

Drug Deputation to Minister

The Southern Area Drug Liaison Committee has approached the State Minister for Health, Mr Tom Roper, with a deputation for a drug treatment centre for the Southern area.

Currently there are no drug treatment centres south of the Yarra despite the fact that St Kilda houses the drug centre of Melbourne.

The Alfred Hospital receives 35.5 cases out of 1000 for drug addiction treatment.

At present, those needing treatment for drug addiction end up in jail or in the casualty section of hospitals, where, in both cases, the stay is usually only overnight.

The deputation from the Committee proposes that a centre be established housing drug addicts on a short-term basis.

After initial withdrawal, patients would be moved on to other longer term facilities for rehabilitation.

The Committee proposed that existing facilities at the Alfred Hospital be used for drug detoxification immediately and that funds be allocated for 1985/86 for capital works and staff costs.

Mr Roper has agreed to the proposal and has set aside funds for the building of a centre on grounds of the Alfred and for staffing costs.

Local Council Support

The Southern Area Drug Liaison Committee is composed of a number of local municipalities including Brighton, Caulfield, Malvern, Moorabbin, Mordialloc, Oakleigh, Port Melbourne, Prahran, Sandringham, St Kilda and South Melbourne.

The group was set up to support the establishment of a drug treatment centre and the development of preventative services and facilities including emergency and long-term accommodation, family support programs and outreach work.

The Committee was initiated by the St Kilda Council in 1979 because of its awareness of the growth of drug addiction and the availability of drugs in the St Kilda area.

The Committee stated that "facilities must be provided to ensure that those who are affected by drugs have resources available to meet the need for crisis care as a result of drug overdose and adequate facilities for drug withdrawal in a humane and caring environment.

"The services should be integrated with existing services to form a co-operative whole rather than trying to meet total community need within one facility."

After six years of correspondence and delegation to the Minister for Health it finally seems as if a drug treatment centre for the Southern areas is a reality.

The Caulfield Arts Centre recently played host to an Art Show and Sale and one of the more unusual items for auction was an E-type Jaguar. A two seater M.G. and a Bentley kept the Jaguar company in the gardens while inside the Arts Centre, 400 paintings and antique furniture decorated the gallery.

Hospital Merger — Talks Proceeding

Although the proposed merger between the Caulfield and Royal Southern Memorial Hospitals is still in the investigative stages, management of both hospitals are prepared for the merger, should it happen.

According to Helen Starling, Acting Director for the Royal Southern Memorial Hospital, a meeting with hospital managements seemed to indicate the merger will go ahead.

The Minister of Health, Mr Tom Roper, has established a Steering Committee to look at the issues associated with an amalgamation and to ensure the necessary safeguards are established to protect the current standards of service and care.

Manager of Caulfield Hospital, Garnet Edwards, is concerned that the merger is not as simple as it sounds.

"We have to consider some of the difficulties — the problem is the nature of the work at both hospitals. Caulfield is for long-term, chronically disabled patients while Southern Memorial houses acute illness patients.

"Our whole working methods are different. Caulfield has a very large paramedical component while Southern Memorial is a more conventional hospital with largely medical staff."

Garnet Edwards does not see that the merger will offer them anything more than a streamlined administration.

"Our patients have already been to an acute hospital (Alfred) and do not require the services Southern Memorial offers," said Garnet.

"On the other hand, Southern Memorial will be advantaged by using the resources that Caulfield offers. There is a tendency in these cases for the acute section of a hospital to drag off the resources of the other.

"We have some of the best specialist staff in the State. If Caulfield is turned from a rehabilitation to a convalescent hospital for Southern Memorial's acute patients, we'll lose those staff."

Caulfield Hospital is different from the conventional use of the word "hospital". It is purely for rehabilitation care after a period of acute illness which leaves the patient with some sort of disability.

Safeguards, says Garnet Edwards, are vital if the merger is to take place.

He admits there are some advantages in the merger. "We already share the same catering, the same supply store, same engineering facilities and the same pharmacy.

"A lot of things are already amalgamated; the merger does make sense and I will work hard to make the merger work if it does happen."

Helen Starling is certain the merger can work well for both hospitals and does not share the same concerns as Garnet Edwards.

"If anyone should be worried about a takeover it should be Southern Memorial. Caulfield is a 400-bed hospital and Southern Memorial a 100-bed hospital.

"I don't see either role changing, no one should be disadvantaged and there are many advantages as far as administration goes," says Helen.

"Southern Memorial can offer Caulfield specialists in diabetes care; we have a wide experience in domiciliary care and eventually hope to offer psycho-geriatric care."

Mr Roper has indicated that the matter should be resolved in six months time. In the meantime, the Steering Committee and a Union Committee will be looking at all the proposals.

Mr Roper has assured both hospitals there will be no reduction in staff if the amalgamation proceeds.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Thank-You

Madam,

I would like to thank all the members, supporters and friends over the 50 years or more which the Glenhantly League of the Mission of St James and St John has had your support for our card efforts three times a month. I speak for Mrs G. Webster who was president for 55 years. Unfortunately due to age and sickness we now have no activities and have given up.

We would like to thank you all for your support especially Caulfield Council for their help with the use of the Committee Room and also for the help given to us by the staff.

