Toddlers Tumbling

Children of the Caulfield Toddlers Playgroup are participating in tumbling classes at the Community Centre. The Children are just as enthusiastic about the classes as the Mums.

$1.3 Million Racing Complex at Caulfield

A new administration complex is to be constructed for the Victoria Amateur Turf Club at the Caulfield Racecourse.

The project will be financed by the Racecourses Lincences Board. The Club expects to vacate its St. Kilda Road offices and transfer its administration to the racecourse later in the year.

As well as providing administration facilities, the complex will include a new Committee room and a Racing Hall of Fame to house relics and mementos of Victoria's racing history for public display.

Many trophies, photographs, race books, saddles and other articles of historical value have already been donated for display and it is hoped that the Hall of Fame will be opened to the public in time for this year's Caulfield Cup.

The children do very little "tumbling" as such, but are involved in a thoroughly planned program of exercises, using their bodies and limbs, using balls, hoops, bean bags and ropes.

The purpose of the classes is to improve co-ordination, to develop physical skills and to give body awareness. They also learn to accept orders and it teaches them to work in a group.

Quota Club Supports Medical Research

The Premier of Victoria, Mr Hamer, has given his support to Victorian Medical Research Week which will be held August 18th-22nd.

The highlight of Medical Research Week will be a series of public lectures. These will be held in the A.M.P. Theatre, Melbourne, between 1 and 2 p.m. daily and will include lectures by Professor Sir Gustav Nossal on Immunology, Professor Paul Korner of the Baker Institute on Hypertension, Dr Pincus Taft on Diabetes, Dr Nigel Grey on Cancer and Professor Priscilla Kincaid-Smith on Renal Disease.

At the opening ceremony on Monday 18th August, the Premier will announce the recipients of the newly created State Government funded Post Graduate Medical Research Scholarships, open to medical, dental and scientific graduates in Victoria, which have been named the McFarlane Burnet Post-Graduate Medical Scholarships.

In addition a series of open days will be held at major Melbourne hospitals, universities and research institutes.

The Quota Club of Caulfield are sponsoring a lecture by Dr Graham Slooman, well-known for his work with the first Victorian pacemaker implants. Dr Slooman will speak on cardiology, on Monday August 18th at 7.45 p.m. at the lecture theatre, Royal Society of Victoria, 9 Victoria Street, which is at the corner of Victoria and Exhibition Streets, East Melbourne.

Those interested in attending please contact Mrs Audrey Cunningham on 523 5960 or after hours Mrs Shirley Watkin 528 5170.

Local Transport: Its Relevance to People?

A one-day seminar will be held at the Caulfield Arts Centre on Wednesday 16th July. The seminar aims to explore guidelines and strategies for meeting local transport needs. Knox, Caulfield and Braybrook have been selected for case studies.

The seminar is being organised by the Victorian Council of Social Service (VCOSS) Transport taskforce. It is a follow-up to the very successful 1978 seminar 'What's Moving on the Local Front'.

The organisers of the seminar are particularly interested in receiving input from people in the local community. Those who have experienced transport problems in the municipality are invited to contact Dr Jenny Morris on 233 1211, Mr Don Glasson on 819 1144 or Mr Bill Young on 541 3449.

The seminar will devote most of its time to workshop sessions. Basic information on population characteristics and transport needs in the study areas will be made available to participants prior to the seminar. Background papers will also be prepared, outlining a variety of possible transport solutions and their respective costs of operation.

The seminar has a strong practical emphasis. It is hoped that the workshops will identify unmet needs in the respective study areas and put forward some concrete suggestions towards meeting those needs.

The seminar is open to all persons interested in improvements to local community transport. However, the total number of participants is limited to seventy-five, and some places will be reserved for residents in each of the case study areas and individuals working with relevant authorities and organisations. A modest registration fee will be charged to cover the cost of catering and of printing and distributing the papers.

Council Considers New Garbage System

Council is considering the introduction of the 240 litre plastic garbage bin in conjunction with its new garbage system.

