Boyd family recognised in Outer Circle parkland

THE Outer Circle Railway Park will be renamed, "Outer Circle Railway - Boyd Park."

In 1988, Caulfield Council applied to the Place Names Committee to rename the Caulfield section of the Outer Circle Railway Park, in honour of the Boyd's, Murrumbeena's family of talented painters, potters, writers and musicians.

"Open Country" was the name of the Boyd property adjoining the Park and is the theme for the Park, created in a plaque by Merric Boyd's grand daughter, Lenore Boyd. "Open Country" depicts Merric's view of life in early Murrumbeena.

Caulfield Mayor, Cr Veronika Martens said, "It has been a long and slow process, but with perseverance from Council and help from Caulfield Environment Group member, Colin Smith, whose survey of the Murrumbeen a community provided a clear indication of how much pride is placed in this part of Caulfield's history, the Park will be renamed "Boyd Park."

"The Boyd family has played a significant role in Caulfield's history and we can be proud of our efforts in recognising them." I look forward to seeing members of the community attend the official opening of the Park on Sunday, May 24, at 2pm."

Meet your councillors

CAULFIELD residents will be invited to Ward meetings this year to meet with their Councillors and to communicate local concerns to their Ward representatives.

A combined meeting for the South and East Wards will be held in early June and the North and West Wards later in June.

Further notice of dates and times will be publicised.

The functions will be held in local venues rather than City Hall.

Ward meetings are designed to create an easy, two way communication flow between a panel of Councillors and residents.

Senior Council officers will

Caulfield's tribute to Anzacs

Above: The traditional Anzac Day march in memory of Caulfield's fallen soldiers.

HUNDREDS of people gathered in Caulfield Park for the annual Anzac Day service on Sunday, April 26.

Caulfield Mayor, Cr Veronika Martens opened the memorial service by inviting people to place their wreaths of remembrance at the foot of the cenotaph.

Mr Wolstencroft, president of the Caulfield Central Sub-Branch RSL gave a moving address in memory of Caulfield's fallen soldiers.

A bugler played The Last Post as the crowd stood in silent tribute to those who had fallen.

After the service, everyone was invited back to City Hall for afternoon tea.

Ninety-six year old Gallipoli veteran, Mr Edmund Thompson, (Ted) attended the service and placed a wreath on the cenotaph. Mr Thompson has attended the Caulfield Anzac Day service since the early 1980's. Pictured below: Caulfield Mayor, Cr Veronika Martens, has a friendly chat with Mr Thompson.

News in brief

New synagogue

CAULFIELD Council, at its last executive services committee meeting, approved an application to use an existing building for a synagogue at 22 Balaclava Rd, North Caulfield. The applicant intends to extend and renovate the property and use the building for a place of worship.

The committee, having considered numerous objections, decided to issue a Notice of Decision to grant a planning permit with standard planning conditions. Hours of operation and landscape planning were included in the additional conditions for the application.

Multi-Unit development

CAULFIELD Council has approved an application to build a 21 unit single storey development, at 22 Sussex Rd, Caulfield South.

Council granted the application, but stipulated that all persons living in the development must be over the age of 55 years and should qualify for Ministry of Housing Assistance.

Councillor selected for Ports electorate

CAULFIELD Councillor, Helen Friedmann has been selected as the Liberal candidate to contest Victoria's most marginal Federal seat, Melbourne Ports.

Cr Friedmann, 48 has been a resident of Caulfield for 27 years and a South Ward Councillor since 1987.

She has been a member of the Liberal Party for 17 years.

Melbourne Ports incorporates parts of Caulfield and South Yarra and all of St Kilda, South Melbourne, Middle Park, Albert Park and Port Melbourne.

Proposed State control - too lax

ACTION taken by Caulfield Council and a number of other councils, has helped influence a statewide amendment for control over gaming.

In December 1991, Caulfield Council resolved to prepare a local planning scheme amendment, which, if approved, would result in the need for a planning permit for five or more gaming machines on a premises.

As a result, a letter from the Minister for Planning and Housing, the Hon. Andrew McCutcheon, MLA and the Minister responsible for gaming, the Hon. Tom Roper, MLA stated that it would be premature for councils to prepare a local law, or change their planning schemes to control Gaming as the Minister was considering a State Planning Scheme Amendment.

The proposed amendment applies to planning schemes in Victoria and will set State policy and controls for the use of land for Gaming.

The controls are based on the view that if less than 33.3% of the premises' floor area is used for gaming purposes, there is no change in the basic function of the premises and therefore a planning permit is not required.

Caulfield Mayor, Cr Veronika Martens met recently with mayors from the Cities of Prahran, Malvern and Oakleigh to discuss the details of the proposed amendment and as a result, they have written a joint letter to the Hon. Andrew McCutcheon supporting, in principle, the Minister's approach, but raised some concerns about the details of the amendments.

Cr Martens, said "local planning authorities are responsible to ensure protection of residential amenity. The proposed amendment would not enable this to occur."

"Floor area of 33.3% is considered too high in regard to the compact areas that are required for gaming machines. If the floor area is used, it should be much less than the proposed 33.3%," she added.

Council's flag debate

AT the Council's March policy and environment committee meeting, Cr Robert Kirby requested that a report be presented to the Council, on the reasons for selecting the flags displayed in the Council Chamber, in particular the Union Jack.

Cr Kirby, said "The Union Jack forms part of the Australian flag, which will always be displayed in Caulfield City Hall. It is no longer appropriate to display a flag which doesn't represent Australia," he said.

"There are a large number of nationalities represented in Caulfield. At Council's last Naturalisation ceremony, there were 28 countries represented," he added.

A survey of neighbouring councils has revealed that the Union Jack is displayed in only one other council chamber, with others carrying the Australian and Council flags.

There is no display of the English flag in State or Federal Government buildings. At State Government level, the Australian flag is displayed together with the Victorian flag.

A change in Caulfield's display requires a resolution of Council, which will be considered at a meeting in several months time.

Anyone wishing to comment on this issue, should write to Doug Ayleen, chief executive officer, City of Caulfield, P.O Box 42, Caulfield South, 3162.

Caulfield's Municipal Health Plan

THIS month, 500 Caulfield residents will have an opportunity to have a real say about health issues in the Caulfield community. They will be asked to fill in a questionnaire and give their opinions on such issues as open space, the environment, traffic, public safety, public health, medical and community services, recreational and cultural needs.

The information gathered will be used as the basis for further consultation with the community later in the year.

The 500 residents have been randomly selected. People receiving a questionnaire are urged to complete and return it as quickly as possible.

Any enquiries should be directed to Heather Reynolds, environmental health surveyor, City of Caulfield, on 524 3364.

Engineering update

Recycling of liquid/paperboard cartons

ON April 10, 1992, the Minister for Conservation and Environment, the Hon. Barry Pullen, MP, launched a Melbourne-wide milk and juice carton recycling scheme, developed by the Association of Liquid Paperboard carton manufacturers, in conjunction with Food Plus stores and Australian Pulp and Paper Mills (APPM).

