Kookas Graduate!

It's never too late to learn how to cook. These men were part of the Kooka's Cookup Programme run by Lorraine Le Clerc and Laurel Smith of the Community Development department of the City of Caulfield. The six week course aimed to teach cooking to those who had never had the opportunity to learn, but now needed or wanted to.

Dishes such as Beef Stroganoff, Rack of Lamb, Chocolate Mousse and Fruit Sponge and Custard featured on the menus.

The men graduated on May 18, with no disasters to their record and a great deal more confidence in the kitchen.

$663,600 — FOR NURSING HOME

It was smiles all round at the City Offices when news came through that the Federal Government is to provide a capital grant of $663,600 for the establishment of a new Nursing Home in the City of Caulfield.

The timing could not have been better. Only last month the council selected a site for its proposed Nursing Home and although concerned with the shortfall in funding, they intended to go ahead with the project.

But though the Council was having doubts, Mrs Joan Child, Federal Member for Henty, had not stopped knocking on Canberra doors. For more than 10 years councillors, staff and politicians have been putting the case for another Nursing Home in Caulfield. Earlier this year the present Mayor, Cr Jack Campbell, made further representations to Canberra, seeing a ministerial adviser in community services and Mrs Child.

"I was elated at the news," said Cr Campbell. "It is the culmination of many years of tireless effort from both the council and the community. We can now proceed with the finer details of bringing this long awaited project to fruition," he said.

The grant will become available in the 1987-88 financial year and is part of the Federal Government's planning strategy for the provision of accommodation for frail and aged people.

Murrumbeena Site

The Nursing Home will be built on the site in Murrumbeena Road that is presently occupied by the Murrumbeena Hall and Infant Welfare Centre. It will accommodate around 30 beds and also care for people with special needs. The confused elderly and others are not usually catered for in private Nursing Homes.

"It is regrettable that Caulfield residents, in the past, have had to leave their own community in search of Nursing Home beds," said Fayth Henham, Co-ordinator of Residential and Domiciliary Care.

"They will now be able to stay among friends and familiar surroundings."

Fund Raising

But whilst this capital grant has solved many of the financial problems that have been facing the council in its planning for a Nursing Home, there will still be a substantial shortfall. The City of Caulfield Nursing Home Fund has already been set up and donations are tax deductible.

Many fundraising activities are already under way. The ladies of the Council sponsored Opportunity Shops, in particular, have been working hard and have already helped swell the fund to its present total of $183,662 with promises of more to come.

The estimated cost of construction is around $1.5 million.

Cr Geoffrey Patience, as Chairman of the Nursing Home Committee, has called a public meeting for Wednesday, 15th July, 1987 to enlist support for the fund raising activities. Local organisations will be invited to send representatives to the meeting.

HEAVY INCREASE IN DOG FINES

"Let me out!" If your dog ends up here, in Caulfield's Pound, it could now cost you $200.

Fines have been increased by up to four hundred per cent under the revised Dog Act which came into effect on May 1.

Failure to register your dog or letting it run loose at night could now cost you $200. Allowing it to roam outside your premises in the daytime will now bring a $100 fine.

Council By-Laws Officers said that the Council does not particularly wish to fine people, but as the Act was passed by State Government it has no choice but to enforce it.

It costs $7.50 to register a sterilized dog, and $25 for an unsterilized animal. Discounts are given for working dogs such as registered greyhounds and people who are members of the Kennel Control Council. Pensioners pay $2.50 if their dog is sterilized, otherwise full fee.

Restrictions on German Shepherds have been eased under the new laws. They now do not have to be on a choker chain or be muzzled, but are allowed to walk beside their owner like any other dog, so long as they are under the owner's control.

Greyhounds still have to be leashed and muzzled.

Council Decision Upheld

The recent garbage strike is over and the patience and co-operation of residents at such times is always appreciated.

The dispute over the dismissal of an employee was referred to the Conciliation and Arbitration Commission for a full hearing when negotiations between the parties failed to achieve a satisfactory solution.

The Conciliation and Arbitration Commission has fully upheld the Council's position in the dispute and has ruled that the dismissal was not harsh, unjust or unreasonable.

Anyone for Tennis?

The Executive Services Committee at its last meeting considered an application to construct a tennis court at 12 Airdrie Road, Caulfield. The Applicants wanted the tennis court to be located on the front boundary of the property and requested the Council to waive the requirement for a 1m planting strip which had been recommended by the Development Approvals Co-ordination committee.

After considering the submission made by the Applicants the Committee agreed to waive the setback requirement and recommended to the Council that the application be approved subject to a suitable fence and appropriate planting being provided. The Council subsequently adopted the Committee's recommendation.

Bottle Collections

Would you expect industrial action in the brewery industry to have an effect on the Council's bottle collection service? The results of the March bottle collection showed a substantial reduction in the quantities of beer bottles collected. Industrial action may have affected the amount of beer consumed during that period but nevertheless the service still managed to collect 5,000 dozen beer bottles and 790 dozen stubbies.

Safe Play Areas

It is one thing to receive government funding for various services, but another to decide exactly how to apply the funds when there are so many competing demands. Council has received approval of a grant for $20,000 from the Bicentennial Authority for developing safe toddlers play areas in parks and is presently investigating how the money can best be used.

The Murrumbidgee Playgroup Inc. reacted quickly to the announcement of the funding by presenting a Petition to Council suggesting that the funds be used to fence existing toddlers play areas in Caulfield's parks. The Group is concerned to prevent dogs wandering into the play areas and young children running too far away from the watchful eye of their parents.

Council has referred the suggestion to the Caulfield Bicentennial Committee and has called for a report on the proposal.

Right of Way Closure

With the increasing concern for security and the redevelopment of properties previously restricted to rear vehicle access the Council receives regular requests for the closure of rights of way which are no longer required for access.

Some years ago Council closed part of the right of way running behind properties in Kean and Griffiths Streets, South Caulfield. At its last meeting the Council considered a request for the closure of the remaining portion of the right of way. All property owners appear to be in favour of the closure and the proposed method of division of the land will ensure that access will still be available to the property at 2 Griffiths Street.

Statutory procedures for the proposed discontinuance will now proceed.

Financial Restraint

Caulfield Council is conscious of the need for financial restraint in these hard times. The latest financial report presented to the Council shows that, despite a tight budget, the Council has managed to keep operating costs below budget for the first six months of the financial year.

Areas where some major savings have been made relate to salaries and wages, road construction works and operation of the swimming pool.

The pleasing results are also partly attributable to increases in income from investments and from road and footpath openings.

Lollypopman

The continuing need to protect children at school crossings was highlighted this month when Caulfield Council considered a request from the Principal of Grimwade House for the appointment of a School Crossing Supervisor at the traffic signals at the intersection of Balaclava and Orrong Roads.

Whilst it is not usual for School Crossing Supervisors to be appointed at signal operated intersections, the Report from the Senior Transportation Engineer indicated that the traffic volumes at that intersection warranted the appointment of a Supervisor.

The Council has requested the Road Traffic Authority to approve the appointment of a Supervisor and to provide a subsidy toward the costs involved.

Traffic Signals

Regular users of Neerim Road and Queens Avenue will be pleased to know that the Road Traffic Authority has approved the installation of traffic signals at the intersection of Neerim Road and Queens Avenue as part of the Authority's Traffic Facilities Program. The Authority will fully fund the cost of the installation.

The intersection has been given a high priority in Council's major traffic control item submissions to the Authority over the past three years. The Council was disappointed when the site was not included in the Authority's initial 1986/87 Traffic Facilities Program and the matter was subsequently pursued by the Council at a deputation to the Minister for Transport.

Mini Budget

Following the announcement by the Federal Treasurer of the May Economic Statement, Cr Brian Rudzki expressed concern at the effects which cuts in government funding could have on local government services.

