A monthly publication produced by Caulfield Council for the residents of this C

Wednesday, October 2, 1985
Vol. 12, No. 9

An Historic Occasion

It was an historic occasion when seven past Mayoresses of Caulfield met to celebrate the 100th birthday of Adelaide Tyers, another past Mayoress of the City.

She was visited by Cr. and Mrs. Blair, Caulfield's present Mayor and Mayoress and presented with a bouquet of flowers on behalf of the Council.

The birthday party was held at the Hernleigh Lodge nursing home, in Hawthorn Road, where she has lived for the past two years. It was organised by the ladies of the Red Cross who had worked so closely with Mrs. Tyers over the years.

Mrs. Tyers was a nurse in her younger days and established the 'F' company of Red Cross which operated in Carnegie. She worked with the Caulfield Military Hospital during the war and gave nursing instruction to volunteers.

Addie Tyers' husband, the late Stan Tyers, was an East Ward councillor from 1933 to 1952.

Pictured from left standing are Mrs. Walters (Mayoress '72 & '82), Mrs. Green ('56, '60 & '68), Mrs. Pullman ('36) and Mrs. Arden ('71). Seated Mrs. Gunn ('52 & '64), Mrs. Tyers ('38), Mrs. Blair (present Mayoress and also '74, '76 & '79) and Mrs. Machin who was Mayoress in '62 & '70 and also Mayor (as Cr. Wallace) in '55 & '59.

Council Boosts Employment

Over the past few years the Council has been successfully involved in a number of employment initiative programs. Approximately 80% of the young people who have participated in these programs have been employed by the Council or have obtained permanent employment elsewhere.

The Council has now received notification that Commonwealth Employment Program funding has been approved for a Personal Care Program.

The scheme will allow for the employment of six personal care workers who will assist frail residents at Council hostels.

They will attend to matters of personal hygiene including help with laundry, room cleaning, assistance with dressing and other activities.

The program will last for 40 weeks and commence as soon as trainees are available. They will receive training that will enable them to secure permanent employment

Caulfield Goes It Alone

The Caulfield Council has formally terminated its membership of the Municipal Association of Victoria.

For some years now the Council has been dissatisfied with the performance of the MAV and in September, 1984 decided that it was not prepared to meet the increased membership costs — an increase of approximately 200% to $12,084.

Since that time the performance of the Association has been monitored and meetings have been held with its representatives.

The rural dominance of the MAV on both the executive of the organisation and in the voting procedures has become a point of contention.

Small country municipalities and large metropolitan councils both have single representation and therefore only one vote each. Several metropolitan councils have voiced their discontent and formed a Metropolitan Municipal Association.

MAV handling of major local government issues has been widely criticised. The services they provide includes free legal advice, industrial relations assistance, statutory interpretation and investment services. The Caulfield Council can handle most of these areas from within its own resources or through the employment of experts as required.

Although the MAV is recognised by the State Government as the representative body for local government in this State the Municipal Association has shown considerable energy and style in lobbying the Commonwealth Government.

The Council will give consideration to the question of membership of the MMA in next month's cycle of meetings.

Garbage Men Oppose Changes

Selective bans have been placed by Caulfield's garbage men and residents are facing inconveniences with the collection of their household waste.

In an effort to resolve the present situation the Council has entered into discussions with the Union and has had two hearings before Commissioner McKenzie of the Conciliation and Arbitration Commission.

The collection and disposal of garbage is one of the most important activities Council has to undertake. The health of the community is at stake and the costs involved are a substantial percentage of the Council's budget.

The Union is aware of the importance of their work and is using industrial muscle to influence negotiations.

New Rounds Proposed

In an effort to achieve greater economies the service is under constant review. Following recent discussions a decision has been made to combine the present morning and afternoon rounds into one and to use five trucks instead of the four previously used.

Each truck is managed by three men and it is envisaged, therefore, that 15 men only will be required to complete the task, previously performed by 24.

The garbage men are naturally apprehensive about these alterations and while the importance of this service cannot be over-emphasised the Council is mindful of the effect that changes may have on their employees.

Although the economics are important, it is essential that the new scheme be introduced harmoniously. The Council is at pains to talk with the Union and the men in order to work out the best method of implementing a reallocation of rounds.

Householders to be Kept Informed

Once the dispute has been settled householders will be notified of any changes to their garbage collection days.

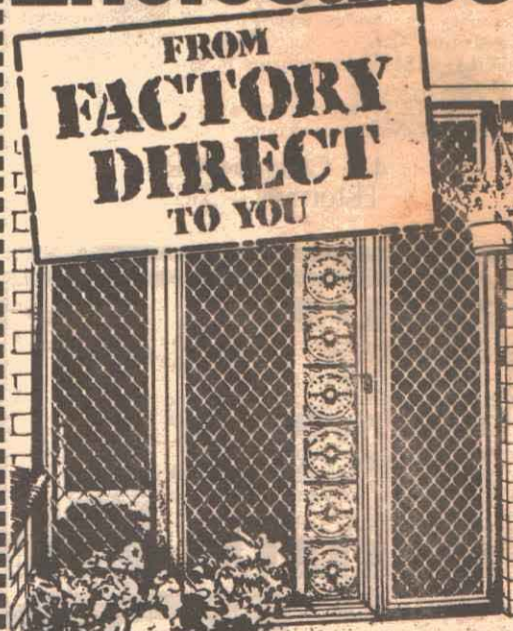

In the proposed scheme only a few small areas will be affected but everyone will need to have their bin out on the naturestrip by 6 am on collection day. Council suggests that bins are put out the previous night.