Caulfield residents can now take their milk and juice cartons to any Food Plus store for recycling. There will be a carton-shaped recycling bin at each Food Plus store and APPM will collect the cartons and transfer them to their mill where the cartons will be made into quality office paper.

It has been requested that the used cartons be thoroughly rinsed out and then flattened prior to depositing in the recycling bins. A convenient method of handling is to insert a number of flattened cartons into an open carton.

Pruning of street trees

THE Council has a responsibility to ensure that the SEC power lines in the streets are kept clear of branches from street trees. This prevents the likelihood of fire or disruption to electricity service, caused by wires touching on windy days or brought down by falling branches.

Each year, the Council employs a contractor to carry out pruning works on trees throughout the City to clear power lines and also to provide a clearance to pedestrian and vehicular traffic on footways and roads.

The 1992 contractor commenced work in late April and will continue until August. It is expected that 1230 nature strip trees will be pruned.

Some pruning close to power lines requires a shutdown of electricity in a street for safety reasons. This is usually done between 9.30am and 3.30pm by the SEC and advance notice of one week is given to residents.

When a power cable in the street or a property service is interfered with by branches of a tree growing on private property, then the property owner has the responsibility of notifying the SEC and making arrangements for the pruning on a private basis.

All suitable prunings produced by the Council or its contractor are processed through a woodchipping machine and the chips become available for use on the Council's landscape projects, or for sale to residents from the Council's works depot in Glen Huntly.

St James Pde reconstruction

CAULFIELD Council is currently conducting the public tendering process for the works of reconstruction of St James Parade in Elsternwick.

The work is being carried out under the Council's Local Road Reconstruction Program and is expected to commence at the end of June this year.

The works include new concrete and kerb channel on both sides of the street, extensive underground stormwater drainage installation and new asphalt surfacing to most areas of the road pavement.

Property access has been a problem in the street and the works are designed to restore the function of vehicle crossings to properties. Property owners are not required to contribute towards this project.

More specific advice of works commencement will be given to all affected residents when a contractor is appointed.

Swimming pool committee members needed

NOMINATIONS are being sought from persons interested in becoming a member of the Swimming Pool Advisory Committee to the Caulfield Memorial Pool in Moira Ave, Carnegie.

The object of this committee is to review the operation and management of the Municipal Pool and to make recommendations to the Council on budgetary or operational measures that will improve the standard of the facility and encourage greater attendances at the pool.

The Committee does not have a direct role in management aspects of the pool.

The previous Committee membership was on an interim basis for season 1991/92 and under the terms of its establishment all members have now vacated their membership. The Council is therefore seeking nominations for the 1992/93 season.

Persons nominating must be residents of Caulfield.

Meetings will be held three to four times a year.

Nominations in writing should be addressed to: Mr Peter Onley Manager Engineering P O Box 42 Caulfield South, 3162 and should reach City Hall no later than Friday, May 29, 1992.

Major rating review underway

- will it cost you more or less?

CAULFIELD Council is assessing the impact of a number of changes which will effect the rating process next year. Whilst these may increase or decrease the amount of rates paid by individual properties, they will not, themselves change the Council's total rate revenue.

The following are some notes on the major changes
Minimum Rate - Council is obliged to either discontinue or phase out the present Minimum Rate scheme.

The previous Local Government Act allowed a Council to fix a minimum amount of rates to be paid.

The concept was that there was a minimum level of service provided to all properties and residents. It was appropriate that all assessments should pay at least this amount.

Being a minimum amount, the system obviously impacted on only the lower valued properties in each of the above classes.

Municipal Charge - The new legislation gives councils the option to impose a Municipal Charge of up to $100 in 1992/93.

A charge is a set amount applied to all assessments without discrimination. It is similar in operation to the present garbage charge.

The concept in the new Act is that every property in the municipality should contribute an equal portion of the administrative costs of the Council. The Government has now allowed councils to recover these costs by way of an equal charge on every property.

Property Revaluations - All properties must be revalued on a four yearly cycle. A new valuation will be in use for the 1992/93 year.

The Council can also consider changing the system.

N.A.V. (Net Annual Valuations) - This is the rating system currently used in Caulfield. The valuation is based upon the net return or rent of a property. For residential properties, the legislation provides that this must be 5% of the Capital Improved Value of the property.

C.I.V. (Capital Improved Valuations) - This valuation could be best described as being the market value of a property, ie: land and all improvements on the land.

If C.I.V. is adopted for rating purposes, then the legislation also empowers the Council to adopt differential rates.

During the current revaluation of the City, it has been noticed that the market value of single occupancy dwellings has been increasing, on average, at a faster rate than commercial/industrial properties.

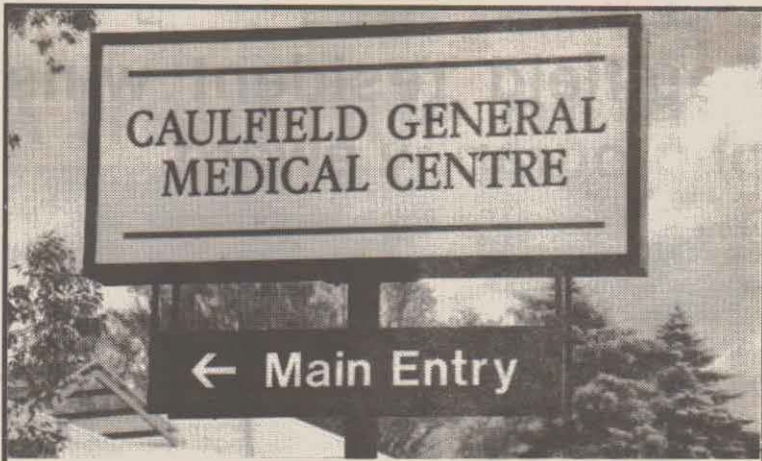

This will be reflected in the four yearly property revaluations. Other things being equal, the effect will be to increase the rates paid by this class of property.

Public consultation process The Council will be discussing the options at a meeting on Tuesday, June 16 at 8pm in the Council Chamber, City Hall.

Residents and interested parties are invited to submit their views, either by writing or attending the meeting.

Copies of various information papers on rating are available from Brian Hoban, Council's director corporate services.

Council officers would be pleased to discuss any issues directly with ratepayers.

Caulfield Hospital update

CAULFIELD Mayor Cr Veronika Martens and chief executive officer, Doug Aylen, recently met with the shadow minister for Health, The Hon Marie Tehan, MLC, and Caulfield Member, Ted Tanner to discuss the Opposition's commitment to the Caulfield General Medical Centre.

Marie Tehan said she believed that a long term plan for the hospital is essential and that triennial Government Funding is necessary to give hospitals the confidence to plan ahead. "Certainly I and my parliamentary colleagues see the continuation of a hospital on that campus which is compatible with the community's requirements."

