Caulfield to become "Gardiner"

CAULFIELD'S northern boundary is likely to be changed to take in that area of the City of Malvern generally bound by Wattletree Rd, Malvern Rd, Moira St, Dunlop St, Gardiners Creek, Warrigal Rd, Dandenong Rd and Tooronga Rd. The population of the new municipality will be 90,300 and its rate revenue will be around $26.2 million based on current rating levels. It will occupy about 29.5 square kilometres.

The new City was proposed by the Local Government Board last Friday and will be subject to government approval.

"Council's first option was to remain unchanged, but Wattletree Rd was highly favoured. It was also strongly supported by residents."

- Caulfield Mayor, Cr Nicholas Gold.

Gold, said "The Council's first option was to remain unchanged, but Wattletree Rd was highly favoured. It was also strongly supported by residents," he added.

"There are benefits in the change including greater economies of scale, combined with compatibility of housing styles and community interests."

Council's chief executive officer,

Doug Ayles, said "The result is a vote of confidence that Caulfield can deliver efficient and effective services with a high level of resident satisfaction. With low costs of administration and services, the new City of Gardiner can be assured of a good start."

Cr Gold expressed concern for the future of loyal expert staff, but considered they will be key assets in launching the new authority.

"Council is committed to maintaining and enhancing services in the new municipality," he said.

Transition to new council

THE report of the Local Government Board implies that commissioners will be appointed to run the new councils for a period of 12 months. These commissioners will be government appointed and therefore not accountable to the community.

Caulfield Mayor, Cr Nicholas Gold, stated "Caulfield Council is strongly opposed to the sacking of councillors. With such a small change in boundaries, Caulfield Council could easily manage the transition to the new authority," he said.

In its interim report, the Board clearly recognises, "the danger of unelected interim managements cutting services in order to demonstrate savings."

"At the end of the day, commissioners will not have the pressure of the ballot box to influence their decisions," said Cr Gold.

Cr Gold is one of a group of mayors who have taken the issue of democratic city representation to the public.

Gold mine for local park

CAULFIELD Council recently approved the construction of a 'Gold Mine' playground in Caulfield Park.

The 'Gold Mine' will replace the existing play equipment situated at the eastern end of Caulfield Park, near Park Cres.

Predominantly timber structures in heritage colors, the 'Gold Mine' has been designed for children of various ages and abilities to stimulate imagination and social interaction through role play and enhance self esteem through challenging yet safe activities using child friendly materials.

The equipment is Australian Made and different to all other playgrounds in Caulfield to date.

The new playground is expected to be completed by the end of June, 1994. A plan is currently on display at City Hall for your perusal. Your comments are invited and should be directed to Council's urban designer, Ms Lynette Hannan, on 524 3348.

The eastern end of Caulfield Park will also be further improved with additional tree planting. Council plans to plant indigenous trees, consistent with the Australiana theme. Extensive planting of Swamp Gum, Manna Gum and Blackwood Wattle will occur during Spring. The trees will help to re-green an area of parkland which has experienced tree loss over the years due to old age and deterioration of trees.

Waste collections to start

CAULFIELD Council is about to commence regular collections of mulchable garden materials and hard rubbish from all residential properties.

Mulching collection service

This service is due to begin in April and will run for 10 weeks. All residents will receive an advance notice indicating the week during which the collection will be held. The notice requires all materials put out to be bundled according to size requirements to allow for it to fit through the contractor's chipping machine.

There are also exclusions of some materials that will not chip and block the machine or result in an unsuitable mulch product. Residents will again be able to order the resulting mulch from the contractor, but not all requests may be met, as with the last collection, the demand for mulch exceeded the quantity produced from the collection.

Annual hard rubbish collection

This service will be carried by the same contractor following the completion of the mulching service in June. This will also run for 10 weeks and a separate advance notice will be distributed to residents for this collection.

The notice will advise of certain materials that cannot be included in the collection such as paint, chemicals and asbestos, which will not be accepted at the tip due to environmental regulations.

