Caulfield improves recycli ers left for collection are care-

CAULFIELD Council currently has two independent recycling contractors. Wastepaper is collected monthly by Australian Paper Manufacturers and glass, aluminium and plastic PET soft drink containers are collected weekly by Oakleigh Recyclers. Both collections are carried out on the same day as the garbage collection.

There have been other used container materials proposed for collection and recycling, particularly plastic products. However, to date, the prices offered by recycling companies have not been adequate to make the collection viable to the contrac-

ACI Petalite recently announced that a wider range of products will be sold in PET plastic containers which are suitable for recycling. Products such as dishwashing detergents and mineral waters are now available in recyclable containers.

Other products are proposed to change to PET recyclable containers in future. In addition, there are other commonly used containers made of plastic such as PVC fruit juice containers and HDPE milk containers which are recyclable and for which a market exists.

The Council is pleased to announce that Oakleigh Recyclers will now collect all large plastic containers and others

Gardenvale Park proposal

A PROPOSED Concept Plan was presented at the recent meeting of the Gardenvale Park Committee.

The Plan incorporates the main points raised by residents at the previous meeting.

The requirement to allow a left turn from Bertram St to Elster Ave to facilitate garbage collection was incorporated.

Apart from road connection details, the Plan, as presented, was generally agreed to by all residents.

The Committee will meet again on April 30 at 8pm at City Hall.

Caulfield Mayor, Cr Veronika Martens said "if Caulfield residents continue to show the strong desire to support environmental and resource conservation issues as they have done in the past, then the extended recycling services will be success-

"Care however, must still be taken to ensure that all contain-

Any difficulties in identification can be resolved by contacting the Council's engineering department, on 524 3240, or Oakleigh Recyclers, on 544 2211.

A display of recyclable containers will be set up in the foyer at City Hall for further assis-

News in brief

Radio station approved

CAULFIELD Council's Executive Services Committee last month approved an application to use an existing two-storey building at 529 North Rd, Ormond as a radio station with associated mast. Concerns from adjoining property owners related to possible interference with television and radio reception and noise from cars leaving the carpark at a late hour. A letter was received from the Minister for Ethnic, Municipal and Community Affairs in support of the application.

Beavis St market

CAULFIELD Council approved an application to hold a monthly craft market at 1 Beavis St, Elsternwick. Council's Executive Services Committee considered a number of concerns from objectors, such as increased traffic flow in Beavis St and associated parking problems. The Committee granted the application, subject to a 12 month trial period after which time the application would be reviewed.

Multi Unit Development Policy

CAULFIELD'S Multi Unit Development Policy is under review. As an interim measure, pending a more comprehensive review, the following two changes are being considered:

 reduce site coverage from 50% to 40% for two storey developments; and increase private open space per dwelling from 50 square metres to 60 square metres

The Council decided at its March Policy and Environment Committee meeting, to advertise the proposed changes in order to seek community views before further considering their introduction.

The proposed interim changes are on public exhibition until May 29, 1992. Supporting information can be inspected at the planning counter, at City Hall.

The Council welcomes comments from residents and users of the policy alike.

Register your dog, or pay the price...

Above: Make sure your dog is registered.

OWNERS of unregistered dogs in Caulfield could be in for an unpleasant surprise, as Council officers are carrying out doorto-door checks on the registration of dogs in the City.

Animal control officers will check on properties with dogs and if unregistered pets are found, owners will be given the option of either registering the animal on the spot or paying a hefty fine.

Considering it costs $37 to register an unsterilised dog and $16 for a sterilised dog, a $200 fine is an unattractive alternative.

Dog owners are strongly advised to register their animals immediately.

At properties where the owner is not home, they are likely to receive a fine in the mail if an unregistered animal is found.

Dogs can be registered at Caulfield City Hall, cnr Hawthorn and Glen Eira Rds.

For further information, contact the Council's animal control officer, on 524 3275.

