Incinerator By-Law for Caulfield

In an effort to help combat the pollution problem in Melbourne, a new By-Law covering barbecues, burning and incinerators has been proposed for the whole of the City of Caulfield. Burning off has been restricted to particular days and times, incinerators must conform to set standards, and fines may be imposed for breaking the new rules.

The new By-Law has come about in response to resident complaints and concern by Councilors that smoke and burning interfere with the Caulfield lifestyle, particularly in leisure time, as well as contributing towards Melbourne's smog problem.

The Environment Protection Agency points out that "burning off" at home contributes a significant amount to overall pollution, particularly in autumn and winter when burning is most common.

The EPA states that "in stagnant weather conditions, airborne particles from domestic burning can reduce visibility by 10 to 15 per cent."

It also says quite simply that "if smoke and ash from suburban burning cannot be significantly reduced co-operatively, EPA may be forced to ban it altogether."

Cr. Martens has been campaigning for stricter guidelines for some time and was pleased with the new controls.

The By-Law, based on the EPA Incinerator Model By-Law, designates particular days on which incinerators can be used and is specific about their siting and construction.

Use of incinerators will not be allowed on any Friday, Saturday, Sunday, Monday or Public Holiday, and on other days only between the hours of 10 am and 3 pm (except with special permission). They are also not to be lit on Smog Alert Days or Total Fire Ban Days.

There are standards imposed on the construction of incinerators, including that

- *they are situated at least one metre from the boundary of the property and at least three metres from any building on the property and three metres from dwellings on adjacent land

- *they are made of an approved non-combustible material

- *they are constructed in such a way that sparks and burning materials are prevented from spreading

- *the area around the incinerator is free from flammable materials

- *they are stable in their construction

- *they are maintained in good repair.

You will not be allowed to burn materials such as rubber or plastic, petrol, paints, chemicals, pressurized cans, food wastes or any material dangerous to the health or offensive to other people.

The practice of lighting fires in gutters to burn leaves is a dangerous practice and is also banned under the By-Law, and people lighting fires in the open air, for example on building sites, will have to have a permit and notify the local Fire Brigade.

The permit for lighting fires in the open may contain conditions limiting the size and number of fires, and requiring supervision and safety standards.

Fines from $50 to $400 can be imposed for the breaking of these laws.

The By-Law is quite deliberate in trying to deter people from incinerating, which is a polluting and unnecessary practice, as rubbish generally can be disposed of in more environmentally sound means.

Newspaper and cardboard is collected and can be recycled, materials such as grass clippings, leaves and vegetable matter can be composted or, if this is impossible, disposed of in the big bins.

Information on recycling and composting is available from the waste disposal department of the Caulfield Council on 524 3333.

The By-Law can be viewed at the City Offices and will be confirmed at the next Council meeting.

It will come into effect some time after that, and residents will be duly informed of the date the By-Law becomes official.

SOLD! SPURWAY SALE BOOSTS HOME FUND

The Spurway Homes are "knocked down" for $850,000, providing a valuable boost to the Nursing Home Fund.

Caulfield's Nursing Home Fund has received a boost of $850,000, proceeds donated from the sale of the Spurway Homes on June 23.

Cr. Patience, Chairman of the Fund Raising Committee said "We are delighted with the result and we feel it will help immensely towards the finished project." He said that people should not be complacent, though.

"We still have half a million dollars to raise to fully equip the Home so we are still seeking donations. There will be a door knock in Caulfield later this year."

Robert Spurway

The Spurway Homes Trust was set up in 1925 by Robert Spurway, a builder, who wanted to found residences for people unable to maintain themselves due to sickness, age or infirmity.

Spurway transferred the land and houses at 14 Anderson Street, Caulfield, to the original Trustees with an investment of 2,000 pounds to provide a fund for the ongoing management and maintenance costs.

The six ferro concrete, one bedroom dwellings are in three blocks of two dwellings, each sharing a bathroom, toilet and laundry.

They were operated successfully until the last few years when structural and maintenance problems with the buildings, such as roofing, guttering and plumbing were detected, and it was found that the accommodation was not up to an acceptable standard for low cost housing today.

It was found that the Trust did not have sufficient funds to cover the expenses involved in upgrading the dwellings to an acceptable standard, and with the Trust being unlikely to receive any additional funds in the future it was decided other means of carrying on the purpose of the Trust had to be found.

that "the establishment by the City of Caulfield of a Nursing Home is a very worthwhile project and that the purpose of the City of Caulfield Nursing Home Fund is compatible in common and in spirit with the original intentions of Robert Spurway."

They also felt that the assets of the trust could be used more efficiently in conjunction with those of the Nursing Home Fund.

The Nursing Home, which will be built in Murrumbeena Road, Murrumbeena, is to be called the City of Caulfield Spurway Nursing Home to commemorate the work and ideals of Robert Spurway.

News from Council

Beautification Delay

The Transport Ministry is holding up the much needed and overdue improvements in Hughesdale.