After considering Cr Rudzki's comments and the possibility that the government cuts may indirectly result in an increased burden for ratepayers, the Council requested a report on the effects of the "Mini Budget" on local government with particular emphasis on the services provided to Caulfield residents.

The Council will consider the report at the June Executive Services Committee Meeting.

New Studio

A new photography studio is to be developed on the site of 214 Glenhuntly Rd. The applicant will take the existing site with its warehouse and office space and transform it into a stylish studio by extending a triangular area out the back.

Many Councillors were impressed with the plans, but were asked to consider a reduction in the number of parking spaces the applicant had to provide.

Permission was granted after Council considered the applicant's grounds, which included the fact that, as a photography studio, most of the work would be done out of business hours or outside the premises, and that as the owner had other business premises the studio would only be used perhaps three days a week, thus minimising the need for parking space.

A career in Local Government?

How many school leavers or tertiary students consider the possibility of a career in local government? Local government does not involve only "roads, rates and rubbish" as the old saying goes, but can provide a satisfying career path in many varied disciplines — administration, finance, public relations, social welfare and health are a few examples.

Ms Jenny Baldwin, a Careers Counsellor with Monash University, has been undertaking "work experience" with the Council to find out what local government is really about. In particular, Jenny wants to identify the career options available in local government for both graduate and undergraduate University students.

As an Elsternwick resident, Jenny also had the opportunity to find out more about her local Council.

At one count some sixty professions and areas of expertise were represented in local government — so there should be ample information for Jenny to take back to Monash University students.

Lillimur Road

A compromise was achieved through Council to resolve a heated debate regarding parking in Lillimur Road, Ormond.

In response to concerns of Ormond traders over North Road reconstruction works, Council included in the works a plan for compensatory angle parking in Lillimur Road.

This proposal received support from the Traders at a meeting held on March 18, but subsequently an objection was received from Mr D. Israel, who runs a business near the site.

Mr Israel attended the Policy and Environment Committee meeting which discussed the matter and expressed concern at the effect the parking would have on access for deliveries to his shop, which hires tents and marquees.

A representative of the Ormond Traders Action Group spoke in favour of the proposal as it stood, and there were some strong words from both sides.

The Committee considered the concerns and reached a compromise whereby the plans for parking included a loading zone in the indented area on the east side which, it is anticipated, will relieve the concerns of the traders and should not adversely affect Mr Israel's business.

Factory Hours

The factory at 1050 Glenhuntly Rd will be allowed to extend its hours, after Council received a report from the E.P.A. commending the factory management for the steps it had taken to reduce noise level.

An application was received from Mack Bros. to extend the hours from the current boundaries of 8.00am and 4.45pm to 7.00am and 6.00pm, to allow the management to comply with a Conciliation and Arbitration award.

Objections were received from residents around the area who were concerned that the extended hours would destroy the peace and quiet of the area.

They felt the current noise levels were unacceptable and increased hours would mean factory operations were encroaching on family mealtimes.

The Town Planning Department wrote to the Environment Protection Agency who forwarded a letter which commended the company "for the extensive work carried out to reduce both noise and vibration".

After considering applicant's and objector's viewpoints, Council approved the application with two additional conditions, stating that continued operation of the business would be subject to noise levels at all times meeting E.P.A. requirements, and that no work should be carried out except during the hours stated.

SPRAY IT AGAIN, SAM

The walls of the Caulfield Youth Centre have been covered in bright graffiti and spray can art — but don't worry, it was all quite legal and invited.

Young graffiti artists were asked to display their art on masonite sheets provided by the Centre, with the aim of using the finished work to decorate "The Lair".

According to Youth and Recreation workers, graffiti was chosen in preference to other artistic styles because it would give serious graffiti artists an opportunity to practise and exhibit their work on legal ground and also that it would decorate the Youth Centre in a style relevant to many young people.

About twenty young artists participated in the day, which luckily was fine as the work had to be done outside.

Loretta Smith, a Youth Project Officer based at the Centre, spent some time talking to one of the artists.

"He explained that most people do not understand that it is part of a whole sub-culture, a way of expressing yourself," she said. "It's not about defacing walls, and serious graffiti artists do not describe what they do as 'vandalism'."

Many people would be surprised to learn that a great deal of work goes into graffiti art, with many of the artists working on detailed sketches as models before they spray their design.

Despite the colourful design, the basis for the work is still the written word — either a hidden 'tag' amongst the patterns or a more obvious style to communicate a message.

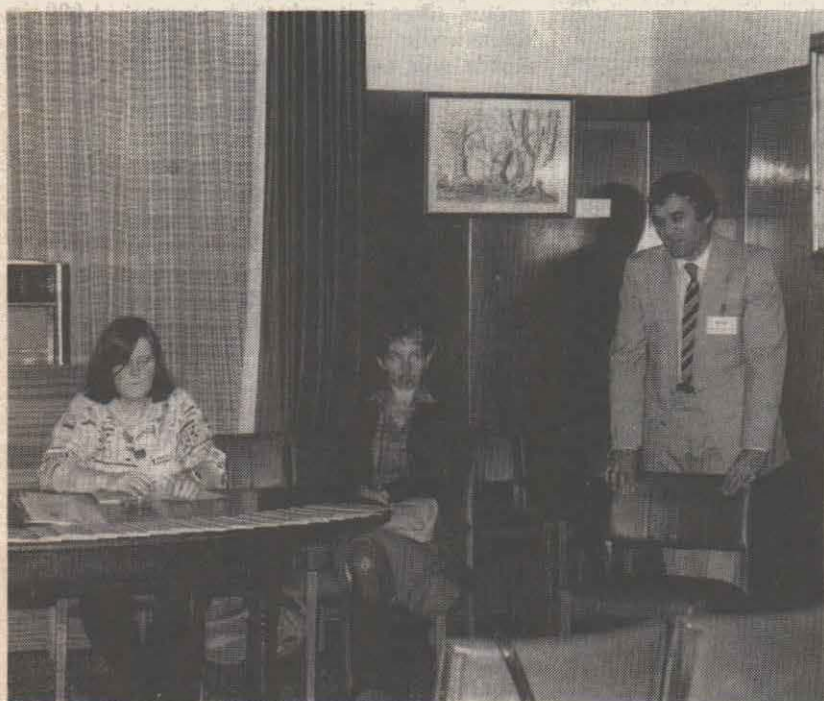

Youth and Recreation worker, Lyn Nye, was delighted with the day and its results, and plans to organise a graffiti art exhibition in the near future.

The paint for the day was donated by Penhaluriaks and Bristol Paints, both of Hawthorn Rd, Sth Caulfield, and Paint and Paper in Glenhenty Rd, Elsternwick.

A young graffiti artist shows the concentration that goes into creating a piece of graffiti art. His, and other artwork will soon be on display in "The Lair" Youth Resource Centre.

"Shopping From Home Guide" launched

Residents of Caulfield who are housebound will now have the opportunity to shop for many essential goods from their homes, thanks to a new City of Caulfield publication.

Rosemary Crossley, author of 'Annie's Coming Out' launched Caulfield's "Shopping From Home Guide" at City Hall on Thursday, May 21.

The Guide was produced to enable housebound people to do their shopping over the phone, thus giving them a greater degree of independence and control over their daily lives.

"The whole idea is wonderful," said Ms Crossley, who praised the detailed information and its 'realism'.

"Shopping From Home" was produced by the Advisory Committee for Persons with Disabilities in the City of Caulfield, with support and funding from the City of Caulfield and the Library Service.

It is not intended to discourage housebound people from going on shopping trips with friends and family, so the guide only contains basic items such as food, drink and professional services.

