A monthly publication produced by Caulfield Council for the residents of this City.

Vol. 11, No. 9
Wednesday, September 26, 1984

More Funds For The City

The City of Caulfield has received a total of $1,290,000 in untied grants from the Federal Government.

This is an increase of 8.4% on last year's figure and the eleventh highest increase awarded in the metropolitan area. Within this group of 11 Caulfield is the only inner urban municipality to receive such an increase.

Among neighbouring municipalities the grants varied from Malvern with $690,000, Oakleigh with $958,000 and Moorabbin with $1,185,000.

The grants are made under the Personal Income Tax Sharing arrangements and approximately $24 million is to be shared among the 211 local government authorities in Victoria.

This figure represents 2% of the total personal income tax levy and the overall Commonwealth increase is 5.2%.

Through this funding, it appears, the Federal Government acknowledges that local government has a real job to do and ensures that it takes its proper place in Australia's three-tier system of Government.

These untied funds go into the general revenue of the Council and spending priorities are allocated according to needs and resources available.

Additional funds for specific purposes are also awarded by the Federal Government in such areas as housing, aged care and other welfare programs.

A report on the effect of this year's Federal Budget on Community Development programs within Caulfield can be found on Page 3.

Visit from a Swedish Princess

Princess Christina of Sweden visited Rippon Lea recently to launch a new Swedish product into the Australian market.

Before coming to Melbourne the Princess opened a factory in Sydney that will manufacture the new concept air conditioning equipment.

Princess Christine is the youngest of King Karl XVI Gustaf's four sisters and in 1974 she married Mr. Tord Magnuson, a Swedish businessman.

She was educated at a Swedish state school and before enrolling at the University of Stockholm spent a year at Radcliffe College in Cambridge, Massachusetts, studying American history, music and 18th century Dutch art.

Her interests include not only art but music, the history of music and ballet, and she has a keen desire to attend an evening at the Sydney Opera House.

Regionalisation of Health Services

The Health Commission of Victoria, which is responsible for the development of Health services in our state, has resolved to regionalise its services.

In moving towards a policy of regionalisation, the Commission is concerned to improve the supply and distribution of services designed to promote the health and well-being of the Victorian population.

The concept of regionalisation is invariably associated with the transfer of functions and decision making to the regional level. The State will be divided into a number of regions with the Melbourne regions each totalling approximately 1 million people.

Each region will be responsible for the supervision of existing health programs and the development of new services.

An important part of the restructure is the establishment of District Health Councils. The Councils are designed to allow local citizens to have a say in the planning and development of local health services. While the District Health Councils are advisory they will have direct contact with the Chief Executive Officer of each region. The Council's will comprise approximately 100,000 people and will be organised along municipal boundaries. It is likely that Caulfield will either be linked with a neighbouring municipality such as Brighton or Malvern or be identified as a district Health Council in its own right.

A discussion paper on the District Health Council will be available shortly and it is hoped that citizens will express their views on the subject.

Caulfield Community Service, a local Health/Welfare co-ordinating organisation, has considered the issue and has resolved to encourage the establishment of a District Health Council based on Caulfield.

Further information regarding the Health services regionalisation can be obtained either from the Health Commission of Victoria or the Caulfield Council.

Contact Letters

Caulfield Football Club — Where are you?

Madam,

I find the Caulfield Contact to be most interesting and informative for matters of local interest with one outstanding exception — the Caulfield Football Club, finalists in 1982 and 1984, and a member of the Victorian Football Association who actively promote community football.

Whilst accepting the importance and value of this publication to followers of judo, cricket, bowls, little athletics etc., and council support for such activities, it appears something of an enigma for the Caulfield Football Club to be overlooked by Contact reporters, particularly in view of the fact that this is the only form of senior level football played in the City of Caulfield.

Caulfield Football Club has only a small band of followers and any local support, even in the form of simply mentioning dates and opposing teams for home games at Princes Park, could only add to that support.

Surely the fact that Caulfield Football Club were finalists this year (and were in fact runners-up in the Grand Final in 1982), is worthy of mention in a publication produced by the Caulfield Council for residents of this City.

William Wild,
Carnegie.