Our last effort was on December 14, 1984 when a cheque for $115 was handed to Mrs Heath of Mission Headquarters. A cheque for $200 was also given to her from the Glen Eira Rd Ladies Card Group.

I will miss the Mission after being a member for over 50 years.

Nellie A. Smith,
Secretary,
Carnegie.

Historic Trees

Madam,

The letter by John R. Meier, in "Caulfield Contact" on January 30 about the River Red Gums in Murrumbena, was most interesting.

It prompts the thought that seed from these trees could be used for propagating trees for use in Caulfield in street or park plantings — and perhaps in private gardens.

I have read in an early history of Caulfield of other tree species which were common, particularly the local Casuarina. These would be suited to selected sites in Caulfield, and would perhaps grow much better, with fewer failures, than trees currently planted on nature strips by Caulfield Council.

I would certainly be most interested in regenerating local natives in my own garden, and on my nature strip.

John R. Meier deserves support for his interest in Caulfield's indigenous flora.

Geoff Wilson,
Executive Director,
International Tree Crops
Institute (Australian Office).

At Your Service

Is there something you'd like to know about the Council?

Would you like to know what services are available for the elderly? Perhaps you would like to know how Local Government functions or how your rates are spent. The staff of the Community Liaison section at the City offices will try to help with these and any other questions you may have.

They will provide a speaker for your meeting, visit schools and speak with students or conduct tours of the City Offices for groups of children or adults.

So if you are a Club Secretary, a School Teacher or have a curly question you would like answered, Carol Harry, Sonja King or Ruth Mansell can be contacted on 524 3333.

Oh, by the way, they also produce Caulfield Contact.

Opportunities for Unemployed

The Holmesglen College of T.A.F.E. in Chadstone is once again offering its Participation and Equity Programs for Unemployed Youth.

Of particular interest is the Woodcraft and Building Studies Program. This 18-week, full-time program offers a range of experiences in woodwork and related skills in areas such as furniture making, house frame construction, silk-screen printing, cabinet making, home maintenance and toy making.

Students also have the opportunity to improve their Maths and English skills as well as improving their social and work skills.

There are two limitations on entry to the course; one, that you are under 24 and two, that participants must have been unemployed for four out of the past 12 months.

Students receive a training allowance equal to the unemployment benefit as well as $6.00 per week travel allowance.

Courses are also available in media studies, community arts and food services. For further information contact Tracey Fletcher Tel. 567 1561.

Annual Quota Art Show

The Quota Club's 10th Annual Art and Craft Show is being held at the City of Caulfield Arts Centre, 441 Inkerman Rd, North Caulfield from March 15 to 17.

The exhibition will be opened on March 15 at 7.30pm by First President of Australian Guild of Realist Artists, Mr Paul Fitzgerald.

Over the last nine years, the Quota Club of Caulfield has raised over $20,000 for the Caulfield Hospital. On the opening and pre-selection night, a raffle will be drawn, also in aid of Caulfield Hospital.

Caulfield osteopath, Vi. Davidson, has made a generous donation for a purchase award and the winning piece will become part of Caulfield's permanent art collection.

Tickets are being sold in the Caulfield area and at Caulfield Hospital with the cost of printing being subsidised by Skyrider International, Elsternwick.

The first prize is an outdoor setting valued at $300 donated by Elsternwick Furnishing, second prize a still life painting donated by local artist Walter Fuerst and third prize handcrafted pottery donated by Lorraine Dinan.

Prints, watercolours, oils, paintings and craft by well-known artists will be available for purchase at the Art Show along with demonstrations by handmade felt firemaker, Margaret Stevens.

Local artist

Local watercolorist, Beverley Graham is exhibiting in the Quota Art Show for the seventh year.

Beverley's work is immensely popular and sells out every year always with orders for more work.

Beverley is well-known in the art world for her watercolors of Australian flora and had work commissioned as a wedding present for the latest royal wedding between Charles and Diana.

Her delicate and beautiful watercolors grace the Executive dining room of the National Australia Bank Head Office and have appeared in Exhibitions from London to Canberra.

Her favorite subjects for watercolors are terrestrial orchids ("most people have never seen one", says Beverley), shells, grasses, exotic flowers, butterflies and seedcones.

Short Story Winners

The Third Annual Caulfield Hospital/Australian Pensioner Short Story Competition has shown that short story writing is alive and well in Australia.

Over 230 stories were received in the nationwide contest. Winners were announced at a dinner held recently at the Caulfield Hospital.

First prize of $500 went to Mrs Patricia Barwick, West Hobart, Tasmania for her story on retirement, "The Crossword". Mrs In-

Beverley started her own business in 1969 called "Australian Wildflowers" selling a range of limited prints, stationery, bookmarks and watercolors of Australian floral line drawings and watercolors which she sells from her home studio and in craft shops and galleries in several states.

She is a regular exhibitor at many galleries in Australia and has works published in Australian Home Beautiful, on book covers, posters and calendars.

Beverley recently had a painting selected for a special Federation on British Artists exhibition "Flowers and Gardens" at "The Mall" Gallery, London. Only 500 of the 1000 paintings were selected for this prestigious exhibition.

In the future, Beverley hopes to hold a solo exhibition; work in etching and print; illustrate botanical books, orchids in particular; publish a Wildlife Sketch Book and to help conserve all species and support all conservation work whenever possible.