Two Research Officers, Catherine Sholly and Ned Coten worked on the project, personally contacting local shopkeepers and sending questionnaires to the professionals.

It is intended that the service will be kept current by producing a similar book each year, and Catherine Sholly has agreed to stay on to help with the update.

Loreen Chivell, President of the Advisory Committee, thanked the City of Caulfield and in particular Jim Badger, the Co-ordinator of Library Services for all the help and assistance.

Ms Crossley finished by saying that Caulfield could be proud of its achievement in this area, and urged people of Caulfield to encourage other Councils to follow suit.

Infant Health Centre to open on Saturdays

The Carnegie Infant Health Centre is to open on Saturdays to enable working parents to use its services.

The Centre, situated at 6 Jersey Parade, will open from 9.30am to 12 midday on the last Saturday of the month for a six-month trial period beginning May 30 and ending November 28.

Families will need to make an appointment to use the Centre at this time.

Sisters Jo Quigley and Dee James will operate the service, alternating monthly so one Sister will be in attendance.

"Both Jo and I are looking forward to participating in this new venture," said Sr Dee James. "We hope the service will be fully utilised and be of benefit to the families who have been unable to attend the centre because of working commitments."

After the six-month trial period an evaluation will be carried out to decide whether the service will continue.

YOUTH TO JAPAN

Students of Caulfield will have the chance to travel to Japan and live with a Japanese family for a year thanks to the Caulfield Bicentenary Committee and the Caulfield Lions Club.

As part of Caulfield's Bicentenary celebrations a grant has been made to pay for the student's airfare to Japan, and Caulfield Lions Club will arrange for accommodation.

All students who live in Caulfield and are over fifteen years of age are eligible, so long as they have not previously received any scholarship or endowment.

The committee that selects the lucky student, though, will be looking for academic achievement, social skills and sporting ability, as well as the capability to intelligently discuss life in our country with others.

To prepare for the experience of life in Japan, the student chosen will also have to undergo a Japanese language course.

The lucky applicant will spend a year in the country, living like a normal Japanese child, going to school and sharing in family life, while experiencing the language, food, customs and technology of another land.

An ability to enter a strange, fascinating country and to learn and understand without judging will also be highly valued by the selectors.

Enquiries ring 524 3333 or 524 3224. Nominations should be forwarded to Caulfield City Council, P.O. Box 42, Sth Caulfield, 3162, marked to the attention of Cr John Robinson.

CAIN AT T.A.F.E.

The attendance of Premier John Cain and a television "link-up" marked the opening of Holmesglen College's new building at the Chadstone campus on May 5.

Premier Cain and Education Minister Ian Cathie were present at the opening and both complimented the TAFE College on its range and diversity of subjects and on the success of its students.

The TAFE colleges provide an important entry point into education for a large number of Victorians, Mr Cain said, especially young people and those wanting to improve their skills later in life.

Mr Cathie said TAFE colleges played a big part in breaking down geographical, physical and other barriers into education.

The building, known as Building One, was finished in November 1986 at a cost of $12.5 million which was funded through the Victorian Government.

A history of industrial disputes and problems has meant that the complex has taken quite some time to finish.

Now completed, it houses facilities for Applied Science, Business and Computing Education, Communication and Social Sciences, a Library, a Media Service Unit and a Computer Centre.

The Centre for Business and Industry Development and the Executive Officer for the Victorian Building construction Industry Training Council will be located in the Training Centre, another part of the complex.

The facilities were displayed through a live camera link up with classes on all three levels of the building, including interviews with staff and students.

All camera work and technical input was provided by the students and staff using the equipment available in the building, and the link up went smoothly.

At any one time, about 1,000 students and 250 staff will be using the facilities, and given the part time nature of many of the courses, about 5,000 students will benefit.

Building One completes a major part of the master-plan development of the site.

A Caulfield Badger in London . . .

Mr Jim Badger, Co-ordinator of Library Services for Caulfield, has recently returned from a trip to London during which he attended the London International Book Fair at Olympia.

He was one of twenty-three librarians from public, special and TAFE libraries representing Victoria, New South Wales and Queensland who were present at the International Fair.

The visit enabled him to purchase books at a considerable discount, and to learn first-hand the problems surrounding the book trade between Australia and the United Kingdom.

"As well, the visit afforded me the opportunity to talk to British colleagues, visit a London public library sharing our system, and to make potentially useful contacts within the book trade," Jim said.

The visit was arranged and largely financed by Australian Book Importers, a local library supplier with whom Caulfield has had extensive dealings.

It was not all plain sailing for Jim. Being the first such trip organised, some of the arrangements were a little shaky, and he also came down with a bad case of 'flu over there.

He struggled on valiantly, though, so the main purposes were achieved.

Our librarian selected about $14,000 in worthwhile fiction titles from those on view, which will enable him to have it supplied, processed and on the shelves for the high-demand period over summer.

"The Fair offered a reasonable range of such fiction, although it was somewhat disappointing to note that some large publishers were not represented at all, and others did not have truly representative displays of their new fiction," said Jim.

Some good new contacts were made among smaller or specialist publishers, including those representing the concerns of women and teenagers.

"One such find was a publisher specialising in worthwhile literature which, for various reasons, had not received the popular acclaim it deserved when originally published, yet deserved a second chance — hence the name 'Second Chance Press'."

As well as examining new fiction, Mr Badger was able to discuss problems of escalating costs of books with the publishers.

"They were very interested to hear first hand of the difficulties we were having and why book sales were declining."

Jim also met up with British librarians and was able to discuss changing technology and the effects of economic and social conditions with them.

All in all it was a successful trip for Jim and for the Caulfield Library Service, which will soon be seeing the benefit of his experience.

ARTS COMPLEX UPDATE

Fund Raising for Arts Complex

The Fund Raising Committee for the Arts Complex, although still in its early deliberations, has already adopted a strategy. The Committee will be directing its activities at sponsorship and community and social fund raising.

Chairman of the Committee is Mr Jim Webster and he is assisted by Vice-Chairman, Cr Sandy Anderson.

The Committee is pleased with the response already received from prospective sponsors. Discussions have been held with one major sponsor who is most impressed with the project. Although no final commitment has yet been made, the Committee is hopeful of a successful result.

Contributions from individuals and community groups will be equally appreciated by the Committee who have the task of raising $1,000,000 in capital funds or donations in kind. The Committee is also investigating the offering of naming rights in relation to the supply of fixtures and fittings and works of art.

Donations of $2 or more are tax deductible if made through the Elizabethan Theatre Trust.

The Committee is delighted with the support received from its Chief Patron, Sir Donald Trescowthick and Patron, Lady Clarke, wife of Sir Rupert Clarke. Invaluable assistance is also being given to the Committee by Mr Marc Besen, Mr Izzy Herzog, Mr Reg Hunt and Mr Guy Boyd. Other local identities are also helping the Committee.

Cr Sandy Anderson said, "The enthusiasm shown by potential sponsors has been extremely encouraging. Those who have viewed the works to date are most impressed with Council's achievement and feel that the Complex will be an asset to both the City of Caulfield and Victoria."

The building works for the Arts Complex are continuing ahead of schedule and the new facilities are expected to be available by October, 1987.

Council is currently arranging an 'Open Day' so that the public can view the building works in progress.

Further enquiries in relation to the activities of the Fund Raising Committee and the giving of donations can be made through Cr Sandy Anderson, telephone 528 1727 (H), or 528 3366 (B).

Arts Complex Administrator

The development of the new Arts Complex at the City Hall has produced a new face in Caulfield's arts community. Mr Alan Moor has been appointed as the Administrator of the Arts Complex — a position created by the Council in recognition of the challenge involved in developing and promoting the new Complex.

As the holder of a Bachelor of Arts from the Australian National University and a Diploma of Community Education from the Chisholm Institute, Alan has come well equipped to face the challenge.