Editor's Note: Caulfield Contact is a "community" newspaper and as such relies on the community to make contributions concerning their areas of interest. Approximately 90% of the articles in each edition stem from information supplied by the community of Caulfield in the form of quick telephone calls, letters or notes, or by dropping in to see one of the Contact staff.

There are no "reporters" with the Caulfield Contact. It is up to each individual, group or organisation to let a Contact journalist know if they want an event publicised and the 90% contribution indicates this works well.

The Caulfield Football Club was given extensive coverage in 1982 due to a member that religiously supplied the Contact with regular reports each month. Unfortunately, there was no such response from the club this year.

Any person is welcome to make a contribution to the Caulfield Contact and further details can be obtained by telephoning the Editor, Carol Harry, or Sonja King at the City Offices on 524 3333 or just drop in.

Hospital Care Excellent

Madam,

Recently, my 92-year-old Aunt, who lives with my husband and myself, was a patient at Caulfield Hospital, as part of their Family Relief Scheme.

We wish to say that the kindness and loving care she received, and the thoroughness of the medical investigations, were first class.

Also, the guidance given to us so that we could care for her more efficiently at home, was so very much appreciated.

The people of Caulfield can be very proud that we have such a wonderful Hospital in our City.

Marjorie and
Jim Sneddon,
Caulfield.

Fifty Years' Service

Lady Woodward was the guest speaker at the 50th annual meeting of the Caulfield Auxiliary of the Royal Women's Hospital. She reminisced on her travels in Ireland and the ladies present were left with a keen desire to follow in her footsteps.

Grant for St. Anthony's

A building and equipment grant was made by the Commonwealth Government to St. Anthony's Primary School in Grange Rd., Glenhuntly.

The grant for $147,600 was made on the recommendation of the Commonwealth Schools Commission in accordance with the State Grants (Schools Assistance) Act.

The grant will allow for refurbishment of seven general purpose learning areas, two withdrawal areas, staff room, duplicating room, canteen, shower, toilet and corridors.

New Kitchen Progressing on Time

Caulfield's new Meals-on-Wheels kitchen in Truganini Rd. is progressing to schedule and should be completed by early November.

Right, Alan Blankfield, and Manager Community Development John Wise, look over plans for the new kitchen. Mr. Blankfield has been involved with weekend meals-on-wheels for ten years.

More "Out-of-School" Care

The Caulfield Council recently received an offer of funds for out of school hours care from the Department of Community Welfare Services.

The Children's Services team at the City Offices is involved in discussion with schools and community groups with the aim of developing a detailed submission.

The Family Services

Development Officer, Marilyn Godley would be interested in talking with members of school councils, community groups or individuals about community needs, program management or operation and their views of the role of local government in out of school services so that new and existing programs can be formulated.

Mrs. Godley can be contacted at the City Offices on 524 3333.

Balaclava to become "Goldstein"

The Member for Balaclava, Mr. Ian McPhee, said today he regretted that the name Balaclava would be lost from the Federal Parliament.

Mr. McPhee was commenting on the decision of the Electoral Commission to change the name of the electorate of Balaclava to Goldstein, in honour of Vida Jane Mary Goldstein (1869-1949), a noted feminist, suffragist and social reformer who was the first woman in the British empire to stand for election to a national parliament.

"The seat of Balaclava has a proud record in the Federal Parliament, and I am sorry that its name is being changed, particularly so close to an election," he said. "It is bound to cause confusion, because people had very little time to get used to the new name."

"The electorate has been known as Balaclava since Federation and is in fact one of only four Federation seats left in Melbourne. The others are Koo-yong, Melbourne and Melbourne Ports."

Mr. McPhee said that, if the seat has to be changed, it is appropriate that it should be named after a distinguished Australian woman. Vida Goldstein went to Presbyterian Ladies College and was one of the first women to graduate from Melbourne University.

She was a key figure in the appeal which founded the Queen Victoria Hospital and was instrumental in the establishment of the children's courts. She was also President of the Christian Science Church in Melbourne.

The Australian Dictionary of Biography records: "Of all the Australian women connected with the emancipation and suffrage movements of the day, Vida Goldstein was the only one to gain a truly international reputation."

"Although Vida Goldstein may appear to have been a visionary idealist, yet by her pioneering efforts, her successes and her failures, she was a trail blazer who provided leadership to innumerable people."

