a Tertiary Institute to work together on such a project.

It is intended to revise and extend existing services to fit into the unique situation presented by this arrangement. Hopefully, parents whether from the community or students, will participate in helping to develop this scheme to suit the conditions presented by such a large municipality and people with such diverse child care needs.

FLEXIBILITY

Basically, Family Day Care in Caulfield is for the regular care and development of children during working hours, and includes day-care for shift workers, shorter hours for part and full-time workers and for students, and also some before and after-school care for older children or siblings.

Occasional and emergency care is sometimes available. Under the scheme, families are chosen by the co-ordinator to take up to 4 children into their homes for regular care at a reasonable charge.

These team members (minders) are supervised on a regular basis, attend regular meetings and are given the opportunity to extend their knowledge of child-care by attending appropriate courses and by personal contact. Individual stimulation and education programmes, a toy and equipment library and a weekly playgroup are being arranged to help in the children’s care, emotional and physical well-being.

Some subsidies are available for people receiving pensions, or grants, and for single parents who are finding their financial arrangements difficult.

This is of necessity only a brief resume of the programme and further details can be obtained by contacting Carol Kenwood the Family Day Care Co-ordinator at the Counselling Department of Caulfield Institute of Technology on 211 7722, or on 528 5366.

CITIZENSHIP

“As a multi-cultural society, Australia seeks an active and real partnership which finds full expression in citizenship with its responsibilities and privileges.”

That’s what you’ll read if you pick up the pamphlet called “How to become an Australian Citizen.” But how many people in Caulfield have picked up that pamphlet and taken advantage of the privileges?

In the last ten years at 26 ceremonies, 2,620 Caulfield residents have become Australian citizens.

In 1966, 34% of the City’s total population of 76,119 people were of overseas born origin. In 1971 the total population rose to 81,865 and 38% were overseas born. The 1976 census statistics reveal that the total population has fallen to 73,629, that is below the 1966 total, and that 30% of the population is overseas born.

Unless the majority of these people attained citizenship more than 10 years ago, and that seems unlikely, there are a vast number of overseas born Caulfield residents who are not Australian citizens.

The Department of Immigration and Ethnic Affairs has an answer for those people who were reluctant to apply for Australian citizenship prior to 1959. At that time application had to be made to the Victorian office where the processing was carried out along with an initial approval. The application was then sent to Canberra for final approval and issuing.

Each applicant was required to appear before a magistrate in a City Court at an extremely rigid ceremony. In fact a fee was asked for, and notice of the application was required to be displayed in the Public Notices section of the daily papers. There was little if any incentive for overseas born residents to apply for citizenship.

The change in 1959 to Municipal Citizenship Ceremonies was aimed at increasing newcomers involvement with their own community. The ceremonies are warm and compassionate; there is no need for any person to feel inhibited, and of course there is no fee.

The pamphlet states that Australian citizenship gives you full participation in the affairs of the nation, whether as a voter or as a candidate for public office, or for election as a member of Parliament. It also ensures your right to apply for an Australian passport and your right to leave and re-enter Australia without need for a re-entry visa.

Beyond that, there is a fundamental need to ‘belong’ to a country, just as we need to ‘belong’ to a family.

No newcomer to Australia is expected to disown his cultural identity, customs or traditions, so long as they accord with the laws of Australia. Indeed, living links with other communities are welcomed in Australia’s evolving way of life.

The decision to seek citizenship is a personal one, however if you wish to apply you must contact the Department of Immigration and Ethnic Affairs at the Australian Government Centre, corner of Latrobe and Spring Streets, Melbourne, phone 662 2011.

When sufficient applications have been received by that Department from Caulfield, the Mayor is notified and he sets a date for the ceremony.

COMMUNITY ACCESS PAGE

Gershwin and all that jazz!

The songs of George and Ira Gershwin are undying in their appeal, whether to an older generation who remember them when they were first published, or to younger listeners brought up on the Beatles. Not only do they open a window on the past, they still impress with their clever lyrics and refreshing turns of phrase.

A selection of the most popular Gershwin melodies is just one of the items in Fascinating Rhythm, an evening of American jazz and popular music, to be presented by the Caulfield City Choir in the Caulfield Arts Centre on Tuesday, 16th August. Also included in the programme are highlights from Gershwin's masterpiece, his opera "Porgy and Bess."