The Hughesdale Beautification Committee has drawn up plans for improvements to the Hughesdale Shopping Centre which include some attractive brick paving for pedestrians crossing the railway line. The committee wrote to the Ministry of Transport requesting permission to do the paving which would improve the railway station environs at no cost to the railways but were astonished to be told they would have to pay an upfront charge and rent for the land used! This makes the proposition unviable.

The committee is trying to make the Transport Ministry see the benefit to all concerned, and is seeking their co-operation without further delay.

Hughesdale Beautification Committee comprises members of the Hughesdale Chamber of Commerce, Councillors of Caulfield's East Ward, and Oakleigh's West Ward, and engineers from both councils, and the Ministry of Planning and Environment.

Post Office

Council has received a report on the condition of the Elsternwick Post Office with a view to preventing further deterioration while the future of the building is decided. The report found that the original building is still in reasonable condition but that some repainting is required. The rear section, though newer, is in worse condition and requires some substantial work.

Quotes for the works are now being obtained.

Older Adults Recreation Survey.

Council has completed a report on the recreation needs of Older Adults in the City of Caulfield.

The report found that there was generally a positive response to the Council's programs. The most popular event was swimming, followed by bus trips, theatre outings and gentle exercise to music and walking. People generally heard of the activities through Caulfield Contact or by word of mouth.

Australia Day

Caulfield has supported the National Australia Day Council in its campaign that the Australia Day holiday should always be held on January 26.

The request came about because of a proposal to return to the long weekend Australia Day holiday, whereby regardless of the day January 26 falls on, the holiday should always be observed over a long weekend.

Council felt it appropriate, in this Bicentennial Year, to accord January 26 its rightful significance.

Referendum

Following last month's Caulfield Contact article on the recognition of Local Government, letters were received from several members of the Opposition, both State and Federal, putting their case. Council, however, saw no argument strong enough to convince them to oppose the measure, which will constitutionally enshrine Local Government, so has restated their support for the referendum question.

Decision Overturned

The Administrative Appeals Tribunal has issued a notice of determination regarding the proposed flood lit sky sign at 663 North Road Ormond. The Council refused the application, fearing it would have a dominating effect on the skyline and affect the amenity of the area, as well as causing visual disorder and clutter. The Tribunal found that the building was within a Light Industrial Zone of various styles and sizes, and that other signage was prominent in the landscape. It therefore stated that the sign could go ahead, with a limit to its size of one metre above the height of the wall, and a ruling that it be kept tidy at all times.

Parking Restrictions

Following a request from shopkeepers in Hawthorn Road, South Caulfield, parking restrictions will be placed on the west side of Hawthorn Road, North of Sycamore Street.

Shopkeepers found that extended parking was occurring there by patrons of the nearby London Tavern. Parking will now be restricted to one hour during business hours in that area.

Loading Zone

A temporary Loading Zone has been approved for Railway Avenue, outside the Chisholm Tower building. Chisholm requested the space to allow pick up and delivery vehicles to have access. Council stressed that it was not prepared to provide a permanent on-street

Thank You

Council expressed its thanks to Mrs. Fayth Henham, who has resigned her position as Manager Domiciliary and Residential Care, for her work towards the establishment of the Nursing Home. Mrs. Henham has resigned to pursue further studies.

Death of Local Identities

by Rebecca Lucas

Local identity Robert Dusting of South Caulfield died of lung cancer on the 20th March, 1988. His wife, Ethel Gertrude, died only three months before, on 5th December, 1987, also a victim of cancer.

The deaths of these two people closes a chapter on the 72 year history of the Dusting family in Caulfield. Their son, Robert, of Glenhuntly Road keeps the Dusting spirit alive.

Bert was born in 1899 and grew up in Perth assembling "T-Model" Fords. In 1916 his family settled in James Street, Glenhuntly into a home they called "Hesmurdie". He remained in the car trade for a long time, first in the city at Frazer Byworth & Co, then in St. Kilda, and after a short period at Gippsland he persevered a garage business in Koo-Wee-Rup.

Bert married Ethel Young on the 8th May, 1926. It was also in this year that Bert was registered an 'A' grade Automotive Engineer. His brother Jack from Glenhuntly joined his business until 1940 when he married Irene Scott Bert's mother still lived in James Street, yet died of a heart-attack in 1936. His sister also lived there with her son Robert until she died of cancer in 1965. His brother Les was killed in a car accident at Sandringham, 1929

In 1966 'Hesmurdie' was demolished to be replaced by another house, presently standing at 30 James Street. In 1983 Bert and Ethel moved to the corner of Clarke Avenue and Glenhuntly Road.

Bert retired in 1973 at the age of 74. Both he and Ethel were active and keen members of the Caulfield and Koo-Wee-Rup Communities, involving themselves in Bowls, Croquet, The blind Auxiliary, Country Womens Association, St. Johns Church, Koo-Wee-Rup and St. Anthony's Church Glenhuntly. Bert would have turned 89 on 4th May this year.