Building and mechanical materials are also unacceptable, and cardboard, glass and other recyclable materials will not be collected and should be cleared through regular recycling collections.

Council to help local traders

AT a meeting of local traders and business leaders called by Caulfield Council on February 17, 1994, Council committed itself to working with the community to develop and enhance local shopping centres.

With respect to Elsternwick Shopping Centre, Council has allocated funds of $15,000 to improve some sections of the footpath and, on a broader scale, has agreed to introduce Elsternwick and all other local traders to the Main Street Program.

The Main Street Program is a program designed to bring the community and retailers together for the beautification of the streetscape and to help increase and maintain the level of activity and profitability of strip shopping centres.

Caulfield Mayor, Cr Nicholas Gold, said "The issue of struggling shopping centres relates to more than just their appearance - it's up to shopkeepers and the community to work together for the overall success of their shopping centre."

Council has already received expressions of interest in the Main Street Program and as a result, invites all interested local traders and business people along to an information evening on Main Street which will include a number of guest speakers specialised in retailing and Main Street programs. This meeting will be held on April 20, 8pm in the Council Reception Room, Caulfield City Hall. (Shopkeepers and business people will receive a formal invitation).

A committee of interested people will be elected to act as a committee of management, similar to that of a Centre Management at Chadstone or Southland.

At an informal meeting held on March 21, 1994 with members of the Elsternwick Chamber of Commerce, Councillors and traders expressed their commitment to beginning a co-ordinated effort to upgrade and enhance the Elsternwick Strip Shopping Centre. Caulfield Mayor, Cr Nicholas Gold and other Councillors took a walk through the area and reasserted their commitment to work together for the benefit of all concerned.

Engineering update

Walsh St modernisation

CAULFIELD Council has recently called tenders for the modernisation of Walsh St between Grange and Katandra Rds, Ormond.

Works will include the reconstruction of the bluestone pitcher kerb and channel and upgrading of the stormwater drainage system. Continual deterioration of the existing kerb and channel and lack of underground drainage necessitated this project which will require drainage to run along Lillimur Rd between Walsh St and North Rd. This project will also include the installation of underground drainage to the Grange Rd/Walsh St intersection and therefore removal of the existing open bluestone channel across the intersection is necessary. Council will appoint a contractor as part of its Street Reconstruction Program with works envisaged to start in May.

THE following advertisement will appear in The Age to clarify a common Local Government position on transitional arrangements, and seek resident responses.

WILL FACELESS PEOPLE CONTROL YOUR NEIGHBOURHOOD?

ONE morning, in the next few weeks, you'll wake to discover that your democratically elected local council has been removed.

Instead, for the next two years or so, your neighbourhood will be ruled by a commissioner. If you think it makes no difference, you're in for a nasty surprise.

COUNCIL, COMMISSIONER WHAT'S THE DIFFERENCE?

Your local council is made up of community councillors - people elected by you to care for your neighbourhood.

Because they live in the area, they understand the lifestyle and special needs of your community.

And, because you elected them, they're accountable to you.

A commissioner, on the other hand, is a person who has been appointed by the government to run your neighbourhood.

A commissioner isn't required to live in the community - or expected to understand its special needs. Or even required to have local government experience.

Your commissioner will have sweeping powers to make decisions about your neighbourhood - such as development applications and cuts to services - and to spend your rates.

But your commissioner will be accountable only to the government - not to you.

THE DANGER OF LOSING YOUR RIGHTS

Giving commissioners unrestricted power to run local neighbourhood communities is an idea fraught with danger.

Services like kindergartens, meals on wheels, health care and libraries can be slashed. Historic community halls and meeting places can be sold to realise the land value.

Overnight, your neighbourhood can be rezoned into a developer's haven.

Fast food outlets can be located next door to you - not to mention high-density housing and high-rise buildings.