If you are interested in seeing Beverley's, and other artists' works, call in to the Arts Centre between March 15 and 17. Admission is $1.00 except on opening night when tickets are $10.00 (includes supper). Tickets for opening night are available from Judith Neal, Caulfield Hospital, Tel. 528 6333. The Gallery at the Arts Centre is open from 12 noon - 8.00pm each day.

grid Chapman, East Ringwood collected $150 for her story "Fire Engines are Best" and winner of the unpublished category, Mr L.C. Hughes, Mt Waverley, is now $150 richer for his first effort at short story writing, "What Price Sam?"

Chairman of the judging panel was Mrs Mavis Thorpe-Clark, author of "Pastor Doug".

The objectives of the contest were to stimulate interest in writing as well as to focus attention on the elderly and disabled.

From Caulfield to Chadstone

The Department of Compensatory Education at the Holmesglen College of T.A.F.E. has moved from the Caulfield Campus to the Chadstone Campus in Batesford Road.

The Department provides a range of courses for people who want to improve their English or Mathematics skills.

Many people who had to leave school early or have suffered illness during their school years have problems with everyday reading and writing. Courses, free of charge, are available at the College to help in this area.

Staff are all experienced teachers and provide a very sensitive environment for their students. Further information from Lydia Frusher Tel. 567 1547.

In Brief

Watch Mondays

Sudden heart attacks in otherwise healthy executives occur most frequently on Monday. A long-term study showed that 75% of those who died at home were Monday victims.

Cause: Monday blues due to stresses of returning to work. To lessen the pressure: Enjoy some relaxation time during the week and don't cram all the fun into the weekend.

Rail Line Work in Glenhuntly

The $12.8 million works program to improve rail services and facilities on the Frankston line is well under way.

Shoppers in the Glenhuntly area will have noticed the demolition of Rowlands Drapery on the west side of the line with its rebuilding on the east side.

The project is expected to be finished late this year giving train travellers additional express services on the Frankston line to the City cutting 10 minutes off the trip on average.

Major works to the line will include the construction of a seven kilometre third line from Caulfield to Moorabbin, a new railway station at Glenhuntly, island platforms at McKinnon and Bentleigh and a new platform at Paterson, costing $5.2 million.

New overhead traction power wires on the express line will cost $1.5 million; signals, communication and boom barriers on the line will cost $5.2 million and $800,000 is being spent on replacement of the old overhead electrical wires on the Frankston line.

Above, pedestrians, especially those with prams will find the new rail works make crossing the line a lot safer.

The third rail line is being built to give faster and more efficient services with modern facilities in the new station at Glenhuntly and ease of access with the newly constructed island platforms at McKinnon and Bentleigh.

Boom barriers are being installed at Neerim and Glenhuntly Roads in addition to those already in place at North Rd, McKinnon

Rd and Centre Rd.

Pedestrian barriers will also be installed at these crossings for additional safety.

About 50,000 commuters use the Frankston line each working day to the City.

The express line will allow extra additional express services to be timetabled which are not possible with the present double line.

Council Opposes Cheap Option

Caulfield's Mayor, Cr. Brian Rudzki, has expressed concern that residents in the vicinity of the proposed underpass in Dandenong Road, near Malvern Station, may not be aware of the implications of this option.

The Minister for Transport, Steve Crabb, recently announced the adoption of a low cost option (known as option 1A) which uses the existing subway and has curved approaches on either side. Because of this configuration, traffic lights are necessary at the viaduct to provide adequate safety.

Caulfield has rejected this proposal and Cr. Rudzki led a deputation to the Minister stating the Council's position.

The original proposal was to construct the underpass on a direct alignment. This would reduce the need for traffic lights and also the need for freight transport to find an alternative route. The direct alignment is considered to be a lot safer and gives regard to the importance of the Highway in the national road system.

Despite the Council views, the Minister's intention is to proceed with the low cost option 1A.

Local on Government Committee

Murrumbeena resident, Mr. Brian Pittard, has been chosen to represent the Southern suburbs on the newly established Victorian Consumer Affairs Committee.

The Committee, appointed by the Minister for Consumer Affairs, Mr. Peter Spyker, will provide the Minister with both locally informed advice across the State and advice from organisations involved in consumer affairs.

The Committee is designed to give the community a say in consumer affairs policies by advising the Minister, to consult with or receive submissions and to conduct investigations on consumer affairs.

The Committee consists of 16 members including eight citizens from geographic areas of Victoria and eight members of consumer, industry, trade union and community organisations.

A Chairman, Mr. Bill Ford, Director of Administration and Finance for the Brotherhood of St. Laurence, was appointed to co-ordinate the 16 members and ensure effective functioning.

Mr. Pittard heard of the establishment of the committee on a radio news broadcast and rang to enquire. He was "surprised" to hear of his selection for the committee but feels he can offer a lot to it.

Mr. Pittard does not have any particular areas of concern but "I am prepared to commit myself to whatever issues arise."

Mr. Pittard has an Engineering Degree and works for Patons Brakes in East Boundary Rd.

One of the Principal speakers will be Dr. Andrew Hua, geriatrician from the Caulfield Hospital and the Family Medical Division of RSMH. He will speak on the Medical Aspects of the Aging.

The seminar will be of great value to individuals or families caring for an elderly person at home and who feel the need for greater understanding of the process and problems of the aging as well as information needed about practical help to cope with daily life.