Prior to joining the Council Alan worked with the Bicentennial Authority as the Co-ordinator of Bicentennial Community Committees in Victoria.

Alan also brings to the position a focus and understanding of community participation in the Arts. His background includes several years with the Council of Adult Education organising Music camps, residential schools and study tours relating to the Arts. Alan was also involved with the Council of Adult Education's Arts Train — a mobile workshop which takes practical experience in arts and crafts to rural Victoria.

Alan's wealth of experience includes five years as a member of the Victorian Arts Council.

Alan sees the development of the Arts Complex as an exciting project. "It will be a unique facility. There is no other Complex in Victoria combining the performing arts, gallery facilities and a program of community arts activities," he said.

When asked about the community involvement in the new Complex, Alan replied: "Planning for the operation of the Complex includes an important emphasis on participation in the arts. The Complex will have a vital community function as well as a public function."

Exhibitions and programs will be developed to meet the needs of local artists, drama clubs and community groups. The Complex will also provide facilities for visiting art exhibitions, music and drama performances of a high quality which will attract full public support.

Planning for the opening events at the Arts Complex is already well under way with the City of Caulfield art collection as the first exhibition. It is also expected that the final concerts in a series of Chamber Music recitals commencing in June at the existing Arts Centre will take place in the new Complex.

A number of events involving community participation are also on the drawing board.

The Council's Arts Staff are enthusiastic at the prospects and opportunities which the new Complex will offer. Already a number of programs are being developed to enable disadvantaged groups to share in the benefits of the new facilities.

Alan Moor is married with one child. Although still new to the position of Administrator to the Arts Complex his ideas and enthusiasm have already assured the Complex of a successful future.

Ex-Senator heads Fund Raising Committee

The man chosen to head the Arts Complex Fund Raising Committee is a local businessman and ex-Senator, Jim Webster.

"I am looking forward to serving on the committee," Mr Webster said. "I think a unique opportunity is presenting itself both to the citizens of Caulfield and particularly to those who find their business connections in Caulfield."

Referring to the aim of the Council that, when finished, the Complex will only be surpassed by the Victorian Gallery itself, Mr Webster said he would have pleasure in seeking funds at all levels from those who could see the possibilities for such a project.

"I'm hoping that the vision can be achieved," he said.

Mr Webster has very firm roots established in Caulfield — he is now managing the Elsternwick company that was started in the 1860s by his grandfather as a plumbers supply and painting and decorating business.

The business has been in the family ever since, but Mr Webster has done a lot more than just managing the company.

He entered Federal Parliament in 1964 and was a Senator for sixteen years, serving as leader of his political party in the Senate as well as Deputy President of the Senate.

During his time he held the portfolios of Minister for Science and Minister for the Environment.

While Minister for the Environment Kakadu was proclaimed as a National Park, Whaling was banned in Australia and he declared the first Marine Park in Australia.

Mr Webster has also been to the South Pole — twice!

He left Federal Parliament to become Australian High Commissioner to New Zealand for four years.

Recently returned, he now has resumed operation of the family business.

Asked whether his political career will help him in his position as chairman, he replied that having been involved in the management of the "biggest business in the country", he should bring valuable experience to the Committee.

Also a member of the Australian Society of Accountants, his business skills should be invaluable.

Mr Webster was a charter member of a Rotary Club, and served nineteen years on the Board of the Victorian School for Deaf Children. He has a wife, Jenny and four sons.

Though claiming he does not have a great deal of knowledge about the Arts, Mr Webster is no stranger to the art world.

In his early years he was closely associated with one of the great art agents in Australia, Bill Seddon, who was agent for the Lindsays and Jim Jackson.

He has no doubt that his new position will be a challenge — "One could say it is not a good time to be seeking funds" — but he is sure there are many people who will be excited by the chance "to establish (an Arts Complex) within a Municipal area which is considered one of the best in the state of Victoria".

"A unique opportunity is presenting itself... to the citizens of Caulfield..."

PROVENCE, TRIESTE... AND CAULFIELD

An international flavour will add interest to the exhibitions of photography and painting on display at the Caulfield Arts Centre this month.

Paintings and drawings of Marianne Roth will be shown from June 5 to June 14, and images of Provence, France, and reflections of Caulfield, Elsternwick and the Dandenongs will feature.

Marianne Roth was born in Germany but has lived in Australia since 1939, where she has studied and taught painting for many years, including studying for four years at Caulfield Institute of Technology (now Chisholm) and teaching at Shelford School.

In this exhibition innovative techniques are used, including pastels on velour surface paper, water colours with the addition of ink and collages with ink work.

Topics cover the lush beauty of the South of France as well as historical and other perspectives of the Caulfield area.

The photography exhibition will be on display from June 17 to July 5 and features different aspects of the northern Italian city of Trieste, by thirteen European photographers.

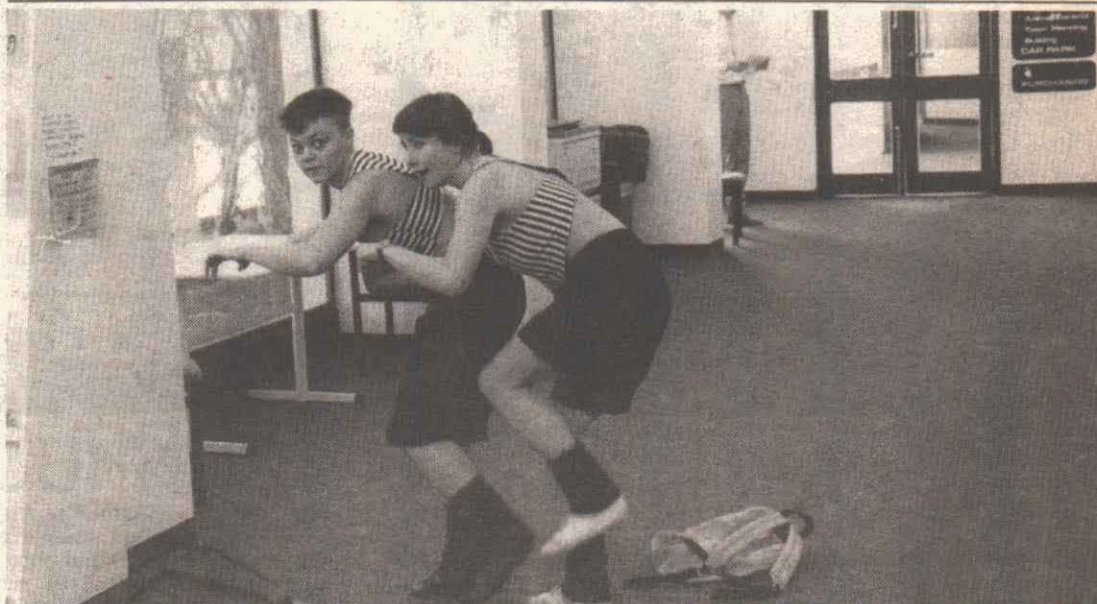

Commissioned by the Municipality of Trieste,

"Pier of Daring" by Marialba Russo from the "Trieste — Past and Present" photographic exhibition.

the collection explores the multi-faceted nature of the city through the eyes of artists with diverse backgrounds and stylistic approaches.

The exhibition is sponsored in Melbourne by "Associazione Giuliani nel Mondo", Trieste and the Italian Institute of Culture.

For details on the Roth exhibition contact Marianne on 528 2929, and for information on the photography ring Helen Bond on 524 3277.

No, these are not nervous residents trying to avoid paying their rates. Caulfield City Hall workers were given a surprise treat by Janice Burgess in the form of a "Farewell" performance of some modern dance numbers.

The "Dancer in the Community" programme is finishing up, and Janice wanted to say "Goodbye and thank you" to the City of Caulfield.

