CAULFIELD LIBRARIESA NEW PARK - ITS OFFICIAL!

Caulfield is to receive a valuable boost to its parkland, as the State Government is expected to announce that the Outer Circle Railway land will be developed and maintained as part of a linear park.

The land between Hughesdale Station and Dandenong Road will remain in State Government ownership for public use, and the park will be developed and maintained by the City of Caulfield.

Council has received advice that this will be formally announced by the Premier, the Hon. John Cain on Sunday February 28 on the site at Neerim Road.

Initially the Government had considered a proposal to re-zone and sell the property, but public and Council response caused a rethink of the situation and ultimately retention of the site as open space.

Mayor Jack Campbell commended the Government for its willingness to negotiate over the matter and seek a solution acceptable to all parties.

"The role played by Local Member for St.Kilda and Attorney-General, Andrew McCutcheon, and Joan Kirner, Minister for Conservation, Forests and Lands was particulary important in bringing the park to fruition" Mayor Campbell said.

Other Ministers vitally involved were the then Minister for Transport, Tom Roper and the then Minister for Planning and Environment, Jim Kennan.

Cr. Brian Rudzki who was Mayor when the issue erupted hailed the news as "a great breakthrough in the Council's attempts to provide more public parkland."

He also reflected on the responsible and effective action of the Murrumbeena Outer Circle Residents Group ernment for retention of the park. History

The history of Caulfield's involvement with the area goes back to 1983, when the MMBW sought Council comments on possible sale of the main Road Reservation - Outer Circle Railway.

It was proposed to rezone the land to "Residential C" in 1984, and the land in Caulfield was offered to the Council for $1.1 million.

Caulfield Council then brought together representatives of the Councils through which the Outer Circle Railway ran, and the Mayors of Caulfield, Malvern, Camberwell and Kew acted jointly to present a case to the State Government for a linear park on the reservation.

Deputations were sent to the Ministers involved and a written submission prepared for the Councils by consultants, which states "The Councils are united in their resolve that this regional asset should be maintained in public ownership as usable continuous open space, particularly in the light of Ministry of Transport proposals to rationalise its land holdings, recent rezoning proposals and impending major road developments."

Local resident groups got behind the proposal and arranged activities to draw attention to the

Cr. Rudzki

In response the Government set up an Outer Circle Working Group to prepare a report with a master plan for a linear park.

City Manager Doug Aylen and Manager Planning, Stephen Head, were Caulfield representatives on the Working Party.

The final report was published late in 1986 for Ministerial and Cabinet consideration.

Recommendations were that the reservation not required for transport purposes be set aside as a regional linear park, and that Councils develop and maintain their sections of the park.

Adoption of these recommendations means that a linear park will be developed between the Eastern Freeway and Hughesdale Station.

An implementation phase including public consultation will be overseen by the Department of Conservation, Forests and Lands and handled by an implementation committe comprising representa-

Over 50's Skiing After the overwhelmsuccess of ing Caulfield's ballooning trip for Older Adults, another adventure is being planned - a cross country skiing trip. The holiday will take place at the Departments of Sport and Recreation's camp at Howman's

Gap, and the Department has also given a grant towards the trip. People have already been showing positive interest by many of Caulfield's active older people, and fitness training for the camp is expected to begin in June or July. Watch Caulfield Contact for details.

Swimming Pool

The public has been flocking to make the most of the newlyheated Caulfield Swimming Pool, with attendances up 86% from the same time last year. New programs such as the early morning swimming have also been successful in maximising use of the pool. The solar/gas heating system raises the temperature of the pool to a pleasant level which extends its time of use to include the whole day.

Fore!

A Southern Region Municipality Golf Day is being arranged for Councillors and for staff who work in local government. Each Council has been requested to nominate four male and two female players and the day is to be held at Spring Valley Golf Club in March. This is a Bicentennial event.

Youth Centre

Caulfield is to join in discussions with the Cities of Malvern and Oakleigh to investigate the possibility of establishing a multi-purpose gesource facility at Chadstone Shopping Centre. The intention is to have a resource facility with the emphasis on youth services, including information dissemination and the provision of youth counselling services. Cr. Barrett and the Manager of Children and Family Services have been appointed to the task group to discuss the merits of the proposal.

Load Limit

A load limit of 3 tonnes has been placed in Strathearn Avenue to prevent the use of the street by heavy commercial vehicles, after numerous complaints by residents. After advertising in "The Age", no objections were received so signs will soon be erected.