But the Gershwins were only one of a number of highly talented song-writing teams that dominated the American musical scene between the wars. Jerome Kern is represented in the concert, and also the sophisticated world of Cole Porter.

The choir begins its musical journey with a bracket of Negro spiritual, white square dance and Stephen Foster plantation songs. The piano rags of Scott Joplin make an appearance, as well as the early jazz that followed his innovations in syncopated rhythm.

This is another evening of relaxing, light music for young and old. Tickets are $2.50 for adults, $1 for students and pensioners. Enquiries 29 3889 (AH).

THE UNITING CHURCH

The inauguration of the Uniting Church in Australia was celebrated in St. John's, corner of Glenhuntly Road and Foster Street, Elsternwick, on Wednesday 22nd June, at 7.30 p.m. The telecast of the ceremony over Channel 2 from the Sydney Town Hall was viewed in St. John's on a number of color TV sets.

The large congregation included the Lady Mayoress of Caulfield, Mrs M. R. Blair and other Councillors, also clergy and members from other denominations within the community.

The membership of The Uniting Church comprises all members of the Congregational, Methodist and Presbyterian Churches who have entered the union of the three denominations. However, it is strongly emphasised that the Uniting Church is open to everybody and is ready and eager to welcome newcomers.

For further information please ring 523 6312.

AUXILIARY FOR THE AGED AND INFIRM

The Annual Meeting of the Caulfield Hospital Auxiliary for the Aged and Infirm, held on August 15 was a great success. The Guest Speaker was Judy McMillan whose subject was "Why Volunteer?" The management were presented with a cheque for $7000.

The Auxiliary would be delighted to have new members. It meets on the 3rd Monday of each month. For further information please contact Mr Atkinson on 53 3630.

The Bambra Road Youth Ministry, which works from the Uniting Church Learning Centre, at the corner of Bambra Road and Northcote Avenue, was started early in 1976. The aim was to explore new forms of creative worship with people who were dissatisfied with the more traditional style of Christian worship.

Various forms of media have since been used as input to the sessions, these include modern music, slides, both photographed and home-made, recycled 16mm film and poetry and prose. These are used to stimulate senses and emotions which introduce new approaches to old and new themes. The emphasis is on group sharing and discussion.

Several camps are run each year which help to deepen the community spirit. These vary between recreational weekends and study camps.

The age range of the group is 15-25 years. Anybody who would like to participate and experience these new forms of worship, or who feel they would like to contribute their ideas to the group are welcome; including members of other youth groups who feel they have something to share or want to learn. It is hoped that Bambra Road may develop into a forum for idea sharing between groups as a few are already contributing on a periodic basis.

The group is also responsible for organising square dances at St. Stephen's Uniting Church Hall in Balaclava Road. Our next dance is on August 19th and all are welcome.

HARRY'S GALA NIGHT

When Harry Melbourne set foot in Melbourne, Victoria, from Lincolnshire England on August 29, 1927, you may say he had an inherent affinity with his new home.

50 years later the attraction is still there, and Harry is holding a Gala Night at the Caulfield Town Hall in celebration.

Harry Melbourne retired from his Hallkeeper's position of eleven years with the Council earlier this month. Prior to that, he had been with MacRobertson's Confectionery for 38 years.

Having lived in Caulfield for forty years, Harry is a well known character around town. In public life he is a member of the Caulfield Central R.S.L., a Life Governor of the Blind Institute, Secretary of the Masonic Lodge, and Senior Vice-President of the Caulfield Football Club.

Why not help Harry celebrate his 50 years in Australia on Friday, September 2, a Gala Night at the Caulfield Town Hall. Smorgasbord, all drinks provided, dancing to Al Gloster's Band, floor show, and novelties throughout the night.

Tickets $26 double — all proceeds to the Caulfield Football Club. Ph. 569 9173 until August 28 for your tickets.

FORGET ABOUT THE HOUSEWORK FOR AWHILE!

Get together with a group of young mothers who together form a small club called the Y.W.C.A. Carnegie/Murrumbeena Women's Club.

At each meeting interesting speakers are invited to discuss a variety of subjects so that young mothers have an opportunity to think about things other than the housework.