MUSIC NOTES

The Caulfield Arts Centre will present a winter and spring series of exciting chamber music concerts.

The initiative for the concerts comes from the innovative music promotion venture "Pro Arte" under the leadership of Goetz Richter.

Richter was concertmaster with the Queensland Theatre Orchestra and is at present a member of the Melbourne Symphony Orchestra.

Born in Hamburg, West Germany, Goetz obtained his "Kuenstlerische Staatsdiplom" from the "Hochschule fur Musik" in Munich after four years of study with Professor G. Hetzel, concertmaster of the Vienna Philharmonic Orchestra.

The concerts will feature outstanding young musicians from the Melbourne Symphony Orchestra and other professional Australian Orchestras in mixed instrumental ensembles.

The first of a series of four concerts will be presented on Sunday July 5 at 3pm and concerts to follow will be on Sunday afternoons in August, October and December.

The concert series is a unique attempt to present to the public a variety of chamber music in the pleasant atmosphere of the Caulfield Arts Centre at 441 Inkerman Rd. The excellence of the performers will guarantee an exceptional musical experience.

For inclusion on the mailing list, telephone Caulfield Arts Centre on 524 3277 or "Pro Arte" chamber music promotion on 509 7905.

Fun Times Ten

The Elwood Theatre Company is presenting "Ten Times Table" for its winter season for 1987.

This highly successful comedy was written by one of England's best playwrights, Alan Ayck-bourn.

Beginning with a meeting of a committee to plan a pageant, the play follows the fortunes of the different factions, all trying to 'get their act together', and ends up in sheer mayhem.

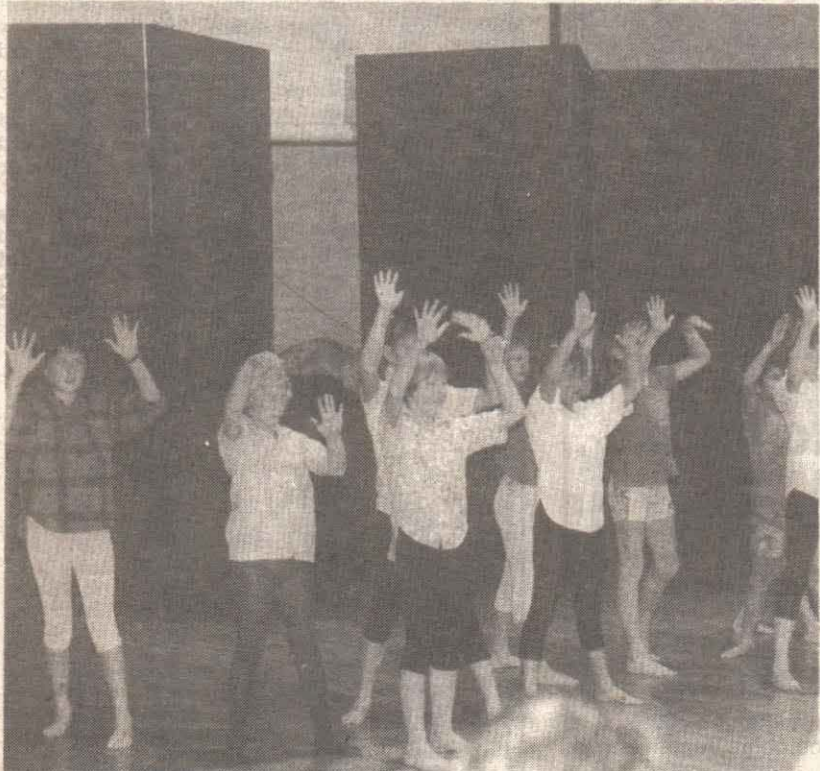

The play is guaranteed to be laughter-packed and an ideal way to forget the winter blues.

Performances are at St Columbas, corner of Glenhuntly and Normandy Roads, Elwood, on July 3, 4, 9, 10 and 11 at 8.15pm plus a matinee performance on Sunday July 5 at 2.15.

Tickets cost $7 including tea and coffee and biscuits, except for Gala Night, Saturday July 4 which costs $10 including sherry at 7.45 and supper after the show.

Pensioners and students admitted for $4 on Thursday, July 9. Group concessions are available.

For further information or to book, phone 578 1386.

Meanwhile, some of the young dancers trained by Janice showed their talent in a special matinee performance. The 'Da Da Dancers' and the groups from various schools presented a series of dances for their friends and the public.

DEBUTANTE'S DONATION

The Mayor of Caulfield, Cr Jack Campbell, stands with McDonald's representatives, some of the debutantes and their mothers and little Nathan, a patient at the hospital, holding a giant sized cheque.

Early this year a number of students of Cato College together with their parents organised a debutante's ball in order to raise money for the Ronald McDonald Home at the Royal Children's Hospital.

These homes cater for the parents and families of young children in hospital, and the young patients themselves, in a home-like atmosphere.

Families can thus have extended time with the patient while he or she is still undergoing treatment, without the excessive costs for travel and accommodation.

There are now some sixty of these homes in various countries around the world.

The program was initiated by a senior executive of the McDonald's organisation who through his own child's serious illness realised the difficulties of families who have a child requiring extended hospital treatment.

Cato debutantes raised $1146 for the home.

YOUR REPRESENTATIVES

COUNCILLOR:
Dorothy Ford

WARD: South
ELECTED: 1977

It is not surprising that Dorothy Ford became a Councillor — when your father is a Caulfield Councillor for nineteen years and Mayor twice, Local Government tends to be in the blood.

Cr Ford has followed in her father's footsteps, having been a Councillor for ten years and officiating as Mayor in 1983/84.

All up, Dorothy has been involved with the Council for nearly forty years, and has personally known every Mayor in that time.

The Councillor has a "very supportive" husband, Norm and a grown up daughter, Robyn, and is retired.

"So I can devote my time to Council," she said.

On Council, Dorothy is particularly interested in the needs of the elderly and is keen to see the Nursing Home off and running.

She would also like to see young people becoming involved in community activities — perhaps through recreational schemes or through such things as junior auxiliaries of hospitals.

Various community groups have also had the Councillor's support over the years — she is a trustee of the Ormond Senior Citizens Club, a Life Governor of the Royal Women's Hospital, three-times President and Life Member of the Caulfield South Ladies Bowling Club, and is on the Board of Management of Caulfield Hospital.

Councillor Ford has always enjoyed swimming in her free time and still swims when she can. Landscape painting was also a favourite of hers though she is finding it a little harder nowadays.

Her family has always supported her work in Local Government, but when asked whether her daughter Robyn would follow in the family footsteps, Cr Ford just smiled and said, "We'll have to wait and see."

Hostels — Ease of Mind

Many older people do not realise there is an alternative to either trying to live alone, or going into a Nursing Home. That middle ground can be found in the supportive environment of a Hostel.

Since the announcement of the site for the City of Caulfield Nursing Home, some people have rung wishing to put their names on a waiting list. No such list exists, and, in fact, most of the people that rang were found to be more suited to hostel accommodation.

Hostels cater for people over sixty years old, many of whom are quite independent but need the security of knowing there is a capable person around to deal with problems or emergencies that might arise.

Other residents may need greater assistance in daily activities such as showering and dressing, and many require special diets and other considerations.

Hostel residents have their own bed-sitting room, with private or shared facilities, and are able to come and go as they please.

Meals are provided in the dining room, but there are also cooking facilities available for those who prefer to prepare their own meals.

Optional activities and outings are organised both within the Hostel and through the Residential Care Activities Officer, and include craft sessions, discussion groups, gentle exercise classes, swimming groups and religious services.

Monthly residents meetings are held in each hostel so that residents may have a say in what happens in their Hostel.