It will also be of value to elderly persons living on their own or looking after a partner.

News from Council

Any Improvement a Help

Councillors were happy to approve plans for the remodelling of traffic lights at the Burke/Dandenong Road intersection. It was listed for investigation by the Road Traffic Authority as part of the accident black spot program. Because of the frequency of accidents at the intersection, Council has considered that any remodelling could only improve the area and the works will be fully funded by the R.T.A.

A Costly Promotion

The Caulfield Soccer Club was recently promoted to 1st division. The Victorian Soccer Federation, however, stipulates certain standards for Division 1 teams. Accordingly the club has requested the upgrading of facilities at the Duncan MacKinnon Reserve. This would require considerable capital expenditure, so to assist the Council in its consideration of the proposals presented by the soccer club, a detailed report will be presented to the April Environment and Community Development Committee.

After School Program

Government funds have become available for the establishment of an after-school program at the Caulfield Park Community House. This will cover the needs of the Caulfield North and St Aloysius primary schools.

The funding will cover 75% of the salary of a supervisor and an assistant. The remaining 25% and running costs will be met by user fees.

The program will operate five days a week from 3.30 pm to 6.30 pm and provision will be made to escort the children to the Community House.

Guidelines on Brothels

Under the recent approved legislation relating to brothels, the use of premises for the purposes of prostitution becomes a permissible use in certain zones. Council must examine each application on its merits and have regard to town planning issues.

At the last meeting of the Policy and Resources Committee it was resolved that guidelines relating to brothel applications be drawn up and modelled on those released by the Ministry for Planning.

The guidelines are not part of any statutory process of planning but are designed to serve as a useful guide to Council in determining any applications for brothels in the City and also as a guide to prospective applicants.

Impact Study Sought

The Chisholm Institute has submitted plans to the Council for a proposed student union complex to be built on the corner of Railway and Princess Avenues. The plans include a ten-storey tower and an adjacent two-storey building which will provide a variety of facilities.

The Council has expressed interest in a number of issues associated with the development, particularly parking facilities. It has requested that an impact statement on the future development be prepared.

Cost Saving Project

A resource management program is to be implemented for Council staff. The scheme is based on the "quality circle" theory of management and staff will be instructed how to recognise losses in resources, identify productivity improvements, and develop practical resource saving projects.

The scheme is expected to bring about considerable reduction in costs and improve staff morale and interdepartmental co-operation.

Business Re-registration

The Council's Health and Legislation department has recently been involved in the processing of applications for re-registration of premises under the provision of the Health Act. Over 560 premises have been re-registered and represent over 94% of current businesses.

Such services as food shops, hairdressers, boarding houses, milk bars, restaurants, and even the mothers' club tuck shop must register under the provisions of the Health Act to ensure their cleanliness.

Public Meeting for Murrumbeena House

The Murrumbeena Community House, 105 Murrumbeena Rd., Murrumbeena was set up as a community asset for the pleasure and use of local groups and individuals some three years ago.

In recent months user response to Committee of Management meetings has been poor.

A public meeting to discuss Murrumbeena Community House will be held on Monday, March 18 at 7.30 pm at the Murrumbeena Park Hall (Gerald St. entrance). All interested people are encouraged to attend this important meeting.

Council Meeting Dates in March

Executive Services — March 4
Environment and Community Development — March 5
Policy and Resources — March 12
Council — March 19

All meetings commence at 8.00 pm in the Council Chamber, City Hall, cnr Glen Eira and Hawthorn Rds, Caulfield.

Arts Centre Hosts Major Exhibition

The Caulfield Arts Centre is hosting a major exhibition by two Australian painters, David Armfield and Vic O'Connor, from March 1-13.

The exhibition is being opened at 7.30 pm on March 1 by distinguished Art Historian, Professor Bernard Smith, and everyone is invited to attend.

David Armfield

Born in 1923, David Armfield studied at the Melbourne National Gallery School and exhibited regularly in Realist exhibitions until 1959.

He later concentrated on representational landscapes of the bush holding many one-man exhibitions. He won the Ramsay Prize in 1948 and is represented in the Bendigo Gallery and Queensland University Collection.

Many of the paintings in this exhibition were painted during a stay in Italy last year. David and his wife Joan returned to Italy after an initial stay in 1978 when they looked after the farmhouse of a fellow painter and writer.

Last year they found themselves looking after the farmhouse again. David did many watercolor sketches and later, more paintings.

While there, they met the owner of a 1000 year old castle who asked them to mind it while she made a trip to England and America.

The castle commands a 360 degree view of the surrounding landscape and provided David with inspiration for his paintings.

Vic O'Connor

Vic O'Connor recently returned to Melbourne from Sydney where he had lived for the last 20 years.

Vic was born in 1918 and is virtually self-taught. He began his career in the late 1930s when he was involved in the early years of the Contemporary Art Society.