Cr Martens said she felt it was a productive meeting and felt confident of future support from the Opposition.

Cr Martens and CEO, Doug Aylen will meet with Brian Howe, Deputy Prime Minister and Member for Melbourne Ports, The Hon. Clyde Holding on May 15, to discuss hospital issues including funding.

Council pushes for netball complex

CAULFIELD Council has applied to the State Government for $150,000 funding assistance needed for a proposed netball complex at Duncan MacKinnon Park.

This is a further step in Council's endeavour to expand sporting facilities available to women in Caulfield.

Council's application to the Federal Government Department of Arts, Sport, the Environment and Territories in December 1991, was unsuccessful due to limited funding.

As a result, Caulfield Mayor, Cr Veronika Martens and chief executive officer, Doug Aylen met with the State Minister for Sport and Recreation, the Hon. Neil Tresize, who showed strong support for the need of a netball facility and was positive that funding would be available in September this year.

Cr Martens compared the lack of facilities available to women in Caulfield and neighbouring municipalities, with the number of venues available for men's sports. "While these facilities may be used by sportswomen, the major women's sport, netball is not catered for," she said.

"Netball today is fast becoming popular with men as well as women and therefore a facility should be available in Caulfield. Council will work hard to ensure that all avenues are explored, enabling appropriate funding assistance for this complex," she added.

The complex will also serve neighbouring municipalities, such as Malvern, Moorabbin, Oakleigh, Prahran and Brighton creating a regional facility.

The proposed netball complex will comprise eight all weather courts, with floodlighting, together with pavilion facilities and carparking.

Keep your trees well pruned

THERE is nothing worse than being slapped in the face or dripped on by a wet branch as you casually walk along the footpath.

If you have ever been obstructed by a tree or shrub hanging over the fence of a resident's property, don't curse the Council, as it is up to the property owner to keep trees and shrubs under control!

If a Council officer leaves a notice for you to cut back your trees you must do so with 14 days.

Trees must be cut to a height of three metres above the ground and vertically in line with your property boundary.

If you do not comply with the notice, the Council will carry out the work and bill the owner.

When cutting back your trees, remember, do not leave or burn the cuttings on the naturestrip or in the gutter.

If you have any further enquiries concerning this matter, please contact Council's health and legislation department, on 524 3381.

Occasional care available

A SMALL Occasional Care service operates on Tuesdays from 9.30am-12.30pm at the Caulfield Maternal and Child Health Centre at the rear of Caulfield City Hall.

The service is run by Caulfield Council and funding is provided by the Office of Pre-School and Child Care under the "Take a Break" scheme.

Occasional Care is available for pre-school aged children. This Care program enables mothers or the person who usually cares for the child a chance to attend social, recreational, shopping or personal pursuits.

Places are limited and bookings are essential.

For more information about the Occasional Care program, fees, guidelines or to make a booking, telephone Valda Bawden, family services development officer, on 524 3311.

Children, fun and faith

THE Elsternwick Uniting Church is one church in the Caulfield community which is making an effort to run programs relevant for people of all ages. One aspect of its life is to offer a Sunday School which caters for children aged between 3-12 years. The Sunday School class begins at 10am each Sunday, commencing with a worship service.

Janelle Selkirk, children's ministry worker at Elsternwick Uniting, says "this church real-ises the importance of offering worship and Christian education that caters for both young and old and is making an effort to include a wider community in its developments.

The program for children is open for all and the parents are most welcome to share in the worship time."

The Elsternwick Uniting Church is situated, cnr Glen Huntly Rd and Foster St, Elsternwick.

For further information, contact Janelle Selkirk, on 596 8643.

Lions need youths for exchange

Above: Carnegie Lion, Bob Sigmont with Miss Ros Kohler, who was sponsored by the Lions Club to go to Austria.

THE Lions Club of Carnegie is seeking local youths to represent Caulfield and Australia in several different countries during the December and January school holidays.

It is a great opportunity for local youths to experience life in a different country, to share in the family and community life of a different culture and to increase knowledge and international understanding.

Youths will need to pay the cost of travel to their country of choice, but the Lions Club will arrange free accommodation with Lion approved families in that country.

Youths interested in applying must be at least 16 years of age and less than 22 years at the date of departure. They should have at least average academic ability, and be able to speak to small groups overseas, to tell them about our local community and country.

The countries available in Lions Youth Exchange include; USA, Canada, Japan, UK, Germany, The Netherlands, Austria, Switzerland, Italy, Greece, France, Belgium, Hungary, Denmark, Sweden, Finland, Norway, Indonesia, Malaysia, South Africa and New Zealand. Most programs are of six week duration.

Lions Youth Exchange is not only open to school students, but also to youths who have already entered the workforce.

The Youth Exchange Program is much different from being a normal tourist staying in hotels. Those selected actually live in their hosts homes, becoming part of that family and in this way, learn so much more about the country and its way of life.

The Lions Club can sponsor more than one youth, but youths will be selected on their merits.

Costs of the various programs can be obtained by contacting Carnegie Lion, Bob Sigmont, on 571 4634. Remember, costs quoted will not be just airfares, but will include all air travel ex Melbourne, insurance and administration, internal Lions group travel in destination of country, a travel bag and wallet, name badge and Lions group photo, Australian departure tax and stopovers where applicable.

Applications must be made in writing (with references), to the Secretary, Lions Club of Carnegie, P O Box 192, Carnegie, 3163, before May 31, 1992.

Volunteer needed

THE Caulfield Citizens' Advice Bureau is looking for a volunteer to assist with the updating of information held at the bureau. This would involve telephone work and upkeep of pamphlet supplies. The position requires someone who is well organised, interested in community resources and who can make an ongoing commitment of three or four hours per week.

If anyone is interested, please telephone Laurel Thompson, at the CAB, on 524 3200, or 524 3272.

Caulfield remembers a pioneer

A COMMEMORATIVE plaque was unveiled recently in recognition of Caulfield's well known veteran athlete, Gus Theobald.

The plaque, which was officially unveiled by Caulfield Mayor, Cr Veronika Martens, is located on the wall of the grandstand at Duncan MacKinnon Reserve, home of the Glen Huntly Athletic Club, of which Gus was a member for many years.

Tragically, on the night of August 8, 1990, Gus was struck down and killed by a vehicle while crossing busy North Rd.

Gus, born March 5, 1897 began his athletic career at age 35. He was classed "too old" to compete in events other than walking events.

He won the Open Victorian and Australian 50km walks in 1949 at the age of 52.

When the Veterans' Association was formed in the 1970's, Gus was a foundation member. He was undefeated thereafter and still holds all the Victorian and Australian records for his age group.

Gus's enormous contribution to athletics was recognised in 1982 when he was awarded the British Empire Medal.

Gus Theobald provided both inspiration and encouragement to the sport of athletics.

Market needs good farm yard junk

Above: Caulfield Mayor, Cr Veronika Martens officially opened Caulfield's Sunday Market last month, she is pictured with President of the Monash University Student Union, Rohan Cresp.