Chisholm Decision

Prior to the Council determining to grant a permit for the use of floorspace in the Chisholm Tower for commercial offices, CIT lodged an appeal with the Administrative Appeals Tribunal. The Appeal decision have a bearing on the decision unless directly relevant. It found in favour of Chisholm's proposal, but stated strongly that this was not to be taken as a precedent for gaining "back door" approval of commercial developments on land zoned for educational use. In addressing the park-

OBITUARY

Caulfield was saddened to hear of the death of Mrs Gert Webster, Mayoress of Caulfield during 1944. Mrs Webster turned 100 years old last year. As well as her duties as Mayoress, Mrs. Webster was involved in many community activities, including working with the Mission of St. James and St. John for over fifty years, and being a member of the Queen Victoria Hospital Auxiliary and Vice President of the Southern Memorial Auxiliary up until a few years ago. We extend our sympathies to her family and feel sorrow at the loss of such a fine member of our community.

BICENTENNIAL VINTAGE CARS HEAD OFF FROM CAULFIELD

Caulfield will play host to a major Bicentennial event when about 250 vintage cars gather in Caulfield Park on March 11 to start their long trek to Canberra, as the Victorian representatives for a national Vintage Car Rally.

Cars will set out from every Australian capital to converge on Canberra for a six-day motoring spectacle from March 15 to March 20. This will be the world's largest such event, and it has attracted entrants from 21 countries with over 1,200 vehicles participating in total.

The departure of the Victorian contingent will be a spectacular event, as the beautiful old autos gather in their hundreds, and as well as Caulfield's Mayor and Council, the Governor of Victoria will be in attendance to wave off the starters.

"We are proud to be hosting such an historic event" said Cr. John Robinson, Chairman of Caulfield's Bicentennial Committee. "It is something not to be missed. We would like the full support of the community, especially the schoolchildren in the surrounding areas."

Cr. Robinson will be travelling to Cooma to meet up with the participants and present each of them with a certificate commemorating their involvement.

Anyone interested in seeing the Vintage cars should be at Caulfield Park before 9.00 am on Friday March 11 to see the start.

Elsternwick Project

New Child Care Centre Planned

Preparations are underway for a muchneeded new children's centre in Elsternwick, bringing the number of children's centres in Caulfield to five.

Council approved in principal the establishment of such a centre in 1986, since which time State Government funding has been obtained, and a suitable site found, meaning that the project can now go ahead.

The site selected for the new centre is at 269 Kooyong Road, currently owned by the Royal Southern Memorial Hospital, who have agreed to lease it to the Council for the children's centre.

For some years Council has seen the need for a centre in Elsternwick, as the four other children's centres - located in Ormond, Carnegie, Murrumbeena, and Caulfield - are all located a considerable distance from Elsternwick residents.

Council's plan to develop land it owns in Elsternwick shopping centre has created considerable interest among business people, with Council having received 17 submissions.

"The level of interest expressed by reputable companies has confirmed the council's research and view that further extension of Elsternwick is viable" said the Mayor, Cr. Jack Campbell.

"The challenge for council is to now assess the submissions and ensure that the centre as a whole benenfits while recognising the amenity implications for nearby residents" he said.

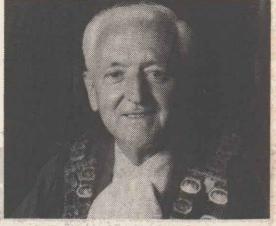

Previous plans for a supermarket on the site were thwarted by delays in acquiring land, but the land now under consideration is entirely owned by the Staniland Grove, and is approximately 6274 square metres in area and has a frontage of 82.42 metres to Staniland Grove and 28.80 metres to Orrong Road.

Currently it houses the Elsternwick Branch library, two off street car parks, and an infant welfare centre and pre-school.

The car spaces will have to be replaced by the developer, as well as creating any additional car spaces required by the development according to Council's off street car parking policy.

"As with the previous supermarket proposal, Council and or the developer will replace any facilities lost to the new development," said Cr. Campbell.