The bins would be distributed later this year over an 18 month period and would incur a $6.00 surcharge on annual rates.

Resident response to trials has been overwhelmingly in favour of the introduction of the new bins. Garbage would be collected once a week only and the hygienic bins provide a totally enclosed collection system.

The garbage collectors who started the trial with some misgivings agreed that the new collection method had advantages which they had not previously anticipated and the Union Executive has added its support to the new collection system.

Among other advantages the bins are easy to handle, fly and dog proof, provide ample provision for household waste, assist in maintaining cleaner, tidier streets and reduce the need for the use of incinerators.

In conjunction with the new system a program known as RECYCLE 3 would be implemented. Paper, glass and aluminium will be separated in the homes and collected from naturestrips on a regular basis.

In addition a trade waste collection service would also be offered to the shopkeepers and traders for an annual fee yet to be fixed.

The overall program will thus provide a total garbage collection system throughout the City.

A report on the new garbage collection system has been prepared and will be available to the public for comment until the end of July.

Facilities have been made available for a public education program and Council Staff are available to speak to Community Groups on the implementation of the program.

Watch for the council caravan in shopping centres.

Should you have any enquiries, please contact the Community Liaison Office on 524 3259.

Scouting's Chief Commissioner

Neil Malcolm Westaway, 47, of South Caulfield has been appointed Chief Commissioner of the Victorian Branch of the Scout Association of Australia.

He has given distinguished service to Scouting over the past 38 years and played a leading role in introducing girls into Scouting in Victoria, a development which has proved extremely successful.

He joined the 4th Caulfield Cub Pack in 1941, later becoming a Scout, and on the 1st of March, 1952, became a warranted assistant Scout Leader with the 4th Caulfield Group.

In December, 1953 he changed his warrant to assistant Senior Scout Leader, and five years later in June, 1958, Neil became District Senior Scout Leader for the Caulfield District.

In 1968 Neil was awarded the Long Service Decoration, and in 1969 received the Medal of Merit for specially good service to Scouting.

In 1970 he was appointed Assistant Branch Commissioner and Member of the National Training Team, a position which he still holds.

In 1973 Neil's title was changed to Assistant Branch Commissioner for Venturers and he assisted with the implementation of the new Venturer Scheme in Victoria. In the same year he was awarded the Silver Acorn for especially distinguished services to Scouting.

Shortly after his appointment as Assistant Branch Commissioner in 1970, Neil was invited to write the draft handbook for the National trials of the new youth program — the Venturer Scheme for 14 to 18 year olds.

This was the scheme that brought girls into Scouting as members. (Women already held leadership positions in the Cub Section for 8-10 and a half year olds.) He travelled Australia instructing the training teams in each State, and eventually supervised the implementation of the Venturer Scheme throughout Australia.

Neil's involvement with Scout Jamborees and Venturers spans 30 years from 1948 when he attended the 3rd Pan-Pacific Jamboree in Victoria, to the 5th Australian Venture held in South Australia 1978/79.

Neil has attended 12 major National events and has been Victorian Contingent Leader to three of them.

On the 1st of November, 1977 Neil was promoted to Branch Headquarters Commissioner for Venturers and in July 1978 was appointed to the State Executive Committee. In November 1978, he became a member of the organisational review committee which has the task of guiding the future of Scouting in the State of Victoria.

Neil's outstanding contribution has been as author, experimentalist, and innovator of the Association's successful program for its teenage members.

Chief Commissioner of the Scouting Association Neil Malcolm Westaway.

FROM THE CHIEF COMMISSIONER

Leisure Time for Young People — A Help or a Hazard?

Young people today have too much passive and insufficient active recreation. They have too much television, picture theatre and amusement parlour entertainment.

Passive entertainment does nothing to stimulate children mentally or physically. But many parents fail to recognise this. They are content to hand out large sums of pocket money to their children and encourage them to buy commercially provided entertainment.

This over-dispensing of money to young people is one of the aspects of the "cult of selfishness" which seems to have beset Australian society today.