Mr. McPhee said he had been unaware of moves to change the name of the electorate and had not been consulted. While he believed that Vida Goldstein was a commendable choice, he was critical of the procedure of changing electorate names on the eve of an election without giving candidates or electors any opportunity to make suggestions or voice opinions.

Victorian Tourism Booklet Available

The Victorian Tourism Commission recently released a new publication dealing with the government's tourism strategy.

The booklet, "Victoria. The best is within reach", is the fourth statement by the Tourism Commission on the development of Victoria.

The new approach as outlined in this document marks a major adjustment in Victorian Tourism policy. Seven primary resort zones have been designated on a geographic basis allowing for development of each zone.

An analysis of the spending patterns of tourists has shown that international and interstate visitors spend far greater amounts while touring Victoria than do Victorians.

The Victorian Government is aware of the need to attract Victorians to Victoria's tourism regions and is working towards this aim. The Victorian Tourism Commission is the body responsible for the implementation of this strategy.

Anyone interested in obtaining a copy of the booklet can contact the Victorian Tourism Commission on 602 9444.

Equal Opportunity for Disabled

The Equal Opportunity Board has available a booklet on Equal Opportunity for people with disabilities which explains the Act in relation to disabled persons.

The Act states that it is unlawful to treat anyone unfairly because of their disability. Any disabled person treated unfairly at work or in connection with housing or schooling or in buying goods or getting loans and other services can make a complaint to the Board.

The booklet covers areas such as What happens if someone complains?, What goods and services are covered?, and What if it is too difficult to provide the service for disabled people?

If you would like a copy of the booklet telephone the Equal Opportunity Board on 602 3222 or call in to the Citizens Advice Bureau at the Caulfield City offices.

Effects of the Commonwealth Budget

The impact of the Commonwealth budget on Caulfield for 1984/85 is, for the most part, difficult to determine at this stage.

Generally, it would appear that funding is quite similar to last year's structure with some notable changes.

Meals-on-wheels

There is an additional $750,000 available for the delivered meals subsidy. The availability of this increase however is unclear.

From January 1, 1985 the subsidy will be provided in two components — 50 cents per meal for the cost of production or purchase and 25 cents per meal for delivery. This could mean an increase of 20 cents per meal for those eligible organisations.

Hostel personal care subsidies

The hostel care subsidy rate is to increase by $1 to $11 per week. The rate of personal care subsidy will be increased from $40 to $44 per week.

There is also to be an increase in the payment of a respite care bed subsidy of $1 a week in respect of a bed which is occupied for fourteen days or less during a twenty-eight day period.

There will also be an increase of $5 per week where the bed is occupied for at least fifteen days during the twenty-eight day period.

Home help

Grants towards the cost of approved home care services for aged or disabled persons in their own homes are estimated to rise.

Perhaps the most substantial change is in the introduction of a new home and community care program. The government has decided to restructure its support for these services by the introduction of a three year, cost shared, rolling program, subject to satisfactory negotiations with the States.

Housing

The Commonwealth has provided grants to the States to assist with the provision of self-contained accommodation at reasonable rentals for certain categories of pensioners who have little or no means of support apart from their pensions. This allocation is estimated to increase in 1984-85.

There is also a grant which is intended to assist local government and community and welfare organisations to purchase, construct, lease or upgrade dwellings for low cost rental housing. This may be wholly or jointly owned by State housing authorities but managed by the Local Government, community or welfare organisations.

The Government has further decided to introduce a new supported accommodation assistance program which will include three sub-programs; Youth Supported Accommodation, Women's Emergency Services Program and General Supported Accommodation Program. Capital assistance will also be provided for a new crisis accommodation program.

Counselling and emergency relief

The Family Support Services Scheme is to be extended to September 30 1985 to further provide funds for services to assist families during periods of crisis.

There will also be a substantial increase in the amount allocated for emergency relief which could, therefore, see the continuation of the Caulfield Citizens Advice Bureau's involvement being primarily a responsibility for the provision of emergency relief. The Council's social workers will provide supplementary support in this program.

