

Child Care will be Affected by Funding Cuts

The Commonwealth Government has announced changes in child care funding that will have serious consequences for families using child care centres operated by Caulfield Council.

This reduced funding, which was originally announced at budget time will result in significantly higher fees for many of the families using Council child care facilities.

Fees to rise

General purpose grants have been cut by approximately 65%. This will result in fee increases of about $20 per week for at least 1/3 of all families using this care. To reduce the effect of these changes on low income families however, the special needs subsidies have been increased. Families with combined incomes of up to $225 weekly will pay an additional $2 to $5 per week for child care.

Caulfield Council is heavily involved in the provision of child care services and has three centres (Caulfield, Ormond and Murrumbidgee), offering a total of 84 full day care places. It will be significantly affected by the cutbacks and it is clear that the changes will, over time, require some rationalisation of its child care programme.

New Centre still opening on time

In spite of obvious problems, the Council has resolved to open its new child care centre in Carnegie on schedule. The new 35 place centre, which was funded by the Council and State and Commonwealth Government funding, will meet an urgent need in the Carnegie area.

The major problem with these changes is that they have come without reasonable notice and are to become operational in April 1986. This is in spite of the Council only recently reaching agreement on another funding formula.

More time needed

It is clear that more time for negotiation and possible modification to the funding arrangements is needed. Many of the objectives of the Commonwealth programme are laudable. They suggest that the new arrangements introduce greater fairness and equity into the programme and allow for the creation of more child care places.

Whilst this is probably true the additional places appear to be at the expense of the quality of care in the existing child care centres.

Council Seeking Co-operation of Garbage Collectors

— new rounds to start Monday, December 9, 1985

Since the introduction of the Mobile Garbage Bin System in 1980, residents have welcomed the ease with which they are able to dispose of household garbage.

The Council agreed, at that time, to allow up to five years for the present system to settle in. This allowed for the establishment of a recycling programme for paper and glass.

The City of Caulfield was the first municipality in Australia to install the 'Big Bin' system for removal of household waste. There was no previous experience to call on and although the system was implemented after much research there was no guarantee that it would be without flaws.

Recently, in an effort to make the system more economical for ratepayers and to absorb the ever-increasing costs, new rounds were proposed. The two-shift collection rounds would be combined in one shift and an additional truck used.

This would result in a reduction in the roster required to do the work. The nine men affected have been offered early retirement payment by the Council or the option to be redeployed to the maintenance section of the workforce.

Over the past five years garbage collectors have only needed to work an average of 3 1/2 hours per day to complete their workload. Under the new system the men are being asked to work a normal workday of up to 7 1/2 hours, although it is expected that the new rounds could be completed well within that time.

Co-operation sought

The current collection team has shown resistance to these proposals and in fact has not been emptying all the bins. The Council has continued during this time however, to remove this waste with as little delay as possible.

There have been long discussions with the Unions and men and the problem has been heard by the Conciliation & Arbitration Commission. No agreement has been reached, but the Council has complied with all rulings handed down at these hearings.

It is imperative that Council implement the new garbage rounds as soon as possible and has set the date at Monday, December 9th, 1985. A pamphlet detailing all round changes will be distributed to households in the City.

The Council hopes that the men involved will understand the situation that has arisen and recognise the need for a more cost effective garbage collection system.

If, with the commencement of the new rounds, the problem is escalated, rather than solved, the Council would like to assure residents that it will do its best to minimise any inconvenience that may arise.

Threatened Closure of Central Schools

Madam

As a product of the central school system and a parent of children presently progressing through the central school system, might I express my alarm at proposals, presently being discussed, which could lead to the closure of central schools.

It appears that enrolments in high schools at year 7 level are significantly down, throughout the Melbourne metropolitan area, whilst demand for central schools exceeds the number of places available. It seems a strange application of logic to conclude that it is more appropriate to abolish central schools so as to provide adequate numbers of students for high schools than to increase the number of central schools to meet the demand of the parents.

The move from primary to secondary education requires a significant adjustment in children's lives, especially at a time when many of them are entering puberty. The great advantage of the central school is that it provides secondary education in a small and personable environment where children of 12 and 13 years do not have to mingle with children of 17 and 18 years within the school yard or the school corridors. It enables the children to mature significantly in their educational pursuits before having to tackle the rigours of the senior years of high school.

In my view, any move towards the abolition of central schools should be avoided, or if at the very least, some rationalisation of the resources is needed, then high schools should be split into, say, years 7, 8 and 9 situated at one location, and years 10, 11 and 12 situated at another. Concern must however be had for the need to limit the amount of travel required for students to and from their homes.

Joseph Kay, Caulfield.

Madam —

I am disturbed to learn of the threatened closure of central schools in Victoria, and in particular, Caulfield North Central School, where my son is, at present, a student.

I feel central schools should be retained for the following reasons:

1. It is far better for 12 year-olds to attend a central school rather than go straight to a high school where they immediately come into contact with "more worldly" 17 and 18 year-olds, to the possible detriment of the youngsters who are a little more mature at 14 year-old level to mix with older students.

2. Going to a high school often involves considerably more travelling, again, possibly a hardship to younger students.

3. Caulfield North has a fine record for quality of teachers and quality of education and a high standard of discipline maintained there, so necessary for the well-being of children in their early teens.

Objections to Elsternwick Project

Madam

We refer to your article "No Secrecy in Elsternwick", published in "Caulfield Contact", November 6th, 1985 on page 4.

As ratepayers, we believe we are entitled to expect that a communication "produced by the Caulfield Council for the residents of the City" would preserve some semblance of objectivity. We believe that the issue is one of lack of consultation with residents over a substantial change in plan.

The first proposal was placed before residents in the form of plans displayed in public places with opportunities to respond. The second proposal has been a few sentences describing the demolition of the post office and replacement by a floor level building. The first visual representation of the second proposal was a simplified sketch in the 'Caulfield Contact'. Plans of savings of $300,000 has been printed without any details of the methods used to arrive at these figures. We believe the issue is not one of "secrecy", rather that it is one of lack of consultation and two-way explanation.

One other issue in the article deserves comment. It is the unsubstantial assertion that "the voices of a few have been raised against the best interests of the majority of the community". We are curious as to just what "the best interests" actually means. Also, we would like to know how the views of the majority were obtained when the details of the second proposal were not made widely and publically available in a detailed form.

Probably the greatest weakness of the whole issue so far is that not enough options have been explored, at least in public. One other option might be to retain the present facade which is in keeping with the streetscape and build new facilities or offices behind it.

Caroline and John Rudolph, Elsternwick.

Madam

I am surprised that 'Caulfield Contact' should publish such an article as "No Secrecy in Elsternwick" which seems to justify an unpopular Council decision and to discourage those with legitimate objections. It would seem that you are attempting to stifle rather than encourage community discussion on this issue.

