Sunday market refused

CAULFIELD Council made a decision at last week's executive services committee meeting to refuse an application for a Sunday Market.

The proposed Market was to be held in the carpark at the Caulfield General Medical Centre and commence trading at 7am.

Many residents who live in the area bordered by Kooyong Rd, Glen Eira Rd, Hawthorn Rd and Glen Huntly Rd, strongly objected to the proposal.

Among other things, residents said that the market would be detrimental to the amenity of the residential area, would create enormous traffic congestion, and that current carparking facilities are totally inadequate for the likely number of visitors the market would attract, causing people to park in residential streets.

Another major factor which contributed to the refusal for the permit was the proposed starting time of 7am. The hours and intensity of use are considered to be totally inappropriate for the Hospital site.

Mr Maxwell Sherlock, nominated by the Resident's Protest Group, said "a market would be an intrusion to a residential area on a Sunday."

"The whole amenity of the area on the day would be a mess."

One resident said it would cause loss of privacy during her leisure time.

Cr Anderson put forward a motion to refuse the market for the reasons of carparking, traffic congestion, noise and loss of privacy.

Cr Grossbard also opposed the proposal but thought the idea of a market was fantastic and suggested an appropriate venue away from residents and traffic should be sought.

News in Brief

Brothel refused

CAULFIELD Council refused an application for a brothel at 53 Nepean Hwy, Elsternwick at last month's executive services meeting.

As with most applications of this nature, the Council received many objections from residents with a wide range of concerns.

Among other things, people said that the brothel would adversely affect the amenity of the area, it would bring more traffic into the area, causing traffic congestion and home values would decrease.

Planning brochure

CAULFIELD Council made a decision to publish an explanatory brochure concerning urban consolidation within Caulfield.

It was thought by the Council's Communications Advisory Committee that a brochure of this nature would be helpful for potential residents and developers alike, as it provides a focus on local planning issues, such as carparking, open space, site coverage, setbacks and landscaping.

Multi-residential development

CAULFIELD Council, at its last executive services meeting, refused an application to develop three, two storey dwellings at 75 Narrawong Rd, Caulfield South.

The Committee listened to numerous objections from the gallery before deciding to refuse the application, based on a number of reasons, including the fact that the proposed development would be out of character with the existing streetscape.

The editor reserves the right to exclude articles submitted for publication.

Mayor's Christmas message

CHRISTMAS for all is the symbol of "peace on earth and goodwill to all people."

However, as we settle into the festive season, we all tend to reflect on the year that has passed and wonder what the next year has in store for us.

On the part of the Caulfield Council, 1991 has been a very productive and satisfying year, commencing with the relocation to new office facilities, which provide more efficient and comfortable premises for both residents and staff.

The Council successfully completed the restoration of the Old Elsternwick Post Office which is now the home of the Metropolitan Municipal Association and the upgrading of the Maple St Library to provide better access to a larger bookstock and the creation of a children's section.

The Council also prepared for a new public park in Gardenvale. This is the culmination of years of planning and property purchases.

In this vein, it is pleasing to report that interested citizens, with the support of the Council, have undertaken a comprehensive tree planting program in the Outer Circle Railway Parkland and that Ms Donna Leslie has completed a beautiful mosaic at the Kitmont St end of this parkland.

The mosaic which is circular and represents natural elements such as the sun, earth, stars, water, moon and leaves, was funded by a Ministry of the Arts grant to the Caulfield Council.

The Council appointed a Finance Strategy Committee to review the City's circumstances in this recession period. As a result interest loans of $2 million have been retired early and a record low rate increase of 3.3% was adopted for 1991/92. This low rate increase is a source of pride for all Caulfield Councillors.

Although our Council is working to overcome several financial difficulties such as the real terms reduction in government grants, a feature of the Council's policy is to provide funds to those projects where community groups show a high degree of self help. This is demonstrated by Park Committees of Management, who often contribute more than 50% of the cost of capital works in recreation areas to attract Council subsidy.

Our corporate plan review was stepped up with research and projections being made by the Council in order to provide satisfactory services to our residents. The new corporate plan will be completed in February 1992 and will ensure that the City of Caulfield continues on its successful pathway.

Given the present economic climate, despite the Council's careful financial planning, several projects on the Council's drawing board have been either staged or dropped to balance the budget, although funding has been provided for several small projects to be completed in 1992.