This article was written up by Rebecca Lucas, a work experience student here at the Council for two weeks.

Labassa Needs New Friends

Caulfield's beautiful historic mansion "Labassa" is hoping for an influx of friends to help in its restoration.

A meeting will be held at Labassa, 2 Manor Grove, Caulfield at 8 pm on Wednesday, July 13 to form the "Friends of Labassa" to raise funds and assist in returning this magnificent building to its former glory.

Labassa, apart from being a splendid example of boom style architecture, is fortunate in retaining much of its interior design as well as its structure.

It is described by the National Trust as "one of the most important mansions in Australia, particularly for its interiors, which are richly decorated and finely executed. The design of the exterior of the mansion is both distinctive and unusual, containing strong European influences rather than the English features which characterize most mansions of the 1880's."

Labassa has gone through many stages to become what it is today.

The house was completed in 1890 to the design of John Augustus Bernard Koch, but was actually an extension of a house already on the premises.

During the 1920's the property was subdivided, the street Manor Grove was created and brick flats were constructed adjoining the property. Labassa itself was divided into flats.

The National Trust, with the assistance of Alcoa, was able to purchase the property in 1980, and this year a substantial donation from Amatil is helping to painstakingly restore some of the main rooms.

Though this part of the restoration should be finished by December this year, complete restoration of the mansion will take several years and a lot of effort and skill. If you want to help in this important project, come along to the Friends of Labassa Meeting to indicate your support. Contact Carol Ormerod on 654 4711 for further information.

Footnote: Do you have knowledge of the whereabouts of any of the original Labassa fittings?

The Trust is particularly interested in finding two bronze statues of women holding lamps, which were originally light fittings marking the start of the grand staircase; also the storks and urns from the parapets of Labassa, which may have ended up in someone's garden; and any lamps or other interior fittings from the mansion. If you know of anything that originally came from Labassa, please ring Carol Ormerod on 654 4711.

Tracing Your Family Tree

The Caulfield Library Service has a strong commitment to the area of family history.

Extensive printed and microfiche genealogical resources are available for use, while a book on the subject produced by the library service will be published by Viking O'Neill in the near future. During July the library is hosting a series of activities on family history. Commencing on Thursday July 14 at 7.30 pm at the Caulfield Library, Maple St., the program of three lectures conducted by Lynne House and Garelle Drodge will take place over three consecutive Thursday nights.

Garelle and Lynne are both experienced genealogical researchers. Garelle has traced her own family as far back as 1066. Since 1987 they have operated House Researchers, a partnership specializing in family history research.

The first evening they present will cover getting started and geneological sources in Victoria, the second further Australian and interstate sources, the third overseas genealogical sources.

The evenings are free and will provide a perfect opportunity for both newcomers to the field to find out what is involved and old hands to refresh and broaden their knowledge.

Participants are encouraged to attend all sessions and to book by phoning Barry Scott, Community Services Librarian on 524 3357.

When Carers Need a Break . . .

Looking after an older person at home can be very demanding work. For many people, providing full-time care for an elderly relative or partner means just that - 24 hour care with very limited opportunities for a night off or a holiday. And anyone who works seven days a week without a break soon feels exhausted and "burnt out".

Most carers though, understandably, are not prepared to leave their spouse or parent unless they are sure they will receive good quality care. Such care is available at Council's three hostels for frail aged people.

Each hostel has a guest room for short-term accommodation for elderly people to provide family relief for their carers. Each guest room is like a motel room and has its own ensuite bathroom. Staff provide whatever personal care assistance is required and meals are served in the hostel dining room. There are regular activities at the hostels and guests are welcome to participate.

The length of stay at the hostel can be as short as a weekend or as long as six weeks. The charge for full board is $20 per day.

Council's hostels are bright and modern buildings with pleasant garden areas. The staff are friendly and supportive and the residents welcome a new face in the dining room.

Most guests enjoy their short "holiday" in the hostel, having made some new friends. Carers arrive relaxed and refreshed to take their spouse or relative home and with renewed energy and patience to cope with the demands of daily care.

For further information or to make a booking, contact the Assessment Team in the Domiciliary and Residential Care section of Human Services on 524 3228. Carers are most welcome to inspect the guest rooms and the hostels without obligation, provided an appointment is made.

AREA 32 TO GET TRAFFIC TREATMENTS

Local Area No. 32, bordered by Glenhantly and Hawthorn Roads, Aileen Avenue and Kooyong Road, is the next area to be involved in the Caulfield's Local Area Traffic Management Scheme.

The scheme is based around studies done on Caulfield streets which examine traffic volumes, speed, and number and type of accidents to determine which areas are most in need of treatment.

The whole of Caulfield has now been examined and priorities given to ensure the most dangerous streets are given first consideration.

Area 32 is the next priority and detailed plans will be on display at the City Offices for resident comment. Submissions from residents will be outlined in a Council meeting in August before plans are finalized.