A brochure detailing all changes will be distributed throughout the City once the decisions have been finalised.

Residents

During the current garbage dispute residents are advised to leave their garbage bins on the nature strip as missed garbage may be collected on days other than your normal day of collection.

Training for Citizens Advice Bureau Volunteers

The Caulfield Citizens Advice Bureau is calling for Volunteers to start basic training in October/November 1985.

C.A.B. Volunteers are involved in a wide range of activities, from administrative work to keeping the extensive information file up to date to training as Community Information Workers.

The primary qualifications needed to train as a Community Information Worker are tolerance and the ability to give impartial advice confidentially.

People applying to become a C.A.B. Volunteer, are firstly interviewed by the Bureau Co-ordinator. If selected they are taken into a three day basic training course which is spread over a three week period.

A second evaluation follows basic training and suitable Volunteers who wish to go on to become interviewers are placed in a special Community Information Workers Course at a local TAFE college depending on positions available.

The TAFE course is designed specifically for C.A.B. interviewers and covers interviewing techniques, attitude awareness and information skills for community development.

Volunteers gain practical experience by working at a Bureau in-between courses.

Trained Bureau Volunteers work shifts to suit their other obligations and are asked to make a two year commitment to the branch to give the Bureau consistency and stability.

Citizens Advice Bureau are free, confidential and impartial information and referral centres open to everybody.

For further information about becoming a C.A.B. Volunteer, telephone Judyth Mills, Co-ordinator on 524 3250.

Kerry Tackles Swamps

Kerry Gavin, artist and researcher, is currently working in the foyer of the City Offices from Tuesday to Thursday 10 am-4 pm. She is creating the artwork she is creating. She is working on a large calico embroidered and painted "map" of the Murrumbidgee area which contains special landmarks, points of interest and other local folklore.

In brief

Caulfield Progress Association

New office bearers were elected at the recent annual general meeting of the Caulfield Progress Association.

Joan Hardy was elected President, Betty Snowball Vice-President, Gwen Beddison Treasurer and Veronika Martens Secretary.

The Association can be contacted by writing to P.O. Box 188, Caulfield South, 3162.

No Hospital Amalgamation

Caulfield and Royal Southern Memorial Hospitals will not amalgamate.

The Minister for Health, Mr David White, decided that the amalgamation would not proceed after considering a recommendation from a steering committee set up in 1984 to look at the amalgamation of the two hospitals.

The committee was made up of representatives from the Health Department, the Alfred, Caulfield and Royal Southern Memorial Hospitals, the Australian Medical Association and the Trades Hall Council.

The steering committee found that the disadvantages were possibly greater than the advantages in an amalgamation of the rehabilitation hospital with the acute services hospital.

The situation will be reviewed in two years' time.

Deadline for Contact

The deadline for the next issue of Caulfield Contact is Wednesday, October 23. The paper will be published on Wednesday, November 6.

Submissions can be sent to Caulfield Contact, P.O. Box 42, South Caulfield, 3162 or telephone shorter items and notice of events to 524 3259. Alternatively, you may wish to call into the Caulfield Contact office at the City hall.

Child Care Centre Enrolments

Applications Now Open

Applications for child care in 1986 at the four children's centres run jointly by the Council and parents are now being accepted until the end of November.

Parents must either live, work or study in the Caulfield Municipality to apply.

Successful applicants will be notified by mail in early December—

The four centres are situated at:

- Caulfield City hall complex — 2-5 year-olds,
- Ormond (Oakleigh Rd.) — babies to 5 year-olds,
- Carnegie (Truganini Rd.) — babies to 5 year-olds,
- Murrumbidgee (Oakdene Cres.) — babies to 5 year-olds.

Priority for child care at any of the centres must be given to children whose single parent or both parents are working, studying or actively looking for work. Priority is also given to children of recent migrants to children whose parents require child care because of a continuing disability, illness or incapacity.

Fee Relief

A liberal fee relief system is available subject to a means test. The sliding fee scale, with a minimum of $10 per week for full-time care, is applicable to parents with a gross weekly income of up to approximately $500 per week —

Above, work on the fourth Council child care centre in Truganini Road, Carnegie is progressing well. The centre is on the old infant welfare centre site and is next door to the new meals-on-wheels kitchen. The centre will be open for enrolments next year.

News from Council

Board Allows Attendance Centre

The Planning Appeals Board recently upheld the Council's decision to allow the establishment of an attendance centre in Glenhuntly Road.

An objector was concerned about the security of his business but the Board considered that any threat was likely to arise from organised criminal conspiracy rather than an impulsive criminal act.

It also felt that the centre was unlikely to cause any detriment to the amenity of the area and that car parking facilities were adequate.

The Board considers that there is substantial community need for such a facility and any minor detriment to the area would be insignificant.

Liquor Licence Sought

The Council is not yet prepared to comment on an application to the Liquor Control Commission by the Lauriston Tennis Club for a Restricted Club Licence.

It will do so once the application has been brought to the attention of residents in the area.

Liquor Control Commission requires advice from Councils as to their attitude towards granting of such permits.

Youth Development Funding

The Bureau of Youth Affairs has approved a new subsidy for a Special Youth Development Office. The subsidy is currently $12,000 per annum and funding is for three years.

Approval for the new subsidy was required following the resignation of the previous youth worker. Interviews for the position have been completed and it is anticipated that a new officer will commence shortly.