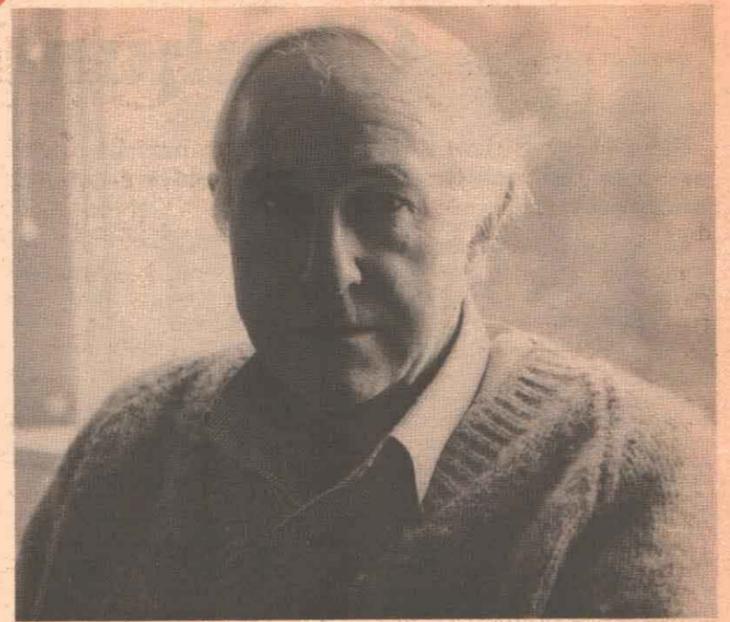

In 1941 he shared the Society's Annual Prize with Donald Friend.

At present, many of his paintings from this period are included in the current exhibition of Australian paintings "Art and Social Commitment" at the Banyle Gallery, Heidelberg.

Essentially realistic in outlook, his pictures have been concerned with people and their social problems, including comment on war and political oppression. Environmental paintings of the City, the markets, cafes and courts have also been an important part of his output.

Vic's work has been exhibited in group shows in Canada and London and with James Wigley, Noel Cournham and Herbert McClintoch in Moscow and Leningrad.

He is represented in many State collections and in the National collection by paintings, drawings and watercolors. He is also represented in provincial, institutional and private collections.

Above, Vic O'Connor's work will be part of an exhibition being held at the Caulfield Arts Centre, 441 Inkerman Rd, North Caulfield from March 1-13. Below, David Armfield is also exhibiting at the Arts Centre in March.

Community Arts Snippets

Liz Clay, Community Arts Officer

● The Caulfield Festival drama production of "Caulfield Days" can only be described as a fantastic success. Congratulations are due to Neil Greenway (producer), Diana Stewart (designer), Karen Ponton (researcher), Peter Dickinson (writer), who, as funded artists, worked exceedingly hard in Caulfield.

Once again the response and energy that arose from the venture is extremely exciting — over 80 names are on the cast and production lists.

It would seem there is a strong basis for future experimental performing arts projects in the area. Please contact me if you wish to be involved in further planning.

● Heritage Week runs April 14-21. This special time is set aside to encourage Australians to recognize the objects, places or events which form part of our history.

Could you or your group mount a small display of artefacts, photographs, books, films, give talks, have a colonial ball, picnic in the park or anything to celebrate the week.

Could you use one of the small lecture, film or exhibition spaces, or gardens at the Arts Centre? Please ring me or the Arts Centre if you are interested.

● The Women's 150 Community Week needs a mention — see the article. I'm sure there are so many women in Caulfield who could contribute to the exhibition "Women's Work is Everywhere" or come to make up the "Women's Produce Art and Craft Produce Fair". We look forward to your participation!

I would commend too, the Night of Performance and Interchange on March 6 at the Caulfield Arts Centre.

● The Fibre Craft Project (see article) will continue this year. The present artists, Diana Stewart, Isabel Foster and Ann Learmonth will complete their visit with an exhibition in March at the Arts Centre.

This will include work from the community and their own work. I know many people have been both grateful and interested to have worked with them.

The program will extend this year by bringing in a greater variety of artists on short term workshops.

We are particularly interested to hear from individuals, groups, schools who have needs or ideas. The medium is wide — ranging from sculpture to home crafts, from materials that are natural fibre to the synthetic. Please ring Erica or myself with enquiries.

● A Creative Clothing Workshop is being held on March 6 and 7 at Fusion Community Centre, 101 Murrumbena Rd with Diana Stewart. Free.

● A Fibre crafts Exhibition is being held from March 25-31. Come and meet the artists and see some of the work completed during 1984 at the Caulfield Arts Centre.

The artists would like to hear from you. If you have some ideas for projects or classes that the artists could organise for you or if you want to know about classes and workshops already happening they are available.

One of the artists is working with residents of Camden Court, Rosstown and Heathlands Hostels on a series of knitted and embroidered banners for Senior Citizens Week — you may like to come and join in. Contact Liz Clay or Erica Wright for further details.

● Writers and poets — are there any of you in the area who would like to come together and meet others in your field on a casual basis? Contact me and we can see what can be done.

Correction to Fibre crafts Project Program

Isabel Foster will not be available as advertised on Thursdays at the Arts Centre and Anne Learmonth's basic craft casual group on Wednesday mornings is also not operating.

We apologize for any inconvenience this may have caused.

Caulfield Junior Concert Band

A Junior Concert Band is being formed in 1985 at the Arts Centre with Henry Sachwald as its director.

Children, between the ages of nine and 15, who have completed at minimum their first year of study of either flute/piccolo, oboe, clarinet, alto saxophone, tenor saxophone, bassoon, trumpet, french horn, trombone or baritone are welcome to attend.

The purpose of the groups is to offer children the chance to develop skills both in relationship to their chosen instrument and in general, ensemble playing.