For this and other reasons the power of parents has dramatically declined. Peer group pressure is determining standards for young people today and this probably means that there may be none at all.

Young people are being brainwashed with the idea that to enjoy themselves they have to be artificially stimulated... whether it be by drinking, pill popping, drugs or other means of inducing a "high".

In Scouting we believe there are better ways for young people to get their thrills and experiences than by these artificial means. We are in the business of helping to make young people self-reliant and resourceful.

We are in the business of providing leadership training and leadership opportunities. We are trying to develop initiative.

One of the ways we do this is to put young people into challenging outdoor activities, where they are pitted against themselves and the environment.

Today's Scouting provides exciting activities like flying, sailing, trail bike riding, gliding, rock climbing and canoeing.

We try, through these experiences and activities, to supply the thrills young people crave. We introduce them to hobbies and sports they will be able to follow in their adult lives. And of course, we also endeavour to stimulate intellect with our general program.

We believe that ignorance plus boredom in young people today, spells trouble — particularly for those who leave school around 15 with no qualifications. Scouting is actually an educational experience for its members, although many of them don't realise it.

Scouting success as an adjunct to the education system has been recognised by UNESCO which has chosen it as the Organisation of informal education in the world... we certainly have the numbers with a world membership close to 15 million.

All our leaders are volunteers. We could expand the Movement substantially if we had more people prepared to undertake the training and the task of leadership of young people.

Victoria is already Australia's most successful Scouting State. We have nearly 50,000 members including leaders and about a fifth of the adult male community has passed through our ranks.

With changing times, girls have arrived in the older sections of the Movement — the Venturer Section (14-17) and the Rover (18 plus). The girls too, are playing an increasing role.

Although we are the world's biggest youth organisation, we still believe that we should take a positive move to support the attempts to develop a feeling of Australian identity in young people. In future Scouts are to wear a badge comprising an Australian flag and the words Scouts of Australia on their pockets.

Scouting is alive and well and remains ready to play its part in Australia in the decade of the 80's. We now have regular reviews of our programs to see that young people get the sort of programs they like.

Scouting deserves the public support that it has enjoyed in the past 70 years and looks forward to continuing support in the future.

Neil M. Westaway, Chief Commissioner, Scout Association of Australia (Victorian Branch).

As a boy Neil Westaway joined the 4th Caulfield Scout Group. Today the boys still enjoy the many activities Scouting has to offer.

The Salvation Army in Australia 100 Years of Service

The Salvation Army is an International movement within the Christian Church. It was founded in London in 1865 by the Reverend William Booth and now operates in 83 countries.

1980 is a year of celebration for Salvationists, September 5 is regarded as the official birthday of the Salvation Army in Australia and this year it celebrates 100 years of service.

Without Officers, flag, drum, uniforms or band their work was commenced on September 5, 1880 in the Botanic Gardens in Adelaide — then a forum for free speech.

The crowds drifting idly from speaker to speaker were eager for any novelty and quickly gathered around this small group of earnest people. The singing was accompanied by a small harmonium and the platform was the tailboard of a greengrocers cart.

As larrikins heckled, the group announced its first indoor meeting at the Labour League Hall at 7 p.m. that evening.

Edward Saunders and John Gore, who led this meeting had first met five months ago. Both had been converted in England some time earlier, under the ministry of William Booth. They decided, at this time, to continue the work and thus the Salvation Army in Australia was born.

In May of 1880 they wrote to General Booth telling of their plans and urging that Officers should be sent to the Colony. In due course an encouraging reply was received and in January of 1881 the newly married Captain and Mrs Sutherland set sail for Australia.

By the time the Sutherlands arrived in Adelaide there were 68 names on the roll and the walls of the first Salvation Army building were several feet above the ground.

Further openings followed in December 1882 in Sydney and Melbourne, in Tasmania the following year, in Brisbane in 1885 and in Perth in 1891.