Baby sitters are in attendance so that Mums can relax and enjoy themselves.

On September 20, Susan Johnston from the School of Appearance will be the Guest Speaker, followed by an A.C.T.U. representative speaking on the aims and achievements of the Trades

Hall on October 4.

The Club meets on the first and third Tuesday of each month (excepting school holidays) at 9.30 a.m. at Fusion Hall, 101 Murrumbeena Road, Murrumbeena.

WOMEN IN WOODWORK

In a truly liberated society, this story would not be written.

However it is hard to refrain from comment when you hear that the majority of evening woodwork students at Caulfield Technical School, are girls.

The classes, held on Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday evenings, between 6.30 and 9.30 p.m. have a total enrolment of 69 students and 42 or 61% are girls.

Woodwork teacher, Bob McLachlan says that in choosing a hobby, the girls see a specific practical purpose in taking up woodwork. After six months they are well equipped to carry out jobs around the house that they would otherwise employ a tradesman to do.

Last year one of Bob's female students brought along to class a wooden seesaw she has purchased for $45. She was keen to reproduce it as a gift for a friend. 3 weeks later the seesaw was finished — the cost $5. And that student was 7 months pregnant!

The first few weeks of the course are spent learning the names of various tools and working with them. Then it's time to start making things. A pot planter is the first model, and then a step-ladder and occasional table.

The advanced course follows on from the beginners for another year. However students may continue to attend the advance course for as many years as they wish.

Margaret and Dawn pictured above, both agree that woodwork is a great pastime and a long term money saver.

YOUR LETTERS

Caulfield Contact

Dear Madam,

In your last issue (6th July, 1977) A. Venville of Box Hill South presented some calculations which — it was claimed — showed that little is to be gained by ratepayers using the instalment system of paying their rates.

Briefly, Mr. Venville argued that if a ratepayer deposited his entire rates in a savings account in December he had two options open to him:

- a) He could withdraw it all on the 10th April and pay it in a lump sum; or
- b) He could withdraw each quarterly instalment as it falls due.

According to the figures of Mr. Venville, the first of the above options produces interest income of $1.25 per $100 of rates, while the second option produces $1.48 for each $100.

As the difference is only 23c, Mr. Venville tried to show that the costs incurred in servicing the instalments would exceed the savings except in the rather special case of ratepayers with astronomical rates.

I would like to present the following figures by way of an alternative to Mr. Venville's analysis:

If $100 is deposited in a building society paying 10% at call on the 1st December, then it will earn —

- a) $3.59, if it is withdrawn on the 10th April; or
- b) $4.33, if it is withdrawn in four equal instalments on each of the instalment payment dates.

This means that the ratepayer will reduce his rates effectively by 3.59% or by 4.33% through the adoption of one of these systems. Pseudo-statistics about the costs of cheques, stamps, tramrides or the maintenance of cars introduce complex variables into a rather simple analysis — unnecessarily. Whether ratepayers pay on time, four months late or by instalments is up to them to decide and each decision is based on widely differing individual circumstances.

Furthermore, it is undeniably better for our municipality as a whole if the ratepayers pay their rates on time (although the logical conclusion to be drawn from Mr. Venville's letter is that the most economical system is to pay on the 10th April, i.e. four months late).

YOUR LETTERS

This section of "Caulfield Contact" is devoted to letters from residents.

Preference will be given to letters of 300 words or less, and the content should be of topical interest to all readers.

Due to a limited amount of space, not all letters received can be guaranteed publication.

Letters should be addressed to "Caulfield Contact", Paula Lindsay, Community Liaison Officer, Caulfield City Hall, cnr. Hawthorn and Glen Eira Roads, Caulfield, 3162.

Nevertheless, it should not be necessary to hide the existence of potential savings through manipulation of statistics. The civic spirit of our citizens cannot and will not be bought by economic distortions.

About the Centre

The Caulfield Arts Centre is now two years old. Within this short time, the Centre, located at 441 Inkerman Road, Caulfield North, has become an outstanding cultural influence not only for the City of Caulfield, but for the general community.

Envisaged as an impetus for the arts, it has succeeded in its original aims to present to the community and to attract cultural events and activities, encompassing all media of the arts, with a standard of excellence stimulating support, involvement and active participation by the community.