Children's services

The block grant funding made to the States towards the cost of pre-school education will remain at the same level as in 1983/84. There is to be an overall increase in the expenditure however on the children's services program but details are not available at this stage. It appears that significant amounts will be provided for children's services other than pre-school activities.

New Child Care Centre

The Commonwealth and State Governments have recently announced a large increase in funds for children's services. Caulfield has been selected as one of the target municipalities and has applied for funding for the establishment of a thirty place child care centre on the site of the existing infant welfare centre in Truganini Road in Carnegie.

Meat Confiscated

The activities of the Health and Legislation Department at the City Hall are many and varied. Following a burglary in a butcher's shop a lot of the meat was strewn around the premises. As a result the Council's Health Surveyors had to seize and destroy 70 kilograms of various meats considered as a result to be contaminated.

Councillors Allowance

Caulfield Councillors recently expressed a need for the maximum level of councillors' allowances to only be increased along with the consumer price index. This or any other acceptable mechanism would be better than arbitrary increases.

These views were expressed following a request by the Municipal Association of Victoria to determine a possible method of review of the allowances paid to councillors.

Christmas Decorations

The Council is looking at the possibility of assisting local traders associations with the installation of Christmas decorations. This follows requests from these groups for help in decorating the shopping centres of the City.

It may be possible to develop a system that is reusable, year after year, and to progressively introduce it throughout the shopping centres.

Budget Increase for Home Help

Consideration will be given to the allocation of an additional $15,000, nett cost, to the home help budget in the 1984/85 annual estimates. This would alleviate the existing waiting list and reduce the anxiety of a number of elderly residents.

The length of time residents remain on the waiting list at present varies between one and five months. Emergency referrals are helped within a fortnight.

Permit Refused

An application to use premises in Koorang Road as an amusement parlour has been refused. Although the proposal complied with the Council's planning code with regard to internal arrangements it was considered to be too close to the Carnegie Primary School and residential areas.

Responsibility for Cemeteries

The Caulfield Council opposes the view of the Mortuary Industry and Cemeteries Administration Committee that all cemeteries should be administered by local councils. Such a responsibility, the Council felt, would incur greatly increased financial burden.

At present the 551 public cemeteries in the State are directly administered by trusteeship. In 86 of these cases the entire council of the municipality has been appointed to be trustee and State Government supervision is minimal.

Education Program

The water quality in commercially operated spa pools was recently tested and three were found to have incorrect chlorine residuals. To ensure that pools are correctly operated proprietors will be instructed in the correct method of chlorination. This requires testing of the water twice daily and maintaining the results of these tests.

Regular tests will also continue to be carried out by the Health Surveyors of the Council.

A Note From the Dog Pound

Dogs are released from the Pound from 4.00-4.30 pm Mondays to Fridays only. Dogs can also be released on Saturdays, Sundays and Public Holidays by appointment only.

The Pound is normally closed down during the Christmas / New Year break and no dogs are kept in the Pound during this time.

The Release fees for dogs include a $10 Pound Fee and a $20 Vet Vaccination Fee. All dogs held in the Pound for longer than 24 hours are automatically inoculated by a veterinarian against parvo, hepatitis and distemper.

Other fees relating to registration and dog infringement notices may also be applicable. The Council's officers will advise owners of such liabilities at the time the dog is released to the owner.

Unclaimed dogs

All dogs are kept for eight days then they are either put up for sale or destroyed.

Unclaimed dogs for sale to the public will be sold with a vaccination certificate and the sale fee is $35 irrespective of breed, sex or type of dog.

Any dog sold from the Pound over six months of age must be registered with the appropriate Council within 48 hours.

A Reminder on Registration

All dogs over the age of six months must be registered with the Council.

If you require any information on lost or Pound dogs or information on animals in general, telephone the Council's Animal Control Officers on 524 3275.

NEW OPP. SHOP

"The Bright Spot" Opportunity Shop opened its doors to trade with an official launching last Monday.

The opportunity shop was set up by the Sudden Infant Death Foundation of Malvern and all proceeds from sale of items in the shop go towards research into cot deaths.

The shop requires volunteers to help out at their premises at 1172 Glenhuntly Rd., Glenhuntly. They also require donations of furniture, china, books, clean, washed clothing, toys and household goods.

The shop is open from 9.30-4.30 Monday to Friday and donations can be left during these times. Enquiries to Judy Godden on 509 7722.