Salvationists in Australia opened the first ever prison-gate home at 37 Argyle Place, Carlton, not far from the Melbourne Gaol. They pioneered this service so successfully that the Founder sent one of his leading Officers to study and report on what had been done in order to establish a similar enterprise in London. It was a case of "the Child outgrowing the Father".

Major Barker was a compositor before becoming the first Salvation Army Officer in Australia. Immediately after arriving in Melbourne he set about acquiring machinery in order to publish the Australian War Cry, the Salvation Army's own publication. The negotiations took some time, and the first Melbourne issue came out on June 16th 1883.

The early years were not easy for these people. During the twenty-six years from 1881 to 1907 over one hundred Australian Salvationists were fined or imprisoned for street marching or holding open-air meetings. The last of the prosecutions for obstruction took place at Sale in Gippsland. Although the town band of twenty performed in the chief thoroughfare unmolested Salvation Army Officers had no right to preach the Gospel in the streets and were arrested, convicted and imprisoned.

But the Salvation Army is still going strong, marching forward with confidence into its second century. They are concerned for the nations social welfare and spiritual well-being. From more than 500 centres throughout Australia, help is offered to the needy senior citizens, deserted or neglected children, alcoholics and drug addicts, the homeless, the destitute or the delinquent. Advice is given to migrants and refugees, marriage guidance services are available, prisons and hospitals are visited and a multitude of other needs are met.

From September 17 to 23 a centenary congress will be held in Adelaide. It will be led by the Army's International Leaders, General and Mrs Arnold Brown.

A "centenary village" in the City's Botanic Park will provide a focal point for the festivities. Centered around the spot where it all began a cluster of exhibition modules will be used to tell the Salvation Army Story.

The Red Shield Appeal

Sunday July 13th.

The Salvation Army first made their presence felt in Australia in 1880 and they are still here today — lending a hand to those who through various circumstances find themselves in need.