Plans for the area include the use of splitter islands, raised slow points, improved line-marking and changes of priority.

Cypress Trees to Stay

Council has decided to retain the Cypress trees in E.E. Gunn Reserve, after extensive consultation with residents and inspection of the area.

After the park Committee of Management requested the removal of the trees, Council sent a letter to nearby residents asking for their comment.

Of the responses received, one was in agreement, two had no objection and nineteen registered a strong objection.

Residents generally felt that the trees screened the view of the railway embankment and the Park grandstand, that they provided a noise buffer from the railway line and pavilion during functions, and that they were attractive and provided shelter and shade.

The Committee of Management was concerned that the trees were causing trouble by interfering with overhead electricity cables, damaging footpaths and sewers with their roots, preventing grass growth on the oval nearest the trees and casting shadows over the cricket wickets.

On inspection, Council's Landscape Architect found that any problems the trees caused were not so vital as to warrant the removal of such important old trees.

SANDRINGHAM DEVELOPMENT NOT ON

Council has received advice from the Minister for Planning and Environment that "at this stage the Ministry ... is not contemplating a study of residential development within the Sandringham corridor", clearing up confusion and resident concerns over the future of the area.

A Council meeting on March 15 this year considered a newspaper report which raised the prospect of high density residential development of an 800 metre wide corridor along the Sandringham Railway line. A petition signed by 305 residents was also received at the same time.

The confusion apparently arose between the newspaper comments and a proposed Ministry for Planning and Environment report which was to consider density increases. At the same time, the Sandringham Line Demonstration Project Report was released which proposed redevelopment of the Elsternwick Railway Station area for retailing and carparking.

When Council wrote to the Ministry for Planning and Environment, the response made it clear that they had abandoned any proposed study of the area for high density development, at least for the time being.

Council Withdraws from Trade Waste

Council has recently carried out a Review of its Trade Waste Service and has decided to partially withdraw from the service, after having experienced problems in making the present charges and types of service operate economically.

Following the call of the tenders for the sale of the metal 1.3 cubic metre bins and business, Council has decided to sell this business to a company trading as Waste Service Australia.

This organisation has agreed to continue the service to all regular customers at the existing rates for at least another six months. They will also carry out service for all "on-call" customers on the basis of scheduling a collection at least every second week, on the existing rates. Alternatively they are prepared to negotiate a suitable alternate service.

The changeover

from the Council service to Waste Service Australia will take place on the 1 July, 1988, or as soon thereafter as negotiations are completed. Existing customers will be notified accordingly, but for any interim information contact either the Council on 524 3238, or Waste Service Australia on 895 0545.

Those residents who have made use of the Weekender Bin System in the past will from the changeover date, need to direct their business to either the new operator or one of the many other commercial waste operators providing a similar service to the metropolitan area.

The 240 litre plastic bin component of the Trade Waste System is also under review, and the results of present negotiations may see this service also sold to a private operator. All customers will receive further notification of the Council's decision regarding this service.

Glass Recycling Program

Council is very committed to the glass recycling campaign which it sees as an important part of the city's overall waste management program.

In an effort to improve the success of this service a new calendar has been produced for the second half of the year, advising people of their appropriate glass collection days. (These remain unchanged at fortnightly intervals).

Your continued support helps minimise overall waste collection costs and contributes towards the important recycling process. If you do not receive your calendar over the next few days please contact Council's Works Depot on 524 3266 or pick one up from the Engineering Department at the City Offices.

Murrumbeena House

The Council has received a number of enquiries from people regarding the renovations being completed at Murrumbeena House. Murrumbeena House, located at 105 Murrumbeena Road Murrumbeena has until recently been a community venue which has provided space for the operation of groups such as Occasional Care. Following a major renovation Murrumbeena House now houses the Murrumbeena Maternal and Child Health Centre. Space has also been allocated for Family Planning and the Murrumbeena Spinners Group inside the House. A portable room has been installed outside in the backyard and provides Murrumbeena Occasional Care and other community interest groups with a comfortable meeting area. Telephone - Murrumbeena Maternal and Child Health 569 5700, Murrumbeena Occasional Care 568 4935.

Council Elections

Council elections will be held on August 6 this year. The four Councillors up for election are: North Ward - Cr. David Bloom; South Ward - Cr. James Barrett; East Ward - Cr. David Spencer; West Ward - Cr. Emil Braun.

Elections will only be held if the incumbent Councillors are opposed.

Nominations will be open from July 9, 1988 to July 14, 1988, and nomination forms can be obtained from the City Offices.

All Caulfield residents must vote, and those who are unable to be there on the day may vote by post or at the City Offices any time from the close of nominations.

fies to Chisholm's long standing and valuable contribution to Australia's art practice.

Opening on July 14th will be an exhibition of a totally different flavour. Mary Leunig well known for her cartoons and drawings, will show the original drawings from her last book "A Piece of Cake". Leunig's drawings with their black humor and irreverent commentary, exposes the fears and fantasies that many of us are loathe to face. She has an ability to reveal the tragicomedy behind everyday experience and elevate it to a universal plane.