The developer will also have to provide public toilets in the new development so that the old underground toilets in Staniland Grove can be closed and filled in. Other issues the Council has insisted on include that the development will benefit the shopping centre in style and amenity, that satisfactory car parking access will be maintained, appropriate traffic measures undertaken, and landscaping works undergone to ensure residential areas are buffered. Council at its last tial areas are buffered. Council at its last economic development committee meeting gave preliminary consideration to the 17 submissions of interest and resolved to forCommittee chairman Cr. Brian Rudzki said that the short list of parties will be asked to prepare detailed proposals including plans, in accordance with the requirements as stated in the development brief, and supply them to the Council by May 6.

"The Council's overall objective is to facilitate an appropriate commercial development in the Elsternwick shopping centre using its own land as a catalyst and to improve the shopping amenity to service the needs of residents of the area" he said.

TOILETS TO BE

CLOSED

Public toilets in Caulfield are to be locked at night, following complaints of undesirable activities occurring in these facilities after hours.

Police reports indicated that the locking of toilets in the evenings and weekends substantially reduced reports of abuse of the facilities. Council examined E several alternatives including immediate closure of the toilets and to replacing them with b portable facilities, but g this solution was found o to be unsatisfactory m from a cost and convenience point of view. a Eventually, the toilets w at Staniland Grove are to be closed and new m public toilets will be incorporated into the new Elsternwick commercial development. In the mean time, all toilets in Caulfield are to be fitted with lockable gates and once this has occurred they will remain locked in the evenings and on weekends, and additional money will be spent to paint and generally upgrade and maintain them.

MUSIC AND DANCE AT THE LIBRARY

Commencing Thursday March 10 at 7.30pm the Caulfield Library, Maple St., will be alive with dance and musical performances.

For three consecutive Thursday evenings acclaimed performers will demonstrate the cultural diversity of Melbourne. On March 10 the musical duo Lenko which fuses backgrounds from Greece, the Balkans and the Middle East with jazz to produce traditional music within a contemporary framework will perform.

The following week Chadrabhanu will perform Indian dance, a dance which combines elements of narrative drama, emotion and physical movements of great strength and beauty. His dance is based on colourful Hindu myths which he recreates through stories and explanations and then translates into the language of dance with stunning virtuosity. Neil Jillet of the Age newspaper has described him as "one of the finest dancers in Australia". The final evening will feature a moving performance by Thami Mlotshwa, a black South African whose music is spiritual and haunting, featuring singing, dancing, chanting and story telling including some stories told to him by his grandmother.

Enquiries about the free evenings should be directed to Barry Scott, Community Services Librarian on 524 3357.

Volunteering - To Do the Shopping!

who Anyone the groans at thought of doing their weekly shopping should spare a thought for Audrey Tyrrell, who regularly does five different lots of shopping on top of her own.

Audrey is a volunteer who shops for people who are unable to manage it for one reason or another, perhaps older people who like their independence but just can't carry heavy bags of shopping or agoraphobics who fear going outdoors.

"You would be amazed at the people who live on their own and manage" she said.

She shops twice a week, on Mondays and Thursdays and is now quite familiar with the shopkeepers in the area and the likes and dislikes of her clients, having been doing this for about five years. "I forget how long exactly - the time goes so quickly" said Audrey.

As well as her voluntary shopping, Audrey works on the Community Bus program, which is a service that takes older people for outings on the weekend, and also delivers books from St. Kilda library to Caroline House Nursing Home.

She is a member of the Women's Auxiliary Australian Air Force, having been a WAAF during the war, and is very involved in that organisation as well. Audrey is a quiet woman who does not seem to want any accolades for what she does. Her philosophy is simply that "everbody should put something back."

"It is nice to be involved with people" she said

Audrey has considerable experience in dealing with people with special needs, having run a Special Accommodation Home in St.

Kilda. After her husband died it was a bit too much for her to handle, so she gave it up, but has kept up her community work as a volunteer. special skills to be involved in this work, though, in fact Audrey is "always surprised at the different types of people you find involved in different things."

She points out that the benefit is not all one way - she says the work "keeps you young".

Residents are invited to inspect proposed roadworks that will occur in conjunction with the widening of the Princes Highway between Hawthorn and Tooronga Roads.

Studies have indicated that this is a low priority area for extensive traffic management schemes, but with major works on the Princes Highway to commence in August or September of this year intersection treatments associated with the project have to be finalised fairly shortly.

Detailed layout plans have been prepared outlining the recommended treatment of these intersections. The plans take into account landscaping, noise re-

Safe Area for Toddlers

Caulfield's toddlers will soon have two new "safe play" areas thanks to Council and the Bicentennial Authority.