A base for local groups, including the Caulfield Institute of Technology; the Caulfield City Choir; Caulfield Hospital Building Appeal, elderly citizens groups; the Caulfield Citizens Band, as well as the Council itself, the Centre is now regularly used by a wide range of arts organisations.

The Concert Hall has housed performances by the A.B.C. Melbourne Theatre Company; Soiree Musicals Society; Astra; Melbourne Brass Choir; The Victorian Arts Council (which sponsored the Hill Family Show and the All Australian Pub Show); Victoria State Opera "Colonial Capers" and performances of the Canadian Mime Theatre.

The permanent Art Gallery offers a continuous wide range of exhibitions, commencing with the very important International Bauhaus Exhibition presented in February of last year.

Other major exhibitions this year have included Peter Moosman's Graphics & Pictorial Objects; Caulfield Ceramics — an exhibition of work by students of C.I.T.; National Travelling Italian Art Exhibition; Glass by Klaus Zimmer; Liselotte Funke Primitive Art Exhibition; the Contemporary Japanese Print Exhibition; the Second Annual Caulfield City Council Acquisitive Art Exhibition; Aboriginal Bark Paintings; "Collector's Collection Exhibition II" — the Victorian Ceramics Group's 1977 Ceramics exhibition; Otto Nemitz Exhibition; Oriental Paintings from Korea; The Arts of Asia — the National Gallery of Victoria Travelling Art Exhibition for 1977, to name but a few.

The Arts Centre has also participated in special events over the year like the National Gallery Society Regional Film Evenings & Lecture Series; a Jazz Festival; Chinese Films — related to The Chinese Exhibition; the C.I.G. Crafting metal Exhibition; Rug making workshops relating to the National Rug Event; a special display of equipment and materials for all aspects of textile crafts and the Arts Centre Family Concert Series on Sunday afternoons.

In addition, Arts & Crafts classes — for adults and children — are now a booming feature; as are the School Holiday Workshops and Children's Film Festivals during holiday time.

A new extension to our crafts facilities now includes classes for children during school time offered as an enrichment to their other classroom activities. Schools bring the children to the Centre on a term basis for a variety of crafts involvement.

Painting, sculpture and all forms of music and theatre have been presented at the Caulfield Arts Centre, which continues to expand and vary the scope of its programmes.

Really living in the 70's TARANTARA! TARANTARA!

I can't help thinking of the title of the drama about Gilbert and Sullivan whenever I'm reminded of the upcoming "Second Anniversary Festival" at the Caulfield Arts Centre, 441 Inkerman Road, North Caulfield, on Saturday, August 20, 1977. This should be a "can't-miss" on everyone's diary.

The Festival will operate from 10.00 a.m. until 6.00 p.m. on the Arts Centre grounds. The idea is to offer expert instruction in a variety of crafts in a fashion in which every member of the family can participate. Participation is the name of the game, too; wear jeans and an old skirt, so you won't mind if you get a bit of clay or paint on yourself.

The line-up of events is calculated to accomplish three objectives; to introduce the crafts function at the Arts Centre, to create an opportunity for people to have a go at crafts, and good 'ol family fun.

Have a look at what you can do; pottery, batik, silk-screen, printmaking, spinning, weaving, and tie-dye (bring your own T-shirts or buy them there, all other materials are supplied). There will also be children's films, the Caulfield Citizen's Band, a Punch and Judy puppet show, a story-telling session (with the spooky wide eyes and shining teeth of Colin Nugent), and a Youth Concert of the Melbourne Symphony Orchestra.

All this for only 75c for children/pensioners, $1.50 for adults, or $4 for the entire family. Make a point of being there — you'll be very pleased you did!

Caulfield Council's Recreation and Culture Department is planning a series of family fun events based on the "Life — Be In It" campaign of the Victorian Department of Youth, Sport, and Recreation.

The first in this series was the "Community Kite Day" at Duncan MacKinnon Park on July 31st. The weather wasn't superb, but it didn't rain and the wind was right, so the 300 odd people who came were really up in the air over it.

Also planned are a bike day (the pedal, non-motorized type), a fun run, a camping day, and other such activities. Keep your eye on this column to see when these will be scheduled. In addition, you can always ring the Caulfield Arts Centre on 527 2912 or the Caulfield Community Centre on 534 6110 for information.