GOOD Farm yard junk is wanted for the Caulfield Sunday Market operated jointly by the Rotary Clubs of Caulfield and Caulfield-Rosstown.

The market is held in the Monash University Caulfield Campus carpark, from 7am to 1pm every Sunday.

It is a secondhand, art and craft market set up by Rotary to raise money for Caulfield's needy people and deserving projects.

A farm yard junk stall has been set up for interested city-based collectors and decorators. Goods needed for the stall are kitchenware, bric-a-brac, pottery, earthenware, books, records, cast iron toys, butter churns and other pioneering items, tools and small items of farm equipment that have "decoration value".

The two Rotary clubs will be asking farmers and country Rotary clubs to offer any secondhand farm items needed for this stall.

Such sales are expected to help farmers sell unwanted, but valuable goods more profitably.

The Caulfield Sunday Market will allow individual farmers, or small groups of farmers to sell direct to Melbourne-based collectors or decorators.

The Market also has a stall for secondhand horse gear.

Farmers and horse owners wanting further information, should write to: P O Box 281, Caulfield South, 3162, or telephone (03) 571 6209 during business hours.

● The Beavis St Market

THE Bayside Craft Cooperative will hold a craft market in the Beavis St Scout Hall, Elsternwick, on the fourth Saturday of each month.

Community groups will be pleased to know that one, free of charge stall space at each market has been set aside for fund raising efforts.

Heather Fidge and Andreina Chinn, who submitted the application for the market on behalf of the Cooperative, said they believed shoppers will be impressed by the range of unique items and the reasonable prices they will pay for such high quality craftsmanship.

The Cooperative's Christmas market in the Scout Hall last November and their shop in Glen Huntly Walk were both very popular with local shoppers.

The first Market will be held on Saturday, May 23, from 9am-1pm.

Community groups who are interested in using the free stall space, should contact the Cooperative, on 528 3195 or 578 5149.

Caulfield's Commercial Strategy

THE Draft 1992 Commercial Strategy is on public exhibition until the end of May.

The Strategy highlights that concentrated effort is required to bolster Caulfield's commercial areas, particularly Elsternwick and Carnegie in light of major retail expansion outside the municipality.

It outlines the major policies Caulfield will pursue and proposes that detailed Action Area Plans be developed for each commercial centre.

Copies of the Draft Strategy can be viewed at the Town Planning Counter and branch libraries.

Any written comments should be sent to the Manager Planning, Caulfield Council, P O Box 42, Caulfield South, 3162, by Thursday, May 28, 1992.

Taking a look at Council's Technical Services Division

This is the first of a three part series featuring Council services. This month we feature the Technical Services Division

... The Building Department ...

COUNCIL'S building control staff are available to assist you with advice relating to building regulations, Council policies and construction techniques, prior to preparation of final documentation for building approval.

Building statistics

The number of building applications received by Caulfield's building department varies from year to year. A feasible yearly average is about 1000 applications at an estimated development cost of $30 million.

Building types

These can be listed under six main categories:
 * New houses and additions
 * New units and additions
 * Commercial
 * Industrial
 * Other (inc. swimming pools, garages, fences, etc.)
 * Demolitions

Building Inspections

Prior to booking a building inspection, it is important to have the site clearly identified with a sign showing the street number and owner's name at the time of the building application. An approved toilet facility must be on site prior to the first inspection. The builder is required to call for and have the following inspections approved during the course of the building works:

Concrete slabs

a) Ground inspection - inspection of beams and formwork prior to placement of the polythene and chemical spray for termites.
 b) Steel inspection - inspection of the beams and steel reinforcement prior to the placement of concrete.

Strip footings

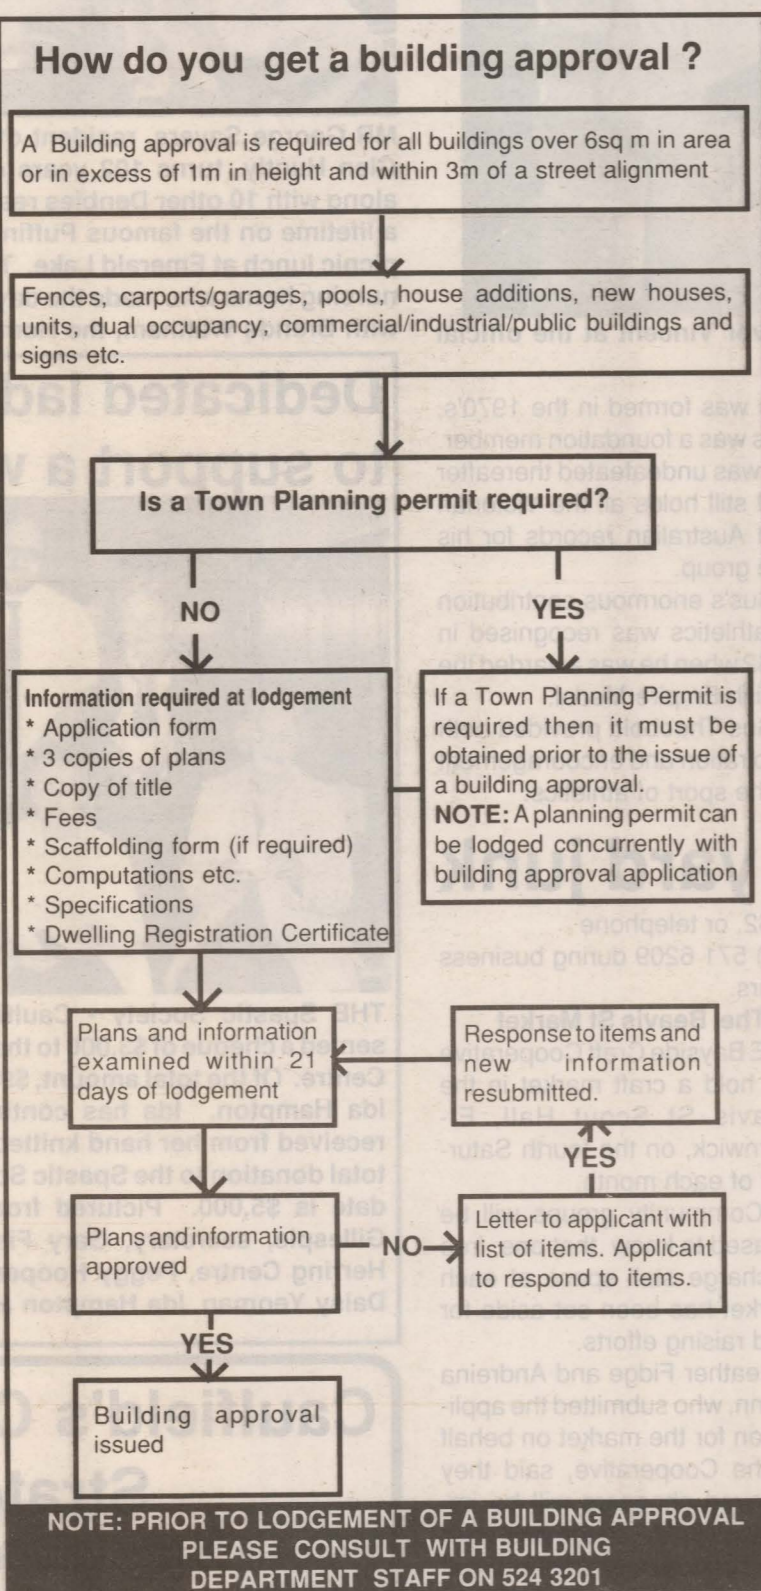

Trenches to be inspected when dug, cleaned out and level. Pegs and steel reinforcement placed.