Hostel accommodation is available at Heathlands Hostel, 15 Hawthorn Road, North Caulfield, Camden Court at 6 Freeman St, South Caulfield, and Rosstown Court, 6 Ames Ave, Murrumbidgee.

Holiday/Respite Care
Council also offers short term accommodation for periods of up to six weeks at Heathlands Hostel and Rosstown Court so, for example, families caring for elderly people can go on holidays while knowing their relative is receiving a high standard of care and attention.

Vacancies

Currently a few vacancies exist at both Heathlands and Camden Court Hostels. The vacancies are upstairs so applicants would need to feel confident about negotiating stairs.

If you have any enquiries about vacancies or hostel accommodation generally please phone Fayth Henham or Val Corby on 524 3333.

APPROVAL UPHELD

Not everyone is aware that it is the Planning Appeals Board that can have the final say in approving or rejecting building permits.

When Council hears application for construction it takes into consideration both the applicants' and objectors' viewpoints, as well as considering general issues such as Council policy on the matter and the effect on the amenity of the area.

Council also has to consider, though, the likely effect if an appeal is lodged to the Appeals Board.

However sympathetic Councillors may be to neighbours' objections, if the issue is not substantial enough to warrant objection then it is a waste of everyone's time, efforts and money to reject the proposed constructions or alterations.

A recent case occurred when neighbours objected to the proposed building of a double-storey unit which they feared would lead to an invasion of privacy.

In an attempt to reach an acceptable compromise, the Council approved the construction with an additional condition to ensure steps were taken to protect the standards of surrounding buildings.

When the objectors appealed, they found that the Planning Appeals Board upheld the Council's determination, including the extra conditions.

As well as being a vindication of the Council's decision, the result suggests that, even if the Council had rejected the application, their decision could have been overturned and the same end result would have occurred.

COUNCILLOR:
John Robinson

WARD: East
ELECTED: 1984

Councillor John Robinson cannot stress enough how the support of his family has helped him in his work on Council.

"Family support is most important to enable me to carry out my duties," he said. An Insurance Broker, Cr Robinson has a wife, Dot, a seventeen year old daughter Yvette and a fourteen year old son Dale.

Both his and his wife's family have long connections with the City of Caulfield, going back to early days of the City, and combined with an involvement in community activities this led him naturally to standing for Council.

Cr Robinson's main interest at the moment is the Bicentenary Committee, of which he is Chairman, which is initiating and overseeing Caulfield projects for the Bicentennial celebrations.

The Councillor would like to see more open parkland in the West, as funding becomes available, and is another Councillor keen on Caulfield's new entrepreneurial direction.

He would also like to see the aged provided for as "they are a part of our history and heritage".

Outside Council, John is interested in sport, having been a VFL umpire, and plays bowls at Murrumbidgee Park when he gets the time.

Cr Robinson has been involved in various community activities. He was Secretary of the Murrumbidgee Parks Committee of Management. He is Chairman of Foster Care (Southeast Region), a member of the Committee of Management of Chadstone Paramedical Centre and was involved in the "Operation Easter Care" road safety program.

He is "proud to be a Councillor" and happy to represent Caulfield.

Elsternwick District

Presentation night was a very happy occasion recently. Amongst the prize winners were Roy Culph and Thelma Markakis, club champions, with runners up Trevor Battersby and Ivy Main. Congratulations to Sheila Emelhain who qualified as a National Umpire.

President Edwin Lee was handed a cheque for $2,500 by Lady President Dot Sims, making a total of $7,000 the ladies of this club raised by their efforts and activities this year. President Edwin was wished a fond farewell as his home is now in Brisbane.

Lady Vice-President's day was most enjoyable, and amongst the guests was our much loved Elma Grant now in her 94th year! Playing bowls and still getting "touchers" was Ethel Gregory who celebrated her 92nd birthday recently and has just received twin great-grandchildren. This makes a total of 19 grandchildren and 11 great grandchildren.

We congratulate Len and Heather Hoskin upon the occasion of their Golden Wedding Anniversary.

Sandra Wyatt, the Community Liaison Officer at Caulfield Secondary College (formerly Caulfield High and Caulfield Tech.)

Schools to merge

Caulfield High School and Caulfield Technical School will officially amalgamate to form Caulfield Secondary College on June 24.

The Tech campus will cease to operate as a school at the end of this year, and the new college will be located on the Caulfield High campus.

The college will attempt to combine the curriculum from both the Tech and High Schools, offering subjects from the full range such as Humanities, Science, Photography, Robotics and Ceramics.

"What we envisage is tremendous," said Sandra Wyatt, the school's new Community Liaison Officer. "We will have the best curricula from both schools."

There will not be separate Tech and High curricula — the students will enrol together and study together, but with a wide range of intellectual and practical subjects.

The college is developing a range of high technology facilities to cater for their pupils.

They will be able to write and publish their own work to a professional standard in the publishing house which has desk top publication facilities including a laser printer.

Years 7 and 8 will have a Resource Centre which will act as a Home Room, locker room and Computer centre for their own use.

Caulfield High has also recently purchased the world's first computerised encyclopaedia, which can provide information instantly at the touch of a button.

"Not many schools would be providing such facilities," said Sandra. "It will really be a school of the 1990s."

Both schools had been feeling the pinch of declining enrolments and rather than being forced to close down or amal-gamate reluctantly, they have decided to make the process a positive thing and try to produce a school of the future.

The Tech campus has been sold to Chisholm Institute of Technology, and already the Year Seven Tech students have been studying at the Caulfield High campus.

Sandra is hopeful that the other students will not be disadvantaged in having to change location.

"The main thing is to get all the students thinking in terms of being members of a new school," she said, "I think it will be a wonderful experience for the Tech students."

Health Care and Support

Caulfield Community Care now has a small, keen Support Group which is anxious to expand its membership and activities — but it needs people, sponsorship and money.

Community Care was established in 1972 and works out of the Southern Memorial Hospital, with the aim of providing integrated health care and services to people in the community.

It tries to foster health and wellbeing through activities in health education and promotion.

Activities anyone can join include Health Education programmes, such as those on Arthritis, Diabetes, Understanding Your New Baby and Eating Awareness.

Advice on physical aids and equipment for the elderly and disabled is available.

Recreational programmes such as Fitness for Over 60s and Swimming Therapy are also run.

There are a physiotherapist and a podiatrist available, but for these a doctor's referral is required.

This worthwhile service gets some government funding, but needs additional sources of income to help it work to its best potential.

There are various hospital auxiliaries which help out, but these tend to be made up of older people, and the newly formed Support Group is hoping to attract that "in-between" age group.

"We are looking at people whose children have finished school, who are now looking for something to do on a Community basis," said

Jocelyn Kay, an administrator at the hospital.

The Support Group is currently made up of about a dozen people, with Caulfield Councillor Sandy Anderson as President.

It has been running since the beginning of the year and has to date run small activities such as in-house raffles and theatre nights, but is looking to broaden its scope.

To do so it needs more people to become involved by going along to the Group's meetings, supporting its functions and, where possible, helping out in areas like donating goods for a major raffle.

"If someone would donate prizes such as a holiday, electrical goods, a car, that would be of great help," said Jocelyn.

The group is hoping to raise money to buy educational material and resources and to fund further programmes.

Meetings are held on the fourth Wednesday of every month at 7.30pm in the Caulfield Community Care Centre Annex at 259 Kooyong Rd, so go along if you are interested, or ring the Secretary, David Campbell on 578 7521.

Caulfield Cuisine

MAY '87

741 Glenhuntly Road,
Sth Caulfield. 523 9054

In our endeavour to establish Fat Bob's Cafe as the entertainment Mecca of South Caulfield, we have acquired a B.Y.O. Licence so that music lovers may now also enjoy a glass of their favorite refreshment at the Cafe.