Home Handyman Scheme

In February this year the Council was advised that a new home maintenance scheme would be introduced by the State Government. The original funding proposals were recently revised and the new scheme has a number of limitations that make it less attractive than the previous proposal.

Funding is for one year only and there is limited funding for travelling and equipment. The Council would need to find another $4,000 to adequately operate the scheme.

The Council will request the Minister of Health to increase the subsidy payable and seek practical amendment to the funding conditions.

If these amendments are not forthcoming within a period of three months the Council's participation in the scheme will be reconsidered.

Charges to Change

In the new Council financial year, commencing October 1, a number of charges are to be increased. The incoming donation for all hostels for the aged for 1985/86 will be $10,000 to be amortised over a period of 60 months. Amounts to be refunded will be adjusted accordingly.

All class fees at the Arts and Recreation Centres will be increased by an average of 10% and will be phased in over three terms.

Swimming Pool charges are to be increased by an average of 20% at the commencement of the 1985/86 swimming season. The cost for Meals on Wheels will increase from $2.40 to $2.50.

Further details will be available once the budget has been finalised.

Yavneh College Planning Brief

The second draft planning brief for the Yavneh College has been received and will be widely circulated for resident comment. The Council will also sponsor a meeting of any interested residents and representatives of the school.

The draft incorporates the requirements previously sought by the Council and the College has agreed to bring forward many of the amenity improvement features from Stage 3 to Stage 2.

New fencing, landscaping, dropping and picking up facilities will also be included in the second stage.

Traders Festival

The Council recently approved in principle the trader's festival to be held in Glenhuntly on November 30. The Traders Association has requested that Royal Avenue, between Glenhuntly Road and the TAB be closed to traffic and that the Council make application on behalf of the Association for extended trading hours for the shopkeepers of the centre on the day of the Festival.

Request for Bus Shelter Approved

The Council recently received a request to install a bus shelter in Poath Road, just north of North Road. The bus company using the existing bus stop has indicated there is in excess of 50 people per day using the stop which is enough to warrant a shelter. The shelter will be erected outside number 319 Poath Road.

Rubbish bins will be installed at the bus shelter to overcome any littering problem which may be experienced by residents in number 319.

Truganini Road Treatments

Discussions have been held with officers of the Road Traffic Authority to determine intersection treatments of Truganini Road with both Koornang Road and Glenhuntly Road.

These discussions have arisen out of the decision of the Metropolitan Transit Authority (Tramways) to duplicate the line in Truganini Road and to provide fairway conditions at these intersections.

The MTA has now agreed to fund the widening of Truganini Road, as the Council requested, as well as paving the tramlines down the middle of the road. There will be sufficient widening to allow cars to pass the tram and because the naturestrip is wide in this street there will be ample width left for pedestrians.

The proposed treatment of the intersection of Truganini Road and Koornang Road provides pedestrian safety but still allows vehicles adequate turning facilities.

The Council has advised the RTA however, that it is concerned with the proposed treatment of the intersection with Glenhuntly Road. It would actually prefer that no alterations were made but if it is necessary then the RTA should adopt the Council's proposal which allows adequate traffic movement but is less hazardous than the proposal submitted.

In August 1984, the Council resolved, in principle, to establish a nursing home fund. Since that time discussions on establishing and funding a nursing home in the City of Caulfield have been held with both State and Federal governments.

There have also been

Nursing Home Fund

discussions with the Taxation Department with regard to the requirements for tax deductibility of donations to such a fund.

A proposed Deed of Trust establishing a nursing home fund was recently approved by the Council and is understood to meet Taxation Department requirements.

Community Committee

The Council has agreed to act as Trustee of the fund and nominations will be called for from people and organisations interested in forming a community committee with a view to raising money and seeking donations for the City of Caulfield Nursing Home Fund.

Voters' Rolls

Since the introduction of Adult Franchise for Council elections in 1983, there still appears to be some confusion in regard to the eligibility of persons to be listed on Council's Voters' Rolls and thus being able to vote at Council elections.

This confusion was highlighted by the number of people attempting to vote at the recent Council election, who were not enrolled, and therefore could not vote.

There are two main categories of names that seem to be omitted from the Voters' Rolls: company nominees and people that are not naturalized.

Set out below are basic details of the entitlement of these persons to be enrolled. It should be noted that it is the responsibility of the persons concerned to make application to the Council before they can be enrolled.

Commercial Properties

If a company owns or occupies a property in Caulfield, it can nominate a person to be enrolled on the Voters' Rolls on behalf of that company for voting purposes.

This is particularly relevant to tenants of a commercial property where the business is conducted under a company name. It appears that only a minority of these are represented on the Voters' Rolls.

Naturally the company itself cannot be listed, therefore the name of the person nominated by the company will then appear on the Voters' Rolls and a vote can be cast.

A nomination form for this purpose can be obtained from the Rates Office at the City Offices.

Non-Naturalized

If you are a non British Subject, who is over eighteen (18) and you have lived in Caulfield for at least one month, in Victoria for at least three months and in Australia for at least six months, you may apply to be enrolled on the Council's Voters' Rolls.

If you fall into this category and wish to vote at Council elections you can obtain an application form from the Rates Office at the City Offices.

If you have any queries about your eligibility to be enrolled on Council's Voters' Rolls or merely wish to check to see if your name is listed, please contact the City Offices on 524 3333.

Arts Centre Tours

Elsternwick members please note that an outing planned for the Caulfield Arts Centre for October 21 has been cancelled. The excursion will now be on Tuesday, October 8. The bus will leave the Elsternwick Library at 9.45 am.