Developments that would irretrievably alter the nature of your community - and the lifestyle you have chosen. All this without you being able to have any say - or possibly any right of appeal for up to two years.

Your commissioner derives power from the government - and answers only to the government. A government committed to fast track development - as events in Euroa and Mount Sterling have recently confirmed.

WHY ARE YOUR DEMOCRATIC RIGHTS BEING REMOVED?

Many people agree that Melbourne's traditional boundaries urgently need to be redefined and rationalised.

In some cases, efficiencies can be achieved by merging smaller communities into larger, more effective councils.

Nobody disputes the need for change. What is under dispute is how that change is managed - and by whom.

Commissioners with no local government experience - who do not even live in the area - will take years to become sensitive to the long term needs and aspirations of the local community.

Even then, in cases where the aspirations of the local community conflict with the ambition of central government, they'll always put government first.

After all, they report to the government - not to the community.

THERE IS A BETTER WAY

The government has modelled much of its plan for merging Melbourne's councils on the experience of New Zealand, Tasmania and Queensland.

Yet, in each of these cases, the transition progressed smoothly because elected community representatives were able to govern through the merger period to a new municipal structure - with sensitivity for the special needs of each community.

In the case of Tasmania, this enabled the transition to be effected in only six months.

Why can't the experience of New Zealand, Tasmania and Queensland be followed in Victoria?

Is there some other hidden agenda?

A PERSONAL MESSAGE TO MR KENNETT

Many people have applauded the success and achievement of the Kennett Government since election. With one very notable exception - community consultation. Because of this, your government is rapidly developing a reputation for being arrogant - for being uncaring and insensitive to the wishes of the community you were elected to serve.

The question of managing local council mergers is a case in point.

Please, Mr Kennett, take notice of the legitimate concerns of the people of Melbourne - it's a great chance to improve your image and win community support.

Act now to curb the dictatorial powers your ministers wish to impose.

WHAT CAN YOU DO ABOUT IT

The power of the people is enormous. If you are concerned about how your neighbourhood is run and about losing your democratic rights, you do have the power to help avoid the unacceptable.

But you must act quickly. Clip the coupons below and mail or fax immediately.

Photocopy this advertisement and distribute to your friends.

By acting together we can still persuade the government that the democratic rights of neighbourhood communities should never be ignored.

What about the other 21 councils?

THE Local Government Board has recommended eight new municipalities covering 18 of the 21 councils involved in the reference area. A ninth proposal includes the City of Box Hill which abuts the reference area. Box Hill indicated its support for this proposal in its submission to the review. Similarly, the proposal involving Altona and Williamstown has implications for the City of Werribee which also abuts the reference area.

The Board has not made any recommendations affecting the Cities of Essendon or Heidelberg and it has recommended only minor adjustments to the southern boundary of the City of Footscray. The most appropriate municipal structure for the sub-regions of which these three councils form part is likely to involve councils not included in this reference, and they are likely to be considered in a separate reference at a later date.

This map gives the overall picture of how the reference area would look if the Board's proposals are adopted.

Employment action centre

THE Employment Action Centre set up to assist people seeking employment, continues to operate on Mondays from 8.30-11.30am.

Located at the Uniting Church, cnr Kooyong Rd and Jupiter St, Caulfield South, the parish offers free use of typewriter, telephone, photocopier and other resources to make job hunting a little easier.

On Monday, April 18, employment counsellor, Cynthia Logan will run a free session about job seeking skills. Cynthia has experience working with the CES and community based groups and will tailor her session to meet the needs of those who attend. The session will run from 9.30-11am - no need to book.

For further information, phone the Parish on 523 6312 or Caulfield Council on 524 3311.

Local theatre production

RATS (Rosstown Amateur Theatre Society) Theatre Company will present Oscar Wilde's popular play "The Importance of Being Earnest" for three weeks at the Uniting Church Hall, cnr Neerim and Toolambool Rds, Carnegie. Dates: April 21, 22, 23, 28, 29, 30, May 5, 6, 7, 8pm, special matinee on Sunday, May 1, 2pm. Cost, adults $10, pensioners/concession $8, family $20, groups 10 or more $8. For bookings, phone 569 9928.