The previously well publicised proposal for the Elsternwick post office was, I believe, implicitly accepted by residents as an appropriate use for a public building which is of historical significance to the local area and at least of some architectural interest.

We now find that Council has decided to enter into a commercial redevelopment with scant references to the opinions of residents or, it appears, the community services involved. It seems that Council are bending over backwards to justify a scheme about which full details have not been publicised and public discussion discouraged.

This is surely not the way our local government representatives should treat their constituents.

Andrew Bunn, Elsternwick.

An earlier Caulfield statesman

Madam,

I read with interest, in the November issue of 'Caulfield Contact' that you were interested in "famous" people who once resided in the Caulfield district.

One of the most famous was Sir James Patterson. Sir James was born in Northumberland, England, in November 1833, the youngest son of Mr James Patterson, a district road inspector.

He was educated at a private school in Alnwick. In June 1852, he and his brother George sailed from England on the "Hebrides", arriving in Victoria at the end of October that year. A short time was spent in the goldfields, farming along the River Loddon, then later James Patterson settled in the Castle-maine district as a slaughterman.

In 1857 he married Miss Anna Merrick Walton. They had one daughter, Marion Rose Patterson. He became Mayor of Chewton, was elected to parliament in 1870-71 and knighted in 1894.

Sir James and Lady Patterson lived in Railway Parade, Murrumbena and named their home "Alnwick" (the name also given to another home they previously owned in Gray Street, St Kilda). His nephews were in business as auctioneers and land agents in Collins Street, Melbourne and known as "Patterson and Sons".

Lady Patterson, who was an invalid during the latter years of her life, died in Murrumbena in 1894. Sir James developed influenza and died in October, 1895. An extract from newspapers at that time stated that "they (Mr Shiels and Mr Carty Salmon, Legislative Assembly members) rang up his house and were staggered at being told that he had died 25 minutes before, at five minutes to three o'clock. The news spread like fire throughout the lobbies ... Sir John McIntyre, Mr Staughton and Mr McColl were overcome by the sudden loss of their old friend and comrade and broke into tears, while there were moist eyes everywhere".

Sir James's daughter and son-in-law, Mr Alfred Kaepfel, had nursed him up to the time of his death, and Dr Andrews made frequent calls. On the day of the funeral, thousands of people lined the streets to pay their last respects. The cortege started from Railway Parade, Murrumbena, at 1.00pm on Friday 1st November, after a burial service which was read by Rev T.H. Rust, the local Anglican vicar, in the presence of a small group of mourners.

The procession, which followed the four-horse hearse, with glass sides, showing the oak coffin, consisted of eight mourning coaches and three private carriages.

They proceeded to Melbourne General Cemetery along Dandenong Road to Fitzroy Street, St Kilda, then to Government House where the bulk of the mourners were waiting. At that point the length of the procession grew to over three-quarters of a mile long and the bells of St Paul's Cathedral tolled a solemn note.

Throughout Victoria, shop windows were shuttered, flags hung at half mast, and in Castlemaine the fire bell tolled at minute intervals.

At the time of his death, Sir James was leader of the Opposition. He was buried with his late wife near the Burke and Wills memorial and the inscription on the coffin read "James B. Patterson, K.C.M.G. — died 30th October, 1895 aged 61 years."

Mrs Faye Johnson, Researcher, Murrumbena.

Going to the dogs

Madam

When is the Council going to do something about dogs in the City? Sometime back, I remember, new laws were announced, heavier fines, etc., but the problem is getting worse all the time and one never sees anyone doing the 'rounds'.

In my street and the Gunn Reserve opposite, it is a real health hazard. I am fed up cleaning up my nature strip and if things don't improve I will not cut it or tend it in any way.

The "Garden City", what a joke — dogs paradise, more like it. What do other readers think?

M.J. Calden, Ormond.

P.S. The shopping centres are almost as bad.

Opportunity shop says "Thank You".

Madam

The Carnegie Elderly Citizen's Opportunity Shop in Rosstown Road, Carnegie, opened in March 1961. We are very happy to be able to let everybody know we have just reached $250,000 clear profit.

Our next project we are working for is a nursing home, in Caulfield, for our elderly folk.

Money raised in our shop has been used entirely for Caulfield projects.

The ladies at the shop wish to say "thank you" to the Council for their continued collection of goods and to the people of Caulfield who willingly donate and bring their donations to the shop.

My sincere thanks to all involved in the work, especially those volunteers who give so much of their valuable time.

We wish the residents of Caulfield a Merry Christmas, good health and happiness in the future.

Mrs J.M. Green, Carnegie Elderly Citizens' Opportunity Shop.

Disappointment

Madam

As an interested local resident and ratepayer, I regularly scour each edition of the 'Caulfield Contact' with great interest. However, I was most disappointed with the current edition dated Wednesday, 6th November, as at the time we received it, sometime around midday on Monday 11th November, some of the major events listed such as "Party in the Park for Victoria's 150th closing celebration" were well and truly over.

Since it is partly ratepayers' money that is producing the publication, we would appreciate receiving it a little more promptly.

This would not be the first time we have received it well after the publication date.

Maureen Austin, Murrumbena.

Editor's note:

The "Party in the Park" celebrating the closing of Victoria's 150th anniversary was well publicised in the previous issue of 'Caulfield Contact' because it was known that the party itself would probably coincide with delivery dates of the next edition.

Multi-Unit Policy Changed Little

The City of Caulfield has recently completed a comprehensive review of its residential multi-unit development policy. This policy was introduced following public consultation in March 1984.

In the first year of its adoption, has operated well. The policy allows a flexible approach in terms of both location and internal design of multi-unit development and determination of each proposal on its merits.

Whilst the density of unit development is negotiable and the market trend is towards smaller, low-cost units, it is interesting to note that in the year of review there was only an 8% increase in unit density per square metre of site.

Villa units, townhouses, flats and the placing of two houses on the one allotment are common variations of housing covered by the policy. Designs have varied widely as has the number of units per site.

Reduced front setbacks (distance from the road alignment) have become a frequent part of multi-unit proposals. The Council generally considers that this allows for more interesting street-scapes and better garden areas.

In presenting the review to Council the chairman of Council's Policy and Resources committee, Cr. Gillard said, "The Council has been provided with several reports from both the Town Planner and the City Manager regarding the review of the policy which, since its adoption, has operated well. The policy allows a flexible approach in terms of both location and internal design of multi-unit development and determination of each proposal on its merits."

Thanks were expressed to Cr. McPhee for the time he spent in preparation of a constructive criticism of the policy. This greatly assisted the committee in its deliberation.