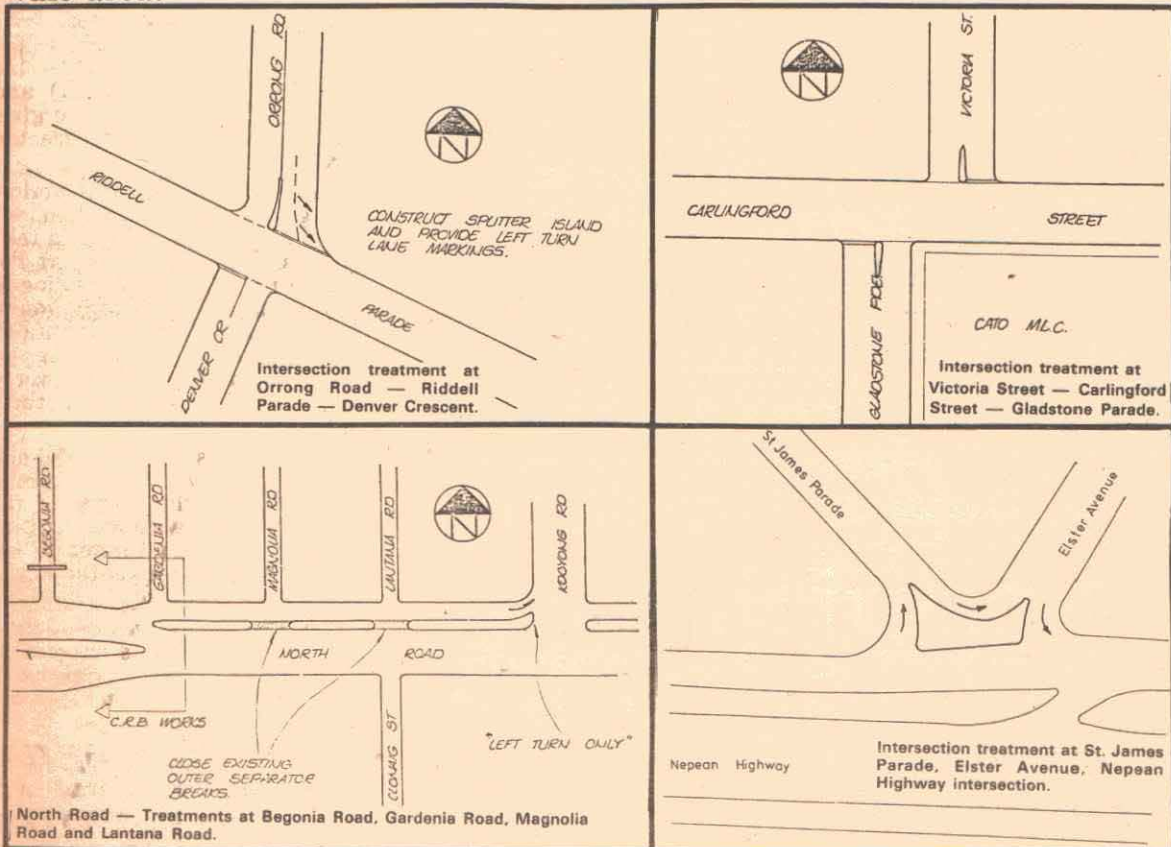

It all costs money, more money every year. The Salvation Army needs your help to continue its good work. Each year, a national appeal is made to raise funds for social work and other urgent projects.

On Sunday July 13th, you will have the opportunity to give to this year's Red Shield Appeal. Your money is needed to keep the good work going. It will help build homes for the old, centres for the handicapped and those in trouble. It will provide funds for police court and probation work and aid for national emergencies.

What you give will do a lot of good for a lot of people. Give all you can to the Red Shield Appeal.

4. That adequate sight distances be established at the corner of ShooBRA Road and Riddell Parade.
5. That application be made to RoSTA to reverse the priority of the Give Way signs at the Gladstone Parade — Carlingford Street intersection to develop a staggered "T" intersection alignment and that splitter islands be constructed at the intersection.
6. That centre line marking in Kooyong Road be carried out between Glenhantly Road and North Road.
7. That a temporary road closure be carried out in Begonia Road north of Elster Creek for a six week trial period and that access to North Road from Lantana Road, Magnolia Road and Gardenia Road be restricted in conjunction with the closure by means of closing the outer separator breaks at these roads.

SMOKE POLLUTION

Odours and particulate matter as well as smoke from residential incinerators are a source of increasing complaints to the Environment Protection Authority and Councils.

As autumn and its falling leaves are now upon us, you may have noticed the increasing use of backyard incinerators and burning piles of leaves along the roadways. These are well-established habits by which the public, perhaps unknowingly, contribute significantly to the pollution of Melbourne's air — especially in autumn.

The Environment Protection Authority is eager to promote the practice of composting garden leaves, weeds and cuttings and kitchen vegetable wastes. This policy is to encourage composting, but if residents propose to use their incinerators, they should consider their neighbours.

- * Use a properly designed multiple chamber incinerator, not just an old drum.
- * Burn on a fairly breezy day when the sky is clear rather than a calm, smoggy, misty or heavily overcast day.
- * Burn as close to mid-day as possible, instead of early morning or late afternoon.
- * Give old newspapers to collectors for recycling instead of burning or throwing out as rubbish.
- * Dispose of plastics, rubber and waxed cartons as garbage, rather than burning.
- * Compost weeds, grass cuttings and vegetable rejects to enrich your garden.
- * Remove ash before loading, ash is good for gardens.
- * Load incinerator loosely and allow plenty of air spaces.
- * Light the incinerator near the top, not down low.

For further information on the correct use of back yard incinerators and the establishment of compost heaps, please contact the Information Service of the Environment Protection Authority on 651 4293.

Thinking of Day Care?

Many forms of day care are available for your child. Before a decision is made look at what is available and consider its quality and suitability.

For information on the child care services available, contact your Infant Welfare Sister, the Children's Services Officer at the Town Hall, phone 524 3235 or watch the local papers.

Visit the available facilities and make your own observations and judgements. Ask yourself "Would my child be happy here for eight or nine hours each day?"