It could be Regent Square, but it's just near Caulfield Town Hall.

A brand new, neoclassical home, designed in the fine style of those in Regent Square, but situated in the green expanse of Caulfield - the best of both worlds.

The development will consist of only twelve residences and twelve town houses, all totally self-contained, with their own front and rear gardens.

They are selling fast - only four remain. It might be due to location, proximity of transport, shops or Caulfield Racecourse, or the remarkable prices of $279,950 to $338,950, but most say it's the generous 148 square metre size along with the superb quality of the finish.

With luxuries like granite bench tops, spa baths, European appliances and the maximum of light, the off-the-plan savings are like icing on the cake.

Senior citizens' week round-up

LET Age Expand Your Horizons was this year's theme for Caulfield's Senior Citizens' Week celebrations held last month.

The program gave Caulfield's older residents the opportunity to participate and enjoy a variety of new and exciting activities.

The celebrations kicked off

A sunny Autumn day in EE Gunn Park was the perfect setting for Exercise in the Park. Participants were treated to a gentle exercise class, a walk in and around the park, Israeli and Greek dancing and a light, healthy lunch.

With instruction from the Cinema to view 'Shindler's List'.

Also included in the program were performances by touring artists at local special accommodation homes and nursing homes. Information showbags containing a range of health and community information brochures were also available.

when Cr David Spencer officially opened the Tea Dance ceremony for the not so fit. This event proved to be a huge success with people dancing and singing to the delightful music of old time dance band, Mick Stewart and Friends. Many who attended were residents of carers and local special accommodation homes and nursing homes who rarely get an opportunity to attend a dance designed to meet their needs.

An exhibition of arts and craft works by older adults was officially opened by Caulfield Mayor, Cr Nicholas Gold. This exhibition enabled many residents like Joan McMurdie (top picture), to exhibit their works for the first time. Joan exhibited two paintings which are the result of the 'Come 'n Try' painting classes she attended at the Caulfield Arts Complex as part of the older adults program.

Nirkoda Israeli Folk Dancing Group and the Children of the Greek Democritos, many enjoyed for the first time, the color and excitement of cultural dancing.

Other activities included a free concert featuring Nehama Patkin at Caulfield City Hall, an Arthritis seminar on 'Falls Prevention', a concert at the Carnegie/Murrumbena Senior Citizens' Centre and an afternoon at the Classic

The City of Caulfield again advertised events in five languages: English, Polish, Greek, Russian and Italian. The success of this was demonstrated by the attendance of many non-English speaking people.

For further details about Senior Citizens' Week or programs for older adults, contact Council's recreation officer for older adults, Cheryl Kennedy, on 524 3356.

New in Over 50s

WITH the increasing popularity of keep fit classes for over 50s, the City of Caulfield has added an extra class on Tuesdays at the Caulfield Recreation Centre, Maple St, Caulfield South.

Commencing, April 19, 10.30am, the new one hour class will offer participants a fit active class that includes standing and floor based exercises, stretch and relaxation.

Contact Cheryl Kennedy, on 5243356 or the Recreation Centre on 524 3288 for details.

GET A MOVE ON with Anne O'Keefe

Are there muscles in your body that you haven't used for a while? Are they in need of a gentle workout once a week?

Then 'Get a Move On' is for you! This new class will consist of exercises, posture work, beautiful music and massage. You may even find yourself dancing. This class is designed to put you in touch with your body in a relaxed, supportive environment and will give you a greater confidence in your movement capabilities.

'Get a Move On' commences on Tuesday, April 19, 1.30-3.30pm, Caulfield Recreation Centre, Maple St, Caulfield South. Cost: $80 for 10 week course.

For further information, contact Anne O'Keefe, on 754 2833.