Please remember that by law alcohol may only be consumed with a meal.

CHEERS!

FAT BOB'S CAFE
741 Glenhuntly Rd, Caulfield Sth.
Cafe Style
Ph. 523 9054.

"Fat Bob's Cafe" has delicious food, freshly prepared and carefully presented, and can be a good venue for a group of people looking for a friendly night out — but keep in mind that it is not really designed for couples seeking a quiet dinner.

The interior is pleasantly designed, for example, but tables consist of large wooden benches and there are no 'tables for two'.

Music is played there every night, ranging from acoustic to jazz, to amateur try outs. It tends to be on the loud side, even the acoustic nights. The boisterous antics of the players on the night we were there were, again, more suited to large tables of people, not the three quiet couples that were present.

If you go with the right group and attitude, though, Fat Bob's can be a very pleasant place indeed.

The menu tends to concentrate on 'late night' items such as pancakes, cakes, sundaes, and exotic drinks — spiders, smoothies and shakes.

It is well worth trying the meals, though, which range from Spaghetti Bolognaise at $5.00 to Garlic or Pepper Steak at $8.50.

The entrees are not extensive, so we chose some garlic bread while we waited for our meals. It was fresh, hot and delicious.

For mains, I tried the Chicken and Mushroom Crepe at $8.00, which consisted of an obviously fresh crepe, beautifully light and crisp, filled with delicious pieces of tender chicken in a mushroom sauce, accompanied by a large serving of salad. It is pleasant to see a salad that does not consist merely of a piece of lettuce and a quarter of tomato for a change — this one had relish, cucumber, olives, tomato, pepper and pineapple.

My partner had the Veal Parmagiana at $8.50. It was the biggest thing I have ever seen, nearly overlapping the plate. Instead of the usual tomato sauce, the enormous piece of veal was covered in bolognese sauce and cheese, and again came with the exceptional salad.

We decided to squeeze in dessert, after a pause, so I chose the Baked Lemon Cheesecake while my companion had the Chocolate Sundae.

The Cheesecake (made from a secret recipe) was light and fluffy with a hint of lemon, a very nice end to the meal. The Chocolate Sundae was pronounced pleasant, though not extraordinary. Both desserts were $2.50.

To wash down the feast we had Twinings Tea chosen from the extensive list, and a Cappuccino.

The food was generally not to be faulted, and Fat Bob's seems an ideal spot to drop in with friends for a late supper, a coffee and some music — but not an intimate tete-a-tete.

MONTESSORI PLAYGROUP

The Montessori Playgroup is for children between 15 months and four years and offers lots of fun learning activities as well as a happy socialising environment. The activities offered are designed to help develop co-ordination, concentration, orderliness, intelligence and self-confidence.

The playgroup is held each Thursday between 9.30 and 11.00am at the Uniting Church Hall at the corner of Booran and North Roads, South Caulfield.

Come along or ring for further details: Gali Mizraki, 578 7589, Helen Deyssing, 528 6170.

St. Mary's Services

St. Mary's Caulfield is active in the area of community service and is endeavouring to "help where there is hurt".

A small care group visits elderly people who are housebound and does shopping, and provides music and taped messages. Anyone who has an hour or two to spare each week and would like to help, please contact Allan and Dorothy Rowlands on 20 8520.

A larger group gathers people from special accommodation houses for church service and luncheon, often with entertainment, four or five times a year.

An attempt to get individual churches together in a combined youth group activity has recently been initiated with encouraging results.

In May St. Mary's will concentrate on preaching for particular needs. Five sermons are directed specifically to such subjects as "A Remedy for Loneliness", "Making Families Strong", "When Life Caves In" and "A Recipe for Happiness".

Special Playgroups for Special Children

Playgroups for children with Special Needs are held every Monday afternoon, 1.30pm to 3.00pm.

Jenny Myers, a developmental physiotherapist with the Health Department is available.

If parents are concerned with their child's development, Jenny is available for consultation Monday afternoon from 3.30 to 5.00 at the Glenhantly Infant Welfare Centre — contact the Centre to make an appointment.

An assessment is necessary before the child starts the group.

Further enquiries should be directed to Glenhantly Infant Welfare Centre on 524 3345 or Ron Merifield 524 3333.

Pat has recently been working on the Op Shop stall which is held in the Caulfield Plaza Shopping Complex on Thursdays between 10.00am and 2.00pm.

The workers at the shop, which raises funds for the Lions International Diabetes Institute, extend their thanks to Pat for her efforts and wish her the best in her future home.

TRIBUTE TO CRAIG McALLISTER

The Murrumbeena Park Committee of Management paid tribute to the late Craig McAllister who died of cancer on 23rd December, 1986.

Craig was born on 15th May, 1965 and was educated at both Murrumbeena Primary and High School. After school he became an Apprentice Butcher. Craig played cricket and football with Murrumbeena for ten years, before he became ill. His parents, Neil and Lorraine were very involved with 9th Caulfield Scouts, and helped raise funds for many years.

Mr Neil McAllister (father) was a former member of the police force mainly involved with the water police. His wife, Lorraine is still employed as a customer service liaison officer with the National Bank of Australia. There were two other children, Jane and Ian.

After suffering an illness in 1985, Craig recovered temporarily until Easter 1986 when, after playing indoor cricket, he did not feel well and saw the doctor who diagnosed cancer. Craig, not to be deterred, continued to be involved as much as possible with his beloved football and cricket club. But time ran out.

The Murrumbeena Park Committee of Management felt that something should be done about honouring this young man's achievements and decided that they would donate a Shield to perpetuate his memory, and it was therefore decided that when football matches are to be played between Murrumbeena and Mentone, they would play for the Shield.

The Shield was presented to Mentone by Mrs Dot Robinson (Secretary/Treasurer of Murrumbeena Park Committee of Management) to Warren Ford, President of Mentone F.C.

The Mayor/Mayorress of the City of Caulfield, Mr and Mrs Jack Campbell together with Cr J Robinson, and the Mayor of Mordialloc, Mr Bill Nixon, Crs Ian Lyons and Chester Grant were also present together with many other personalities, including Minister for Consumer Affairs, Peter Spyker.

SMILE!

"Say cheese!" Vic (or is it Fosters?) is only too happy to oblige with a smile while driver Jim Portz concentrates on steering. The C.U.B. horses are used to being stars, and this trip to Carnegie to visit the Rosstown & Downtown Cellars was just another job.

Soon they will be off to Perth and perhaps Tassie.

Maori Priest in Caulfield

The Reverend Tamati Tuhiwai has become the first Maori priest to be inducted into the Anglican Communion in Melbourne, at St Agnes Anglican Church, in Glenhantly.

He will be the full time Parish Priest of St Agnes, as well as conducting a mission amongst the Maori people living in Melbourne.

Many people may be surprised to know that there is a substantial Maori community in Australia — about 12,000 in Melbourne and 30,000 in Sydney.

"Many came in the late '50s," the Reverend said, "and there is now a second generation of Maoris being born here."

He is hoping that a Maori minister will provide a focus for those living in Melbourne, and he will be providing one service a month in the Maori language.

Rev Tuhiwai is settling in to Melbourne with his wife and fifteen year old daughter. "We are used to travelling around, roughing it," he said. He has five other children in New Zealand, all married.

The services here are a little different from those in New Zealand, more Anglicized and formal compared to the modernized version he is used to, but he is confident of adapting well and providing a worthwhile ministry for Maoris and others, and for Caulfield and the wider community.

VIDEO COURSE FOR YOUNG PEOPLE

A special school holiday activity on video production is to be held at the Youth Resource Centre at Maple St, Caulfield South.

The course aims to teach fourteen to sixteen year olds to produce a video from scratch.