When you have selected the placement to suit your needs, give yourself and your child sufficient time to adjust to the separation by gradually easing him into the day care service.

If you know you will be returning to work after your confinement, take advantage of your maternity leave to commence the care on a gradual part-time basis. Always be honest with your child when leaving, say a firm goodbye and go.

Family Day Care

One of the several child care options available to the residents of Caulfield is Family Day Care — a community based child care scheme sponsored by the City of Caulfield and funded by the Federal Government.

Care is provided for children in selected supervised homes. Currently approximately sixty experienced mothers are involved in providing this service.

Basic equipment and guidance is provided for the caregivers and they are regularly assessed as to the progress and adjustment of the child in care.

If you are interested in using or providing this form of child care contact Trudy Reus, Family Day Care Co-ordinator, Caulfield Town Hall, telephone 524 3235.

Child Minders

The Caulfield Family Day Care Scheme, a joint project of Caulfield Council and Caulfield Institute of Technology has immediate vacancies for persons interested in home based child minding.

Under this scheme minders care for a limited number of children in the minders home. Both part-time and full-time positions are available.

For further particulars please contact Ms. Trudy Reus, Family Day Care Co-ordinator on 524 3235.

RACECOURSE — GLENHUNTLY TRAFFIC STUDY

The final report on the Racecourse-Glenhuntly Traffic Study has been received from P. G. Pak Poy and Associates, Consulting Traffic Engineers. They were commissioned by Council to study traffic aspects in the area bounded by Grange Road, North Road, Booran Road, Kambrook Road and Dandenong Road.

A display illustrating the recommendations of the report will be mounted in the foyer of the town hall from July 1st to July 15th and copies of the report will be available to the public, for comment, for a period of two months. Any enquiries on the study can be directed towards the Council's Traffic Engineer, Stephen Hunt on 524 3243.

A TYPICAL COURSE FOR PROJECT DEVELOPMENT IN CAULFIELD

Beware of the Stranger

It is a fact of life, that there are hidden dangers, in many every day situations. Children are vulnerable and easily led by others. Parents should be aware of this fact and warn their children of these dangers.

NO child should trust a stranger. They may seem friendly enough but you should not take a person at face value.

NO child should accept sweets, money or presents from a stranger no matter how tempting they may seem. If a stranger offers a child anything, he should immediately tell a parent, a teacher, or a member of the police force.

TO STOP the risk of being in contact with a stranger, NO child should play in — laneways, alley ways, empty buildings, drains, creeks, public toilets, or wander alone. When a child is alone he is prey for anyone.

A CHILD should always play with groups of other children. Although some strangers may seem kind enough they can sometimes seriously harm a child.

IF anyone asks for directions, the child should tell him politely, but never go in a car belonging to a stranger. Even if the child is standing in the bitter cold, getting saturated by the rain or in the burning heat, he should never accept a lift from a stranger.

IF anyone acts suspiciously write down the car number, then tell your parents, teacher, or a member of the police.

THESE people are not necessarily male, they can be women young or old, short or tall, fat or thin. In this day and age it is best not to trust anybody least of all a complete stranger.

There are 10 Women Police in the Caulfield Station whose prime function is dealing with women and children along with other general police duties. These police women will give talks to schools, youth clubs, and other interested groups on the dangers of strangers.

CARAVAN HOLIDAY FOR THE DISABLED

A wheelchair can move freely in and out of the van by way of a ramp and the interior is designed so that it is totally accessible in every way.

Now the physically disabled can take advantage of a caravan holiday that is well within their financial means.

The van will be on-site in the Bendigo area at a modern caravan park for the coming four months.

It is envisaged that the van will be moved several times a year to different points in Victoria to provide a variety of settings.

For further information, please contact the Recreation Department of Yooralla Society of Victoria on 699 1888 and ask for Caravan Bookings and start planning your holiday.

THE THIRD WORLD WAR

A program has been arranged to involve thousands of people around Australia; there is to be a four weeks' study — action course concerned with the fight for survival of people in the Third World.