Engineering update

Public street lighting

CAULFIELD Council's technical services department receives numerous requests for additional street lighting within the City each year and every request is investigated to a ascertain whether it meets Council's Street Lighting Policy, or is justified on other grounds.

The requirement of the Policy is one light on every second pole so that the lighting can provide adequate illumination for pedestrian and vehicular traffic.

Any requests for additional lighting are carefully considered, including a night inspection and changes made only where exceptional circumstances exist.

Street lighting is not intended to provide security lighting to private properties or parked vehicles.

The SEC is responsible for the maintenance and repair of street lights and all requests are referred to the SEC for action which may take up to six weeks depending on their work load. For assistance, phone the SEC, on 510 1581, or 567 8200.

Local area traffic management

FOLLOWING a comprehensive traffic study of the road network bounded by Glen Eira Rd, Hotham St, Orrong Rd and Glen Huntly Rd and a consideration by Council of the most appropriate measures to address the aspects of traffic volume, speed and safety record, the Council recently appointed a contractor for the implementation of the various mid-street and intersection treatments approved for this local area scheme.

The contract for LATM No.21 was awarded to Baldur P/L, at a cost of $59, 300.

The project involves the construction of intersection traffic islands, raised pavement slow points and improved delineation at specific locations.

The works will involve the construction of the raised pavements utilising bluestone pitcher kerbing where the existing street consists of bluestone guttering, thereby retaining the street character with a further strong emphasis on the land-scaping aspect of all treatments.

Roadworks commenced in mid-March and are expected to be completed by late May this year.

Balaclava Rd - resurfacing works

THE section of this main road between Normanby and Kambrook Rd is in a less than satisfactory state and following discussions with VicRoads they have made funds available this year for a rehabilitation treatment.

The treatment proposed has not been used previously in Caulfield, but is an economical process known as a slurry seal, which is a cold bituminous surfacing that is trafficable in about half an hour. Council's engineers will supervise the project and the treatment will be evaluated to gauge its suitability for other streets in Caulfield.

The project is scheduled to commence this month and depending on funding, may be extended to Redan Rd.

These works provide a holding treatment to prevent further costly deterioration of the road. While full reconstruction is ultimately desirable, this is not appropriate until the tram tracks are renewed and the old timber sleepers replaced with a concrete base.

These works are still in excess of five years away, hence Council and Vic Road's decision to protect the pavement structure with an interim treatment.

Koornang Park

COUNCIL'S urban designer has prepared a Landscape Concept Plan for Koornang Park. The Plan incorporates requests and suggestions received from local residents.

A public meeting was held in March to present the Plan and to discuss proposals with residents and park users.

Overall, the landscape concept received favourable comment. Some alterations to the proposal will be made as a result of public comments. For example, a group of Plane trees proposed on the Plan will not be planted, due to residents concerns at the amount of tree leaf litter. Eucalyptus trees will replace the Plane trees.

The Council will proceed with tree and shrub planting along the Lyons St frontage of the Park this year. Preparation for the planting has already been done by ripping the ground area to improve root and water penetration and cultivating compost and fertilizer into the soil to improve soil nutrients and structure.

The remainder of the tree planting and the construction of other features, such as an exercise track, extension of the pergola, installation of park furniture and improvement to the playgound, will depend on Council's financing priorities from year to year.

Hospital responds to petition

• from page 1

RE Ross Centre

With regard to the RE Ross Centre, the Board of Managemement agreed that the Hospital would continue to sustain the Centre, but endeavour to progressively reduce its financial deficit. Some improvements have been made with an increase in sales revenue and a reduction in the cost of materials.

The Alfred Board is attempting to secure acceptance by the Commonwealth Government of the Ross Centre as a "State subsidised employment service." This would ensure government subsidy for the Centre in the future.

Future plans

THE petition also called for recognition of the need and responsibility of the Board to prepare a plan of development for the Hospital in consultation with the community. In response to this, the Alfred Group's chief executive, Mr Bill Kricker has advised that the hospital acceps absolutely, the need to consult appropriately on matters which are within its powers to determine.