Stump holes

Inspection required when stump holes are dug, cleaned out and prior to the positioning of stumps.

Framing

Inspection is required when timber frame buildings are framed or in the case of brick or concrete buildings, when the walls are erected and the roof framed and the window frames installed. No timber member may be covered prior to approval.

Stormwater

All stormwater drains and pits are to be inspected and approved prior to backfilling of trenches.

Final inspection

A final inspection of all works is required upon completion.

* A stamp approved plan must be made available for inspection on the site while work is in progress

Booking an inspection

When booking an inspection the following is required:

- * Building approval number.
- * Address of the property

 * Private swimming pools/spas which do not contain a volume of water more than 15 cubic metres.
 * Retaining walls not used in conjunction with building works (landscaping etc.) and not adjacent to adjoining allotments.
 * Fences: a) that do not exceed 2m in height other than swimming pool safety barriers, when more than 3m from any street alignment or; b) that do not exceed 1 metre in height when within 3m of street alignment.
 * Pergolas: provided that the pergola is unroofed (shade cloth, battens accepted) and located more than 3m from frontage.
NOTE: If you require further information please call 524 3201.

General enquiries

Design office staff have direct contact with ratepayers and the general public. Staff provide advice on a number of areas which include:

- * Property information - sought by owners, developers etc., covering allotment locations, Title boundaries and easement information
- * Council assets - road and drainage details, standard drawing and specification information and details of Council's parks and public buildings.
- * Application for permits & approvals maintenance reports - taking of requests and/or reports in relation to Council assets in need of maintenance for direction to the appropriate officer.

Works & Services

- * Collection services
 Current refuse disposal services comprise:
 * household garbage collection

There are five main service areas that make up the engineering department.

- Design
- Works & services
- Parks and gardens
- Swimming pool
- Traffic planning & Urban design

Design

The design office staff are involved in the preliminary investigation and estimation of the Capital Works Program. After obtaining approval for works, they are required to undertake the surveying, detailed design, plan preparation and go through the tendering process where applicable, and carry out on site supervision of works.

Works & Services

- * Collection services
 Current refuse disposal services comprise:
 * household garbage collection

- * trade waste collection
- * recyclable materials collection
- * hard rubbish collection

Household garbage - Council operates a weekly clearance of household garbage to all residences and provides 240 litre mobile bins for this purpose. The service operates weekdays including public holidays. Bins should be placed on the naturestrip for collection prior to 6am on the day of collection.

Trade waste collection - This system also uses 240 litre mobile garbage bins (with orange lids) and charges to customers are set to recover costs, with a view to current commercial rates.

Recycling - Glass products, aluminium cans and large plastic PET, PVC and HDPE containers should be left for collection on a weekly basis the same day as the household garbage bins and placed in the plastic recycling bag provided by the contractor to every residence.

Compost bins - These can be paid for at the cashier, City Hall and collected by the depot. They are available in two sizes 210 litre ($32) or 280 ($40).

Hard Rubbish collection - an annual clearance is conducted to all residences within the City between May and July.
Tip - Council does not operate its own tip, however, residents may cart rubbish to the disposal site located in Osborne Road, Clayton. Tel 551 2351 for details.

Footpath maintenance

Footpaths may be damaged by building or road opening works in connection with development of adjacent property or public authority service renewals.

Street cleaning & litter bins

Street sweeping commences at 5am to enable clear passage free of parked vehicles in shopping areas. The clearance of 250 litter bins located throughout the municipality is carried out on a daily basis.

Parks & Gardens

Council has a system where its major parks and gardens are maintained by permanent groundsmen/women. Tasks include: weeding, edging, trimming, hand mowing, litter picking, and cleaning of barbecues.

Landscaping maintenance
 There is considerable work involved in landscape maintenance which includes work at Council properties such as hostels, child minding centres, libraries, elderly citizens clubs and offstreet carparks.

Swimming pool
 Maintenance of the Caulfield pool located in Moira Ave, Carnegie, includes: upkeep of kiosk, shower maintenance, painting/sandblasting of pools and continuous maintenance of the plant and equipment at the pool. The pool offers a number of facilities including, 4 pools, giant water slide, electric barbecues and a well stocked kiosk and operates between November and March each year.

Traffic planning and Urban design

This section seeks to provide for and promote the safe and efficient movement of all forms of traffic and transportation on the City's road network; and to plan and implement traffic management and landscape measures throughout the City, to maintain traffic safety and to enhance the environment.

- Town Planning Department -

The Planning department has experienced and professional staff who provide advice and assistance to the public and Council on town planning matters.

Caulfield Planning Scheme

The department administers the Caulfield Planning Scheme which involves:

- * assessing proposals for land use and development
- * providing general and detailed advice and information on proposed land uses, building designs, commercial and residential development
- * representing Council at Planning Appeals and other tribunals and hearings
- * preparing forward plans and policies
- * monitoring the operations of planning permits.

The planning department also administers applications under the Sub Division Act 1989, when proposals are made to subdivide or consolidate land.

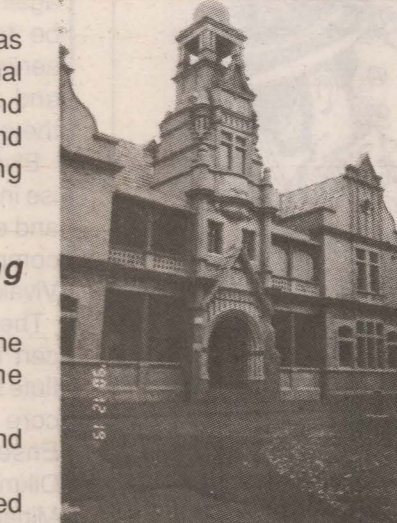

Statutory and Strategic Planning

Planning in Caulfield can be categorised as statutory or strategic planning. Most of the tasks relate to statutory planning which involves applying for permits, the zoning system and other legal processes including enforcement of planning controls. Strategic planning includes the preparation of forward plans, policies and strategies to guide the future direction of Council. It often involves survey research work and the production of planning policies or codes with advice on Council's policies or regulations for residential and commercial development, carparking, tennis court lighting etc. Both fields of planning frequently overlap in matters such as amendments to the planning scheme or rezoning of land.