The programs will be held in small, informal discussion groups in private homes and led by people who are concerned about the problems and are themselves seeking answers. Ideas are then exchanged and discussed, and a better understanding of issues involved follows.

Are you interested? It is not too late to join a group in your area. For further information, contact the Secretary of the Ormond C.A.A. Group Mr A. Ward on 578 2327 and you will be given the address of a convenient home group.

Learning to be a Woman

Being a woman nowadays is a decidedly difficult business. In fact, a woman has to learn how to cope with being a woman, according to an expert.

Ms Peggy McMurray who has been running a series of special programs for women at the Caulfield Institute of Technology believes that women today need to explore their problems and sort out their difficulties together.

Her approach is by no means academic or remote. Of a new human relations program which is being offered this year, Ms McMurray says:

"It evolved from my perception that the life-issues facing myself and other women over 40 may be different from the issues younger women are facing."

There are three specially-designed human relations programs offered in the Women's Involvement Group series at CIT:

A Self-awareness and Growth Group, an Assertion training Group and a Mature Women's Group for women over 40.

One course is already in progress and proving to be a great success. Another course will commence in September.

These courses are held at 4 Princes Avenue, Caulfield East, with child minding facilities located next door at 6 Princes Avenue.

For more information, ring Peggy McMurray on 573 2521 or Karen Smith on 573 2138.

Handcraft with C.W.A.

The Country Women's Association is well known for its involvement in the many areas of homemaking. Many who visit the Royal Melbourne Show make a particular effort to visit the exhibition of cake decorating and handiwork submitted by some of the ladies associated with the group.

The Association is heavily involved in a teaching program for those interested in pursuing any of these traditional hobbies.

Schools and classes are regularly arranged for needlework and craft, and once a year, for music or drama. Non-members are very welcome at some of these classes.

In April, a four day residential school was held for members only at Jumbunna Lodge, Launching Place. Coiled basketry, creative embroidery and oil painting were studies.

Two day-schools were held in May for Tatting, Cathedral Patchwork and Crewel Embroidery. In June a drawing school for advanced students was held as a followup to a school held last year.

During July, Cake Decorating for beginners will be taught. Later on in the year there will be schools for Leatherwork and Blackwork.

Night classes are held for Patchwork and Cane Seating, which is popular with the men too.

The C.W.A. has some very talented demonstrators who enjoy teaching the traditional crafts. The Association has a reputation for maintaining a high standard of work and place great importance on the finishing of the craft work.

In the Handicraft office, there is an excellent range of embroidery linens, canvas tapestries and tapestries and tapestry wools and macrame supplies, which are all for sale at competitive prices.

Music and drama also feature in the work of the C.W.A. Three State Festivals are held each year at different country venues, for Song in Costume, Drama and Choral.

The standard of the items is improving each year and it is getting increasingly difficult to find halls large enough to hold the numbers of members who attend.

Judges for C.W.A. functions as well as Agricultural Shows are arranged and a school is conducted for judges in handicrafts, homecrafts and cooking.

Any enquiries about the work will be welcome. Phone 24 8971 and ask for the Handicrafts Department.

Letter to the Editor

Madam,
We get lots of publicity for the various sporting events. Recently the "World Council of Churches" met in Melbourne to profess their faith. There were 500 delegates and 7,000 people of all denominations.

Surely in a Christian Country like ours, we have some thought of how fortunate we are to enjoy our sport and way of living, because we live in a Christian Country.

HEALTH, DIET AND FITNESS

One day seminars, comprising lectures, discussion, demonstrations and films on various aspects of health maintenance through a scientific approach to diet, nutrition and fitness, will be held during the next few months.

These seminars will be geared for various special interest groups, such as: athletes, adolescents, the retired person, professionals in various fields, executives, the "health food" fans, etc. They will suit individuals who may not be prepared to participate in a series of lectures but are sufficiently motivated to give up half or one day for a professional analysis of this topic.