However, Mr Kricker stressed there are limitations on the Board's capacity to plan for the future because its main source of finance comes from the State Government which is very much the owner of the facility. Objectives of the Hospital have to be approved by the Health Department which can direct the Board on a wide range of matters.

Mr Kricker recommends that community influence be exercised through submissions to the Government on its discussion papers and proposals as they are released.

Such papers include Health Services for Older Victorians and Proposals for Aged Care Services.

Cr Martens, said "Caulfield Council will be making submissions to the Government on the Health Services for Older Vicotians discussion paper and the Alfred Group's plan for Aged Care Services. It will maintain interest and involvement in such matters."

"In relation to the Ross Centre, the Alfred Board seems to be very actively addressing the problems and in regard to future planning, has accepted absolutely the need for consultation," she added.

In response to other correspondence from Council to the Alfred Group of Hospitals, Cr Martens said that Sir Peter Derham, President of the Board, had advised that the Board isnot considering the relocation of the acute medical service from the GMCC to the Alfred Hospital and the matter has never been on its agenda.

Representative on Hospital Board

ONE of the initiatives taken by Caulfield Council after the public rally was to investigate the membership of the Alfred Board and seek a place for a Council respresentative on that Board. A reply from the hospital has been received on the procedures necessary to fill Board vacancies which are adverised as they occur. The Board makes recommendations to the Minister who then decides on the appointments which are formally made by the Governor in Council.

"Council will be monitoring this process," said Cr Martens, "and may persist with the proposal depending on the success of consultation with the hospital."

Bi-monthly meetings

THE Mayor and CEO, Doug Aylen, met with representatives of the Alfred Group of the Hospital in March to discuss issues of concern to the community. Cr Martens said that some very positive information was received in regard to increased use of the Hospital and the improvement to radiolgical services.

Hospital representatives at the meeting suggested that community support of the facilities at the CGMC would positively assist its ongoing viability and the Council agreed to provide publicity on services at the Hospital.

Mr Bill Kricker, sought Council imput to studies being undertaken by the Board and expressed an interest in the Caulfield Municipal Public Health Plan.

Deputations to Politicians

TO present community concerns to the State and Federal Government, Cr Martens said "I am arranging deputations from the Council to both the Federal and State Ministers, the Shadow Ministers and appropriate politicians.

Local State Member for Caulfield, Mr Ted Tanner is the liaison person between Council and the Shadow Minister for Health, the Hon Marie Tehan and Alan Stockdale, the Shadow Treasurer, and has advised of his submission to the Alfred Group. Friends of Caulfield Hospital Commitee

THE newly formed "Friends of Caulfield Hospital" committee met for the first time recently.

This Committee will meet on a regular basis to discuss issues of concern and set out future aims and objectives relating to the Hospital.

Cr Martens said that her involvement with the "Friends" group would be totally separate from her bi-monthly meetings

Thank you lunch for volunteers

MAYORESS of Caulfield, Mr Ted Martens, played host to about 170 guests at the annual Mayoress' Lunch held recently.

Each year, Caulfield's dedicated lady volunteers are invited to a lunch, hosted by the Mayoress of the Day, in recognition of their service to the local community.

In his welcoming speech, Mr

Martens made some "moving with the times" suggestions, such as inviting men, as well as lady volunteers to the Lunch in future years. He also suggested that as the role of the Mayoress is changing, it would seem logical to transfer these duties to the Deputy Mayor, who is an elected person and is responsible to the Council and the community.

In closing, Mr Martens said "we rely more and more on community help, so it is essential that our volunteers, both male and female be recognised for their dedication and contribution to our community; and a function such as this is one means of recognising this service."

Historical Society moves to City Hall

EIGHTY members and friends recently gathered to celebrate the opening of the Caulfield Historical Society's new Reference and Study Centre, located at City Hall. The new premises were offically opened by Caulfield Mayor, Cr Veronika Martens. Pictured (I-r) Historical Society members, Felicitie Campbell, Caulfield Mayor, Cr Veronika Martens, Alma Blair, Robert Green and Trevor Hart.

which she is involved, along with Council's CEO, Doug Aylen and the CEO from the Alfred Group.