Funding from the Authority has been matched by the Council to refurbish the two proposed sites for the construction of these areas, one in Jersey Parade and one in Princes Park.

Both sites are close to and accessible from other services and facilities frequently used by parents with young children.

The Jersey Parade site is currently run down and rarely used, and is very close to the Maternal and Child Health Centre, the Carnegie Resource Centre, the Shopping Centre and many playduction and safety measures as well as access and traffic flow.

The cost of the treatments, including landscaping, is to be met by the Road Construction Authority.

You are invited to inspect the detailed layout plans of the proposed reconstruction and widening works for Princes Highway East, and the detailed plans of the various recommended street intersection treatments which are now on display at the City Offices. The plans may be inspected between 9.00 am and 4.00 pm Monday to Friday and enquiries may be directed to Council's Traffic Engineer on 524 3324 or 524 3300.

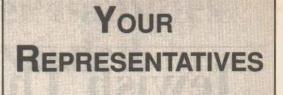

Your comments regarding the proposed local street intersection treatments at Princes Highway East are welcomed and will be received up until March 11 for consideration by Council.

The Princes Park site is close to the Library, the Recreation Centre, the Maternal and Child Health Centre and the Caulfield South Kindergarten.

The plans will involve principles such as that the design should provide meaningful play experience for toddlers, that safety, security and quality of design and equipment take priority over quantity and short term fashion in play equipment and that the design should assist parents to supervise and oversee the child's movements and behaviour.

Parent groups in both areas have strongly supported the idea, and should soon be able to enjoy the new facilities with their toddlers.

Cr. David Spencer knows the Carnegie-Murrumbeena area and its people very well. He has lived all his 25 years of married life there in Margaret St. and has taught thousands of children from that area during his 17 years at Murrumbeena High School where he is a senior Science teacher.

Cr. Spencer has found satisfaction from being able to help fellow residents with problems they may have dealing with Council, and from working with residents and achieving successful outcomes - like the retention of the Outer Circle Railway Reserve for parkland and the retention of police presence in Murrumbeena.

He is proud of Council achievements like the much needed Nursing Home soon to be constructed and the new playground installed in Packer Park.

Cr. Spencer is continuing to work for improved maintenance of neglected streets and better traffic flow, and development that improves Caulfield and increases employment opportunities.

He represents Caulfield Council on the Southern Region Consultative Council of the Community Services of Victoria and is President of the Packer Park Committee of Management. He is a Zone Leader in his Neighbourhood Watch Area and an active member of several other community organizations. He is a supporter of the Caulfield Band in which his son Jeremy plays the trombone.

His wife Rosemary is a great support. They have 2 daughters, 2 sons, a son-in-law and 2 grandchildren. Any spare time is spent supporting his children in their participation in local school and sporting club activities or in swimming or, occasionally, sailing

Cr. Spencer has gained satisfaction and experience from his first 3 year term in Council and will seek to use this experience and continue to serve East Ward residents.

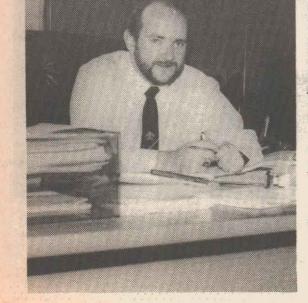

Cr. Don Dunstan is not a new face on Council, having served a previous term, from 1977 to 1980. His original interest stemmed from the debate on the possible tearing down of the Town Hall, and his interest in maintaining Caulfield's historic buildings continues.

The Councillor is also proud of Caulfield's record of open Committee Meetings, a policy which was introduced during his term. "It is the most important single achievement in recent years in Local Government" he said. "A breakthrough in community relations. Other issues Cr. Dunstan is interested in include improving the living environment of the City and promoting parks and gardens. He believes Caulfield has the potential for being the best-run Council in Victoria. "The future of Council lies with its residents. If Council looks after the interests of the residents we will have a good city for the future. I see my job as a Councillor as ensuring the rights of the citizens are protected and that Caulfield will continue to be the best place to live." Cr. Dunstan is another real "Caulfield man" having been born and gone to school here. He is single and devotes all his spare time to Council activities.

EXHIBITIONS IN THE NEW GALLERY From Monday

March 7, 1988, the residents of Caulfield will be able to visit the superb new Caulfield Arts Complex Gallery, and to view two special opening exhibitions.