Showing with Leunig will be Peter Rushen in his first extensive exhibition of drawings and paintings. A local artist Rushen studied at Phillip Institute and is currently studying printmaking at Chisholm as well as working in his studio.

There is humor in this work too, especially in a series of small drawings which portray the activities of city dwellers, clones or the self-destructive tendencies of wood-cutters as they beat a path through the bush.

A painting trip through the Flinders Ranges served as a point of departure for most of the landscape paintings in this exhibition and these canvasses ably compliment Rushen's graphic skills.

Caulfield Sculpture Talk

In December 1980 the City of Caulfield selected "The Future Vitality of Caulfield" from the sculptor, Dan Wolmerring, as the sculpture commission for the City of Caulfield's new sculpture garden. The garden, on the corner of Glen Eira and Hawthorn Roads, is the precinct for the Town Hall and the Caulfield Arts Complex.

Dan Wolmerring is a graduate of Fine Arts and Education from St. Johns University, Collegeville, Minnesota, U.S.A. and currently a lecturer in wood craft / sculpture at Gippland Institute of advanced Education. His work is included in the collections of St. Johns University, Minnesota, Mildura Arts Centre, Phillip Institute and Richmond TAFE. He participated in the Sculpture Triennial, National Gallery of Victoria in 1987 and on 28th July opens an exhibition of recent work at the Latrobe Valley Arts Centre, Morwell.

On Wednesday, 6th

Dan Wolmerring with the maquette of his sculpture

July at 7.30pm Dan Wolmerring will present a seminar in the theatre at the Caulfield Arts Complex. He will speak about contemporary sculpture projects, his own work and how it led up to the Caulfield Commission.

The Maquette for the sculpture will be on display and there will be ample time for questions and discussion. The seminar will take place during the Chisholm, Episode 1 Exhibition in Caulfield Arts Complex Gallery. The exhibition includes work by Dan Wolmerring and people attending the seminar can enjoy special viewing of this collection at the conclusion of the seminar. The Caulfield Arts Complex is located on the corner of Glen Eira and Hawthorn Roads, entrance is through the main portico on the Glen Eira Road front.

Admission is free.

For further information contact Alan Moor at the Caulfield Arts Complex on 524 3277.

There is a hot community lunch each Wednesday at 12.30 p.m. (cost $2) and it would be great if you joined us for that before the mural painting.

Ring Sonia or Christine or one of our wonderful volunteers at Fusion Community Centre on 568 2427 to register your interest or make enquiries.

The first performance by the Caulfield City Choir, which was held in conjunction with the Camberwell Chorale and the Camerata Orchestra, was held on Saturday May 14 and the supporters who were present at the Camberwell Civic Centre on that occasion will agree that the Concert was highly successful.

A reasonably large audience showed their appreciation for the performers - the soloists were polished and gave good interpretation of the music and the Musical Director, Conductor Douglas Heywood, had the 100 singers at peak performance.

Congratulations are due to all who were involved with this exciting rendition of Haydn's "The Creation".

Preparations are now in hand, by the Caulfield City Choir, for their popular mid-year Concert of music in a lighter vein.

More details will be announced in these pages as the date comes nearer. Meanwhile, the Conductor, Committee and Choir Members would be delighted to welcome potential new Members to this happy group of music-makers.

Practices are held each Monday evening in the St. Stephen's Uniting Church Hall, Balaclava Rd., Caulfield from 7.45 pm to 9.45 pm. Come and "listen in" at a practice and meet dynamic leader Douglas Heywood.

Further information can be obtained from Choir Secretary, Mrs. Margaret Glasson on 523 6523.

The ability to sight read is an advantage but it is quite essential to be able to sing in tune.

All music is provided; an Annual Subscription is payable but there is no Entrance Fee.

Get rid of Monday-itis and come and join this local well established group of enthusiastic choristers.

New Skills at Secondary College

Students of the Television and Studio Work Course

Caulfield Secondary College students were involved in their first week long Special Educational Activities Programme recently. Students had the opportunity to extend their experiences in many exciting ways.

Activities ranged from learning of new skills to cultural enrichment. Carpentry, Ceramics, Pottery, Electric Motors, Desk Top Publishing, Television and Studio Work, Photography, Theatre-Make-up, Pasta and Bread Making, Horse riding, Table Tennis, a Melbourne Tour and a Picnic at Hanging Rock are some examples of the things the students enjoyed.

The Special Educational Programmes are intended to reflect the school's aim of extending the range of subjects students can try. This year, the Year 9&10 curriculum was radically changed. These year levels are now developed on a two year, four semester basis. All students continue their core education, but can select from a wide variety of other subjects. The College community feels that this curriculum will be the best preparation for the new VCE at Year 11&12.