The tours from Caulfield Library and the Carnegie Resource Centre are going ahead as planned. The exhibition features the work of Victorian Ceramicists.

School Holiday Program

The theme of Caulfield Library Services Holiday Program was Cinema and Clowning and there was a lot of both. Groups of children were thrilled by films such as "Cocoon", "Ewok Adventure" and "The Neverending Story".

Red the Clown visited Caulfield Library watched by an audience of nearly 100 people. The next day Butterfly showed off some of his tricks to a crowd of 40 at Elsternwick Library.

Butterfly then dropped into Carnegie Resource Centre for a surprise visit before finishing the day with a show at Murrumbidgee House.

Renovators' Workshop

The Royal Australian Association of Architects will present a program on House Renovation at the Caulfield Library from 7.30 pm on Thursday, November 7.

So if you are a Caulfield resident who wishes to attend, come to Caulfield Library on October 29 to pick up your ticket to the Renovators' workshop. Personal shopping only, no phone bookings.

New Fiction

THE CIDER HOUSE RULES by John Irving. The author of World According to Garp tells the zany and bizarre story of Dr William Larch — saint, obstetrician and abortionist.

WIVES AND OTHER WOMEN by Norma Klein. An eminently readable story of people caught in the same situation at different periods of their lives. Two married people fall in love and eventually marry one another. Ten years on, the pattern repeats itself as Jerry, the husband, falls in love with another woman.

FOREIGN AFFAIRS by Alison Lurie. Vinnie Miner, a plain, unmarried and lonely traveller, becomes entangled with a half-educated, former cowboy. The results are both comic and serious.

SHELL GAME. Similar to the books of Ken Follet, Shell Game is a thriller set against the political turmoil of Cuba. Two brothers who once fought together against a corrupt regime become divided by politics, one supporting a communist regime and the other working for the U.S. Government.

CRESCENT CITY by Belva Plain. A family saga set with an American civil war background centres on the fortunes and loves of Miriam Raphael and her life on the plantation.

FAMILY TRUTHS by Syrell Leahy. A book with the quality of Evergreen, this is an involving family saga set in the 1960s. Judith Wolfe wants to become a judge like her father but eventually learns facts about him that turn her against him.

THE PLAYGROUP by Nancy Weber. An unusual novel, the playgroup consists of three-year-olds who develop the ability to see inside each other's minds. Its theme is the definition between adulthood and childhood.

Changes to Pre-school Subsidies

The current system of pre-school subsidies and fee relief was introduced in July 1984.

At that point, the government commitment was to keep fee relief automatically adjusted to inflation, and to tie this to adjustments in the supporting parents benefits.

Whilst it could be argued that the levels of income and fee relief were set at an unrealistically high level, the Council, nevertheless, is now facing cuts in this subsidy.

The full impact of the cuts is not known, and will not be known until after the end of the year.

The Government has announced they are seeking to cut funding to Children's Services by $30 million. This will directly affect the Council's Child Care Centres and Family Day Care Scheme.

Such cuts could mean that families on low incomes could be placed in the invidious situation of being forced to choose between high child care fees (which may absorb as much as the bulk of one parent's income) or one parent leaving the workforce.

The Government has established a Task Force in Canberra to make recommendations on how the cuts to child care services should be made. The Task Force was to begin work in early July and complete its project in three months.

The Council will advise the Task Force and the State Minister for Community Services. It is totally opposed to the proposed funding cuts and the probable negative implications for a number of Caulfield residents. Details will be included in a report to be presented to the Task Force and the Minister.

Above, St. Agnes' kindergarten in Booran Road, Glenhuntly held an Open Day recently to emphasise the problems cutbacks in funding will cause.

History of Caulfield

The Council is offering the official history of Caulfield for sale at $16. "From Sand, Swamp and Heath" by Murray and Wells can be obtained from the cashier's desk in the City Offices from 8.30-4.30 weekdays and until 7.30 on Tuesday evenings.

The book is hardback and features the beginnings of Caulfield's settlement right through to the 1950s. It is an excellent reference source for students doing assignments on our early days and offers a comprehensive coverage of Caulfield's mansions.

Family Fair at Caulfield Grammar

Caulfield Grammar School is conducting a "Caulfield Family Fair" at its Glen Eira Road campus on Saturday, November 9.

The fair falls in the final week of the "Victoria 150" year of celebrations and the Caulfield Family Fair is registered as an official Victoria 150 closing ceremony.

The day will feature all the fun of the fair, with a host of amusements for the children, bargain stalls for the mums and dads, and entertainment and competitions galore for the whole family.

Some lucky person will drive home in their very own brand new Honda Civic sedan courtesy of Astoria Honda Centre of Bentleigh.

Special features on the day will include an international pageant with various ethnic groups displaying their national dress and traditional music and dancing.

The Victorian Athletic League will be conducting a professional foot-running carnival culminating in the running of the 1985 Caulfield Gift 120m sprint championship. This being the first meeting of the season, most of Victoria's leading professional runners are expected to participate.

Caulfield Hospital — First a Dog, Now it's Birds!

Caulfield Hospital recently went one step further to making their patients feel more at home by introducing an aviary to the hospital wards.

The aviary project is part of Caulfield Hospital's continuing commitment to make the 400-bed rehabilitation and long-term care institution more home-like.

The first step was the introduction of Honey, a golden retriever and the first dog to reside in an Australian hospital.

Honey is now the favourite of all patients at the hospital and has proven to be a huge success.