Such short course can also be tailored to suit any particular group, upon request. They are intended to fill gaps in the knowledge of the average lay person about normal body function and requirements, so that one can be in a better position to make a rational assessment about modern-day nutrition and health, and the various claims and counter-claims in the Press.

Although an individual effort (i.e. not part of any Institution or Body), various lecturers, (specialists in their field), will be used, as well as audio-visual displays, demonstration menus, and distribution of relevant literature and references. Fees will vary with the type of course, and the numbers attending.

Organisations, groups and individuals can obtain further particulars from Mrs. Malvina Malinek on 211 1191.

SCHOOL DEBATING TEAM

School English is changing. Next year, for the first time, teacher assessment will form part of the final mark for H.S.C. In addition three electives will be offered that comprise 30 per cent of the year's work. One of these is an oral component to be jointly assessed by teachers and community representatives.

At last it is being realised that we do much more talking than writing. Most employers leave a telephone number rather than an address. The ability to express oneself coherently and fluently in speech is perhaps the most important skill the school can offer a child.

As leisure time increases, a concerted effort must be made to improve the art of conversation.

To this end, and to give children a wider forum for self expression, Caulfield High School has started a Debating Club. Good talkers were called for and a small group of dedicated 'ballyhoo mongers' meets regularly. At practice sessions it's hard to get a word in edgeways.

Mounting a debate is like staging a small scale theatrical production. Certainly there's no shortage of Prima Donnas, pre-performance jitters or high flown rhetoric once the show has begun.

The Debaters' Association of Victoria has been both efficient and stoical in organising the schools' competition. They provide seminars, exhibition debates, advice and adjudicators to add that needed air of formality. Community groups have shown remarkable interest in fostering public speaking too. Gary Waldron and Susan Lang both gained second place in their respective heats for Kostrum's Voice of Youth competition. The Jaycees, Youth Speaks for Australia is next on the agenda.

Gillian Polack, a Debater's Association member has ably addressed the group several times on techniques. So far Caulfield High has competed in two rounds of the competition. They were all surprised by the topic for the first debate — "What the untold millions should be told". Who they were and what they should be told was left entirely to the student's discretion. Christian Brothers College narrowly defeated Caulfield High.

Organisational frustrations are myriad, but team Secretary, Gary Waldron is learning much about management and shouldering his share of the responsibilities admirably. A fully integrated team effort has yet to be achieved and students still need to be made aware that drivel said with flourish, is still only drivel.

Each club member has a different speaking expertise to offer and all have discovered new talents. They are learning to take responsibility, share organisational problems, speak distinctly and to overcome self consciousness.

Everyone involved has a feeling of satisfaction and the whole exercise is proving worthwhile indeed.

Who's Flag is This?

How many people are aware that Victoria has its own flag? How often does one see it flying from the State's many flagpoles?

Local M.P. for Caulfield, Mr. Ted Tanner believes not many schools are aware that the Victorian State flag is available to schools upon request.

Victoria's flag was originally used by the Victorian Colonial Navy in 1865. The crown was added in 1870 and it became the State flag officially in 1877.

Pictured is Mr. Ted Tanner, M.P. for Caulfield, presenting the Victorian State flag to John Potts, a Year 9 student at Caulfield Grammar School.

Thanks to Residents

Council wishes to thank all those residents of the Rosanna Street area who responded to the Council Questionnaire, regarding possible development of the Rosanna Street Reserve.

Literally hundreds of responses were received, many with lengthy letters and detailed sketch plans attached.

Due to the number of responses received, it would be impractical to make personal responses to each. Nevertheless, Council wishes to make its gratitude clear.

The Council, at its meeting on June 10th decided to prepare a planning proposal for the area which would include:

- moderate development of the area via landscaping, planting some playground equipment, and retention of a large open area.
- increased parking facilities.
- improved drainage.
- no extension to the Lauriston Tennis Club.

This proposal will be circulated to nearby residents for comment. In addition, a copy of the plan will be on display at the Town Hall.