I am confident, however, that we will all withstand the present state of our economy given the strong community spirit of the Council and the cooperation of the administration, the community service organisations, the business sector and residents of Caulfield.

With this thought in mind, I and my fellow Councillors wish all residents a very happy, healthy and particularly safe Christmas and a 1992 which will bring you happiness and prosperity.

- Cr Veronika Martens
Mayor, City of Caulfield.

Caulfield Festival - a kaleidoscope of colors

Beneath the stunning Japanese lighting and decorations, 300 floating boat lanterns individually lit with candles, transformed Caulfield Lake.

ONE of the main highlights of this year's Caulfield Festival was the visit by members of Caulfield's sister city in Japan, Ogaki.

The visitors, which included three of Japan's beauty queens, Miss Ogaki, Miss Nishimino and Miss Jumangoku, attended the Festival's opening night held at Caulfield Park.

The evening commenced with concerts performed by the Japanese School of Melbourne, followed by the Young Voices of Melbourne Choir, who performed songs in Japanese especially for our Japanese guests.

The concert was followed by a traditional tea ceremony and the floating of approximately 300 boat lanterns, made by local school children.

The boat lanterns, all individually lit, transformed Caulfield Lake.

Other highlights of the day included the Fun Run which attracted more than 420 keen runners.

The 10km run was won by Caulfield resident, Gerard Gaud who completed the run in 32 minutes and 11 seconds.

The Grand Parade was led by Thomas the Tank Engine, followed by the Caulfield City Band, Kooka, stiltwalkers and jugglers.

Chairman for the Festival Committee, Cr David Michelson said "the support of the community and the organisers made this year's Festival the best Caulfield had ever seen."

"The success of the Festival was due to the huge participation by local schools and the community's acceptance of the Festival being an important part of Caulfield's annual social calendar."

The chance of a lifetime

EIGHT local students recently visited Caulfield's sister city in Japan, Ogaki, as part of a 13 day youth exchange program, organised by Caulfield Council and the Caulfield-Rosstown Rotary Club.

The group, lead by Denise Jones, Winsome Warren and David Nettelbeck, spent the first ten days of their trip in Ogaki, researching projects such as drama, music, food, Ikebana, education, life as a Japanese teenager and education in kindergartens.

The remaining three days were spent in Tokyo as free time.

During the first few days of the tour, the girls were worried and nervous about the language barrier they were to experience with their host families.

"It was frustrating for both parties at first, but as time went on we managed to create a way of communicating and were able to really get to know our families," said one student Anna Mylecharane.

"Of the trip, we all enjoyed the time spent with our host families the most."

"The hospitality of the Japanese was fantastic. They were very caring and understanding, making our stay most enjoyable."

"Our stay in Ogaki was a lot of fun and we hope we were all good ambassadors for the Caulfield-Rosstown Rotary Club."

Station beautified

AN enthusiastic group of Hughesdale residents and business people are in the process of creating gardens at Hughesdale station.

Inspired by other stations that have already been beautified, the group has spent time over the past month, planting the initial stages of the gardens.

"The aim is to create a bright and happy setting for the benefit of commuters, local residents and passers by," said the project co-ordinator, Mr Derek Daniell.

"It would be a great help if interested residents could pot some hardy plants now in time for the second stage of the planting in autumn, 1992."

If you would like to be involved and would like to know more information, please phone Mr Daniell on 568 1441.

Principal retires after 13 years

SHELFORD Principal, Miss Elizabeth Britten, recently retired after 13 years of dedicated service to the school.

Miss Britten is an institution in herself, in a school which has a tradition going back nearly one hundred years. Her belief that "smaller units enhance the growth of people" has meant that Shelford has maintained an unusually intimate and supportive school community.

The girls who were in Prep grade when Miss Britten started at Shelford are now the senior year 12 leaders of the school.

Miss Britten has carefully observed these girls, as she has all her pupils and has appreciated watching them develop into young ladies.

This has been the highlight of what she enjoys most about teaching - "the careful and responsive nurturing of the individual which is the real essence of education."

Miss Britten began her teaching career at St Catherine's Girls School in Toorak, teaching English and History.