The committee recommended only minor amendments to the policy. Basic matters of clarification and updating, in accordance with changed regulations, have been addressed. Clear directions with regard to advertising requirements, for units which don't conform with the policy, was also given.

"I would also wish to congratulate our Town Planner, Ms Cindy Wilson," said Cr. Gillard, "on her report on the policy and the energetic and successful way she has applied it in dealing with multi-unit developments."

To ensure that the Multi-Unit Development Policy keeps pace with changing community and Council requirements it will undergo an annual review.

Outer Circle Railway — Still An Issue

Excellent progress is being made with the linear park proposed for the Outer Circle Railway.

The Study Group set up by the State Government has carried out a physical inspection of the land between Caulfield and Kew.

Valuations of the land are being carried out before final arrangements about land ownership are made.

The Councils propose that the State Government make internal arrangements to retain the land if the Councils continue maintenance, development and management of the park.

News from Council

Soccer Club Requests Use of Princes Park

The Caulfield City Soccer Club has put forward a proposal to use the north eastern oval at Princes Park for six months of the year as a permanent home ground.

Promotion to the first division requires a fenced ground and the club has asked for permission to do this by continuing the existing fence around the H.G. Ritchie oval to enclose the area.

The club also requires a pavilion and is willing to donate $30,000 towards its construction — it will service the whole ground.

The Council has approved the project in principle.

Montessori Brief Adopted

Some objections to the Montessori Planning Brief were the possible traffic problems that could be generated in the street.

Only one objection was received however, and the Council adopted the Brief.

Oakleigh Road Traffic Petition

Petitioners have complained that speeding traffic is causing problems in Oakleigh Road. The Council has advised these residents that the problems will be investigated as part of a total traffic study of the whole local area.

Oakleigh Road, as a collector road, carries some 2,000 vehicles per day — no more than similar roads in the area. It does have a problem with speeding traffic at peak times, but it is no worse than Coorigal or Leila Roads.

The main function of Oakleigh Road is to distribute traffic between the neighbouring arterial roads, such as Koornang and Murrumbidgee Roads. It is considered that the installation of isolated traffic control measures would be inappropriate. Rather, it should be treated in conjunction with the whole local traffic area.

The priority of this area will be determined when the results of the current traffic studies, being undertaken in other parts of the City, are studied.

A Busy Time

You know yourselves just how much work has to be done around the garden at this time of year. It is no different for the Parks and Gardens people of the Council.

There are turf wickets to be prepared and ovals to be dressed for the cricket season. There are weeds to be sprayed, dead and dangerous trees to be removed, and power lines to be cleared.

Street trees and planter tubs need to be watered and my, how the grass grows these days! — it has to be cut too.

But then there are the carpenters, the flying gangs, and the works maintenance people. Roundabouts, traffic lights, and playground equipment must be maintained. Broken windows need replacing, barbecues have to be installed, and derelict vehicles have to be towed away.

Concrete slabs in footpaths that have raised and become dangerous need to be replaced.

It really is a busy time.

Opposition to Changes in the Act

The Council opposes the Road Traffic Authority's proposal to strike out a section of the Local Government Act which allows Councils to prohibit or restrict the use of streets by vehicles over a specific size or weight.

Prohibitions are only implemented, under this section of the Act, to avoid damage to the roads or the adverse effect on the amenity of the area caused by large vehicles.

This proposal has arisen as a direct result of the bans imposed by the Malvern Council in Wattle Tree Road.

Few Objections to Lauriston Liquor Licence

Although there is still concern over the problems associated with the use of the night lights at the Lauriston Tennis Club, only three objections to the club's application for a liquor licence have been received.

The application was advertised and has now been considered by the Council. After a considerable discussion, the Council has decided not to object to the proposal, but has requested limited hours of operation.

A Growing Problem

It is a sad fact, but true, that many older people find it more and more difficult to care for themselves. Senility may also reduce awareness of the need for a healthy life style.

The Council Health

Surveyors and Social Workers both become involved when a situation like this arises.

In the last month or so no less than four such instances of unsanitary living conditions were discovered.

The houses can often be found full of rubbish and putrescible matter. There is frequently evidence of vermin and of personal neglect. The people themselves are often unaware of the fact that they are living in such hazardous circumstances.

In all these cases the Council carries out a thorough cleaning of the premises and welfare services are arranged through the community development department at the City Hall.

The Frying Squad

A new system for testing the rancidity of fat was recently brought into effect. It gives the Council the ability to test the fat used in deep fryers of take-away food stores and other food preparation establishments.

In recent tests, 31% of those visited needed to replace the fat that was being used.

Continuing these tests will ensure that the fat being used by the proprietors of these places is of a proper standard and thus reduce the number of complaints that are received — quite apart from maintaining the health of the community.

Oops! Sorry about those Rate Notices

There is no truth in the rumour that the rate notices were a 'cover-up' job.

The Council did not really intend ratepayers to suffer eyestrain when trying to read their rate notices. It was all a big mistake. Something went wrong with the directions that the printer received.

The Council would like to apologise for any inconvenience caused to ratepayers who had difficulty deciphering the yellow print on their rate notices.

SWIMMING POOLS — Cleanliness and Safety

REMEMBER — a well maintained pool is a safe pool and if it is to be used as originally designed, i.e. exercise, relaxation and enjoyment, the following guidelines need to be followed:

WATER CLEANLINESS

Failure to maintain a proper water balance may result in a rapid reproduction of organisms in the water. This may be dangerous to health and harmful to equipment.

For this reason you must know about Chlorine, pH and Alkalinity, and understand how this knowledge can keep your pool clean.

SAFETY AROUND THE POOL

Safety is the avoidance of any type of injury at all and not just the worst accident which might happen. The following list could be longer but it is a helpful collection of safety hints.

1. Don't leave young children unattended near a pool — even when they are using floatation toys or swimming aids.

2. A pole with a blunt hook or a buoyant aid on a rope should be readily available near the pool.

3. Have a working knowledge of resuscitation methods and first aid to be applied in the case of apparent drowning.

4. Provide a durable resuscitation instruction chart prominently displayed in the pool area with a list of emergency telephone numbers, e.g. doctor, ambulance.

5. Never leave objects near pool centres that would allow children to stand on them and climb over.

6. Never leave floating objects in the pool because these can often attract young children.

7. Never leave glass objects near the pool — broken glass is very difficult to locate on the bottom of a swimming pool.

8. Never swim alone and don't mix alcohol and swimming.

9. Don't try to swim long distances under water and don't hyperventilate prior to swimming (deep breathing prior to swimming can cause loss of consciousness).