The College believes in student-centred education; and caters for a wide range of interests and talents. Years 7&8 classes generally are taken in a separated section of the College, and a well planned pastoral programme means a caring transition from Primary school.

At the senior level, a wide range of VCE subjects are available, catering for a wide diversity of students.

This College has acted early in facing the changes that will come to all schools in the near future, and offers students a relevant, vital education that prepares them for the future.

Caulfield Secondary College also has a policy of involvement with its local community. At the moment the school offers an after-hours, adult carpentry class, catering for any level of experience.

To enrol in carpentry, discuss enrolment for 1989, or learn more about the school in general, ring 211 7838.

Caulfield Youth have a new Project Officer, Richard Cooke. Richard grew up in the Caulfield / Brighton area. He has developed a knowledge and understanding of the community and was attracted to his position through his commitment to Youth Participation and Community Development.

Richard has also achieved a degree in Fine Arts and Painting. He also is strongly involved in music, with performing and music taking up a large part of his personal time.

During his degree Richard voluntarily became involved in Youth Housing. He then took on the full-time position as a House Worker in conjunction with Fusion Aust. (Community and Youth Outreach Organization).

Following this he took up the position of Youth Project Officer with Elwood Community Youth Support Scheme, for eighteen months.

Richard will mainly be working fairly flexible hours including some evenings managing the Youth Resource Centre (Lair) above the Caulfield Recreation Centre in Maple Street.

Richard is eager to get started on a range of projects such as the ongoing development of the Caulfield Youth Council, in their endeavour to become a self-managing body and as an integrated entity.

"I would like to offer my involvement within the council, that will create an arena for young men and women to work together and strengthen their ability to contribute in our community decision making process", he said.

He would also like to integrate kids into local newspapers, with the possibility of starting a Reporters Social Club.

I feel confident he will remain the Project Officer for a long time.

The C.Y.C. in conjunction with Fusion has received a grant from the Bicentennial Authority to organize a Youth Cabaret.

Richard is the type of dedicated person who will take on his new position with great enthusiasm.

CYC Needs U

Youth Concession—Have Your Say.

Caulfield Youth Council (C.Y.C.) recently received a letter requesting suggestions for the semester activities run by the Caulfield Arts Complex.

The concern was that young people may have previously not been able to afford the various courses available.

One suggestion so far is that there be two youth prices; one for students and the unemployed and another for working people up to their early 20's.

Any further suggestions, Write to C.Y.C. P.O. Box 325, Caulfield South 3162, or attend a C.Y.C. meeting, held the last Thursday of the month at 7.30 p.m. at the Youth Resource Centre (on the 1st floor of the Recreation Centre in Maple Street, Caulfield South.)

For further enquiries phone Frank Nobels (Youth Development Officer) on 524 3333 or Karen Nisbet (Secretary C.Y.C.) on 524 3259 in work hours.

50 Years On

Ida and George Carr of Murrumbena celebrated their Golden Wedding Anniversary on Saturday 11th June with a family dinner at the Murrumbena Park Bowls Club on Saturday night, where both are Foundation Members and Ida is a life member.

This was followed by an at home on Sunday 12th June when 60 guests were entertained and our Mayoress of Caulfield graciously presented Ida with with a basket of flowers.

Glenhantly Co-Op

Residents of Glenhantly may have noticed a change in the Glenhantly shopping centre. The Old Vic Theatre Restaurant at 1213 Glenhantly Road has been taken over by local residents who have received government funding to form the Glenhantly "Joint Effort" Association.

The venue will be used as a meeting place for people of all ages to come together in order to combine their strengths and consolidate their talents in joint activity.

We envisage that the venue will function throughout each day as a safe place to drop in. Depending on the time of day you may find children playing, meals being cooked and shared, local music bands performing and a variety of group activities aimed at alleviating the friendless isolation that besets so many people in this community.

Don't let age, sex or cultural background stop you from ringing or coming in. Joint Effort is made up of people just like yourselves who want to make our lives, and yours, more mutually supportive.

Because we are so new, we are in need of all kinds of household goods such as pots, cups, tablecloths, paint, foodstuffs, furniture, books, musical instruments, toys and anything else you feel able to contribute.

If you cannot get these things to us, we will be extremely happy to collect them from

you. Our phone number is 572 2033.

A public meeting is to be held on Wednesday July 13 at the Old Vic at 7.30 pm.

It is hoped that this night won't be too cold to stop you from coming and sharing with us your thoughts on ways this new facility can be of most advantage to you.

However, please come at any time that suits you to share your creative thoughts. We look forward to meeting you.

"Out and About" with a Melbourne Expert

Local writer Stan Marks has recently produced a book called "Out and About in Melbourne", a guide to how to get the most out of this city.

Though it caters for visitors, Stan hopes Melburnians will make use of it as much as anyone else.

"Melbourne has a lot to offer," he said, "and Melburnians seem to know their own city least of all."