Later she became a volunteer with the Overseas Services Bureau and was posted to the Resurrection School, an anglican mission school in Pondetta, Papua New Guinea.

Miss Britten returned to Australia where she became assistant to the principal of Geelong Girl's Grammar School.

In 1979, after spending two years as a research assistant with the Department of Education, Miss Britten came to Shelford as Principal.

Most people will agree that Miss Britten is an excellent administrator and a forward thinker. All acknowledge her admirable amalgam of teaching and management skills, humor, pastoral concern and firm but friendly leadership.

Chairman of the school council, Rev. Ray Brooks explains, "she's very caring and concerned - a thoughtful communicator and certainly no whimp!"

Elizabeth Britten will be sadly missed by all at Shelford. She will begin her retirement with an adventurous trip around South America.

Shelford is looking forward to heading into the future under the guidance of its new principal, Mrs Pam Chessell, previously from Korowa.

Leisure opportunities for the disabled

LEISURE Lifestyles is a community based leisure service for people with severe and multiple disabilities, residing in Caulfield and Malvern.

The project, based at Oaktree House, 256 Hawthorn Rd, Caulfield, offers information and advice about accessible leisure and holiday options.

Leisure Lifestyles is an exciting joint initiative between the Spastic Society, Malvern and Caulfield Councils. For the first time two Councils are working cooperatively with a specialist agency to improve the range and quality of leisure services for people with disabilities.

In 1992, a limited number of places will be available for Leisure Access Programs. These are individually tailored programs which aim to give the person involved maximum choice and control over their leisure time - factors which are often taken for granted by able-bodied people.

As many people with severe and multiple disabilities require assistance with communication, meals and other tasks, the development of strong "support networks" involving family, friends, staff, volunteers and other community members are the key to their success.

If you would like more information or would like to volunteer, contact Danielle Crawford on 524 3253.

Caulfield Council would like to notify all residents that the Dog Pound will be closed from December 20, '91 to January 2, '92.

Neighbourhood Watch

SPECIAL FEATURE

WITH the Festive Season approaching, we would like to take the opportunity to remind residents about the importance of Neighbourhood Watch.

What is Neighbourhood Watch?

Neighbourhood Watch is a community-based crime prevention program, aimed at minimising the incidence of preventable crime, especially burglary and theft, within a defined area.

Why do we need Neighbourhood Watch?

Throughout the State of Victoria, a burglary is committed, on average, once every six minutes and in country Victoria alone, crime occurs every seven minutes.

Without cooperation from the public, the Police Force cannot effectively control this rate of crime.

Neighbourhood Watch offers the community a means of actively participating in the prevention and detection of crime, in a joint partnership with the Victoria Police.

Where is Neighbourhood Watch?

It operates throughout Victoria within local communities affected by burglaries and theft, where there is a demonstrated community desire to undertake the program.

Many areas already have Neighbourhood Watch established and additional areas will be implemented when they satisfy the launch criteria.

What is involved?

Residents of Neighbourhood Watch areas participate in the program through four basic strategies.

- Operation Identification - the marking of valuable household items with their driver's licence number preceded by the letter "V" for Victoria, using an engraver or ultra-violet pen. Or by photographing smaller items, such as jewellery, or items which cannot be marked, such as paintings and antiques.

- Informing residents of the incidence of crime in the area on a regular basis and advising them of how to best identify and report criminal and suspicious activity.

- Improving residents' awareness of personal and household security.

- Signposting in areas where Neighbourhood Watch operates as a deterrent to criminal activity.

Neighbourhood Watch is a partnership between the Victoria Police and the residents of Victoria - working together to prevent crime.

With cooperation between neighbours and the implementation of the four strategies of the program, Neighbourhood Watch can assist in creating safer neighbourhoods for all Victorians.

Knock - Knock.... Who's There?

Everybody knows a few of the old "knock-knock" jokes. They are always good for a laugh, but the knock-knock isn't that funny when someone is alone and they have no idea whether the person at the door is a friend or foe.

People in this situation should simply not open the door to strangers. How can you tell who they are unless you can see them? Good question. Voices or names are not enough identification. There are too many cases of wrongly identified voices of people using false names to gain entry.

There's someone in the house

If you return home to find your place has been broken into and suspect the burglar is still inside follow these steps:

- * Do not enter. Quietly go to a neighbour's home or some other nearby point and call the police. Dial 11444

- * If possible, watch your home from a distance and attempt to obtain a description of any person leaving the house.