10. Don't swim after a large meal.

11. Don't swim when you are overheated or over tired or when the water is particularly cold.

12. Don't prop open self closing gates or safety ladders.

13. Do not allow extension power leads, plugs and sockets near the pool area.

14. Ensure that any overhead wires are well clear of the pool, out of reach of long handles on swimming pool equipment.

15. Do not use operated electrical appliances — that is radios, T.V., etc in wet locations or near the pool.

16. Maintain the security of the pool by regularly checking any gates and ensuring that the fences are in good condition.

17. Always empty splashers or wading pools when they are not being used.

18. Don't allow running or rough play in pool areas.

19. Exercise extreme caution when diving from the decking and only dive at the deep end.

20. Keep out of the water during rain storms or electrical storms.

21. Insist that neighbours' children, who use the pool while you are not present, have their own adult supervision.

Any enquiries about pool safety or water cleanliness should be directed to the Health Department at the Caulfield City Offices, telephone 524 3333.

Chlorine

This attacks the bacteria and kills it. It reacts with the ammonia from the body excretions, such as perspiration and urine, and forms what are called Chloramines. These react with organic materials such as Algae.

Remember, when they are formed, it is the Chloramines that cause eye irritation and the "unpleasant" Chlorine odour, so often noticeable. If this occurs it means that the Chlorine has been used up and more needs to be added.

pH

This is a measurement of how acidic or alkaline a liquid is. It is measured on a scale from 1 to 14. Pure water is determined as being 7. Any number below 7 means the liquid is acidic and the lower the number the more acidic it is. Any number higher than 7 is alkaline and similarly, the higher the number the more alkaline the liquid.

pH is important, because it often determines how far and how fast a reaction goes. You should keep your pool pH in the range from 7.2 to 7.6. If the pH is too high you must add an acid — usually Hydrochloric acid. Conversely if the pH is too low or acidic, you must add an alkaline substance, such as soda ash.

Total Alkalinity

This is a measure of the alkaline material in the water and is measured as parts per million (p.p.m.). This controls the amount of pH change and it acts as a 'buffer' or resists change. Sodium bicarbonate is often used to raise that total alkalinity.

Caulfield to Join New Body

The City of Caulfield will join the newly constituted Metropolitan Municipal Association.

Until recently Caulfield retained membership of the Municipal Association of Victoria. However, the Council was not happy with the way the M.A.V. had handled major local government issues particularly those with metropolitan Victoria, to act effectively and responsibly. The M.M.A. will be a representative body of local government promoting effective inter-government co-operation.

For the time being it operates out of St. Kilda City Offices but will obviously have to establish independent headquarters in the long term.

An Education Role for the Holocaust Centre

'Art and Holocaust' would seem to be a contradiction in terms. Yet some inmates of ghettos and concentration camps succeeded in creating works of art in conditions where daily survival alone demanded supreme efforts and strength of spirit.

Late in August, the museum hosted a visit by a noted historian and authority on the Holocaust, Professor Yehuda Bauer. He is a lecturer on anti-semitism at the Hebrew University in Jerusalem and presented a number of public lectures at the Elsternwick Centre.

In March, this year, the museum became a member of the Melbourne Tourism Authority, and is now listed with them. They entered the 'Museum of the Year Award' but although they did not win, were given an excellent report by the judges.

Can you help?

Foster care southeast urgently needs three special families to care for the following children:

Mark, nearly 2 years old. He has brown hair, blue eyes and a bright smile. Mark's parents care for him very much but because of health problems are unable to look after him. But they would want to have regular contact with him.

Mark is a cautious, sensitive little boy. He is very alert, and learns rapidly in new situations. Mark has spent many months in a children's home and needs a gentle, caring family who will be able to help him reach his full potential.

Andrew is a tall, slim boy with olive complexion and a very warm smile. He has a pleasant, appealing personality and a good sense of humour. He describes himself as being an 'outdoor's man' and he particularly enjoys playing football. Andrew would be best suited to a family where he would be the youngest child.

Tony is a bright, happy little boy, who recently had his 3rd birthday. He needs a family who would be willing to care for him for approximately 12 months with a possibility of permanent care if his parents are unable to have him with them at the end of this time.

Tony's family have a southern European background and he has inherited their olive complexion and big, brown eyes. Tony is an outgoing little boy and he easily amuses himself. He particularly enjoys playing with cars and playful wrestling.

A floral tribute to the Royal Couple — local artist called on

The recent visit of the Prince and Princess of Wales was a particularly memorable event for Caulfield resident Jill Summers.

Jill, who has lived in Caulfield for 22 years, is a well-known floral artist and has a florist business in Glenhuntingly Road. Along with Colin Turner, who has a similar business in Melbourne, she was responsible for mounting one of the finest floral displays ever seen in Australia.

This spectacular event was held in Melbourne's Royal Botanic Gardens and was presented in honour of the royal couple.

A large marquee on Fountain Island in the gardens' ornamental lake housed displays of flowers from the mountains, native plants, ferns, glass house, poolside and herbarium plants and 40 exotic flower stands, each 20 ft. high.

The centrepiece of the Highnesses the Prince and Princess of Wales signing the visitors' book during their visit display was a three-tiered cake made entirely from 4,999 fresh blooms. There should have been 5,000 blooms but the Prince decided that one of the white carnations that made up the cake would be perfect for his buttonhole.

It was Jill's responsibility to escort the Prince and Princess of Wales around this wonderful exhibit, prepared as a salute to Victoria's 150th anniversary. The cake was then cut with an antique Victorian infantry sword handed to the Prince by Mrs Summers. The Princess received a posy made from authentic Victorian native flowers.

Jill Summers is a past chairman of Interflora and is the first florist in Australia to hold an Interflora diploma in judging. She has judged and demonstrated throughout Australia, New Zealand and South Africa and the government horticulture colleges in Victoria have benefited from her teaching of the finer points of design work.

Jill's greatest dream is to see a flower show in Melbourne similar to the well-known Chelsea flower show held annually in England.

Legal Interpreting Service Launched

Victoria's legal interpreting service was launched recently by the Minister for Ethnic Affairs, Peter Spyker and the Attorney-General, Jim Kennan. This service is the first to be run on a fully professional basis by specially trained personnel. It will operate on a 24-hour basis, seven days per week.

The first 25 interpreters in the service have completed a course covering topics such as the law, police, the court system, the legal commission, the office of collections, interpreting and ethics, and the legal status of interpreters. The course included a substantial practical fieldwork component.

The availability of registered interpreters in all languages will ensure equal opportunity of access to the legal system for everyone and will go a long way to reducing past inadequacies.

The new service will avoid past situations where non-English speaking people, appearing before a court or being questioned by police, had to rely on unaccredited interpreters. This was an intolerable situation which had the potential for undermining the course of justice.