In conclusion, Cr Martens said that Caulfield Council is tackling the issue on many fronts and has received utmost cooperation from the Hospital and other interested parties. "The joint meeting was a success," she said. "New avenues of consultation are opening up with the Alfred Group and these will be of great benefit in the future."

New principal for local school

KEN Ryan is the new principal at the Holy Cross School, situated in Glen Huntly Rd, Caulfield South.

This is Ken's first permanent principal position. Previous to Holy Cross, he spent two terms as acting principal at St Augustine's Primary School in Baxter.

Ken began teaching at inner city schools such as Collingwood and Kensington and regarded them as "tough schools."

Holy Cross is a relatively small school with about 86 children. The school has a very active parents' association.

"Being a smaller community there is much more parent involvement and you get to know the children on a more personal basis." he said.

Ken also spends two and a half days in the classroom teaching grade six students.

Playgroup awareness week

PLAYGROUPS are great for children mixing with other children, parents meeting other parents and finding out about your local community.

During Playgroup Awareness Week, (May 2-10), Caulfield Playgroups plan to get together to highlight their existence and offer a range of activities to preschool aged children.

The day is being organised by the Caulfield Children and Family Services Network and will be held on Wednesday, May 6, between 10 am to 1 pm in Princes Park, (Hawthorn Rd end), Caulfield South. If raining, meet at Recreation Centre, Maple St, Caulfield South.

Everybody is welcome.

For further enquiries about the day, phone Valda Bawden, on 524 3311.

Hostel residents earn glory

TWO Caulfield Hostel residents' works have been selected to appear in the Access Gallery, National Gallery of Victoria.

Mrs Jean McGilchrist and Mr Brian Mumme's works were chosen from the annual Senior Citizen's Week exhibition held at the Caulfield Arts Complex. They were the only exhibits chosen from the City of Caulfield

Mr Mumme, from Rosstown Hostel, was 10 years ago, encouraged by the Hostel Supervisor, to take up painting as an interest. He has travelled extensively throughout Australia and his artwork depicts many of the wonderful things he has experienced. His works have given others great pleasure and satisfaction.

The selected painting, "Leningrad Bridge" will be exhibited as part of the Senior Citizen's Treasures exhibition.

Mrs Jean McGilchrist, a resident of Camden Court has had her poems chosen for the exhibition.

Many of her poems are inspired by fellow residents from Camden Court.

Mrs McGilchrist, in her 94th year, is still enjoying quite good health and derives much pleasure from her recorded classical music and book collections

A special kind of care

INTERCHANGE Southern is an expanding community based program, designed to assist children with disabilities and support their families. Interchange provides this assistance by recruiting hosts who undertake to care for a child for a weekend each month. This service provides essential respite to families who are caring for their child at home and gives the child the opportunity to develop new relationships, enter into a wider range of leisure activities and participate in the community.

Hosts enjoy the challenge and the satisfaction gained from sharing with the parents in the care of a child with disabilities gain a greater awareness of people with disabilities.

Potential hosts are required to attend four evening training sessions which cover aspects such as the effects of disability on family life, the needs of the natural family and the child and the level of involvement and commitment of hosts. Practical issues explored include meal times, handling and discipline.

If you would like to play an active part in the Interchange Program by taking on this rewarding and satisfying challenge, contact Maggie or May, on 532 0155.

The 'rebirth' of Caulfield's Library Services

SPECIAL FEATURE

In a continuing effort to provide efficient, quality service to the community, Caulfield Council is proposing a complete facelift of its Library Services.

IN these times of change and an evergrowing commitment to better serve the local community, Caulfield Council is taking a good hard look at the services and facilities its libraries offer residents.