There will be opportunity to perform in their own series of concerts at the Arts Centre and also with community festivals.

Weekly rehearsals are held on Wednesdays from 5.00 pm - 7.00 pm and consist primarily of concert band rehearsals with tutorial time with specialist instrumental teachers.

Interested players are asked to let the Arts Centre know as soon as possible of their availability to play and their instrument(s). Players of brass instruments or percussion are most welcome.

Kennett visits Nursing Homes

Opposition leader Mr Jeff Kennett recently visited Caulfield nursing homes to meet patients, their relatives and staff to hear first hand many of their concerns regarding care of the elderly and sick.

As a result of the meeting a group of nursing homes is to prepare a submission proposing that up to 500 employment positions be created in Victoria's nursing homes. These positions would include nursing assistance and ancillary duties with the objectives of both improving nursing care and also providing increased employment opportunities, particularly for the young.

Ted Tanner, Member of Parliament for Caulfield, said that care of the sick and elderly was of paramount importance.

Foster Care Taking Off

Foster Care South East is growing. Several new families are now working as caregivers which has meant more parents are receiving help with their children.

Foster Care South East covers the municipalities of Caulfield, Malvern and Oakleigh. It is funded by the Department of Community Welfare and each of the local councils.

Some requests have not been met because more caregivers are needed to cover a wide variety of situations. Foster Care involves the care of children from babies to teenagers and may be for a few days or for much longer periods.

The most urgent need is for a very supportive family for a teenage girl who has had many difficulties in her early life. She has already shown that she is very responsive to appropriate care and needs to experience a normal family life before she moves to a more independent lifestyle. An older family whose children are grown up would be preferable for this girl.

Foster Care South East has also been able to help with a six year old boy needing a place for four months, a 13 year old girl needing care regularly one weekend a month, a five year old boy needing regular weekend care and a six month old baby who will need occasional care and whose mother needs considerable support.

The need for caregivers is still great so if you are interested in finding out more about the Program and how you can help, please contact Jill Bryon or Joanna Eccleston at Foster Care South East, C/- Chadstone Community Health Centre, 568 Neerim Rd, Hughesdale, Tel. 568 2599.

A Day for All Senior Citizens

It's Senior Citizens Week from March 17-24 and Caulfield is holding a special day on Tuesday, March 19 for all its older residents.

March 19 is not just a day for Senior Citizens but for the whole family. There will be fun activities, displays and demonstrations all day from 10am - 4pm in the City hall.

Two of Caulfield's Senior Citizens Clubs are holding Open Days and invite all interested people to come along and join in the activities and meet the members.

Picnic in the Park

The Council's Recreation Officer for the Elderly, Carolyn Clark, has organised a "Picnic in the Park" on Friday, March 22. A coach will take people to Jell's Park at 10am returning at 4pm. It's B.Y.O. sandwiches and drinks and the cost is $2 for transport. If you would like more information contact Carolyn Clark Tel. 524 3333.

At the City Hall

The City Hall will be crowded with displays from community groups and organisations including the Citizens Advice Bureau, Combined Pensioners, Early Planning for Retirement, Chadstone Community Health Centre and the Caulfield Community Care Centre.

Are you interested in cards? The Ormond Senior Citizens Centre will be welcoming anyone interested in having a game.

Bowls and Exercise

If you are looking for something a little more active the Gladys Machin Senior Citizens Club will demonstrate indoor bowls through the day. Come along for a game or two, it's great fun.

And if you thought exercise is only for the young, then think again. A qualified instructor will take a beginners gentle exercise class for the Over 50s at 2.30pm.

Exercises are done seated and standing and really are gentle! If you are interested you are welcome to join in the fun and meet new people.

Coffee Stall

After all this activity if you are feeling a little tired why not visit the coffee stall and have a chat over coffee and biscuits among friends.

Cool drinks, coffee and tea will be available at a minimal charge.

Two centres are joining in the activities for Senior Citizens Week by opening their facilities to the public.

The Gladys Machin Club in Cedar St, South Caulfield is holding daily activities from 1-4pm each day and all are welcome to visit. Monday and Tuesday — indoor bowls, Wednesday — ladies crafts, Thursday — euchre, Friday — crazy whist and Saturday — indoor bowls.

safety and use. Members under 21 are not permitted to use guns without supervision.

The junior training fee is $30 for the year and practice is held on Wednesdays, Thursdays and Sundays with competitions held on Saturdays.

Paul's interest in shooting stems from when his father was a policeman. Paul prefers to keep shooting for fun and hopes one day to become an Electronics Engineer.

With a best score of 542 out of 600 (and improving every practice), Paul seems to be headed for more gold — perhaps in the Olympics one day?

Shooting for Gold

Paul Hankin, 15, joined the Melbourne International Pistol Shooting Club only five months ago, and already has won himself a gold medal in the Australia Games.

Paul spends up to five hours a week practising his shooting and competes every Saturday in competitions around Melbourne and country Victoria.

Competing in the Australia Games was "terrific", said Paul. The Melbourne Club hosted the pistol competitions at their clubrooms at 120 Dodd St, Port Melbourne. Paul with other members of the Club was involved in setting up and scoring for the Games.

Their main competitors in the Australia Games were New Zealand and Papua New Guinea. Paul was classified Junior Match C Grade for the Games and has since been reclassified to B Grade.