Can you sew or play a musical instrument?

CAULFIELD General Medical Centre is calling for volunteers who can sew or play a musical instrument to help in its extended care (aged care) wards.

The Hospital urgently needs volunteers who can help make or repair patient clothing and linen. Machines are available at the Hospital for this service.

Also, people who can play musical instruments, especially the piano, are needed to entertain the aged patients on a regular basis.

If you can help in either of these areas, please contact Luise Stewart at the Caulfield General Medical Centre on 276 6232.

Council hosts its first picnic

SUNDAY, May 15, 1994 is International Family Day Australia wide. To help people celebrate this day and the importance of family, the City of Caulfield will hold a traditional picnic day and families from all over Melbourne are invited to attend. There will be a huge range of activities to please all members of the family, regardless of their age and abilities.

What will be happening?

Caulfield business wins national award

CAULFIELD businessman, Michael Granek has been awarded two coveted business awards at the first annual Futurekids convention for the highest sales in Australia and outstanding performance.

Futurekids is a national franchise of computer learning centres where children as young as three learn how to use computers in a fun and supportive environment.

Michael achieved the highest sales of any Futurekids computer learning centre in Australia at his centre located at 130 Hawthorn Rd in Caulfield.

He also received the Susan Granek Memorial Award for outstanding performance, created as a tribute to his late wife Susan, who was diagnosed with terminal cancer on the day she joined Futurekids.

In presenting the awards, Robert Getreu, Managing Director of Futurekids, spoke of his respect for Michael for his ability to balance his family and business life.

"His guts and determination achieved a single month sales level of more than $11,000 in the most difficult of circumstances," Mr Getreu said.

Michael said he felt very proud of his achievement and hopes it inspires other small business in Caulfield as well as other small business owners faced with difficult personal circumstances.

"The highest monthly sales of a national business was achieved in Caulfield," Michael said. "It just shows what a small business in our locality can do."

Michael added that one of the reasons he joined Futurekids was because it gave the chance to put something back into the community.

"I had always thought that the greatest gift we could give Caulfield and the surrounding area would be to help prepare their children for the future. And hopefully this award will help lift business confidence and optimism as well," he added.

New dance class for three year olds

Relaxation/stress management course

CAULFIELD Community Care Centre will run a six week Relaxation and Stress Management course, on Thursdays, commencing April 14, 2-3.30pm or 6.30-8pm.

This course provides participants with an introduction to the theory of stress and helps people to identify the many and various stressors in their life so that they can take action. A number of relaxation techniques are demonstrated and participants practise these at home to achieve a feeling of greater calm and control. Stress management strategies are discussed also, and these, together with relaxation techniques assist individuals to handle stress more effectively.

For bookings, contact Sue Hunt, occupational therapist on 523 6666 during business hours.

Rotary efforts pay off

THE City of Caulfield Rotary Club, together with Clarence Court and Lovell House helped raise $12,000 towards a $41,000 special hydraulic bus for Anglican Homes. This accomplishment took two years - Rotary solely donated $7000.

Below: Thelma Hodges is first to try out the new hydraulic bus. She is pictured with president of the Caulfield Rotary Club, Father Fitzgerald, executive director for Anglican Homes, Imas Thompson, Anne Taylor and Ron Summers, also from Rotary.

Winner of the Contact Crossword competition was Mr P O'Connor from Elsternwick - well done!

'Diaries' exhibition by Gus Cohen

DIARIES, an exhibition of drawings by Gus Cohen will be held at the Caulfield Arts Complex from April 15-27, 1994.

The exhibition will comprise of drawings completed between 1992-94. The wall works are the result of visits to Gus' friends Bruno and Anne Leepin at Castlemaine.

"These were created as an image from a photograph that was taken during a visit and just grew from there. It was from the windows in the house that started the picture constructions from things observed around the house, windows, timber planks, trees, a pond and other bits and pieces found lying around the yard."