- * Note any vehicle used by the intruder and try and get the licence number and any other details.

- * Jot down immediately what you have seen. The smallest clues could be vital.

Neighbourhood
watch

Securing Victoria
Together

Be ALERT for:

- the sounds of breaking glass or timber, doors or windows being forced
- strangers in the yard or loitering on the footpath
- unknown vehicles, especially vans in driveways
- people at your door asking questions about neighbours, or asking for people you don't know. These people are often well dressed and well spoken, or in trade type uniforms.

REMEMBER - people from legitimate organisations always carry proper identification and are happy to produce it and allow you to inspect it.

Descriptions of people can vary from one witness to the next. The following are points to look for:

What information will help police?

- description of people involved (male/female, age, height, clothing, luggage, accents, tattoos etc)
- offenders will generally have transport nearby, look for vehicles (including taxi's) parked in the street or just around the corner and write down the registration number and a description of the vehicle

WRITE DOWN the information you have immediately and pass it on to the police.

DO NOT attempt to approach or apprehend a suspect, leave it to the police.

Secure that Car!

- Always remove ignition keys, ensure that no parcels, even tapes are visible.

- Always secure all doors and windows before leaving the car.

- Always engage any locking or other anti theft device.

- Never leave handbags, wallets, drivers' licences, car registration papers, cheque books etc., in the vehicle.

- Never keep, or leave, credit cards in your car. delay in discovering its disappearance could cost you dearly.

- Keep car and house keys separate. Maybe your key tag shows the registration number? If lost, the wrong finder may quickly deduce that the vehicle is in the vicinity. we suggest that your licence number should be the only information on the tag.

- Avoid parking in dark, remote areas, wherever possible.

- Avoid car parks which require the key to be left, whenever possible. If you have a carport or garage - use it. If you have a garage - lock it!

- When leaving a car for service, do not leave house keys or valuables in the vehicle

RING POLICE ON 11444 FOR QUICK REPONSE

Police may not be able to respond to your call immediately, but will attend to your call as soon as possible.

DO NOT feel intimidated or foolish for reporting what you see. There will often be a legitimate reason for what you have seen, but it is better to report ten false alarms than to ignore one genuine incident. Often your information will assist the police to gain information on a series of offences and lead to an eventual arrest.

Neighbourhood Watch

SPECIAL FEATURE

Participate in Operation Identification

Many people make the mistake of not taking security precautions when going on holidays. Take the advice of Neighbourhood Watch and follow these steps....

What is Operation Identification?

Operation Identification is a project designed to discourage the theft of valuables from your home. This is achieved by you, the householder, placing an identifying mark on appropriate items of value that could be stolen. Participating in this project will lessen the likelihood of your property being stolen, but in the event of this happening, the chances of goods being recovered by police and returned to you will be increased.

What you should mark

The following items listed are those most often stolen. It is therefore important that you mark as many of these items as possible regardless of value.

Checklist

Inside:

- television
- binoculars
- antiques
- microwave
- video equipment
- radios
- cameras
- clothing
- kitchen appliances
- typewriters
- sporting goods
- computer equipment
- furniture
- stereo
- cassette recorder
- clocks

Outside:

- power tools
- trailers
- garden tools
- welder
- water pumps
- tool boxes
- lawn mower
- chainsaws
- bicycles
- horse floats
- rotary hoe
- slasher

In the car:

- radio
- speakers
- tools
- battery
- two way radio
- mag wheels

Lock it ... or lose it!

Whenever you leave your house, make sure that all windows and doors are securely latched and locked. Do not try to relate security of your home to the length of time you anticipate being away from it. Five minute outings have a habit of stretching to an hour or more and that is more than enough time for any burglar.

What to photograph

Not all items are suitable for marking. The following items should be photographed, with a ruler beside them to provide scale.

- jewellery
- watches
- silverware
- antiques
- paintings

To house number ... or not

Your home street number should be clearly visible from the street. Reflective numbers are a good idea. If property is a distance from the road, fix your numbers at the entrance to your property. If your house is located on a corner, numbers should face the street named in your address.

Seconds are vital in an emergency. Assist the police, ambulance and fire departments by making your home easy to "find".