The Duldig Ceramics: A Retrospective will present a comprehensive survey of the ceramics produced by sculptor Karl Duldig (1902-86) and his first wife, the artist Slawa Duldig (nee Horowitz) who died in 1975.

From the mid 1940's to the lat 1950's, the two Viennese-trained artists were engaged in a small home-based pottery enterprise, as well as pursuing full-time careers as secondary school teachers. From small studios first in Acland St., St.Kilda and later in Glen Iris and Malvern, they produced an impressive variety of utilitarian wares, including plates, cups and saucers, bowls, ramekins, tea and coffee sets and vases. Examples of these in the exhibition illustrate the Duldigs' unique decorative style, using underglaze colours'in energetic and innovative designs.

In addition to the functional pottery, the Duldig studio also produced a quantity of oneoff decorative pieces, such as wall plaques, platters, urns, vases, candlesticks, lampshades and costume jewellery. Items with broad, flat surfaces were sometimes "painted" with favourite scenes or themes from mythology and religion, such as Adam and Eve in the Garden of Eden.

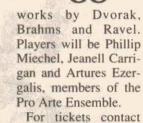

Although the handmade pottery sideline was very demanding on the family, Karl Duldig still found sufficient energy and creativity to pursue work in his primary art form - sculpture. The 1950's saw the recognition of his skills in Australia; he held his second one-man exhibition at Australian Galleries in 1958 (the first was at Kozminsky Galleries in 1945) and his peers voted him Victorian Sculptor of the Year in 1956 for his terracotta sculpture "Moses" which was subsequently purchased by the National Gallery of Victoria. Another terracotta work, "Prophet", which is displayed in the exhibition, created considerable critical interest when it was first shown in 1953.

Small terracotta and glazed sculptures of figures and animals, real and imaginary, were an outlet for lighthearted and humorous expression from the first. These small, spontaneously modelled pieces were often conceived as maquettes for larger works in terracotta and in bronze. The terracotta sculpture "Yoga" is exhibited with its original maquette.

The culmination of Karl Duldig's innovative use of clay and underglaze colour was in his monumental terracotta reliefs. A number The Duldig Ceramics: A Retrospective is open daily from March 7, at the new Caulfield Arts Complex Gallery at the corner of Glen Eira and Hawthorn Roads, Caulfield. An illustrated catalogue is available.

of these were commissioned for private residences and for the facades of buildings, including the Kadimah Cultural Centre in Elsternwick. "Progress of Man", installed on the facade of 505 St. Kilda Road in 1960, is perhaps the finest example on public display, and a magnificent colour detail from this work is featured on the cover of the exhibition catalogue. Now a resident of Melbourne, her work has been shown in numerous one-woman exhibitions in Australia and she is represented in state art galleries, university collections and many private and corporate collections.

One of her best known paintings is "Children Playing", which was reproduced by UNICEF during the International Year of the Child. Another major work is "The Garden for All Seasons, a triptych of Melbourne's Botanic Gardens, which was acquired by the Victorian Arts Centre.

A NOT-SO-NEW COMMUNITY ARTS OFFICER

Liz Rees, known to some residents from her work as Branch Librarian at Carnegie Resource Centre, has now moved on to the large task of being Community Arts Officer in this year of both the Caulfield Festival and the Bicentenary.

Librarianship is not heronly skill. Liz is well qualified for her new job with a degree in Music (cello and piano), and experience as Chairman of an amateur theatre group. She has been on the Nunawading Arts Council and comes from a family with a longtime interest in drama.

Liz also worked as Community Services Librarian for three months last year when Barry Scott was overseas, and organised music nights in the libraries.

Despite all this; Liz sees the job as a fairly big change from her position in the Library.

"Though when I was Community Services Librarian I was bringing arts to the libraries, this will be bringing arts to the whole community."

The first big task for Liz is organising this year's Caulfield Festival, and she is keen to hear from residents.

"We are anxious for the community to participate in the running of the festival" she said. "It should be run by the community for the community".