Zones and Permits

Under the Caulfield Planning Scheme, the municipality is divided into various zones such as:

- * residential
- * service business
- * light industrial

Above: O'Neil College, recommended for protection by consultant.

Each zone has objectives which provide a guide as to the primary purpose of the zone. Within each zone certain land uses are listed as prohibited in that zone, permitted unconditionally or permitted subject to a planning permit. A planning permit is issued by Caulfield Council, in most cases, for a specific use or development on a particular parcel of land. It may have certain conditions attached to it which define or limit the use permitted. For example, a permit to allow the use of a building for a restaurant will usually be subject to conditions relating to a maximum number of customers or hours of operation or provision of carparking.

Few planning permits are issued without conditions as they allow the Council, the applicant and residents to be more certain of the parameters under which the use may operate or proceed. On some occasions, Council may issue a temporary permit which allows a use for a limited time only.

Multiple Residential Development Policy

Currently under review, this policy provides Council, developers and residents with objectives and guidelines for multi-residential developments. Innovative design is encouraged and a high standard of landscaping and building finish is required.

Urban Conservation

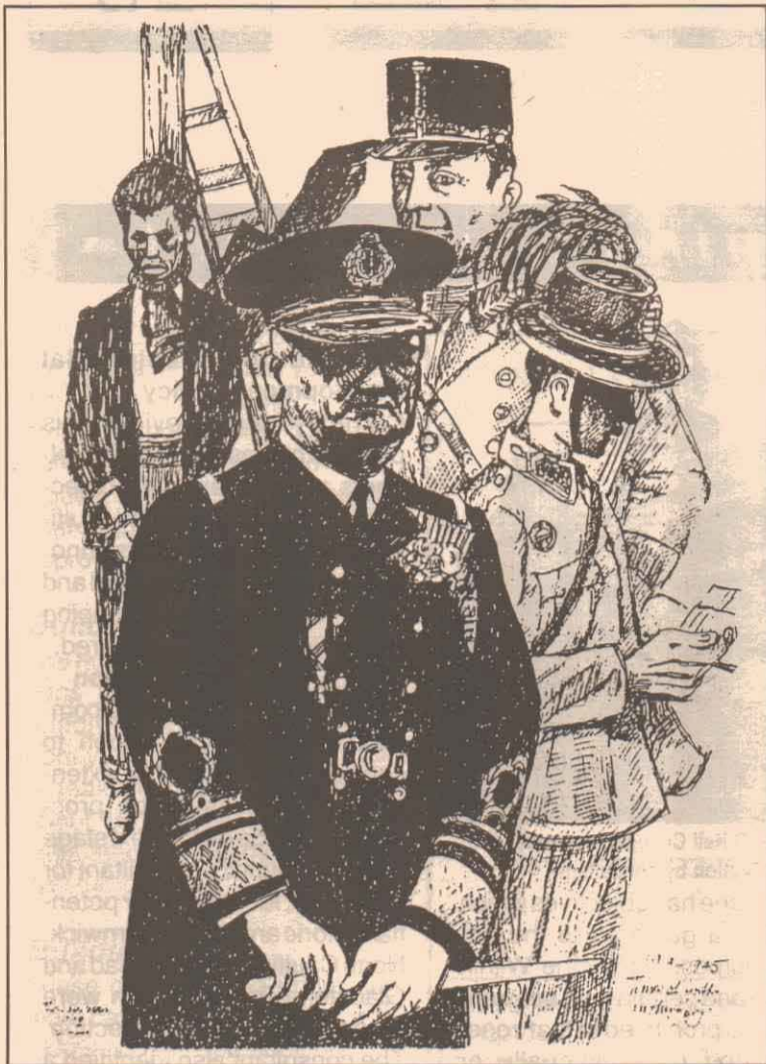

Stage one of this study is complete and Council is soon to consider the results of an extensive public consultation process and decide on the next stage of work. Council's consultant for stage one, identified four potential historic areas in Elsterwick, North Caulfield, Derby Road and Gladstone Parade which were recommended for protection. The consultant also identified a number of buildings of historical significance.

Residential Design Awards

An annual competition, the Residential Design Awards, are presented to the multi-unit development which the judges consider to be the year's best example of residential design and innovation. Judging criteria include internal and external building design, open space and landscaping. Nominations for this year's award will be accepted up to October 30, 1992.

Drawings, illustrations, prints and paintings

Above: Times of Horthy in Hungary, (1919-1945). Black Biro 1991. Depicts the realities of war under a fascist regime.

CAULFIELD Arts Complex will hold a retrospective exhibition of drawings, illustrations, prints and paintings by Thomas de Kessler, from May 13-24, 1992.

Born in Budapest, Hungary, in 1925, Thomas de Kessler studied art at the Academy of Applied and Fine Arts in Budapest and later at RMIT in Melbourne.

This retrospective exhibition of approximately 180 works (predominantly drawings and illustrations) is an interesting reflection of Thomas de Kessler - the social and political commentator and, of course, the person.

Spanning 45 years of his life, the works displayed reveal the sympathy the artist has for the victims of war and its ramifications of isolation, despair and destruction; the inevitable competitive nature of man and the corruption and decay are unavoidable consequences of wars.

His early works of the late 1940s and early 1950s and his recent drawings of the late 1980s and early 1990s, mainly relate to the folly of politicians, various military regimes and the desire for power disguised and sold as beneficial for political and social evolution. Thomas de Kessler endeavours to find the truth behind these facades and expose the stupidity, corruption and propaganda, engendered by false prophets, corrupt political leaders and misguided social redeemers.

While his romantic scraper-board illustrations of Hungarian fairytales are at first sight lyrical and poetic, they too represent an era where the romanticised past served as a political tool under an oppressive semi-fascist regime.

Technically accomplished and politically poignant, this exhibition deserves serious consideration. The artist's message of the necessity to change our ways and create a better world without pretension, social inequality, racism, political oppression and military madness, is clear.

Concert at Labassa

LABASSA, the National Trust home in Manor Grove, Caulfield will be the venue for two concerts by the Elysium Ensemble, on May 30, 1992.

The intimate music room at Labassa only holds 75 people so the concert is to be held firstly at 1.30pm and repeated again at 8.15pm. There will be tea, coffee and biscuits served after the first concert and a light supper served in the evening.

Elysium Ensemble specialise in music from the late 17th and early 18th centuries from composers such as Bach, Vivaldi, Handel and Telemann.

The programme for this concert will be five of the main flute sonatas of J S Bach. The core group of the Elysium Ensemble comprises Greg Dikmand, (flute and recorder), Miriam Morris, (viola da gamba and cello), Julie Hewson, (violin) and Linda Ken, (harp-sichord).

Tickets are $19.50 adults, $12.50 concession, or $52 for a family ticket. Book early for this event as subscribers have first choice of seats.

Enquiries about this concert, should be directed to Cadence, phone 819 1477.