Child Care Enrolments

Applications for child care in 1985 at the three children's centres jointly run by the Council and parents are now being accepted until the end of November.

Successful applicants will be notified by mail.

The Centres are situated at Caulfield for two to five year-olds, Ormond and Murrumbena for babies to five year-olds.

In addition it is likely that a new child care centre will be established in the Carnegie area by mid-1985.

Priority for child care is given to children whose single parent or both parents are working, studying or actively looking for work and to children whose parents require child care because of a continuing disability, illness or incapacity.

Special consideration is given to children of Aboriginal, ethnic or single parent families or those who are isolated or on low incomes because of their restricted alternatives or to children at risk.

A liberal fee relief system is available subject to a means test.

The sliding fee scale with a minimum of 25c per hour is applicable to parents with assessed weekly incomes up to approximately $500 per week and includes provision for families with more than one child requiring care.

For an application form or more information contact Marilyn Godley at the City Offices on 524 3333.

After Hours Number

Caulfield residents are reminded that the Council's By-Laws and Animal Control Section after hours telephone number is 524 3336.

Comment Sought

There has been some interest shown recently in the future of the old Caulfield Service Reservoir Site on the corner of Glenhuntly and Booran Rds., Glenhuntly.

Member for Glenhuntly, Dr. Gerard Vaughan is interested to hear from any local residents with views on the use of the reservoir site.

Dr. Vaughan can be contacted at his office on the corner of Neerim and Koorang Rds., Carnegie or by telephoning 211 0858.

Foster Care—Can You Help?

A Foster Care Program for the Caulfield, Moorabbin and Oakleigh area was recently set up by the Department of Community Welfare Services and local government authorities.

The aim of the program is to provide adequate care for children whose families are experencing a crisis or are unable to provide adequate care.

Most foster care placements are short term, up to six weeks, although long term arrangements can be made.

Children benefit from staying with foster families in their local area because it enables them to maintain their normal routine of school and activities.

The foster care program is looking for families who would be interested in providing foster care for children from infants to early adolescents.

While it does take a special family to take on this sort of responsibility, caregiving families come from all walks of life and can even include single parent families.

The best caregivers are ordinary families with ordinary family lives who have the ability to care for a child, physically and emotionally.

You don't need to have any formal qualifications but you do need to have love, patience and common sense.

If you are interested in becoming a caregiver or finding out more about what is involved, contact Joanna Eccleston, Principal Officer, or Jill Byron, Foster Care worker at the Chadstone Community Health Centre on 568 2599.

Budget Fixers No More

It was a sad day when a group of young people, known as the Budget Fixers, said goodbye to a job they had come to enjoy and rely on.

Government funding for the Budget Fixers ran out in September after a year of doing handyman work and gardening for people around Caulfield.

Application was made for a C.E.P. grant to extend the program but was refused.

Testing Time for the Southern Broadcasters

The Southern Community Broadcasters conducted a successful test transmission during a week in August and plans are currently under way to conduct three more test transmissions during 1985.

In the light of experience gained during the recent test transmissions the broadcasts in 1985 should be even better. However the group is still plagued by a lack of any permanent accommodation from which to prepare and transmit programs.

The Southern Community Broadcasters are anxious to get more members and any reader interested in getting involved with real community radio should contact Dom Iacano, Chairman on 557 8493.

The Broadcasters are holding a series of meetings during October. The dates for these are October 10 — Programming, October 17 — Publicity and Marketing and October 24 — Fund Raising.

The first two meetings will be held in the staff house at the rear of the Caulfield City Offices and the meeting on October 24 will be held in the Committee Room of the Caulfield City Offices (First floor).

Meetings commence at 7.30 pm and cordial welcome is extended to all.

Sculpture on Show

The second Melbourne Fringe Arts Festival is now on and 16 artists are displaying their work at 8 Yendon Rd., Carnegie from October 3 to 7.

The artists' work includes stone, bronze

Newsletters

Newsletters are now available in each library. Please take one on your next visit. The newsletters are designed to keep you informed on new books and activities.

New Book

An interesting new book in the libraries is

"The Name of the Rose" by Umberto Eco. The book headed the New York Times best seller list for many months. The front pages contain over 30 rave reviews from some of the most prestigious magazines and newspapers in the U.S.A.