The type of thing people can be involved in include such various sporting events such as bowls and tennis, and in particular the Community Day, December 4, when anyone with something to say, to sell, or to perform, can be involved. "All community groups who are interested in participating in Community Day with a stall or event should contact me as soon as possible. Also anyone who can offer ideas for different events is welcome to ring" said Liz. A major event of the Festival is the performance of "Pandora's

Land", a chorodrama by

Stelios Tsiolas which has been commissioned by Caulfield and funded

Stelios will be working with groups of musicians from the community from April onwards in a series of worships designed to demonstrate how a composer goes about preparing a commissioned work for performance. If anyone in the community is interested in participating in either the workshops or the performance they should also contact Liz. Another major event will be the Aquatic "Its a Knockout" at Caulfield Swimming Pool, and Liz is hoping to involve school groups in this. She is also hoping to involve youth in the one-act drama festival. Part of the finale to the Festival will be the dedicating of the Sculpture and the burying of the Time Capsule at its base, to be opened in 50 vears.

Though the Festival will be taking up a lot of Liz's time, she is also trying to meet as many community arts groups as possible.

"This includes all forms of community art from Chess Clubs, to Craft or Music or Drama Groups" she said.

If you are a member of a community arts group and/or interested in the Festival, please contact Liz on 524 3351.

Foster Families Needed

Foster Care South East Inc. has been operating in the cities of Caulfield, Malvern and Oakleigh since 1984. They are now looking for new foster families to join the program. The children who need foster care are of all ages from babies to teenagers and come from a whole range of family backgrounds and circumstances. They are looking for flexible supportive families who would be interested in caring for children for varying periods while their parents receive assistance in overcoming the difficulties they are facing. They are especially needing families who would be interested in developing the skills to care for children for more than six months and for families who would consider taking two children.

Some of the children they have been unable to help with foster care include:

"Sara, a six year old girl whose mother is unable to care for her because of mental illness. Sara is a quiet sad little girl who needs considerable encouragement. Her mother is unsure whether she will be able to care for Sara in the future. Sara needs a stable family to live with while her mother receives further treatment and assistance and decisions are made as to whether she can return to her mother's care or move to a permanent family.'

"Martin, aged 10, is a vigorous active boy with a bright cheerful manner. He struggles with school work and has difficulties making friends. If tasks get hard he is inclined to give up. Martin has had a very disrupted life. His mother has many health problems and has constantly moved house."

"Marie, aged 12, has been sexually abused by her step-father. Her mother is struggling to build her life on her own, so she can resume caring for Marie. Marie is a very confused girl. She can seem both years older and younger thar her age."

"Toby, aged 2, is a very active toddler. He can be quite aggressive but responds well to calmness and routines His parents are both teenagers who need considerable help with their own lives.'

"Kylie is two year: old and has severe cere bral palsy. She is very responsive to people bu is very slow to feed and can demand a lot of time and attention. Her owr parents are very stressed by her constant care and are needing a break fo several months.'

Regular information sessions where you car learn more about Foste Care are planned during 1988.

If you would like to attend an Information Session, or to learn mon about Foster Care please ring Joanna Ec cleston, Rhona Noake or Mary Tassigiannaki on 568 2599.

by the Bicentennial Authority specifically for this Festival.

Murrumbeena Park Bowls Club celebrated both the Bicentennial Australia Day and their own clubs anniversay by really getting into the spirit of the times. They decorated the Clubhouse, had map and diary readings and a true convict dinner. Everyone wore traditional costumes and convict punishments were dealt out to those who broke the rules. Even the Mayor Cr. Jack Campbell suffered several lashes with the Cat'o'Nine Tails for failing to eat his soup with his hands.

GLENHUNTLY CO-OP

Last year, a group of Glenhuntly residents banded together to form the Glenhuntly Co-Op. From those first meetings, we jare now at the point where we have received a grant which we are prepared to use as rental and establishment costs on a house in the Glenhuntly area.

We are looking for a large old house where residents can come together to cook and eat in the evenings. It is hoped that it will be used by the community as a meeting place to share aspects of daily living and sharing of local ideas and resources. We are asking for anyone interested in contrib uting to this Glenhuntl venture or anybody whi knows of a suitable house in this area to contact us through Rut Whittingham at the Caulfield Council or 524 3333.

As soon as we find place, it will be open t everyone to contribut their ideas.

Caulfield Cuisine Focus on...Elsternwick

As we continue our culinary tour of Elsternwick, we find that this particular area is edged by American imports on both sides, from "Carvel - Cream of American Icecream" on the corner of Glenhuntly and Kooyong Roads, to the ever-present McDonalds on the Nepean Highway at the other end. Never fear, though, there is the usual range of international food in between these poles.