The book contains information on transport, shopping, "don't miss" attractions, Festivals, restaurants and much more. Though full of information, it is written in a relaxed, chatty style and the author's pride in his home town clearly comes through.

There is a section of suggestions for those who have only one, to five days in Melbourne, day trips outside Melbourne, and even quotable quotes of famous peoples' opinions of the city.

Anecdotes

"I felt there was a need for a 'guide with anecdotes'" said Stan. "I have been wanting to write a book on Melbourne for ages."

He is well qualified to write such a guide, having been a journalist, author of several books, public relations manager for the Australian Tourist Commission, and guide to Melbourne for an estimated 2000 visitors.

Visitors generally are impressed with the Arts Centre and the gardens, and love the fairy penguins.

"People are always ringing me up, saying they've got visitors and asking me what they should show them."

Author Stan Marks

Stan waxes lyrical about the things Melbourne has to offer - the theatre and cabaret scene, jazz, comedy, the multitude of different restaurants and the friendliness of the people.

"In Sydney they take visitors out, but Melbourne people take them home."

Caulfield

Stan Marks has been living in Caulfield for twenty years now, and has published a variety of works including the "St.Kilda Sketchbook", children's books and a novel which will soon be made into a movie.

Caulfield restaurant Liszt gets a mention in the dining section, and the beautiful mansion Rippon Lea is listed as an attraction.

Know Your Parks

To look at Caulfield Park today, wandering through the well kept lawns, the flowerbeds, lake and beautiful trees, you would not think that a mere one hundred years ago it was marshy land known as Paddy's Swamp, damp and muddy and blamed for the spreading of disease.

From its inauspicious beginning, Caulfield's premier park is now cited as one of the major recreational spaces in Melbourne as the many residents who enjoy its facilities through a sporting club or by simply walking through the ground would agree.

The Park is now host to many clubs ranging from Baseball, through Hockey and Lacrosse, Cricket, Football, Bowls, and Croquet.

It also provides passive recreational space with play areas for children and a large lake complete with birdlife and bridges, also an aviary stocked with commonplace and exotic birds, a Conservatory and several memorials.

Along with the good work of Council's Parks and Gardens staff, the success of this and all Caulfield's Parks is largely attributable to the hard-working Committees of Management.

Caulfield Park

Cr. Bloom in Caulfield Park

Volunteers

"Not many people realize that the Committee of Management is made up of volunteers", said Cr. Bloom, Chairman of the Caulfield Park Committee of Management. "They give up their own time to help with the running of the park, and they do a terrific job".

Cr. Bloom said the great thing about Caulfield Park is that it caters for anyone from young people playing organised sports, to older people who simply like to stroll or children who can play in the safe children's area.

History

In 1866, a large shallow swamp with a reed covered island in the middle known as "Paddy's Swamp" (possibly after a dog of the same name) was reserved as a public park and watering place.

In 1889, after Paddy's Swamp had become known as a permanent watering and recreational space, the Central Board of Health claimed that the incidence of typhoid in Caulfield was due to the water in Caulfield Park being polluted. The Council rejected this claim, pointing out that the water was full of fish and wild-fowl.

As it is today, Caulfield Park quickly became popular with sporting clubs and by 1905 seven cricket clubs were competing for three pitches.

A Board of Trust was established in 1908 but broke down under financial commitments, and Caulfield Council was reinstated as the committee of management in 1917. In that same year residents won their protest about parts of the Park being enclosed, with the Minister for Lands ruling that no part of Caulfield Park should be enclosed by a fence.

Today the status of Caulfield park remains virtually unchanged from then, being permanent Crown Reserves, solely for recreation and with responsibility for their management vested in Caulfield Council.

MND Video

Little Company of Mary Hospital Inc., is a specialist Hospital which has a Neurological Disease Unit which treats many people with Motor Neurone Disease (MND). The hospital staff have a special expertise in this area and are constantly overrun with queries from other health professionals, people who know people with MND or who have MND.

MND is not common. It receives little publicity and knowledge about it is sketchy. This 3 part video provides information and answers some of the questions you may have about MND.

The video is available for purchase at (VHS) $100 or (U-Matic) $120 and for hire at (VHS) $20 or (U-Matic) $25 per week.

For details to hire or purchase this video, please ring Little Company of Mary Hospital 596 2853.

Literacy Tutors Needed

A number of volunteer literacy tutors have recently completed a training course at Holmesglan College of TAFE and are eagerly awaiting the allocation of their first adult literacy student.

While adult Literacy Programs and Migrant English Programs provide classes for adults, volunteer tutors matched on a 1:1 basis with the students make a vital contribution to their knowledge also.

After the volunteer tutors undertake an 11 week course of 3 hours per week at Holmesglan College of TAFE they are invited to take a student on a 1:1 basis for 2 hours per week over a period of 12 months.

Amanda Pryce, co-ordinator of the Literacy Volunteer Training Program would like to hear from anyone who is interested.

No formal qualifications are needed but a good writing and reading skill, and a genuine desire to share skills are helpful.