Featuring Caulfield's parks and gardens

DUNCAN MacKinnon Park and Princes Park, have the most extensive facilities and are also the best used of the sporting venues within the municipality.

Princes Park

PRINCES Park, situated in Caulfield's South Ward, is among Caulfield's most popular sporting facilities for spectators and participants in active sports. It is also a popular venue for personal fitness activities, such as walking and jogging.

Like all sporting parks in Caulfield, Princes Park has its own committee of management which is responsible for the day to day running of the park, organising and funding of minor works and allocation of sporting grounds to clubs.

Secretary of the committee of management for the past 11 years, Mr Peter Baitz said, "Princes Park has the best football facility and probably the best cricket facility within the City of Caulfield."

It is used in the winter months by Little Ajax Football Club,

Cr Geoff Patience, chairman Princes Park committee of management, and C.O.M. member for 20 years. "We are always looking for new ideas to further improve the facilities the Park has to offer."

Gardenvale FC, South East Suburban Football League, the Southern Metropolitan Police FC and the Caulfield City Soccer Club.

South Caulfield, Christian Brothers Old Boys and Caulfield Bears cricket clubs all use the facilities during the summer months.

Caulfield Council has recently installed new playground equipment at the western end of the Park.

A path has been established which leads through an avenue of trees to the playground and picnic area to the public toilets in the nearby sports pavilion.

Duncan MacKinnon Park

DUNCAN MacKinnon Park, is a regional facility, situated in Caulfield's East Ward, cnr North and Murrumbeena Rds, Murrumbeena.

Established in 1976, it is a multi-purpose sporting facility which attracts both residents of Caulfield and patronage from areas all over Victoria.

It is home to the Glen Huntly Athletic Club, Caulfield Little Athletics Club, Victorian Veterans and five cricket clubs. It is one of the most used and highly regarded sporting centres in Victoria.

Secretary for the committee of management, Ms Jane Stanish said "Duncan MacKinnon is a facility second to none."

"It is the next best to Melbourne's Olympic Park complex and it attracts people from all over the State," she said.

Face lift and shade for athletic track

Work has commenced on a $60,000 upgrade to resurface the athletic track, to provide shade to the spectator stand and to extend the roof of the pavilion to provide extra shelter at the Park.

After assessing the safety needs, in particular the large number of school children and little athletes who use the track, Caulfield Council made a decision to provide $20,000 on a dollar for dollar

Cr Veronika Martens, president and chairman for Duncan MacKinnon Park committee of management.

"It is very pleasing to see that the committee of management, despite having to raise $30,000 each year to maintain the track, so readily accepted the responsibility to match improvement grants."

basis for the erection of shade adjacent to the track.

The committee of management will match the grant and will pay a further $11,000 from its own funds to rejuvenate the track surface.

The rejuvenation process commenced early this month.

Caulfield Mayor, Cr Veronika Martens, said "we had over 100 athletic meetings here last season, predominantly local and regional schools and the Council was obviously worried at the risk from direct exposure to the sun."

The resurfacing work, necessitated by the heavy usage, is being directed by a technical committee headed by Cr Ed Biggs, a member of the committee of management for the past five years.

The unused soccer ground at Duncan MacKinnon Park is a possible site for Caulfield's proposed netball complex.

BOWLED OVER

CARNEGIE Bowls Club have, over recent weeks, had new members join the Club and are pleased to say that others are interested in having a trial run.

Just bring along a pair of heelless shoes or slippers and the actual cost of a set of second hand bowls, complete with leather case could be under $50 should you decide to join.

Contact Elwood Davey on 578 1531 or Joan Bainbridge on 569 5749, who are glad to provide details and arrange for an hour or two on the greens with a coach. Please call after 6pm.

MURRUMBEENA Bowls Club is very fortunate to have a number of members who have the expertise to plan and the ability to carry out major improvements around the Club.

During the winter months, these men ably assisted by a group of dedicated hard working members, have replaced the old seats at the clubhouse end of the green and over the new seats have erected much needed shelters. The cost to the Club was greatly reduced by the voluntary labor so willingly performed by these members.

All throughout the year, men's nominated triples are held each month on the first and third Mondays at 1pm. Visiting players are most welcome.

Social events include monthly Saturday barbecues, a spit roast on Cup Eve, followed by a game of mixed fours on Cup Day.