Lovers of Chinese Food are particularly catered for in this stretch with four Chinese restaurants in this block. The Red Dragon at 289 offers Szechuan style meals and value lunches - including a six course lunch for $8. Almost next door at 281 is the Kim San, another Chinese establishment, and down the road is Wongs Cafe, a BYO which offers set menues for lunch at a mere $8.30. The Gold Leaf, a large restaurant which runs from 235-239 offers Malaysian and Chinese dishes. So in one small block in Caulfield you can sample all the variety of Chinese cuisine.

For something completely different you could try Mexico City at 273, a delightful little place already reviewed in a previous "Caulfield Cuisine." The Pasta Time Deli at 412 is currently closed for renovation, but promises it is re-opening soon. For further munchies in this block you may be forced to go a little more casual - for instance, to the Bella Blue Pizza Bistro at 213. Lunch Lunchers in this area are well served, though, with a variety of snack bars, delis and cafes competing for their custom.

The Deli at 387 advertises "Superb" coffee, no less, along with freshly squeezed juices, and pates and dips. Kate's Eat In or Takeaway nearby offers Banana Smoothies, and everything from Pasta and gourmet sandwiches to hot pies. Meanwhile the Bistro at 346 suggests you try a sandwich, a cake and a cappucino in its "garden courtyard." There is another little coffee shop that awaits you at the end of the arcade near Carre St. if you want to get off the main dragway.

Hot

If you fancy a hot bite, there is the Elstenwick Charcoal BBQ Chicken, with a sticker on the door saying "Roosta in Paradise' (I'm not quite sure what that suggests) or Tiffany's BBQ chicken further down the road. Then, of course, there is always the old stand-by of Fish and Chips, with the chip shop at 341 also selling those little luxuries like Crayfish, Oysshun humble chips can satisfy their Pritikin longings at either the Wholefoods Warehouse or the Elsternwick Health Food shop. Cake ters and Prawns.

Those who would

Where dedicated eaters really come into their own, though, is in the range of tempting continental cake shops. There is La Favorita Patisserie at 279 with scrumptious Almond Tarts, Cartocci Cream, Cheese Turnovers etc. Down the road at 320 is the French Patisserie displaying Almond croissants, filled eclairs and other goodies, and Aviv Continental Cakes at 404 specializes in European sweeties.

For a final indulgence the aptly-named Temptation Box at 389 will make up gift baskets of chocolates, nuts and sweets for you or your sweetheart.

Congratulations to Michael SantaLucia on winning the Club Championship. Members have been kept busy with a number of special events, including three days of the National Bowls Championships Ladies Vice Presidents, Lorna Williams and Beryl Hayes, entertained members on a beautiful summer day recently. Vera Murphy, June Cameron and Poppy Sharkey represented the Club in the Bicentenary Ladies' Triples, performing very creditably. the "Carry-On" Pairs event was won by Vera Murphy (Captain) and Millie O'Connor., The Annual Gala Day, once again generously sponsored by RESI Statewide, was a great success, with over 200 bowlers enjoying excellent greens and having lots of fun with a variety of stalls. The profit of over $2000 was a credit to those who worked so hard. Special mention must be made of Greens Director, Alf Murphy, and his helpers who were responsible for the excellent condition of the greens throughout this busy period. Visitors are always welcome to this very friendly Club and there are plenty of bowling days ahead, should you wish to join us. Special coaching is available for new bowlers.

Glenhuntly

On Labor Day, Monday March 14, starting at 1.30pm a Three Bowl Mixed Pairs event will be contested for the C.and M. Goodwin Trophy. This is only the second year in which this event has been conducted. Only last season, the Goodwins from the UK gave the Club a handsome trophy for annual competition in appreciation of the hospitality afforded them by the Club during their stay. An all day Open Mixed Triples will be played on Saturday March 19 starting at 10.30am and bowlers interested should contact Geoff Piper on 211 2666.

A popular innovation last year, a Super-Veterans Day, will be repeated this season on Saturday March 26 at 1.30pm. Each Super-Veteran in the Club, male and female, "draws a team out of a hat" and the trophy goes to the "owner" of the wining team.

kangaroos. Not forgotten was the Swagman with his tuckerbag, watching his billy boil and damper cooking on his camp fire. Posters, Australiana and memorabilia were also displayed. As usual on Australia Day, a mixed bowls medley was played and before play began, our President Graham Warland gave a special welcome to visitors, and one of the members read the poem "200 Years On", after which the National Anthem was sung, followed by the Raising of the Flag, which proved to be a very moving ceremony. In perfect sunshine, the tournament was played, and at afternoon tea "Australia" biscuits were served, and the cake, specially decorated for our 200th Birthday, was cut and distributed.