An inadequate understanding of legal procedures and language barriers often prevented people from fully exercising their rights or hindered police in their investigations.

The service will be administered by the Victorian Ethnic Affairs Commission and it is hoped that it will be extended to other departments and agencies in the future.

Courses for interpreters wishing to register with the service will continue to be available. In-service training will also be provided.

IDENTIKID BUS AT LOCAL SCHOOLS

The Lions Club of Carnegie has been working in the City of Caulfield to provide identity cards for many of the school children.

1,153 children from St Patrick's, Holy Cross, St Aloysius and St Anthony's Primary Schools, the Glenhuntly, Caulfield North, Murrumbena and Carnegie Primary Schools and the Ormond Special School received their identikid cards in one week.

Should a child be missing from home, then the cards will enable parents to provide police with an up-to-date, accurate, physical, medical and photographic description. It is hoped that this will assist in the speedy return of the child without the undue delays that can occur with inaccurate descriptions.

The identikid programme should provide parents with greater security, but also reinforce the need for them to know the whereabouts of their children at all times. They will also be reminded of the need to continually instruct their children in the basic precautions that need to be followed in day to day life.

The Lions Identikid Programme is sponsored by ACMAL (marketers of Western Star butter and Bega cheese), Polaroid Australia and radio station 3 MP.

YOUTH WELFARE

The DOXA youth welfare foundation is a voluntary, non-dominational organisation which conducts educational and recreational activities for over 3,000 underprivileged children each year.

It was formed in 1973 by a group of Melbourne business and professional men who share the genuine and growing concern for the present and future welfare of less fortunate young people in the community.

The word 'DOXA' is from the Greek language and means 'greatness'.

The group is anxious to advise schools, recreation, welfare and community agencies of the service it provides.

On a twelve acre site at Malmsbury, on the Loddon River, children from high rise housing estates, inner suburban areas, and various institutions, are able to enjoy educational activities in a rural environment. For most of these children this is their first experience of a country holiday.

Programmes at 602 1769.

Malmsbury include astronomy studies (with the aid of an observatory telescope), pottery, arts, craft and drama. Many would have virtually no other opportunity to participate in these activities in their home environment. They encourage self expression and confidence.

The camp is a remarkable success. It is fully booked for 12 months ahead. So great is the need that the time has come to establish a second camp — this time at the seaside.

If you would like to know more about DOXA, get involved in their programme, or perhaps send a donation towards the work of the group, contact DOXA Youth Welfare Foundation, telephone

"Postie Alert" for Aged and Disabled

Elderly and disabled people are now able to register their names, together with emergency contacts, at a central register point and the "posties" will look out for them.

Posties are the only people who still call door-to-door on a regular basis. Under the new "Postmen and Postwomen's Alert" scheme, posties will look for uncollected mail and newspapers, or any sign indicating that something may not be right.

If anything is amiss, the posties will then contact the central agency, who will follow it up.

The scheme was launched by Mr. White in the cities of Essendon and Bairnsdale, with the Domiciliary Services Department of Essendon Council and the Social Work Department of the Gippsland Geriatric Centre as the central registry points.

Pamphlets containing details of the scheme and a registration form were distributed by posties in the two trial areas on September 3 and 9.

If it's news, tell us!

Bank gets into the race

Suburban Railway Lines to be Upgraded

The state government will spend $8.2 million this year to upgrade overhead wiring on suburban railway lines and a similar amount on suburban track upgrading.

Some overhead wiring was installed as far back as the 1920s and has not been fully maintained or upgraded since that time. Overhead equipment on the Frankston line has already been replaced and rehabilitation of the Dandenong/Caulfield line is due to be completed in early November. Work on the Sandringham line is due to be completed early next year and the Ringwood/Richmond line by mid-1986.

The failure of the overhead equipment has proved a major problem for the government in its aim to improve the reliability of metropolitan trains.

Don't invite a burglar in

Here are a dozen "Don'ts" that will help to protect your home while you are away. Remember, housebreakers spend an average of only ten minutes inside a home — just long enough to shatter your peace of mind.

Community Arts Snippets

by Liz Clay, Community Arts Officer

• Fibrecraft and Party in the Park Postcards — With some great weather and a lot of goodwill from all who either came along or provided entertainment, the party in the park on November 10th was great fun. In saying farewell to the Victorian 150th year we also finalised the Community Arts Fibrecraft Project. It has been operating in Caulfield for the last two years and some 20 artists have worked in the City with all sorts of groups.

Thanks go to those artists and the project co-ordinator, Erica Wright, for their creative inspirations. Many pieces of work have been produced by residents working with artists in a variety of skills. To celebrate four of these works, postcards have been made of the Caulfield Quilt, the Chinese Dragon, the Caulfield Map, and the Murrumbidgee Map. They make very fine mementos of the work, but also would be excellent Christmas or greeting cards from Caulfield for anyone living here. They are on sale at 50c each from the City Hall or the Caulfield Art Centre.

So please have a look at them. They are something to be proud of.

The Mayor of Caulfield, Cr Max Blair, admires the Caulfield Historical Quilt after he unveiled it at the Party in the Park. The Quilt depicts various architectural and cultural scenes of Caulfield, and is the work of Ruth Caple, local quilt artist. She worked with 15 other residents to create this important piece of local heritage.

• Fusion Community Centre in Murrumbidgee is celebrating an exhibition of work by its participants on Tuesday 10th to Friday 13th December each day from 10.00 to 4.00pm. There are demonstrations and also the opportunity to 'have a go' at different activities.

• Australian Association for Dance in Education is holding its national conference at the National Theatre and Caulfield Art Centre, January 20th to 24th. The conference is called "Towards 2000 — Dance and Dance Education: the Agenda for the Future". Registration/enquiries to Mark Gordon.

• Caulfield Community Theatre Group is looking for people with ideas and energy who are interested in participating in a comedy variety show based on telethon appeals. Ideas will be workshopped on Wednesday night at the Caulfield Art Centre. Proposed performance date — February/March 1986. Further details, ring C.A.C.

• Next meeting of CLAN — Wednesday 7.30pm December 11th at Caulfield Art Centre.

• Kooka Coming out of Hiding — This time next year will be the third Caulfield Community Festival. Thinking caps on and any suggestions or ideas will be considered! Planning will begin early 1986.

• Cultural Policy for Victoria — The Victorian government is seeking community input and assistance in developing cultural policy for Victoria and is setting up a community working party. It is hoping that a broad range of organisations and individuals will contribute written submissions to make a definition of 'culture' — from areas such as heritage, libraries, recreation, sport, entertainment, urban design, townscapes, the arts, education, multi-culturalism, etc. Contact Judy Morton on 669 8519.