The current library service offers three branches:

- Carnegie (Koornang Rd)
- Caulfield (Maple St)
- A number of options have been explored by Council to provide a fresh, new library image which will enhance the quality of service, currently suffering because of outdated equipment and buildings.

Library Profiles

Caulfield Library

This branch has served the local community since 1964 and in its prime, was considered one of the more popular service outlets. There have been a number of renovations carried out at Caulfield since it first began operating. A steady increase in library users and general wear and tear of the building and its surrounds, has contributed to a decision by Council to look at relocating the service to a more central, larger and better equipped site.

Elsternwick Library

This branch has a number of problems. Its location has always been a major drawback. Tucked away in Staniland Grove, Elsternwick Library does not attract as many users as initially envisaged. The building itself is unaccommodating. The dreaded staircase is a forbidding obstacle, uninviting to the more elderly residents in our community, young families and provides nothing short of an inaccessible entry to the disabled.

Costly updating of both heating and cooling systems is required.

■ Carnegie Resource Centre

The Centre still enjoys popularity and services residents in the East ward. There is a growing need to update the Centre's facilities if it is to continue operating efficiently. The location of this service outlet is very central and convenient for shoppers.

New Resident's Kits available, call 524 3259

Above: Well known, Maple Street Branch. Apart from its unattractive exterior, Maple Street has problems ranging from, lack of study space to lack of public toilets.

So ... what are the options?

With the high cost involved in renovating current branches, what other options are available to Council?

In keeping the three branch model - Elsternwick, Caulfield and Carnegie:

Option A

Construction of new entrance with refurbishment at Elsternwick Capital Cost: $206,000

Option B

Extension of undercroft area at Elsternwick with refurbishment. Capital Cost: $400,000

Option C

Relocate Elsternwick to the Post Office building. Capital Cost: $128,000

Below: The map outlines a possible relocation to City Hall.

In adopting a two branch model - Purchase new premises and continue with Carnegie or relocate at City Hall and continue with Carnegie:

Option D

Locate new library at purchased premises.

Capital Cost: $1,242,000

Option E

Locate new library at City Hall. Capital Cost: $500,000.

In adopting a one branch model:

Option F

Locate all branches, including Carnegie, at one location (probably purchased).

Capital Cost: $1,272,000.

Summary of costs

Option A	$206,000
Option B	$400,000
Option C	$128,000
Option D	$1,242,000
Option E	$500,000
Option F	$1,272,000

In evaluating all these options, there are a number of factors which require close analysis. The matter rests on the financial feasibility of each option and establishing whether renovation of existing branches or relocation is the better option.

In this regard, it is significant that there has been a substantial reduction in the level of state government financial assistance to Caulfield Library. In 1982 the state government provided 41 % of the cost of operating our library. In 1992, the percentage has fallen to 23%, in dollar terms, this means a decrease of $249,000. Further falls are anticipated.

Relocation of both Elsternwick and Caulfield libraries to City Hall and enhancing the Carnegie branch, is at this stage, the more feasible option.

This option (Option E) would see the amalgamation of Elsternwick and Caulfield under the one roof and would make City Hall more of a cultural, focal point.

City Hall already houses the Arts Complex and its location is central. It is easily accessed via public transport and would service North ward residents who, in the past, have been distant from library branches (see map below). Because of the proximity of the relocation site,

The 'rebirth' of Caulfield's Library Services

Below: Floor plan of possible relocation of Library Service to City Hall.

GLEN EIRA

Elsternwick and Caulfield library users should not be inconvenienced. The sale of vacated Elsternwick and Caulfield branches would fully fund a relocation to City Hall.

Another important advantage in relocating to City Hall and adepting a two branch model is the cost saving in library stock and elimination of duplication. With this sort of cost cutting measure, a larger variety of reference and borrowing material can be purchased, providing library users with more books to choose from.

Report available

Caulfield Council has compiled a comprehensive report which details all the options available, their practical value, financial feasibility and advantages and disadvantages where applicable. The report may be consulted at each of the libraries and in foyer of City Hall.