The money for the aviary project was donated by the Sidney Myer Foundation and Caulfield Hospital Volunteers, and the birds donated by Wally's Place.

Right, Mr. Reg Gregory, Sidney Myer Fund, Mrs. Joyce Schenck, Caulfield Hospital Volunteer and Dr. David Madill, Springvale Veterinary Clinic at the opening of the aviary.

"Well, Let's Wrap it Up"

A fantastic PIP — Party in the Park.

We will only have one 150th birthday so come and be part of Caulfield's party to celebrate the end of the Victoria 150 Anniversary. It's the final wind-up and it's happening in parks all over Victoria — so why not be there and be part of our local history.

It's happening in Caulfield Park, Sunday November 10 from 12 noon to 5.00 pm.

There are some things you can do to be a part of the final fling:

12 NOON — All over the State, bells will be ringing. BYO bell — hand, bicycle, whatever rings, bring it out and let it ring. Churches will be asked to ring out too.

2.00 PM — Lay a floating carpet of flowers on Caulfield Park Lake. Gardeners and nature lovers bring some of those celebrated Caulfield garden flowers.

3.00 PM — Helium balloons with Vic. 150 colors to be let loose — if you're in the park, you could let one fly.

Come and participate in some dancing, music and arts activities.

See the Caulfield Historical Quilt presented to the City — it has been made by Caulfield residents with local artist

Ruth Caple as part of the Community Arts Fibre-crafts Project — and it's superb.

Just sit in the sun, walk the dog, chat, play — but how about BEING THERE! It's a celebration for all of us.

If you would like to contribute in any way, please contact Liz Clay, Community Arts Officer, on 524 3333 before October 22. Perhaps you'd like to play music, organise some dances, paint in the park. The Council will be organising a Music in the Parks program during the afternoon and participating art activities, but you may be able to think up some other celebrations.

Health Centre, 748-756 Centre Road, East Bentleigh. Another program will be held on Friday, November 22 for those interested in becoming course leaders.

If you would like more information or would like to attend the course contact Shirley Anderson or Leonie Salmons Tel. 579 4258.

Protecting Children Program

The East Bentleigh Community Health Centre is conducting a "Protective Behaviours" program to teach children skills to help prevent child maltreatment.

The program, introduced in Victoria by the Crime Prevention Education Consultancy Group, an auspice body of the Victoria Police, originates from the United States.

The program aims to equip children with techniques to avoid and/or cope with a wide range of situations, including domestic violence and sexual abuse.

According to the Centre, the program "follows a sensitive, non-sensational and practical, child-centred approach with a built-in requirement of confidentiality".

An information session will be held on Friday, November 8 from 10 am to 12 noon at the East Bentleigh Community

Coping with Child Care

As mothers join the workforce in increasing numbers, they face the problem of finding child care. Many already feel a great deal of anxiety and disquiet about leaving their young children and this can be intensified by the search for what they feel is appropriate care.

If you are considering going to work it is important to find out early as much information as you can. Because there is a heavy demand for child care services, parents who need to arrange care on short notice may be faced with long waiting lists or feel pushed into accepting whatever is available.

Parents need to find out early such things as:

- the various forms of care available and the

- pros and cons of each,
- eligibility criteria and application procedures,
- hours of care,

Back to Work

• as well as costs and the availability of fee relief.

Difficulties can crop up in getting a realistic appraisal of how long it may take for a child to get a placement, getting care which is suitably located if transport is a problem, and fees which may use up a large portion of take-home pay which can make return to work financially unattractive.

Armed with this information parents are better able to make decisions about their return to work before it becomes an urgent situation.

The settling-in period, once a child has been accepted, can be the next traumatic hurdle for parents and children. It is important to realise that being able to say "good-bye" happily and get along with other children and child care provider is a developmental process. Pushing a child into a situation for which he or she is not ready can only intensify the child's distress and that of the parents.

It is wise to take into consideration your child's age, temperament and previous experience when assessing the suitability of one form of care over another.

A home based care situation may provide a developmental stepping-stone for the child who has never been away from home or mum before. It will allow the child to feel secure and confident when later they are introduced to a centre with many boisterous children and multiple carers which could otherwise be overwhelming.

Alternatively, a centre can provide much needed space for play and exploration with activities for confident or very active children.

Parents have a right to know how their child is fitting in and developing. This feedback helps allay parental anxiety and feel confident in their child's progress.

Family Day Care field workers and centre staff are happy to share their observations of children so don't hesitate to ask. It may be good to set a separate time to chat rather than at hectic drop-off and pick-up times.

Council staff want to help make your return to work as smooth as possible and are available to discuss any aspect of securing child care that concerns you.

A Guide to Child Care

1

At Home with Grandparent or Relative

SUITS: All pre-school children, including handicapped.

Advantages

- Well known caregiver in child's own home,
- No need for child to travel in morning or night,
- Individual attention,
- Older or younger siblings can be included,
- No exclusion due to illness of child,
- Less expensive arrangement.

Disadvantages

- May become too physically demanding,
- Lack of interaction with other children,
- Ability to provide physical/intellectual stimulation may be limited,
- Family problems, disagreements over discipline, or illness may mean sudden end to care,
- Can feel imposing if continues over long period.

CONSIDER: Agreement on payment or exchange of services.

3

Care in Home of Friend, Private Minder etc.

• Carer not reliant on single family for income,

• Transport to playgroups/kinder possible.

Disadvantages.