The next training program commences in July.

For further information phone Amanda Pryce on 567 1d543 or Sue or Lorraine on 567 1547.

The Caulfield Adult Literacy Group has been set up to help those who are having difficulty with this particular problem.

In early July, the Group is conducting Tutor Training for volunteers willing to help those people with literacy problems.

Tutor Training will be run at Elsternwick Library, one evening per week for three weeks.

After the training, volunteer tutors will be able to teach adults to read and write.

The group will then match tutors with adults with literacy problems. The pair will then meet at a time and place convenient to both.

If you are interested in becoming a tutor, phone co-ordinator Julie Wurf on 211 1426 for further details.

Have you ever wondered what it would be like to be unable to fill out a bank withdrawal form? A Medicare form? Or even read instruction on medications?

For thousands of Australians, this is a problem that they have to face every day. Through no fault of their own, they have missed out on reading and writing skills at a basic level.

Yavneh Buddies Help Out

Yavneh Children share their time with older citizens

A dedicated band of teachers at Yavneh College, Caulfield, has devised a unique scheme that touches the hearts and minds of their pupils.

Under the School's human relations program, groups of children regularly visit the blind, those with cerebral palsy, multiple sclerosis and the aged.

For two hours each Wednesday afternoon 11 classes from grade three to six travel with their teachers to centres such as Dame Mary Herring Centre, Montefiore Homes, MS Day Care Complex, MS Hospital, St. Pauls Blind School and Elanora Old Aged Home for the Blind.

The program exposes the children usually for the first time in their lives to children and to older people with particular disabilities.

At the Dame Mary Herring Centre, Helen Braun's pupils are teamed with a child on a "BUDDY" system, to allow a bond to develop.

One boy who was hesitant and a little scared when the program started, now feels an affinity towards disabled people.

So successful has the program been that some buddies want to take their mates home for the weekend and others help out at the various centres during school holidays.

The buddy program is now being extended to the visits of the elderly There is also a strong practical side to the Yavneh program.

"Last year our school raised more money for the Spastic Society than any other in Victoria. And with a read-a-thon for MS we were second in the state," said Michael

Southern FM

Southern-Fm, through its last test broadcast, has generated interest from local bands seeking exposure by means of demo tapes being broadcast during the transmission. Most of this interest came forward after the conclusion of the test broadcast in May this year.

Resulting from this high level of interest being shown, Southern-FM is keen to hear from local bands and artists who would like to have their material released on record.

Southern-FM is proposing to distribute this proposed record throughout the southern suburbs' music outlets, together with approaching the larger radio stations to give the material airplay, and major record companies for possible recording contracts.

This record will be the initial phase of tangible support and encouragement of local talent. At this stage, the station foresees future record projects to include recordings of local Jazz, Classical, Country and Electronic groups. The station also emphasises that the venture is primarily to support and encourage local talent, and is not a profit motivated money making exercise.

Local bands are encouraged to contact the station expressing their interest, including a demo tape of original material (not covers) and full contact details. This should be sent to the station (P.O.Box 188 Moorabbin 3189) before the end of July.

Caulfield Run a Winner

The Victorian 10 km road championship held at Caulfield on May 28 proved a real winner for the 581 athletes who took part in the race. A high standard of running saw 17 athletes running the race in under 30 minutes.

Steven Moneghetti, one of Australia's top hopes for a medal at Seoul, set a sizzling pace to be first home in a personal best time of 20 minutes 19 seconds. Many thought that Malcombe Norwood would have too much pace for him on the day, but Moneghetti turned the heat on from the start and soon established a winning break. Norwood finished 2nd in 28.33 with Brad Camp 3rd in 28.35. Australian 1500 metre champion Mike Hillardt finished a credible 4th in 29.07. Moneghetti, Camp and Hillardt are all going to the Seoul Olympics.

Glenhantly's first athlete home was Gerard Ryan who finished 5th in 29.11 and Glenhantly had the winning A Grade Team which included Ryan, Jeff Coole who finished 10th at 29.26, Paul Wilson who finished 7th at 29.40, Steven Crowley at 20th running 30.02, Tony McMahon 26th with 30.13 and Rob Guilgillan 30.24.

In the U18 race, Glenhantly athlete Julian Paynter was pipped at the post by Alan Davey. Julian looked to have control of the race and tried to break Davey with 3 km to go with some strong surges. Paynter ran the 10 km in 30.58. Glenhantly won the teams race with Paynter, Anthony Neal, Bill Graafsma, and Peter Macknamara. Andrew Cook finished 18th, while Ashley Van Wensurfer recorded 38.17 and Dominic McGrath ran 41.51.

Athletics is open to athletes at all levels. You don't have to be an Olympic Standard Athlete to compete. Glenhantly President, Peter Bullen, finished 552nd in 42.26 and probably enjoyed the race as much as Moneghette. If you are interested in competing in Road, Cross Country or Track, contact Greg Ellis on 720 2838.