The author is an Italian professor who specializes in medieval history and the novel is set in this period. The plot concerns a series of grisly murders in a Dominican monastery. A Franciscan monk on a secret mission from the Emperor tries to solve the mystery before a high-powered meeting takes place between feuding factions of the Church in conflict over loyalty to the Pope or to the Emperor.

The political and theological conflicts of the time become part of the total mystery as to why the monks are being murdered. The action builds to an exciting climax in the mysterious library. This is a most unusual and very satisfying combination of detective, philosophical and historical fiction set in a very important time in the development of the Catholic Church.

Please ask at any of the libraries if you are interested in reserving this book.

Community Education Day

Saturday, November 24

This is our Festival's Learning Exchange Day . . . a day to come and try activities . . . a day to share your skills with others . . . a day to learn something new . . . a day to find out about what learning opportunities exist in our community.

We have had a wonderful response from residents already. Many people have offered to show others on the day how to:

- . . . Make It — Christmas gifts, damper, billy tea, home-made chocolates, a window box, a fibrecraft hanging sculpture, paper.
- . . . Play It — Kanga cricket, card games, indoor bowls, Down ball.
- . . . Join In — Street theatre, music lessons, gymnastics, mural painting, bush dancing.
- . . . Experience It — a musical maze, a chromatic sound weaving, a movement choir.
- . . . Do It — Mouth-to-mouth resuscitation, boomerang making and throwing, computers, still life sketching, porcelain painting, weaving, stamp collecting, rug making, train your dog, fix a fuse, change a tap washer, basic home maintenance.

There will be something for everyone but we still need you . . .

Why not join us?

We still need . . . gardeners, photographers, giftmakers, musicians, performers, bike riders, crafts people, chess and other indoor game players, cooks, story tellers, poets, bird observers, wood craftsmen, historians, coin collectors, sculptors, pet lovers, bootmakers, dancers, tai-chi experts, sports players, dress makers, embroiderers, nature lovers, walkers . . .

And volunteer drivers, ushers, sign writers, general helpers for the day . . . and more.

Are you willing to share your skills and time on Saturday, November 24?

Right-of-way Closures

Decisions for the discontinuance of a number of rights-of-way were made at last month's meeting of the Environment and Community Development Committee.

Re-advertised

In 1983 the Council submitted a proposal for the closure of the right-of-way between Villiers and Long Streets in Elsternwick. But the Governor-in-Council no longer has the power to make orders for the discontinuance of unnecessary roads.

It was necessary, therefore, to readvertise the closure. Only three objections were received but were resolved and the closure is to proceed.

M.M.B.W. access

The right-of-way between Liscard and Long Streets, Elsternwick is also to be discontinued. The M.M.B.W. was the only objector and in this case will retain access to its facilities in the area.

Separation of school site

In 1981 a Planning Brief was prepared for the Yeshivah/Beth Rivka Colleges. After a lengthy consultation process the Brief was approved and adopted. As part of the development a portion of the right-of-way on Empress Road was to be discontinued and relocated to separate the main residential area of Empress Road from the school site. This would also serve to reduce the traffic in the area.

The proposal was re-advertised and the objection considered again. The Committee recommended however that the parts of the right-of-way bounded by Empress Road, Alexandra Street, Inkerman Road and Balaclava Road would be discontinued.

No closure in Carnegie

No further action will be taken in the closure of the right-of-way which runs between Grange Road and Milton Street. Earlier reports complained of the heavy traffic in the right-of-way but residents in the area use it themselves and did not wish to see it closed.

It was also considered that a closure would add to the congestion that already exists at the corner of Neerim Road and Byron Street.

With the warmer, longer days of Spring approaching, it is an ideal time to think of stretching your legs and enjoying Victoria's wonderful bushlands.

A Bushwalking Club is being formed in the Bayside area to help those interested to participate in bushwalking and related activities in a secure, enjoyable manner.

Victorians are fortunate to have a wide variety of coastal, mountain and desert regions within reach of Melbourne, however the urban dweller needs to be cautious of nature's ways.

For example, snowfalls have been recorded on mountains above 1400 metres for all months of the year, and sunburn can be a problem even in the depths of winter.