• "Genesis" is a painting on the theme of symbolising the life cycle of human beings from birth to old age. The Australian Association of Gerontology is selling serigraphs of the work and also small printed versions. Contact the secretary, A.A.G. Science Centre, 35-43 Clarence Street, Sydney, 2000.

Notes in Two and Three Dimension by Cliff Burt

These works have been produced over the last few months. Stunning huge portraits and figure paintings in oil-based paint slicks have been executed by this talented artist.

The two sculptural works pose questions about the activity of making art and both play tricks with the viewer's perception. Both require your participation. The exhibition extends until January 11th.

Classes and Programmes

Just a reminder that the Arts Centre school holiday programme will be available on December 7th. Classes will run between January 13th until January 24th, 1986. Everything from "T Shirt Decoration" to

"Fun in the Kitchen" as well as all the favourites like painting, drawing and pottery will be available.

For the first time, there will be a music summer school for children of three years and upwards.

A far wider Term 1 programme will also be offered next year. Up to 70 classes will be available. Make sure you see the brochure in this paper.

The Market

Forget the crush and rush involved in every year's Christmas shopping. Here's your chance to dawdle around the beautiful gardens at the Caulfield Art Centre and choose gifts for all your friends and family — you might even find something for your 'dear old aunt'. All produce is hand-crafted, including clothes, jewellery, plants, Christmas decorations, delicious food — something for everyone. December 8th — 11.00am to 4.00pm. Be there, or despair.

Sculpture and Works on Paper

Everyone is invited to the opening of our last exhibition for 1985 at 7.00pm on Wednesday 9th December.

Screen Prints from Portland

These 50 screen prints were created by Portland residents of all ages working with artist-in-residence, Angela Gee, and are lively and personal views of life in Portland, both past and present.

The exhibition has been travelling around Australia for the 150th celebration and the Art Centre is their final venue.

Please Note:

The Art Centre will be closed between Christmas and New Year. The staff would like to wish everyone best wishes for the season. We look forward to seeing you all next year for bigger, brighter and better activities than ever before...

B'nai Brith in Caulfield

The B'nai Brith Organisation is world wide. It started in Germany about 130 years ago and has some 1/2 million members through a number of countries.

Here in Caulfield the the elderly. In the past

They put this motto them, about 7 hospitals into practice in a number and provide help and of ways but concentrate companionship where mostly on the welfare of they can.

Caulfield's Turn

The residents of the Council Hostel, Camden
Court, recently received a visit from the Lodge of Harmony's Communal Services Committee.
From all reports it was a wonderful afternoon.

It was quite a family affair. Mr Monty Bruce, his two sisters and a brother-in-law, provided a musical afternoon.

They all sang and played to the absolute delight of Camden Court residents and guests from the other two hostels.

The Mayor and Mayoress were also on hand to accept a gift of an original oil painting for the hostel from the B'nai Brith.

Not only did the Committee provide the music but an excellent afternoon tea was served to all who came. The Lodge of Harmony provided and prepared all the food for the afternoon.

"It is surprising," said
Mr Monty Bruce, "that we have not worked in Caulfield before. We all live in this City so it is appropriate that we visit the elderly of Caulfield too".

Caulfield's mayor, Cr.
Max Blair, enjoyed the afternoon so much that he made a special point

WELCOM

The Chisholm Institute of Technology has received C.E.P. funding for a project which will enable local community groups and organisations to have access to the Institute's resources. The Project Officers employed have been investigating both the potential resources of C.I.T. and the potential need of the Caulfield community.

This first phase of the project, project Welcom, has been completed. Angela Borg and Dora Levakis have spent the last seven weeks getting acquainted with Chisholm structure and human and physical resources.

Phase 2 of the project is now underway. Information is being collected and consultation with staff being carried out.

By mutual agreement, the first area to be involved is the faculty of technology. Acting director, Mr. Gerry Maynard, believes the project has 'significant and exciting implications for future relationships between the Caulfield campus and its surrounding community'.

He said that concerns about the project raised by some staff were probably due to its innovative nature and the absence of any formal institute policy on community access.

But he emphasised, "Project Welcom has full institute approval and support and my personal assurances go with that."

"All the staff may rest assured that community access to institute resources will remain a matter for negotiation between those wishing to gain access and the management of the department concerned."

"Out of this experience we hope to evolve an adequate policy on community access."

Mr Maynard said, "We are trying to encourage staff to look at the possibilities, within their own departments, for further utilizing resources for the benefit of the people beyond the immediate campus community during those times when the formal need is minimal or non-existent, e.g. weekends, public holidays, vacations and semester breaks.

"Staff should see this initiative as a way of fostering and promoting better campus community relationships and this will be difficult to achieve without the interest and co-operation of Chisholm staff," Mr. Maynard said.

Women Take Over the Library

An exhibition of drawings featuring Italian women migrants in Australia will be on display at Caulfield Library from December 10 until January 10 and at Elsternwick Library from January 14 until January 31.

Their creator is Italian/Australian artist, Marina Belletich, who was trained in Milan, and has exhibited and taught widely, both in Europe and Australia.

In this exhibition created for a recent conference on migrant women, Marina has drawn extensively on photographs for inspiration but has invested each one with her own first-hand observations.

Marina's pictures convey a disturbing sense of loneliness and alienation, lightened by compassion and humour. She employs swirling colours and bold outlines to reinforce her message and even the black and white works have considerable power to arrest the viewer's attention.

ANNOUNCEMENT FOR ALL DOGS

The Christmas and New Year period is not a good time for dogs to 'go walk-about'. If however, the dogs are overcome by a wanderlust, then it is necessary that they be able to find their own way home. Because if they get lost, the Council Animal Control Officers will not be able to help out.

The Council Pound will be closed over the Christmas and New Year period, from December 16th until January 6th, 1986.

C.A.T.C.H.

Catch is the umbrella name used to incorporate three inter-dependent aspects of a community-based project aimed at supporting the intellectually handicapped community in the southern metropolitan region.

Raelene Hostel is a residential unit providing accommodation for seven moderately intellectually handicapped young men aged between 16 and 22 years. Each young man is viewed individually and helped towards his own level of greatest independence with the eventual aim of re-introducing him to the community at large where he is encouraged to live and find suitable employment.

Raelene 'old boys' is the name given to incorporate the 63 young men who have 'graduated' to independent living. Raelene Hostel is at their disposal as a base and a means of secure support. If required, their banking is taken care of for them, their bills are paid, and help is available for any need they may have or any worry which may be troubling them. There are presently 12 men who rely on C.A.T.C.H. for ongoing support on a regular basis.

Lowry Lodge is the newest aspect of the C.A.T.C.H. network. It commenced in February 1979 and provides emergency and respite care for severely intellectually handicapped girls and boys up to 16 years of age. Lowry Lodge provides family support as well as individual programming for each child given to their care. Six children are taken at a time and the period of their stay is negotiated with the family concerned. No permanent places are offered and extended placements are infrequent, but not unknown.