An exhibition of bookbinding

A RETROSPECTIVE exhibition of craft bookbinding to celebrate the 10th anniversary of the Guild, will be held in the Community Gallery, Caulfield Arts Complex, from May 13-24, 1992.

Works will include traditional and contemporary bindings by members of the Guild and the exhibition will include a display of bookbinding tools and equipment.

There will be traditional bindings in handsome leather and marbled papers, as well as some most unusual books of individual design.

Many items will be for sale, providing a rare opportunity for book collectors and connoisseurs of fine bindings to make a purchase.

The Victorian Bookbinders' Guild Inc. was formed in 1981 by a group of professional and amateur bookbinders. From a small beginning, the Guild has steadily grown to its present membership of 110, which includes librarians, papermakers and others interested in books and their bindings.

Members meet monthly at the Melbourne College of Printing and Graphic Art. The Guild holds many bookbinding demonstrations, workshops and lectures.

The Boyds, A family portrait and part of Caulfield's history

TO develop a picture of the Boyd family and the artistic and cultural life surrounding their Murrumbene property, "Open Country", is the current priority of the Art Selection committee for the City of Caulfield.

In starting to create this picture of a story that is both artistically and historically significant to the Caulfield area, it has been decided to focus firstly on the work of the father of the Murrumbene family, Merric Boyd.

Also dubbed 'The Father of Studio Pottery' in Australia in a major exhibition of his work at the National Gallery of Victoria in 1990. Merric's adventurous hand modelled work embodies the sweeping lines and rhythmic aesthetics of the European Art Nouveau movement, yet using uniquely Australian motifs, such as koalas, gum trees and kookaburras.

Merric, a well known local identity, also taught the craft of pottery to his children Lucy, Arthur, Guy, David and Mary in their early years, who would model work alongside their father in his studio. Merric's wife, Doris, was also very active, decorating many of the pots

Merric made to be sold in shops around Melbourne.

All of the Boyd children went on to become artists in their adult lives, with Arthur and Guy both setting up commercial potteries at the Murrumbene home at different times. The "Arthur Merric Boyd Pottery", as it was named, was dominated by Arthur, with involvement from the artists John Perceval and Neil Douglas, while the "Guy Boyd Pottery" involved this artist's own immediate family.

The Boyd family played a significant role in Caulfield's history. Given this, the Art Selection committee is extremely keen to hear from people with works by Merric Boyd, especially, but also by any members of the Boyd family who may like to donate or sell them to the City of Caulfield collection. All donations are tax deductible under the Commonwealth Government's tax incentives for the Arts Scheme.

The Art Selection Committee can be contacted either through the Arts Centre Curator, Tim Rollason, on 524 3402, or by contacting Caulfield Mayor, Cr Veronika Martens, on 524 3225 (b/h), or 579 0297 (a/h).

"Love letters from Malta"

FREELANCE photographer and author, Linda Mae Tanner will give an illustrated presentation of her book, Love Letters from Malta at the Caulfield Library, 4 Maple St, Caulfield South, on Thursday, May 14, commencing 7.30pm.

Linda, a Caulfield resident, became interested in cameras and photography at the age of six. Since that time she has travelled extensively and developed her photographic art through working for local newspapers and the national music magazine, Juke.

Over the years, Linda has become deeply attached to Malta, a love which has resulted in her book of striking photographs.

Chosen as the official publication of the 18 part SBS documentary series, The Maltese, Love Letters from Malta is a sensitive portrayal of an enchanting country.

Linda's presentation will provide people with a rare opportunity to see projections of her superb photographic work.

For enquiries regarding the evening, contact Barry Scott, community services librarian, on 524 3357.

Rebel with a cause

DAVID Boyd is an artist who offers us a courageous reflexion of the human condition. His works make one ponder and deserve interest and respect. He takes up the defence of the oppressed: of man, of each man, of all men. His paintings have a monumental character and have a certain quality of silence, not to be found in the work of many other artists.

Caulfield Arts Complex is proud to present an exhibition of works by David Boyd. The exhibition, Survey Retrospective will run from May 27 to June 10, 1992.

The name Boyd, has an artistic and historic significance to Caulfield.

David Boyd, son of Merric Boyd, was born in Murrumbidgee in 1925. David began his career as a painter in 1957 with a series of symbolic paintings representing Australian explorers.

It was not until the exhibition of 'The Trial' series in 1963 in London and Paris that David Boyd's painting was fully recognised as of major significance.

'The Trial' series made a greater immediate impact in London than any single exhibition by a contemporary artist during that period.

Boyd's paintings have always become regular storm centres bringing forth enthusiastic praise and vicious abuse in about equal proportions.

This exhibition is a survey of his life's work.

Writers' evening at Arts Complex

RHONDA Johnson, is one of four writers who will read and perform their work at an evening to be held at the Caulfield Arts Complex Theatre, on Thursday, May 28, 1992 at 7.30pm.

As author of plays, including And So She Bit the Apple, Love Me Tender and Dream Kitchen, Ms Johnson has had her works performed at many Melbourne theatres. She is currently co-owner of the Doll Cafe, an innovative cafe and arts venue in Melbourne's western suburbs.

Performing on the same evening will be ex New Zealander, Sherryl Clarke, Mal Morgan and acclaimed novelist, Andrea Goldsmith.

The evening is to be hosted by the Caulfield Library Service and includes wine and cheese, all for the recession beating price of $3, or $2 for Caulfield Library Service members.

For enquiries about the evening, contact Barry Scott, community services librarian, on 524 3357.

The article deadline for the June 15 issue, is May 18

Concerts coming to Caulfield

CAULFIELD Arts Complex presents Nehama Patkin and Friends, on Sunday, May 17, at 3pm

Following on from the great success of last year's concerts, the Arts Complex is delighted to feature this very talented, unique and gifted group of young musicians who range in age from 4-16 years.

Highlights of the concert will be Bach's Italian Concerto, played by Oliver Ng, nine years of age, Mendelssohn's Trio in D minor for violin, cello and piano, featuring David Tong on piano, eight years of age and Scaramouche for two pianos, by Milhaud.

The concert will be held in the auditorium at the Arts Complex, cnr Glen Eira and Hawthorn Rds, Caulfield.

Cost of tickets is $7, or $5 concession.

For further information, contact Liz Jesty, on 524 3264.

CAULFIELD Arts Complex also presents a concert by Pamela Bloom, (clarinet), Sarah Cuming, (cello) and Clare Clements, (piano) on Sunday, May 24, at 3pm.

This versatile and exciting Trio will include in their programme the two Masterworks written for Clarinet, Cello and Piano Trio - namely Beethoven's Trio Opus 11 and Brahms's Trio Opus 114.

This concert will be held in the auditorium at the Arts Complex, cnr Glen Eira and Hawthorn Rds, Caulfield.

Cost of tickets $10 or $8 concession.

Wild Goose Chase

A THREE-ACT farce is the first production for the 1992 season to be staged by the Rosstown Amateur Theatrical Society.