If you would like to comment on the options available you may do so by writing to:

Above: This table has been devised to help you understand the overall operations of the three present library branches and to provide a comparative overview of these. The table shows the high popularity and use of the Carnegie branch. Elsternwick, with much more stock and the same number of staff, has lower usage and less popularity. This is due, in large part, to Elsternwick's accessibility problems. Caulfield branch is also very popular, but per capita, is not used as much as the busy Carnegie branch.

Featuring Caulfield's parks and gardens

LORD and Koornang Park are the remaining parks to appear in our monthly section, Caulfield's Parks and Gardens feature.

These parks are situated in Caulfield's southward, bordered by Koornang Rd, Grange Rd, Lyons St and Munro Ave and are separated by the Caulfield Memorial Swimming Pool and Moira Ave, Carnegie.

Lord and Koornang Park share the same committee of management which is responsible for the running and general upkeep of both parks.

The committee members comprise Cr Robert Kirby - president, Frank Menson - chairman, Ron Fauvel - secretary, Bob Johnson - treasurer and Barbara Holden - citizens' representative.

These dedicated members have been actively involved with the committee for numerous years.

Secretary, Ron Fauvel, said "we have excellent facilities at our parks, but in recent years have struggled to find boys aged

Y O U R ENVIRONMENT

Caulfield's indigenous plant life

CAULFIELD is one Melbourne suburb that still has indigeneous plants surviving within its boundaries.

Indigenous plants are plants which have naturally originated in a particular region.

These plants require minimal attention and tend to be resistant to pests and disease and don't require fertilizer. Perhaps best of all, they require little, if any watering.

Probably surprising to most Caulfield residents is the fact that some 40 original native indigenous species are still surviving in Caulfield and many more are found in neighbouring suburbs, such as Oakleigh and Sandringham.

Plants found in and around Caulfield, include towering red gums, graceful swamp and mann gums, medium size shrubs such as prickly tea tree, kangaroo apple and black she-oak and small ground species such as the chocolate lily, sundews, kangaroo and spear grass and the beautiful spreading running postman.

Seedlings and cuttings collected from any of these surviving plants, along with some extinct in Caulfield, but found in Sandringham and Oakleigh, have formed the basis of the two local, state and federally funded tree plantings in Murrumbeena's Outer Circle Parklands in recent years.

They are also providing a number of Caulfield residents with an attractive and low maintenance native garden.

These plants, grown by Caulfield's Environment Group (CEG) members and planted in private gardens, are helping ensure the survival of some of Caulfield's largely threatened remant species.

Plants being planted where they originally came from, helps to give some limited appreciation of the way parts of Caulfield may have looked before it was developed.

The CEG has plants that desparately need homes. If you are interested in introducing some indigenous plants to your garden, or working with others to save remnant species in Caulfield, please call Paul Cain, on 571 2976 a/h or Colin Smith, on 569 0554 a/h.

Anyone is welcome to come along to a CEG meeting which are held on the first Wednesday of each month at the Joint Effort Community House, 1213 Glen Berow: Pone of the hast surviving swamp gums found in Caulfield. Often found in the damper areas, eg: the Outer Circle Railway area. Its botanical name is "Eucalyptus Ovata".

Above: Kangaroo Apple. Extinct in Caulfield, but found close by in Huntingdale, (in heathland communities). It is a fast growing plant with lovely deep purple flowers. The CEG has plants available from cuttings from the Huntingdale area.

Below: Poa - native grass. Grows to approximately 1m in height. Large tussock grass with yellow seed head. Best examples are displayed in the Malvern Urban Forest.

For information about indigenous plants, please call Caulfield's Environment Group members, Colin Smith a/h 569 0554 or Paul Cain a/h 571 2976.

Journey of a fire goddess

CAULFIELD Arts Complex will hold an exhibition of works by Noela Hjorth from the collection of Art International Limited, between April 24 and May 10,

The powerful body lithographs created by Noela Hjorth are quite unique in Australian Art.