Being only 15, Paul is not permitted to have his own gun and uses a club gun to practise on during training sessions. Before competing in the Australia Games, the gun went through the usual weight and trigger pressure tests but unfortunately did not pass and Paul had to use another club gun.

Australia went well in the Games although Paul was disappointed with the lack of television and press coverage given to the pistol shooting.

"Pistol shooting is not so well known but we have 300 members, including 15 juniors, in the Melbourne club." With more publicity for lesser known sports, such as shooting, Paul is convinced that more young people would join the game.

When a new member joins the Club, he has to spend three weekends learning all about gun

International Youth Year

1985 is International Youth Year. The United Nations has declared that this year will be dedicated to young people between the ages of 12 and 25.

The three themes of I.Y.Y. are participation, development and peace.

Participation means young people have a say in decisions that affect them — school, work, family, government. Development means encouraging and allowing young people to achieve their full potential and peace means accepting each other and confronting problems such as inequality, unemployment, homelessness etc. to make our society a more harmonious place to live in.

During the year there will be statewide youth arts and music festivals, forums and other projects involving young people. Many activities for the year are still being planned and will be publicised in Caulfield Contact.

Perhaps you would like to become involved in I.Y.Y. We have a Youth Council here in Caulfield which meets monthly and aims at making Caulfield a better place for young people to live in. Members are all ages, you don't have to be a "youth" to join. Why don't you come along to our next meeting and see what you think? If you would like to know more, contact Jenny Bowman, Youth Worker, Tel. 524 3333.

Playgroup Fun

Above, it was a fun day at the Glenhuntly Playgroup recently for these young members.

The children of the Glenhuntly Playgroup recently took time out from their usual play session to splash about in water for a change.

The pool fun was all part of a water day for the children, and luckily, the weather favoured their activities.

The children are part of the Monday group that meets at 10.30 am. The playgroup also meets Monday afternoons at 2.30 pm, Tuesdays at 10.30 am and 2.30 pm and on Wednesdays at 2.30 pm.

All age groups are provided for with regular outings and special events arranged throughout the year. Structured activities are organised for older children.

The playgroup is currently located at the former Infant Welfare Centre, 15 Truganini Rd, Carnegie but will shortly be moving to a new Community House in Jersey Pde, Carnegie.

Enrolments for the playgroup may be made in person or contact Colleen Dickson Tel. 211 7287 or Christina Robinson Tel. 211 3969.

Self-Help Group for Alcoholics

The Contact Centre in Prahran is a self-help group for rehabilitating alcoholics and drug addicts which aims to support programs run by hospitals and treatment centres.

Clients of hospitals and centres are introduced to the Contact Centre whilst they are still undergoing treatment. This helps alleviate the loneliness clients feel once they are released from a centre and are on their own.

The Contact Centre will also offer help to those under private counselling or who walk off the street. Families and friends are encouraged to come along.

Counselling and practical help are offered at the Centre but their objective is to provide an outlet for rehabilitees to socialise in an atmosphere of understanding which is devoid of the stigma sometimes associated with alcoholism.

If you would like to know more about the Contact Centre Tel. 20 1434.

Skilled Workers Produce the Wealth

State Labor Candidate for Caulfield, Mr Jack Diamond, recently said the community must not ignore the need to develop the skills and potential of its workforce if it is to respond effectively to the changes taking place in the world economy.

The Victorian Government, through the Ministry of Employment and Training, has concentrated over the last three years on upgrading the industrial and commercial skills of Victorians to meet that challenge.

"Industry and union training advisory committees charged with the co-ordination of industrial and commercial skills training have been established.

"Additional apprenticeship supervisors have been appointed and new industry training centres and an Industry Training Network have been set up.

"Group apprenticeship schemes have been launched and a new Adult Retraining Opportunities Program has been provided."

Mr Diamond stated that a skilled workforce is the basis of our future prosperity.

RECREATION AND LEISURE

Standing on their Record

Lacrosse has been an integral part of Caulfield's sporting life for over 90 years.

The commencement of the game in this area is thought to have been in 1894 when men's lacrosse was established. The official Caulfield Lacross Club (mens) was set up in 1909 and the Women's Lacrosse Club more recently in 1973.

Considering their short time on the circuit the Caulfield Women's Lacrosse Club is doing remarkably well.

Recently, eight women from the Caulfield team played for Victoria in the Australian Soft Lacrosse Championship. Out of a team of 12 players, that's not bad going.

Victoria won the first of the three matches against South Australia convincingly. The remaining two matches of the championship are being played at the Melbourne Entertainment Centre on March 1 and 2.

Single entries are always welcome so just ring the club on 578 7131 and ask for Bob Bainbridge or Bill Cuman. The RVBA Champion of Champions second match takes place on March 3 at 10.15 am when some excellent bowling will be seen. Visitors welcome, no charge and the club is fully licensed.

To those considering trying their hand at Lawn Bowls, free tuition for an hour or two can always be arranged with no obligation to join.

Caulfield Park Bowling Club — The Caulfield Park Bowling Club is having a Grand Gala Day on Sunday, March 17 from 11.00 am with Open Nominated Mixed Fours. Lunch supplied plus trash and treasure, bric-a-brac stalls, plants, food,

Season Ahead

The Caulfield Women's Lacrosse Club is an active member of the Victorian Women's Lacrosse Club and is fielding five teams for the 1985 winter season, starting in April.