The Play, Wild Goose Chase, by Derek Benfield will be performed at the Uniting Church Theatre, cnr Neerim and Toolambool Rds, Carnegie.

Performances will be held on May 15, 16, 22 and 23, commencing at 8pm. There will be a special matinee performance on Saturday, May 16 at 2pm.

Wild Goose Chase is a smash hit from the London stage and deals with the hilarious confusion caused when two inept crooks arrive at Elrood Castle, whose residents are a crazy lord and his lady.

The Rosstown Society, whose name derives from the original name of Carnegie, is one of Melbourne's leading amateur theatrical groups, specialising in comedy and farce.

For ticket bookings, contact Tanya, on 579 5506, or Jenny, on 569 9928.

Note: For a modest annual subscription of $10, members receive ticket concessions, newsletters and invitations to fun social evenings.

There is also the opportunity to take an active role in the Society's productions.

Publication opportunity for local writers

THE Caulfield Writer's Group and Caulfield Library Service have joined forces in developing an exciting project for local writers, called Towards Publication.

As well as assisting local writers through the provision of seminars on editing and publishing the project, with funding assistance from the Victorian Ministry for the Arts and the Caulfield Community Education Group, the Group is planning to produce an eight page broadsheet of local writing.

The broadsheet which will feature stories, poems and prose pieces with a Caulfield flavor, will be published as an insert in the October issue of Caulfield Contact.

The professionally designed publication will be edited by award winning local author, Rosa Safransky.

Submissions of stories, poems and prose pieces from writers of all age groups are now being invited. Owing to space considerations, shorter pieces, under 1500 words are encouraged.

A variety of writing styles and themes will be featured, but writing that creatively reflects the diversity of life in Caulfield will be viewed favorably.

Excerpts from manuscripts, diary entries and autobiographical pieces are all acceptable.

While no payment can be made to writers, publication will guarantee wide exposure in the Caulfield community and writing circles.

Submissions which should include a stamped, self-addressed envelope, should be forwarded to Barry Scott, community services librarian, Caulfield Library, 4 Maple St, Caulfield South. The closing date for submissions is Wednesday, July 1, 1992.

Enquiries regarding this project should be directed to Barry Scott, on 524 3357.

Gold medals abound

Above: Marc Antoine. Becoming a Contact celebrity.

ONCE again, Caulfield's Marc Antoine has blitzed, winning gold medals at the Pan Pacific Games in Darwin and the Little Athletics Championships in Perth.

Marc won gold in the 100m and 200m sprints and the relay event at the Pan Pacific Games held in Darwin. He won the gold in the 100m and 200m sprints, a bronze in the long jump and a silver in the 4x100 relay at the Little Athletics Championships held recently in Perth.

Marc can now enjoy a rest from interstate competitions, but will continue to enjoy playing school sports.

The Antoine family wish to thank all Elsternwick and Caulfield residents who purchased raffle tickets, which raised money and helped send Marc to compete in the Pan Pacific Games, in Darwin.

Congratulations Marc.

News from St John's cricket club

ST JOHN'S Elsternwick Cricket Club recently held its presentation night and celebrated the premiership achieved by its second eleven in SSCDCA.

After making the final four in the last round, the team went all the way with batsmen James Foster, Greg Hunter, Matthew McKay and captain, David Hudson, performing well to amass a score of 239. Craig Martin blasted the opposition, taking 9/33 in limiting them to a score of 80. Craig took 7/51 in the semi final.

St John's also had their under 12 team in the finals but they were defeated in the semis. In addition, two individual awards were presented. Other highlights, included a tie for the Player of the Year Award (K F Burrington Trophy) between Craig Martin and third eleven captain, Mike Morello with 14 votes. Malcolm Bailey and Doc Doherty were next with 12 votes.

The Fosters Shield for the grudge match between the 'oldies' and the 'youngies' was won by the 'oldies' who used their experience to advantage. Caulfield's Deputy Mayor, Cr James Barrett scored 50, took 2 wickets and featured in a run out for the 'oldies'.

The Double Wicket competition for the Alan Fairbanks Trophy was won by Craig Martin and Les Muir, the latter having played cricket for almost 50 years in the Association.

The Fluffy Duck Award for the most humorous event of the year went to President, Jim Foster, who scored two runs in just over two hours batting time.

Club players to win Association Awards this year were Craig Martin fifth grade batting 560 runs at 56 and 50 wickets at 9.4, Malcolm Bailey 29 wickets in third grade and Cr James Barrett, the Association wicket keeping award with 26 victims.

The St John's Club, which has three senior and two junior teams, hopes to build on its success next season.

Further information can be obtained from secretary, Alan Taylor, on 571 0816, who was also awarded the Most Dedicated Clubman Trophy this year.

Passive smoking affects your child's development

THIS year's Quit Week starts on World No Tobacco Day, May 31. Its primary focus will be the dangers of passive smoking around children.

Once comforted by glamorous images of cigarettes, the smoker has shifted to a precarious position in society's eyes. Not only are smokers becoming more aware of what smoking does to them, but also what it does to the people around them.

Ten years ago, the effects of smoking on adults were not well understood. The well-established links between smoking, lung cancer, coronary heart disease, depressed lung function and airways irritation are not limited to smokers alone. The risk for passive smokers is clearly less than for active smokers, but it is a plainly unacceptable risk imposed without consent.

Director of the Quit Campaign, Ms Michelle Scollo says, "the evidence is now very clear that passive smoking can cause serious health problems such as lung cancer, heart disease and attacks of asthma. "Obviously, the exposure of non-smokers to tobacco smoke varies a great deal. For many, the exposure is heavy and frequent. Unborn babies and young children are at special risk," said Ms Scollo.

Making healthy choices such as quitting smoking and eating healthy food when you become pregnant will not only make you feel better, but it will give your baby a great start to life. The likelihood of having a low-weight baby increases if the mother smokes during the pregnancy; the chances of miscarriage, complications during the birth and perinatal death also increases.

Asthmatic children of smokers have more attacks, more severe attacks and the condition develops earlier. Children of smokers are also more likely to develop serious chest infections such as bronchitis and pneumonia, especially during the first years of life. Living with one smoker during childhood and adolescence doubles the risk of lung cancer for a non-smoker. The Australian Bureau of Statistics suggests that almost 50% of children live in a household where at least one adult smokes. A large proportion of ill-health amongst children can be attributed to cigarette smoking.

Smoking is also linked with a lower growth rate in childhood and slower progress in reading, writing and other learning. What causes this is not clear, but it is real. It is suspected that some growth and health problems experienced through childhood might have their roots in the child's exposure to the harmful chemicals in smoke before birth.

The purpose of the 1992 Quit Program is not to scare, judge or criticise, but simply to provide parents and carers of children with information to which they have a right. Special attention should be paid to places where children are cared for and places where they go to play or to eat.

For more information, contact Quit, on 663 7777.