All facets of production will be covered, including operating the camera, learning about lighting, production techniques, interviewing and script writing.

The end product will be a video on life in Caulfield.

The course will run from June 29 to July 3, and June 6 to June 10 — but only twenty places are available so it is advisable to book early.

For enrolment forms and further details ring Lyn Nye on 524 3333.

DROP-IN CENTRE

The Church of Christ in Ormond runs a Drop-In Centre for the Elderly on the second and fourth Tuesday of each month.

Elderly people are picked up from their homes and brought to the Centre to enjoy a hot meal from Meals on Wheels or, if they prefer, a light lunch of sandwiches.

Community singing and activities follow the meal, and there is an afternoon tea available, after which the patrons are dropped home.

There is no entrance fee, but the normal price of a Meals on Wheels dinner is charged, or for the sandwich lunch the price is $1. Afternoon tea is 30c.

For details on the centre or the "pick up" service, please contact Edna Gundry on 578 5518.

Caulfield Park, on the corner of Hawthorn and Balaclava Roads. For further information ring 572 8603.

RECREATION AND LEISURE

SAVE THE BEARS

Caulfield Football Club is in danger of folding unless it gets more community support.

Despite its good squad of keen players, the Club's General Manager Tony Gevaux is worried that Caulfield may follow the same fate as neighbouring Moorabbin, which collapsed under the weight of a number of problems including lack of interest by the community.

"If the community wants to have a football club it has to become involved," said Tony. "Otherwise we might as well pack it in and let the soccer club take over the ground."

The main problem at the start of this year was getting in the players, but that has been resolved now and the club has a full squad, with the seniors competing in the Second Division VFA, and full reserves and under 19s teams.

What the club really wants to see is active people in the community who can "put in their time and enjoy the rewards of seeing the Club become successful again".

Tony is hoping there might be some older people in Caulfield with some time to devote to the Club, as Team Managers, Property Stewards, Timekeepers, Recruitment Officers or simply supporters.

"Retired people have so much to offer," he said, "and with the young people in the new administration we need a few wiser heads, some more experienced people".

Many second division clubs are feeling the impact of the Ford report which suggested that the VFA should be more like the VFL with only twelve teams, and with second division clubs relegated to the metropolitan league.

Under this pressure Caulfield is finding it hard to get sponsorship, recruit players and maintain team morale, and uncertainty and financial worries are taking their toll.

Mr Lindsey Jewel, father of Richmond coach Tony Jewel, was the foundation president of the Caulfield Football Club and is still involved after thirty-three years.

Mr Jewel introduced eleven-year-old Tony to football at Caulfield and has remained loyal to the Club. Now, though, he would like some more people to get involved, "so I can retire" he said with a smile.

Tony urges anyone interested in helping out, whether they are male or female, old or young, to ring on 523 5612 and register their interest.

Social

The Club would also like support for its social functions and fundraisers to help keep the team afloat.

There is a major raffle coming up with a prize of $5000 cash, fashion parades, businessmen's lunches and a sportsman's night.

To help young football players of Caulfield as well as to promote the Club there will be a Football Clinic in July.

For information on any of these events ring Tony Gevaux on 523 5612.

RACE RETURNS

A major event on the athletics calendar is the Victorian Road Championships, and this event is returning to Caulfield Racecourse after an absence of over sixty years.

Between 1892 and 1926 Caulfield Racecourse was the regular venue for the event, and had seen crowds of over 25,000 turn up for the event.

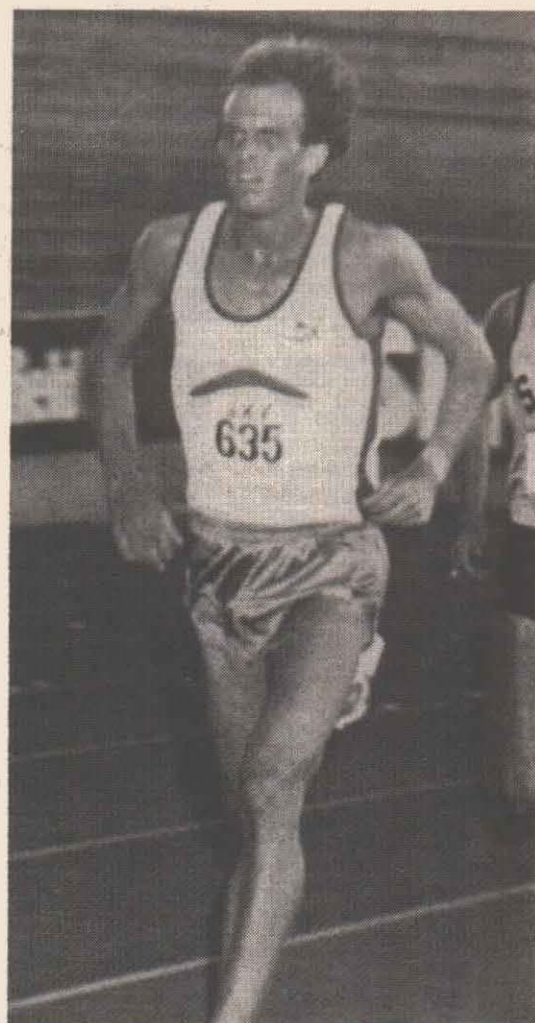

From 1927, though, it was held at Moonee Valley Racecourse, "owing to the rapid residential growth surrounding Caulfield" according to the 1926/7 Victorian Amateur Athletic Association Annual Report.

This year's event will be held on May 30, and the programme is as follows:

2.00pm: U18 Women 5k Road Racing Championship of Victoria; U14 Men 5k Road Racing Championship of Victoria; U14 Women 5k Road Racing Championship of Victoria; INVITATION RUN: 5k ROAD RUN.

2.30pm: Open Men 10k Road Racing Championship of Victoria.

3.15pm: Open Women 10k Road Racing Championship of Victoria; U18 Men 10k Road Racing Championship of Victoria; INVITATION RUN: 10k ROAD RUN.

Adam Hoyle, a star of the Glenhuntly Athletics Club, in full flight.

CAMPS — BE IN IT!

'Life Be In It' is running a series of school holiday camps for "young, adventurous campers" for the June/July break.

For eight to eleven year olds there is a "Bush Adventure Camp" and for twelve to sixteen year olds a "Horse Riding Camp" is offered.

All camps are staffed by qualified leaders with a ratio of at least one staff member to every ten children.

The "Bush Adventure Camp" is held at Jumbuk Park in the Strzelecki Ranges in Gippsland, situated in 320 acres of natural mountain bush.

Accommodation is in heated cabins with private facilities, and activities include bush cooking, animal tracking, a night hike, a camp out, bush first aid, horse riding and mud brick making.

It will be held from Monday June 29 to Friday July 3 and the cost of $165 includes travel.

The "Horse Riding Camp" for older children will also be held at the Park, which has fully equipped stables and an indoor riding centre, and is surrounded by horse riding trails.

Experienced teachers of horse riding will provide tuition in riding (beginners and advanced), horse care, and saddling procedure and will supervise an evening programme of activities.

This camp costs $240 which again includes travel.

For the September/October holidays a "Farm

Camp" is available for eight to eleven year olds, at Crystal Creek Recreation Farm in the Goulburn River Valley.

The farm is a 1000 acre property running sheep and cattle and provides accommodation in bunks in an Australian homestead.

Children will learn about feeding and caring for farm animals, bush crafts, hiking, orienteering and canoeing, and there will be camp fire activities and games.

The inclusive cost is $160, and children will have to bring a sleeping bag and pillow cases.

The booking deadline for the June camps is June 19, and for the October camp September 19, and for bookings or further enquiries ring Karenne or Vicki on 240 8222.

Life Be In It is a non-profit organisation.