Suitable clothing and footwear, the right amount of food and water to avoid fatigue and dehydration, are important aspects to keeping your walking experiences safe and enjoyable.

To the uninitiated these requirements coupled with navigation, first aid and bushcraft skills may seem formidable barriers. However, a Bushwalking Club offers a safe, enjoyable learning environment where the newcomer can share the experiences and expertise of other members.

The Bayside Bushwalking Club held its first General Meeting on September 11. The Club aims to cater for a wide range of abilities and interests, from families to adult groups on both day and extended trips with varying degrees of difficulty. If you wish to know more, or are interested in the Club telephone Ken or Shirley McInnes on 870 2541 (H).

information can be obtained from Peter Tyrell on 578 1291 (H) or 51 8511 (B) or from Darryl Mackay on 877 1862 (H).

Athletics

The Caulfield Little Athletics Club recently commenced training for the 1984/85 season but more registrations are still needed.

Pictured with Caulfield's Mayor, Cr. Brian Rudzki (left), who accepted the caravan on behalf of the Council, is the immediate past President of the City of Caulfield Lions Club, Mr. Cornhill.

"Three Out of Four" is Better

Unlike burly rock singer, Meatloaf, local cricketer, Robert Lamb doesn't think "Two Out of Three Ain't Bad".

Last cricket season when as playing coach Lamb failed to gain a hat-trick of premierships for North Caulfield/Glenhuntly, he immediately set about recruiting for 1984/85.

However, the Club still needs a few more top cricketers, said Robert Lamb.

"We won South-A in the Victorian Junior Cricket Association in '82 and '83 but now we're up in the V.J.C.A. Senior Division, we must have more depth to be a premiership force again," said Robert.

Known as the "Devils", North Caulfield/Glenhuntly fields three V.J.C.A. and four matting sides for men, two women's teams and three boys' Elevens, Under 16, Under 14 and Under 12.

Club President, Bernie Drinan says the Devils are a big, well organised club for class cricketers and honest battlers alike.

Practice is held on Tuesdays and Thursdays from 4.30 pm at Glenhuntly Reserve, corner Neerim and Booran Roads. Enquiries to the Club on 211 7873.

A LEISURELY LOOK

by Carolyn Clark, Recreation Officer for the Elderly

Probably the most rewarding part of my job is making the elderly folk of Caulfield happy.

As we get older we find most of our skills we had when we were younger just get that little bit more difficult to accomplish. This is where the benefits of fitness and health help us carry out daily tasks with vigor and alertness and enable us to enjoy active recreation with a reserve to cope with emergencies.

The Importance of Exercise to the Aged

Exercise is important for flexibility and mobility. It also minimises the effect of Osteoarthritis and will help you keep a full range of movement in your joints and prevent stiffening of muscles from lack of use.

As we age we tend to sit around more, which leads to thinning of the bones, known as Osteoporosis (loss of calcium in the bones) which becomes common over the age of 65. But a good diet and exercise will delay this natural process.

Exercise actually keeps the calcium in the bones. A favorite slogan of mine is "To rest is to rust".

Elderly Programs in Caulfield

At the moment I run a number of programs both in our Council-owned Hostels for the Frail Aged and in the community. Most of my time is spent organising leisure activities in the hostels.

Regular activities include:

- Bus trips to the theatre
- Half day coach tours to the country, flower festivals etc.
- Monthly coffee mornings
- Mystery bus tours
- Discussion groups
- Exercise class for the Frail Aged run by a physiotherapist from Chadstone Community Health Centre.

One of the most successful programs, now in its third year, is the Over 50s Swimming Program run at Clayton Swimming Pool. Exercises and games are done in a warm and friendly atmosphere. All my participants look forward to meeting their new-found friends and many of them now holiday together.

I am also involved in the preparation of Senior Citizens Week and next year hope to set up an information display in the City Offices.

In the future I hope to start up Activity programs to meet the needs of the elderly. Establishing a walking group in the community is one of my main projects for 1985.

Please don't hesitate to call me for a chat about any of the programs you may be interested in.

I look forward to meeting you in the future. I can be contacted at the City Offices, telephone 524 3333 Tuesdays to Fridays.