C.A.T.C.H. is a project of the Hospitaller Order of St. John of God, and was the brainchild of Brother Theophane Quinell, who founded the projects at Raelene in 1966 and saw it through its first 18 years until a debilitating stroke took its toll on his health in July 1983, forcing his early retirement.

Responsibility for the project still rests with the St. John of God brothers who now govern C.A.T.C.H. with the support of the missionary sisters of the Sacred Heart and many enthusiastic local people.

The organisation is looking for community support and would appreciate any material help that can be given. Information can be obtained from Sister Margot Boyle, services co-ordinator for C.A.T.C.H. Tel. 583 5619.

Drug Squad Receives a Boost

The fight against drug crime and drug abuse will be stepped up through the doubling of the Victoria police drug squad over the next 12 months. This was announced by Government Whip in the Upper House, Mr. Cyril Kennedy.

Mr. Kennedy, who is the member of parliament for Waverley province, and the member of the government's police and emergency services legislative committee, said the drug squad will be boosted by 50 officers and 14 extra vehicles as a result of an 11% increase in funding for police this year.

He said the drug squad would increase from 41 to 91 and its vehicle fleet from 8 to 22. This will permit police to make further attacks on the "callous pushers and peddlars of the drug trade".

Mr Kennedy said there were an estimated 133 drug related deaths in Victoria last year. "The records of the Coroner's court and the Homicide squad show that 122 people died from hard drug overdoses last year. Hard drugs were the probable cause of death in a further 20 cases investigated by the police. There were also eight known drug-related murders and three other homicides linked to drug dealers. These figures do not include deaths caused by barbiturates, analgesics and drug-related diseases, like hepatitis."

The Red Cross Blood Bank is now testing every blood donation, collected in Victoria, for antibodies to the virus which is believed to cause AIDS.

Present evidence suggests that more than 90% of the people who are positive to this test will never develop AIDS. But until a specific test is developed, blood will not be accepted from anyone who shows a positive result in the present testing programme.

The safety of blood transfusion will depend largely on the co-operation of people in 'high risk' groups. Before they give blood, all donors will be required to make a formal declaration that they do not belong to any of these groups.

An immense amount of research is currently underway. As new information becomes available the Red Cross Blood Bank will keep donors informed.

GIVE BLOOD

A mobile unit from the Blood Bank will be located at the Ormond Uniting Church Hall, on the corner of North and Booran Roads on Tuesday, December 10th from 1.30pm to 8.00pm.

COMMUNITY ACCESS

CHOIR NEWS

Only a few days to go.

Tuesday, December 10th is the date to remember. Caulfield City Hall is the place to be. 8.00 p.m. is the time it commences.

Of course we are talking about the annual Christmas concert of the Caulfield City Choir.

This notable group has planned a most enjoyable evening of special Christmas music with emphasis on "community togetherness" and "audience participation".

Among the items will be the performance by the Choir of Benjamin Britten's "Ceremony of Carols" and also "The Nine Lesson Carol Service".

With community togetherness in mind, the Choir has involved nine of our local churches, by inviting each to read a lesson from this latter work.

Such an involvement is a "first" for Caulfield and will greatly contribute to the true spirit of Christmas.

There will be familiar carols for audience participation and a Christmas hamper and other "goodies" to be won.

Come and share this festive occasion. Bring your family and friends to hear and sing the wondrous music of Christmas.

Admission: $6.50.

Concession: $3.50.

Family Ticket: $15.00 (2 adults, 2 children, each additional child, $2.00).

Ring for tickets and enquiries: Mrs Ruth Rose, Secretary (583 7317) or Miss Norma Nicholas, Treasurer (523 6736).

Choral Training

The Caulfield City Choir is arranging a 10 week choral training course for singers who wish to further develop confidence with their vocal technique, their ability to sing at sight and their ability to maintain a harmony part.

Basic theoretical knowledge appropriate to the performer's standard will also be included.

Cost for this 10 week course will be $40.00.

The classes will commence mid-February 1986, and will be held on Monday evenings — 6.30pm to 7.30pm in St Stephen's Uniting Church Hall, Balacava Road (north side between Hawthorn and Kooyong Roads), Caulfield. Further information, 583 7317.

Two Useful Christmas Presents Caulfield's building heritage — a directory and information guide

If you are looking for an inexpensive present this Christmas, then look no further. Caulfield's building heritage, a directory and information guide, was recently published by the Caulfield City Council and features the historic buildings of the area.

The booklet has sketches of each building and comprehensive information regarding its heritage and would be a delightful present for anyone interested in local history or architecture.

It is available from the cashier's desk in the City offices for $3.00 per copy.

FROM SAND, SWAMP AND HEATH

A history of Caulfield by Murray and Wells

When the timber men came to Caulfield, before there was any such name on our maps, they were faced by a band of small farmers who wanted the timber for fencing and buildings. These small farmers were, in turn, opposed by the gentry, who hunted kangaroos, foxes and even deer on horseback, and wanted no fences barring the way.

Later, when roads were being made, there were arguments over who should meet the cost... So began Caulfield's story.

This 280-page hardcover book with many reproductions of old maps, photos and illustrations, is available from the cashier at the City offices, corner of Glen Eira and Hawthorn Roads, Caulfield, 3162. Telephone 524 3333.

Special price $15.00.

Deadline for Contact

The deadline for the next issue of Caulfield Contact is Wednesday January 15. The paper will be published on Wednesday January 29.

Submissions can be sent to Caulfield Contact, P.O. Box 42, South Caulfield, 3162 or telephone shorter items and notice of events to 524 3259. Alternatively, you may wish to call into the Caulfield Contact Office at the City Offices.

Note: There will be no paper published until January 29, 1986. Events for February should be included in the January 29 edition of the paper.

a Little Help from our Friends

The cover of Caulfield Hospital's 1984/85 annual report features the work of photographer Alan Elcock, from the 'Southern Cross'. The hospital is a past winner of two silver awards in the Australian Institute of Management's Annual Report Awards.

This attractively prepared 44-page report summarises the achievements of Victoria's largest rehabilitation hospital and is now available to the public.

In detailing how the objectives of this 400-bed hospital have been met, the Committee of Management was pleased to report that some 911 rehabilitation patients, 848 outpatients, and 287 nursing home patients have been treated. These figures show a decline in occupancy of the rehabilitation beds. This was the result of both the industrial action during the non-nursing duties dispute and the difficulty in recruiting nursing staff — a statewide problem.

Afternoon tea is supplied. Contact Dot, Tel. 523 9101 over the holiday period.