Embracing both personal and universal themes, they are images whose presence and status can be compared to the ceramic angels modelled by John Perceval, the early Biblical paintings of Arthur Boyd and the later paintings of lan Fairweather. All are icons in the development of Australian art in the 20th cen-

Caulfield's school holiday program CAULFIELD Arts Complex will once again, run an interesting holiday program for children from April 13-16, 1992

A number of new sessions have been introduced for this program, to encourage children's creativity.

These new classes include:

 Electronics for Kids - using kits, the basics for electronics will be introduced in a simple and practical way, establishing projects which can be further expanded on at home. The course is structured so that skills progress each day. Children are required to enrol for all four mornings of this class and need to pay an extra $20 on enrolment for the electronics kit (supplied in the class).

Movie Mayhem - experi-

Theatre seeks members

EVERYONE enjoys a good show, but how many consider getting involved in local amateur theatre?

There is a lot more to theatre than acting. A force of people are required to put on a show, encompassing a wide range of skills and activities.

For thousands of people throughout Melbourne, participation in amateur theatrical societies, is an entertaining pastime and social activity.

A Caulfield company, the recently renamed Rosstown Amateur Theatrical Society is seeking new members.

The society, formerly the Glen Huntly Players, was first founded in 1985. It has now taken the historical name of Rosstown. by which the Carnegie district was orginally known. It is based at the Uniting Church Theatre, cnr Neerim and Toolambool Rds. Carnegie.

Publicist for the Society, Tanya Richards, said "we are looking for people of all ages who would like to take part in some aspects of our productions and social activities. In doing so, people can make a real contribution to Caulfield's cultural life and have a new and entertaining interest."

For a modest annual subscription of $10, members receive ticket concessions, newsletters and invitations to fun social evenings. There is also the opportunity to take an active role in the Society's productions.

Tanya explains, "in addition to actors, quite a large team is needed to put on a show and expertise is required in a diverse range of areas. There are such things as set building, painting and decorating, costume alterations, publicity, business administration and generally lending a hand.

For further information, contact Tanya Richards, on 579 5506, or write to P O Box 281, Carnegie, 3163.

Jewish concert a success

CAULFIELD Park was bathed in sunshine for the recently held "In One Voice Concert," staged by the Jewish community. The festive carnival atmosphere was set by the community dancing that preceded the concert. The Day was officially opened by former Governor General, Sir Zelman Cowen. The quality performances of the fresh, young talented bands, singers, dancers and choirs had the audience enthralled. One of the most popular attractions was the With One Brush art exhibition, with over 230 quality works of art on display, many of which were sold on the day. The youth group displays and exhibitions were impressive and the variety of food available catered for all tastes. Approximatley 15,000 people turned out to this free con-

Mother's Day free concert

MEMBERS of the renowned Caulfield City Choir are pleased to announce that their first concert for 1992 will be on Mother's Day, (Sunday, May 10).

Following recent tradition, this will be a combined performance under the direction of Douglas Heywood, in conjunction with the Camberwell Chorale and the Camerate Orchestra to present a most interesting and entertaining musical program.

Support your local group of dedicated choristers and be at the Camberwell Civic Centre, Riversdale Rd, Camberwell at 2.30pm for this wonderful opportunity to enjoy first class entertainment, free of charge.

For further particulars, contact the Choir secretary, Miss Raewyn Cross, on 822 5154.

BOWLED OVER

Recreation Centre

Club ladies Pennant Night, held in late February was a lively and exciting night, with plays performed by members of their respective pennant sides.

The meal was prepared and served by Colin Todd and his helpers and was a feast on its own.

Before the event, club president, Herbert Gamble officially congratulated Mrs Ruth Shorter and presented her with coaching badge, identification plate, manual and certificates for successfully completing her examinations for accreditation as a national coach at level one, under the National Coaching Accrediation Scheme.

GLEN HUNTLY Bowls Club's sports adage that "you play only as well as allowed by your opponent," was exemplified on the Glen Huntly Green in the final of the ladies singles championship.