- No assurance of care standards or stimulation,
- Possible exclusion when child ill,
- Parental responsibility in selection and assessment of suitability of carer and environment, Disagreements may mean finding alternative care quickly.

CONSIDER: Note that private carer minding more than five children must be registered as child minding centre; check out environment for safe play and sleep areas, adequacy of supervision with large numbers.

Family Day Care

A home-based child care service using registered community women who work in their own home. Caregivers limited to total of four pre-schoolers at one time.

SUITS: Most children including infants from six weeks, particularly those who have not been away from home before and some handicapped children.

Advantages.

- Vetting and supervision of caregivers by Council.
- Staff try to 'match' parent and child with a choice of caregivers who can meet that need with regard to locality, hours, language etc.

• The council provides equipment and some toys.

• Flexible hours, including early morning and evening.

• Playgroups and other activities including in-service training available to caregiver.

• Staff monitor and report on child's settling and progress and can assist with problems.

• Federal fee relief subsidies available.

• Relatively inexpensive — several families provide caregiver with her income.

Back-up assistance in case of emergency or caregiver ceasing.

Disadvantages.

• Child may be excluded when ill.

• Caregiver may become unavailable due to illness or move.

• If parent has no transport, vacancies may not be close enough.

• Parents with older children may feel there's not enough activities and stimulation.

• Pick up from school or kinder may be difficult to arrange.

Day Care (Child Care) Centre/Creche

SUITS: Age depends on licence of centre. Some availability babies to two years, generally more suited to healthy, independent and outgoing children over two years. Some availability at Council Centres for handicapped.

Advantages.

- Large group situation good, particularly for children comfortable with leaving home and mum.
- Can provide stimulating environment and activities.
- Should have trained staff.
- Permanent arrangement — relievers available when staff ill.
- Good preparation for kinder/school.
- Indoor and outdoor play space and equipment.
- Fee relief for single parents and low income families at Council-sponsored centres.

Disadvantages

- May be overwhelming for a young or shy child.
- May not have vacancy if need care on short notice or have long waiting list.
- Very young children and toddlers may require more intense one to one supervision.
- Children will be excluded if ill.
- Can involve travelling if no vacancies or centres nearby.
- Can be expensive if not eligible for fee relief.

CONSIDER: Check if parent involvement at centre required; clarify policy on payments when away ill or on holidays; does centre have 'open' family groups or age specific groups; overall size of centre and training and experience of staff.

Kindergarten

Available to four year old only, except at private kinders. Limited availability of extended hours (9am-3pm). Kinders are independent and have their own booking procedure.

Advantages.

- Provides stimulating structural activities on sessional basis.
- Good preparation for school.
- Good for older children who have 'outgrown' playgroups.

Disadvantages.

- Short two and half hour sessions preclude working.
- May require travel if kinder not close by.
- CONSIDER: May be able to use in conjunction with child care centre or Family Day care if transport can be arranged — but this may be difficult.

7

Before and After School Care

• Generally used by early primary school children.

• Can be arranged through: program at school, a community program, Family Day Care caregiver nearby or another parent at the same school. Check with your child's school.

• Murrumbeena C.W.A.'s 38th Birthday Party

It was a wonderful occasion for over 200 members from a variety of CWA groups. But, what a celebration too of local acting and singing talent. It was a terrific afternoon of entertainment in the form of small plays, duets, large choreographed dance, drama and singing by the Murrumbeena group.

I know it was a private celebration but as a visitor, along with Kerry Gavin of the Murrumbeena Historical Awareness Project, I'd like to say thank-you (and it's amazing what goes on in Murrumbeena on a mid-week afternoon!)

• Amateur Musicians Talent Contest

Adrian Kosky of Fat Bob's Cafe is once again encouraging local musicians to air their talents in his Sunday evening entertainment. This contest goes until November 25. The prize is a Maton guitar. So ring Adrian on 523 9054 if you wish to be included.

• Local Artists of All Media

Are you registered yet on the Local Artists or Arts Tutors Register? A form can be gained from Liz Clay, P.O. Box 42, South Caulfield, 3162, or ring 524 3333.

The updated register is now in Caulfield's libraries and holds over 270 names.

As a result of the register CLAN (Caulfield Local Artists Network) has been formed. It's an organisation aimed at supporting and linking local amateurs and professional artists.

Weekly meetings will start in October at the Caulfield Arts Centre on Thursdays from 7.30-9.00 pm. All are welcome. Ring Vicki on 523 6960 or Judy 531 4451 for details.

• Treasures Day at Rosstown Court Senior Citizens Hostel

Thanks go to St Patrick's Primary School Grade 4 and 5 students and their teachers Mrs Green and Mrs Whelan for a friendly and informal afternoon of songs and conversation at the hostel.

The children took along something they treasured most and were soon eagerly exchanging information with residents about being a child in earlier times!

Perhaps other projects like this could be developed with other groups and schools in the area?

• Sculpture Seminar in Caulfield

For amateurs and professionals a week long seminar from January 20-26, 1986 in Princes Park, Caulfield. Learn how to wax mould, rubber mould, bronze cast. Organisers are Art Works in Bronze. Contact 528 5693 or 528 2935.

Updating the '86 Guide

The Community Liaison section of the Caulfield Council is currently updating information to be included in next year's community resource guide.

The response to the mail-out of computer sheets to various groups and organisations has been good with most of the 1700 entries returned.

If you haven't sent back your updated sheet yet, then there is still time to get the information into the Council.

If you have sent back your sheet and further changes occur in the next couple of months then please let us know so that the information can be updated for the resource guide.