CARNEGIE Memorial Recreational Club Inc., on behalf of the bowling club, would like to mention the following events.

- Sunday, December 15 at 1pm, there will be nominated mixed triples (sponsored), also at 6.30pm there will be a Christmas party, BYO supper, cost $2 per head.

GLEN HUNTLY Bowls Club mourns the death of lady life member, Elenor Reardon, who passed away in mid-November, ending a chapter in the history of the Glen Huntly Bowls Club.

Elenor was Lady Club Champion on 15 occasions, represented Victoria eight times and has her name printed over the many honor boards on the walls of the clubhouse.

Although not bowling this season, Elenor was regularly at the Club and her cheeky, cheery presence will be missed by all.

Both the lady's and mens' annual club competitions have commenced with the final of the mens' club singles championships scheduled for Sunday, January 12, at 2pm.

Apart from the championships, the two most prestigious annual events in the Club syllabus are the Harry Swann memorial mixed pairs and the Stan Bear memorial mixed fours for which honor boards in the clubhouse for each event records the names of the winners over the years.

The Stan Bear memorial mixed fours was played on Cup Day and the justifiably proud winning rink was skipped by lady secretary, Betty Brennan, comprising John Cook (lead), Bob Emmerson (2nd) and Freda Safkin (3rd).

CAULFIELD RSL Bowls Club invite ladies who are interested in participating in the Wednesday triples games on December 11, January 8, or February 12, to contact Pat Harte on 523 6391 as soon as possible for bookings.

Children and stress

Children and family services column

Some common causes

CHANGES in routines caused by illness, accident, death, separation, moving house, change of care-taker or a new family member.

Some common symptoms

Changes in eating habits, over or under eating, interrupted sleep, altered toilet habits, irrational or unexplained changes in behaviour.

Most people, adults especially, prefer to have some aspects of their lives predictable, permanent and able to be relied on. Sudden alterations, particularly unexpected changes can produce stress and anxiety.

How children show stress

Where adults can revert to childhood behaviour in time of stress, children go back to babyhood. They may wet themselves, cry, whine, hold onto favourite possessions, refuse to eat, wake at night, become clingy and refuse to be left alone.

Hidden anxieties may be revealed by an onset of dreams, nightmares, inability to concentrate, telling of tall stories.

Habits such as twisiting hair around the finger, sucking on blanket corners and nose picking, may indicate the presence of some kind of stress.

How can children be helped to cope?

Adequate preparation for a child can greatly reduce anxiety levels. Telling a child through story books, through play and description of routines, can alleviate worries about pending hospitalisation for example. Even when no visit is expected this can be part of a child's learning experience.

Familiar toys and the presence of parents or well-known caregiver, are essential for a child's peace of mind.

If family members can stay together when moving house, a child can feel more secure. Children need to have familiar toys and books constantly available to them.

Even when parents have provided the optimum atmosphere and surroundings during times of stress, a child may still cling for a time.

Security in the relationship is the surest way to give a child confidence in his/her own ability to cope.

Knowledge reduces stress

The best preparation for future events is knowledge and understanding. This needs to be presented at a level of the child's understanding with honesty and openness. Explanations, discussions, example, previous positive experiences all build on a child's knowledge base.

Parents can present a positive model which will help their children to grow up to be independent people, ready to cope with whatever comes their way.

For further advice and discussion, contact your local Maternal and Child Health Nurse.

Father
Christmas will write to you!

If you are old enough to read this, then we thought you would like to know that Father Christmas has appointed the Carnegie Lions Club as his agent.

Why not let your little boy or girl have the thrill of writing to Father Christmas and receiving a personal non-committal letter by return mail direct from the grand old gentleman's North Pole Workshop.

If your child is too young to write to Santa, write a letter for him/her and tell them what you have written.

OR

If you would like your grand children, niece, nephew, etc to receive a letter from Santa, just give us their name and address and we will see that he writes before Christmas Day.

It's easy! Here is all you do.

- Write to Father Christmas (address below)
 - Be sure your child's full name and address is written legibly in the letter
 - Enclose a cheque to the value of $2 per letter, which should be made payable to "Lions Christmas Letter."
- Your donation will be utilised to send local deserving children to the Licola Holiday Camp during the school holidays.