Peg Moyle, already four times lady champion and one of the top skippers in the ladies' A2 Pennant Side, was out bowled early in the match by Chris Christopherson, a frequent emergency in that same side.

With accurate draw-shot bowling, Chris established an early lead and the pressure appeared to casue Peg to struggle for touch. However, mid-way into the match, Chris seemed to relax her grip on the game, allowing Peg to settle, overhaul Chris and draw away to win her fifth title.

One of the Club's most keenly contested events, The G and M Goodwin Mixed Pairs was won by Norma Hawkins and life member Bob Smith. In 1988, Norma and Bob won the Club's other prestigious mixed pairs event, The Harry Swann Memorial Mixed Pairs.

On Easter Monday, April 20, a game of mixed triples will be played starting at 1pm. Visiting competitors will be welcomed. Contact John Harrison 571 6262.

The season ends on Anzac Day with bowls in the afternoon , followed by dinner in the clubhouse. Preliminary preparations are already in hand for next season.

ELSTERNWICK Park Bowls Club would like to congratulate their Club Champions, Pamela Bryant and Ron Grayson.

Now that the pennant season has concluded, our members are being kept busy with club events and several very successful social days. The Bar Committee filled all rinks on their Special Day which featured an excellent lunch and a number of trophies and prizes donated by several sponsors.

Guest Day was another most enjoyable day held in perfect weather and we were pleased to entertain a large number of guests.

Invitation Day, which has been hosted by Nance Hackett for a number of years, was filled as usual. This has always been a most popular event with a high standard of bowling and this year was won by Beryl Mackay's team from the Hampton Bowling Club. The day was kindly sponsored by the Capital Building Society.

Our committees are to be commended on the excellent management and catering on these days.

carned Ebowls Club's competitions are now completed and the new Club Champion is Peter Mandry with Richard Jekot as runner-up.

The Handicap Pairs was won by Bill Cornthwaite and Roy Papworth from John Rooney and Richard Jekot and Lyall O'Brien won the President's Handicap from Harry Birch.

In the Club Pairs, Neil Jacka and Ken Facey won from Neil Cunningham and John Rooney and the Minor Championship was won by Richard Jekot with Cliff Shackston as runner-up. The Two Bowl Championship was won by Harry Krieger from Kevin Kerr in a very close game. For the ladies, Bonnie Whatley was the winner of the Club Championships and Elaine Smart as runner-up.

CAULFIELD Recreation Centre will, once again, hold a children's term program, including classes for children aged 3-10

Pre-school gymnastics - 3-5 years

Trampoline classes - 3-7 years

Jazz Ballet classes - 5-10 years

Health plan needs community input

CAULFIELD is currently in the process of developing its Municipal Health Plan to improve community health services.

The Municipal Health Plan

The 1988 Health General Amendment Act required every municipality in Victoria to prepare, at three year intervals, a Municipal Health Plan.

The objectives of such a plan include:

- the identification and assessment of actual and potential public health dangers affecting the municipal district;
- the outlining of programs and strategies which the Council intends to pursue.

Health Plan implementation

As an initial part of the planning process, a working party was established to consider requirements necessitated by the Act. Consequently, the working party has prepared a discussion paper to define projects and describe current health service provisions and facilities in the municipality.

One of the key concerns of the working party has been to ensure that a community needs based approach to the project is taken, allowing for a high level of emphasis on the public consultation processes.

Project Steering committee

The development of the Municipal Public Health Plan will be managed by a Project Steering committee, who will be involved with all aspects of the planning processes.

The committee is made up of:

- one councillor
- two environmental health officers from the Health & Legislation department
- two representatives from Human Services
- two representatives from the community Health Service
- two representatives from the public

Members of the community who are interested in nominating as representatives, are invited to complete a nomination form available from the Council's health department.

Enquiries may be directed to Heather Reynolds or Valda Bawden, Caulfield City Hall, on 524 3333.