Each entry in the resource guide will receive a copy of the booklet when it is available early next year. Likewise, all properties in the City of Caulfield will have a resource guide delivered.

If you have any enquiries please telephone Sonja King on 524 3259.

Bicycle Parking Improvements

Uniform design standards are now available for bicycle storage and parking facilities which will make their use more attractive to cyclists.

Studies had shown that accessibility and security are the main reasons for cyclists deciding whether or not to use bicycle parking facilities.

Poorly-sited facilities are left unused by cyclists who then make their own arrangements — often obstructing footpaths and doorways.

The new standards are detailed in a Bicycle Information Kit produced by the State Bicycle Committee.

The kit will be made available to public and private organisations involved in the construction of public centres, such as shopping centres and railway stations.

The adoption of standard guidelines will help to reduce the number of bicycles stolen. About 13,000 bicycles are stolen each year. Police arrests confirm that thieves with bolt cutters can easily steal bicycles secured by light chains.

The Bicycle Committee has also produced a comprehensive manual, 'The Planning and Design of Bicycle Facilities', for use by municipal councils and State authorities.

The guidelines will be an important aid for improving the quality of the cycling environment. Both on-road and off-road facilities are included, catering for child and adult commuter cyclists and for recreation.

Copies of the Bicycle Information Kit and the Planning and Design of Bicycle Facilities Manual are available by telephoning 619 6666.

COMMUNITY ACCESS

Teenagers and Foster Care

Foster Care South East have recently been asked to find families who would be willing to provide care on an extended basis for a number of older children.

Margie is a thirteen-year-old girl. Her mother lives interstate and is unlikely to make a home for her in the future, so Margie would like to belong to a family where there are older teenagers or grown up children. Margie is a bright, capable, attractive girl who does well at school and enjoys reading and jazz ballet. She needs to feel she belongs to someone during her insecure years of adolescence.

David is 14 years old and his mother also lives interstate. He writes to her but he has not lived with her since he was very young. David is very keen to be like other boys and to belong with a family where there are other children. David is a quiet boy who is doing well at school and he has a good sense of fun.

Peter is 12 years old and has had many disruptions in his early life. He has infinite patience with little children, but has problems with friendships with his own age group. Peter struggles at school and lacks confidence in himself. He needs a family who can offer him firm guidelines and lots of encouragement.

If you would be interested in helping with any of these children or want more information about foster care in general, please contact Joanna Eccleston or John Koronis on 568 2599.

Guiding Movement 75 Years Old

In 1985, the Girl Guide Association celebrates its 75th birthday.

It all began on September 4, 1909 at Earl's
 Court in London, when Robert Baden-Powell held a rally for his Boy Scouts, and twelve intrepid girls turned up.

They demanded to be allowed to join the boys, so Robert asked his sister, Agnes Baden-Powell to form a separate movement for girls.
 The Girl Guide Movement was started the following year.

From these humble beginnings the Movement has grown. There are now eight million girls who enjoy guiding around the world. The Guide Movement offers girls fun and friendship. It teaches them new skills, and a chance to enjoy the great outdoors.

It offers them a challenge to develop their full potential, and helps them to become self-confident. Most importantly, the girls are taught to care for others.

The Caulfield Elsternwick District currently has vacancies for Leaders in the Girl Guide Movement. To be a good leader you must first of all enjoy working with girls.

The Brownies range in age from seven to 11 years, and the Guides from 11 to 14 years.
 Leaders must be caring, dedicated, responsible and reliable ladies, over 17 years of age.

They do not need any prior knowledge of the Movement, training and uniforms are provided.

The group does not ask Leaders to give any money to the Movement, only their time.

If you feel you reach their standards and would like to accept the challenge of Guiding, please contact the District Commissioner, Mrs
 Wendy Musgrave on 523 6270 (evenings).

Consumer Protection Laws Break all Records

Public complaints to the Consumer Affairs Minister in Victoria have leapt in recent years as consumers become increasingly more aware of their rights under the law.

Consumers are not tolerating unscrupulous business practices and are standing up for themselves in the knowledge that there is a Consumer Affairs Ministry that will take up their cause.

The last financial year was the most successful for enforcement since the commencement of the Victorian Government's role in Consumer Affairs in 1972.

Thirty-nine defendants were successfully prosecuted on a total of 289 charges. This resulted in fines or bonds of $18,865 being imposed, together with $8043 in costs.

This contrasts with prosecutions in the 1983/84 financial year of 12 defendants on 33 charges.

Multicultural Resources for Schools

The Australian Institute of Multicultural Affairs and the Victorian Education Department have undertaken a joint project to help further awareness among school children of the many different kinds of people who make up Australia's 15 million population.

An educational display of 150 items, including films, books, posters, kits, journals and bibliographies, has been put together by the Institute and Child Migrant Education Services of the Department.

The aim of the project is to encourage teachers to familiarise themselves with the curriculum materials that are currently available, and which have been specifically designed to interest children, teachers and school communities.

The materials cover a broad range of curriculum areas, including Social Studies, History, Geography, Politics, Sociology and Inter-Cultural Studies.

Children can learn about the different lifestyles of Australian families and recognise that there is not one 'standard' for family life.

The display will be open at the Caulfield/Oakleigh Education Support Centre, Clayton West Primary School, Alvina St, Oakleigh South from October 14-25. Contact Ms Heather Jones Tel. 544 9508 for further information.

RECREATION AND LEISURE

LEISURE LINES

by David Melvin, Co-ordinator of Leisure Services.