It was truly a day of celebration and a day enjoyed by all.

He added: "Our Caulfield Campus historically is the oldest part of the total School with some 900 secondary enrolments in what is a total enrolment of

Red Cross Calling -and they need your help

Red Cross needs the help of the public to finance its much needed services. This year it is aiming to collect $4 million, the amount calculated to allow its services to continue and expand.

The annual doorknock 'Red Cross Calling' is the spearhead of this target. This year, it will be held from 15 - 20 March, when volunteers will be knocking on doors throughout Victoria to raise $1.6 million. Volunteers will wear identification badges and a receipt will be given for every donation. Donations of $2 or more are tax deductible. To ensure the success of 'Red Cross Calling', more volunteers are urgently needed.

Any person who is able to give a few hours to assist with the doorknock is asked to contact Mrs. A.Campbell on 568 0275.

JEWISH BEREAVEMENT SUPPORT PROJECT

While traditional Jewish mourning customs have always provided much comfort and consolation for the bereaved, there are many people in the Jewish Community who need continuing support and friendship after the death of someone they love, be it spouse, parent, friend or child. Over the past 20 years, research has shown that recovery after bereavment can be a long and painful process requiring special understanding. Unresolved grief can lead to health problems and even to earlier death: not only when a loved one dies, but when we are feeling the loss of a marriage, a job or our

Although those who themselves have experienced the pain of loss and grief can certainly offer valuable support to others, there are many sensitive people who could be trained. We suggest, however, that those who have had a recent personal bereavement will not be ready to help others until their own grief is beginning to resolve. Sometimes it is best to wait for a year or two. When trained, volunteers in this programme will be involved in a range of helping and educational activities. Practical, as well as emotional support will be offered by the volunteers to the bereaved. Regular meetings with guest speakers will be arranged to assist the bereaved in their adjustment. Topics may include legal and financial matters, and helping children cope with loss.

A group of concerned individuals and experienced bereavement counsellors have met several times over the past year to plan a Jewish Bereavement Support Project. Beginning after Pesach, volunteers are required to first undergo a special training course in which they will learn to communicate with bereaved people.

This concept of community bereavement support for the widowed was pioneered in the United States by a social worker and fuchallenge of providing such services in the Jewish Community in Melbourne.

Applications to volunteer must be received by Monday April 18, 1988. For enquiries and application forms please contact:

CALISTHENICS CLUB

In this day of an ever increasing awareness of healthy living and keeping fit, Calisthenics is becoming more prominent as the ideal way to achieve this goal without traumas.

Calisthenics is unique to Australia and has been in existence for over 60 years. There are now over 10,000 girls of all ages participating and competing at various levels throughout Australia.

Calisthenics was originated to enable all girls to participate in activities ranging from Free Exercises, Rod Twisting, Plastique, Club Swinging, Folk Dancing, Figure Marching, Singing and Dancing. Through Calisthenics girls gain confidence, co-ordination, poise and good posture, plus flexibility and strength.

Caulfield Calisthenic Club is not a new Club they have been established for 45 years under the name of "St. Mary's Calishtenic Club." Their present teacher is a Registered Teacher with the V.C.T.A and a past Championship Competitor, and has taught for the last 9 years

'Pryme Ball Team Invited to Adelaide'

Our Pryme Ball team was established in 1986 by Recreation Officer for Older Adults, Penny Paxman who saw the game played by the Pryme Movers of Heidleberg.

Since then, the team has played regularly and at the same time have tried to encourage other Councils and Community Groups to establish their own teams.

Their enthusiasm has been so infectious that Jenny Daff, Co-ordinator of the City of Salisbury's recreation project, came to visit whilst in Melbourne last year. As a result of that visit, our team has been invited to Salisbury, a suburb of Adelaide, to demonstrate Pryme Ball at the officieal opening of their new Centre on March 13.

Twelve people will travel by coach to Adelaide and will be accommodated by the people of Salisbury.

The soft flowing movements of Tai Chi combined with diaphragmatic breathing, stimulates the body, making it more supple, as well as generating. Described by many as being the ultimate exercise system, it is suitable for any age, male or female, the therapeutic benefits are common to all.