RECREATION AND LEISURE

Table Tennis — a Growing Sport

LEISURE LINES

Gold Fever by David Melvin, Co-ordinator of Leisure Services

This month's leisure line is an unashamed commercial for Sovereign Hill. I recently spent some time at the re-created gold mining township after a long absence. I was impressed by the development that has been undertaken by the operators. The attention to detail and the authenticity of the development sets Sovereign Hill apart from many of its competitors.

It is evident that the team of historians working on the project have conscientiously re-created a working model of the Australian gold rush period which provides a fascinating insight into our heritage.

Sovereign Hill is more than just a tourist attraction for the day trippers from Melbourne. The settlement also provides an appropriate venue for the maintenance of our heritage. The traditional skills acquired and perfected by the pioneers of the Ballarat gold fields have been revived in this living museum.

An excellent example of this can be seen at the Redhill National School which operates within the Sovereign Hill township. The school is a joint venture between the Ballarat Historical Park Association and the Victorian Education Department. The school authentically re-creates the teaching methods of the gold rush, but not just in a static model provided for the benefit of tourists. The school operates as a working school, taking students from all over Victoria. The students are enrolled for a two-day course. They are required to dress in period costume and participate in the daily classes using their slates and pencils.

It provides the students with the opportunity to live and breathe the life of the gold fields and find out, at first hand, just how "good" the good old days really were.

For older enthusiasts, Sovereign Hill also caters for volunteers who are prepared to donate two days a month and work inside the settlement. Volunteers help to re-create the atmosphere of the period by walking around the settlement and answering tourist enquiries while wearing historically accurate costumes. It provides an excellent opportunity to contribute to a very worthy project and have a lot of fun at the same time.

I thoroughly enjoyed my time at Sovereign Hill and hope that you do too. Remember the school holidays are just around the corner.

The Caulfield Table Tennis Club meets at the Caulfield Table Tennis and Leisure Centre in Balaclava Road and has been operating for just six years. It has grown and prospered tremendously in this time.

This year Kerri Topper, originally from Murtoa, is the currently ranked Australian Women's Champion and plays with the club.

A ranked State male player, Alvin Cheney (21 years), has been playing with the club for four years.

There are a number of up-and-coming juniors playing with them too.

Robin Moore for example won a bronze medal at the Australian Junior Championships this year. There are ranked juniors playing from the club in all age groups and there are a number of particularly strong teams amongst the younger players.

The Caulfield Table Tennis Club had an average of 20 teams taking part in the Victorian Table Tennis Association Pennant Competition (metropolitan). This is the main competition held in Victoria. Two of these were State 'A' grade teams and one of them won an 'A' reserve pennant.

A Table Tennis Holiday Programme

Are you wondering how to entertain your youngster over the holiday period? The centre is planning a holiday programme for juniors on a day-to-day basis. The daily charge will include coaching, games, e.g. specially adapted indoor cricket, amusement machines and outdoor activities (if the weather permits). There are teen facilities provided and hot and cold food is available. The young people will be supervised at all times.

Anyone interested in table tennis as a sport or fun activity is welcome at any time. The centre will be open all through the holiday period and is situated at 193 Balaclava Road, Caulfield. Telephone 527 2305 or 527 1363.

Don't Clown Around with Safety

Over 140 entries were received from children at Caulfield and Royal Southern Memorial Hospital's Safety Day Colouring Contest. Prizes were awarded to the four youngsters at the Safety Day Breakfast, held on the 14th November.

Other cash prizes, donated by Reg Hunt Motors, were awarded to staff members of the two hospitals who had made safety suggestions which would lead to a safer working environment.

Captain Bob Perry and members of the St Kilda coastguard, together with their search and rescue boat, were a definite highlight of the day.

It is expected that the day will be repeated in 1986.

Holiday Tennis Clinics

CAULFIELD CITY HALL.

The Caulfield Council will once again host the 'Carols by Candlelight' evening, for Caulfield's families and friends, held beside the lake in Caulfield Park, corner of Balaclava and Hawthorn Roads.

It will be held this year on Sunday, December 15th. The evening will be officially opened by the Mayor, Cr Max Blair, at 8.30pm and it should finish at approximately 10.00pm.

This year the City is fortunate to be able to welcome the well-known Australian actor, Fred Parslow, as comper. Not only is Mr Parslow a local resident, but many people will know him from his large numbers of acting roles, particularly with the Melbourne Theatre Company. He is currently performing with the Melbourne Theatre Company in 'In Seasons Greetings'.

Guest artist this year is William Hutton. William is a Glaswegian, and plays traditional Scottish folk music with the group 'Claymore'. He has worked quite extensively around acoustic venues in Melbourne and he has just released 'Claymore', his first album.

He will be accompanied during the evening by Ronald Sinclair, a piper from the Victoria Police Pipe Band.

Regular visitors to 'Carols by Candlelight' know that the sound of the carols and the sight of candles flickering on the water makes it an exciting Christmas event particularly for children.

Doug Heywood will once again conduct the Caulfield City Choir and lead everyone in the carol singing. Caulfield City Band, conducted by Peter Greaney, will provide the main accompaniment and also play Christmas music. This will start at 8.00pm for the early arrivals.

It is a delightfully friendly time — so bring your rugs and your thermoses if you like. Carol booklets and candles are available and all proceeds will go to the Pain Management Clinic at the Southern Memorial Hospital. (Wet weather venue — Caulfield City Hall.) Enquiries to Community Arts Officer 524 3333.

ADULT PROGRAM

Aerobic Classes

All classes by experienced, qualified instructors. You are welcome to attend any class that suits your schedule and ability. No enrolment is necessary but please be punctual to your class.

Why Aerobics?

The Caulfield Recreation Centre continues to offer its very popular aerobic exercise classes. The classes provide all ages with the opportunity to gain and retain a healthy lifestyle through regular physical activity.

The term 'aerobic' simply means 'with oxygen' and activities require increased oxygen supply to produce the energy needed by the muscles during exercise.

Aerobic activities involve using large muscle groups over a long period of time (at least 20 minutes). Examples include walking, jogging, swimming, biking and skipping.

And how should you feel after participating in aerobic activity? Well, exercise should leave you feeling pleasantly tired, not exhausted and racked with pain.

The National Heart Foundation promotes fitness through aerobic exercise and they advise that the benefits of aerobic exercise include:

- an improved ability to perform sustained activity,

- reduced heart rate due to increased amounts of blood pumped each beat,
  - increased stamina,
  - possible decreased blood pressure,
  - increased muscular endurance,
  - and it helps with weight control.
- To help you get started the Caulfield Recreation Centre conducts introductory, intermediate aerobic classes every week. So why not come along to the centre and join in — your heart will love it!