A Case for Modified Rules in Children's Sport

The March issue of Leisure Lines canvassed the problems experienced by young children participating in competitive sporting activities using the rules and facilities designed originally for adults.

Since that article was written, the Department of Sport and Recreation has published a new booklet called 'Children in Sport'.

The booklet emphasises the point that children's sport should aim to maximise participation, skill development and enjoyment for all children.

Modification

The 'adult' model in sport is not necessarily the most appropriate model for children to follow. Consideration should therefore be given to modifying the rules to match the capabilities of the children involved.

The booklet quotes the following modifications as examples:

Size of Playing Area

Fields, courts and pitches are often so large that children take too long to get from one end to the other and thus scoring is more difficult. So why not scale down the size of the playing area to more realistic proportions? This will not diminish the development and acquisition of skills by the participants — it will simply save a lot of unnecessary running.

Equipment

Bats, racquets and sticks are normally made in small sizes for children. However, there appears to be a reluctance to change the size and composition of balls, the size and height of goals etc. Why not take advantage of existing possibilities and use a softer ball in cricket, for example, and thereby reduce the risk of injury?

Duration of the Game

Remember, the concentration span of children can be relatively short, unless they are enjoying themselves. So why not shorten the duration of the game and use quick change-overs so everyone can participate?

The Case for Modification

The booklet concludes that there are significant benefits to be gained from the modification of children's sport. In particular:

- Modification emphasises skill development by all children, not just the gifted few. After all, it's playing the game that matters, not whether you win or lose.
- Modified rules create games that can ensure the same child does not sit on the interchange bench week after week.
- Modification, in association with good coaching and teaching, can raise the likelihood of continual involvement, because the teachers should therefore aim to match expectations with individual capabilities.

Associations

The booklet concludes by listing the Sporting Associations in Victoria that promote the use of modified rules. The booklet is therefore of value to parents looking for sporting activities for their own children, as well as for coaches and teachers who would like to learn more about the advantages to be gained from modifying the rules for children's sport.

The booklet is free and can be obtained from the Department of Sport and Recreation by telephoning 606 3269 or by calling into the Department's head office on the 23rd floor of 570 Bourke St, Melbourne.

Commemorating a Great Horse

One of Australia's greatest racehorses, Carbine, was born 100 years ago and to commemorate his birth the Caulfield Racecourse Museum is holding an exhibition of memorabilia.

The special display will run for the duration of the Melbourne Spring Racing Carnival and includes many paintings and photographs of Carbine and his progeny. The Museum of Victoria has lent out Carbine's skeleton for the exhibition and there is a host of other material associated with the horse's career.

The Museum and the exhibition is open to the public free of charge on Tuesdays and Thursdays and on Caulfield race days. During Melbourne Cup Week the Museum will be open on the Monday, Wednesday and Friday.

kgs, from 39 runners in race record time. This weight carrying record still stands today and his time record stood for 30 years.

At stud he sired Wallace, a champion racehorse who later was to prove one of the greatest horses ever to stand at stud in Australia.

His other feature race winners in Australia included Amberite, La Carabine, Charge, Playaway, Defence and many more.

After serving only four years at stud in Australia, Carbine was sold to England where he was to sire many top horses, the best of which was Spearmint, who won an English Derby.

Spearmint later sired a

Derby winner in Spionkop, who in turn sired Felstead who also won an English Derby.

This record for a sire line producing three successive English Derby winners was only repeated this year with Slip Anchor, Shirley Heights and Millreef.

Carbine's influence today extends worldwide. It has been said that over 70% of all horses racing today carry some of Carbine's blood.

The Racecourse Museum is open from 10am-4pm. Parking is available by entering through Gate 22 off Station Street, opposite the Caulfield Station. Enquiries regarding the exhibition to Hon. Sec. Dale Monteith, telephone 572 1111.

Cricketers Needed

It may not be common knowledge that the Carnegie Cricket Club was founded in 1907, making it one of the longest established cricket clubs in the metropolitan area.

The club was formerly a driving force in the V.J.C.A. senior division competition, especially in the post-war years.

The ground at Koorang Park was shared with the powerful Carnegie Football Club in those days.

In the 1980s many new people and families have moved into the locality. The Carnegie Cricket Club is eager to attract men and boys who play cricket or who wish to play.

The original grandstand and pavilion are still there. The interior has been refurbished. The picturesque turf ground is fenced and has off-street parking bays.

All-weather practice facilities are available for the club's use. Needless to say, most cricket clubs do not have these excellent facilities.

Below, the members of the Carnegie Cricket Club in 1936 as premiers of the V.J.C.A.

Athletics Invitation

The Glenhuntly Women's Amateur Athletic Club is eagerly awaiting the commencement of the coming athletics season on October 12 and is keen to hear from anyone interested in joining.

The well established club, which competes at Duncan McKinnon Park on Saturday afternoons,

The Club's first and second XIs play in the V.J.C.A. Central 1 and 2 turf competition. In all, the club fields three turf teams and one matting side.

Members of the club are very friendly and all new players will be made most welcome. The club is very much a cosmopolitan club with experienced players and those with little experience — either is acceptable.

The club is also interested in securing the services of two professional cricketers. Pace bowlers, all-rounders or top batsmen are what the club has in mind.

Enquiries are most welcome at any time. Contact Publicity Officer and Vice President, Max Fitzsimmons, Tel. 557 5130 (H) or 608 2981 (B) or attend training on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 5.00pm at Koorang Park Reserve.

Record Winner