The five teams include an Under 13 (soft lacrosse), Under 16 and three senior teams.

Although the Caulfield Club is one of the best teams in the Association with several players with international experience, it requires more players to fill the ranks, particularly at the Junior level.

School Holiday Training

As part of the school holiday program at the Caulfield Recreation Centre, the Caulfield Women's Lacrosse Club held two days of tuition teaching 140 children the basics of lacrosse.

Two players from the Club brought along equipment, including nets, and took five training sessions a day.

Children were divided into age groups and coached in groups of 25.

"The response from the kids was absolutely fantastic," said Recreation Centre staff member, Margaret Horton.

"The Lacrosse Club worked so hard, all day. The children were very interested in learning the game and many parents asked for more details."

The Club also conducted classes at Elwood Primary School and are keen to again coach new players in the coming May and September holidays.

The Game

If you are wondering just what lacrosse is all about, it's really very simple. The initial set-up is very similar to hockey, soccer or rugby with 12 players spaced on the field from one goal to the other.

A small, solid, rubber ball is passed by means of a net on the end of a stick, called the "crosse" (or more commonly "stick") from player to player with the aim of scoring goals.

According to books on lacrosse, it is an easily learnt game, with skills being taught quickly to newcomers.

Origins

The origins of lacrosse are obscure although it is known for certain it was played by Indian tribes on the north-east coast of America in the 1800s.

The Indians played the game over several miles and regarded it as a religious ceremony.

A French historian saw tribes in Quebec playing the game in 1705 and likened the stick to the crozier carried by a Bishop. Hence, the name "la crosse" which was soon condensed to the one word used today.

The French Canadians were the first white people to develop lacrosse which soon became the national game of Canada.

In 1867 the first rules were drawn up and the game migrated to England with the French Canadians.

Initially, in England, it was played by men and then picked up by the schools in the 1890s for their female students.

If you are interested in learning the game of lacrosse contact either Helen Imlach, Tel. 898 1558 (W) or 54 5401 (B) or Marie Weatherall Tel. 557 8285.

LEISURE LINES

by David Melvin, Co-ordinator of Leisure Services.

What is Leisure? It is a term that we all use, but do we all mean the same thing?

One of the difficulties we all experience with the English language is that words like leisure have such a wide variety of meanings. My Pocket Oxford dictionary defines leisure as "spare time", but this does not satisfactorily describe the many complex and sometimes contradictory variations that can exist. One person's leisure can easily be another person's labour.

As an example, most Australians were glued to their radios and televisions when Robert de Castella ran in the Olympic marathon. We all marvelled at the performance of the athlete who competed, but was it work or was it leisure? And how was it different to the fun runner who jogs around the tan or competes in the Big M Marathon?

The literature would tend to suggest that there are as many definitions of leisure as there are researchers investigating the subject. Charles Brightbill defines leisure as the "time beyond that which is required for existence (e.g. eating and sleeping) and subsistence (e.g. working). Leisure is time in which our feelings of compulsion should be minimal. It is discretionary time, the time to be used according to our own judgement or choices.

Bold though the definition may be, it fails to make a note of important distinctions. For example, eating may be an important element ensuring our existence. However, I am certain that the proprietors of the many fine restaurants in Melbourne would be deeply offended by such a utilitarian definition. After all, food should also be enjoyed and eating out is such a leisure activity.

Stanley Parker, when preparing his definition of leisure, recognised that some of our daily activities, while essential for our existence, could also be described as leisure.

Thus eating for pleasure is a leisure activity and an existence activity, as defined by Brightbill. Similarly, activities such as gardening, which Parker defines as a "non-work obligation", can be seen as a chore by some and as a pleasurable leisure activity by others. The flexibility offered by this definition is more useful because it allows for individual preferences and tastes.

Now that we can begin to define our leisure time, the challenge is to make better of it. It may therefore be an interesting exercise to work out just how much leisure time we have in a day. You may be surprised at just how little time is uncommitted and available for your leisure.

Author's Note: The brevity of this month's Leisure Lines is due, in no small part, to the birth on Monday, February 11, 1985 of the author's daughter Jessica. Leisure, or uncommitted time, is therefore in short supply!

Hockey Season Opens

The hockey season is only two months away and the T.E.M. Club encourages anyone interested in playing hockey to contact them now.

The club fields men's, women's and junior teams and caters for all levels. It is one of the strongest clubs in Melbourne with a State League 1 team which includes an Olympic representative.

There are five other men's teams in various grades. There are also five women's teams from A3 through to E Grade.

The club went well last season with four women's teams earning promotion to higher grades and two premierships were won. The men won one premiership and five out of the six teams played in the finals.

Apart from the senior teams, T.E.M. has a strong junior club. The boys teams range from Under 17 down to Under 11s. For the girls there are Under 17 and Under 15 teams. There is a possibility that the girls will also have an Under 13 team this year.

"Minkey" hockey is provided for children under 9. This is a recent concept of learning the game with minimal competitiveness.

Anyone interested in joining the Club should contact Dick Tierney Tel. 25 3529 or Fiona Norling Tel. 579 2089 (Seniors) and Grant McPhie Tel. 569 5894 (Juniors).