Library, Maple St, Caulfield South. Max. 15 people. Cost $68 per eight week term. Wear loose clothing and bring a blanket.

An integral yoga class, combining relaxation, meditation and guided yoga postures according to individual ability. Concentration on breathing and body awareness provides a simple method to develop peace of mind and physical relaxation.

Creative life skills, a series of evening seminars examining stress and its consequences - with Caroline Kaufman. Wednesdays, 7-9pm, Old Caulfield Library, Maple St, Caulfield South. Max. 10 people. Cost $80 (8 X 2 hour classes).

This course will provide you with methods to facilitate changes in your life towards happiness, fulfillment and prosperity. It concentrates on getting in touch with the 'inner self' by finding and allowing the 'inner artist' to emerge. Art is used as a therapeutic and healing medium. Topics include: stress and its origins, emotions, relationships, self esteem, communication, health and healing, goal setting for success, assertiveness. Caroline Kaufman is dedicated to inspiring individuals to feel self responsible, spacious and enthused in their own lives. No artistic skills are required.

Exhibition design, installation & explanation - with Tim Rollason and Nina Bove. Mondays, 1-3pm, Caulfield Arts Complex Gallery, cnr Glen Eira and Hawthorn Rds, Caulfield. Max. 12 people. Cost $120 per eight week term.

This course encompasses practical skills development as well as philosophical ideas on the possible approaches to exhibition work, with participants gaining practical and theory based experience in the planning and installation of exhibitions in two and three dimensional art works. # David Canaway

Black and white photography exhibition

DAVID Canaway will exhibit some of his black and white photography works at the Caulfield Arts Complex from April 16-27, 1994.

David Canaway's lifelong interest in photography, a love of nature and remote places, combined with his extensive knowledge of photographic chemistry, has resulted in this collection of prints - the work of the years 1980-1985.

It is also the result of his creative skill in recognising a variety of subject matter and incorporates landscapes, detailed work and portraiture.

David, 52 and a resident of Avondale Heights, was also known as a proprietor of Canchem, which supplied chemicals and specialised formulations for fine black and white work through Australia and the Pacific.

This exhibition aims to raise awareness of the ability and needs of people with Multiple Sclerosis as David is now blind and severely disabled by the disorder.

It acknowledges the support of many, including family and friends, and the assistance provided by the Royal District Nursing Service, the Western Assessment Team and the staff and volunteers of the Neurological Unit, Bethlehem Hospital.

Jewish art exhibition and concert

MELBOURNE based Jewish arts organisation, Bezalel Arts and the Association Shalom representing Jewish emigres from the former USSR, are combining to organise a cultural event which will comprise an art exhibition and a concert at the Caulfield Arts Complex from April 29 to May 8, 1994.

Titled 'Three and Three', it is intended that both the exhibition and concert will explore the cultural and artistic diversity of the two groups of artists and performers, as well as providing a showcase for their individual skills.

The three emigres artists are Alex Nemirovsky, Arcady Rakowski and Robert Schlimak and the three Australian artists are Joanne Davis, Peter Gandrabur and Shoshana Malloy. Four of these artists are present or past Bezalel Artists in Residence and all have a distinctive record as exhibiting professionals, both in Australia and in Russia. The exhibition will be curated by well known artist and lecturer, Tom Fantl. Both the curatorial essay and selected reproductions of artworks by the exhibitors will be published in Generation Magazine.

The concert, featuring musicians from the former USSR and Australian performers, will take place on Saturday, April 30, 8pm in the Caulfield Arts' Complex auditorium. Some of the invited performers include well known Australian musicians, Nehama Patkin, Tania de Jong and John Foreman. A varied musical program has been prepared specially for this event.

The theme of cultural diversity has not previously been explored within the Jewish community and it is envisaged that some fascinating contrasts in content, style and execution in both the visual and performing arts will result.

Choir welcomes new conductor

THE committee and members of the well known Caulfield City Choir are delighted to announce the appointment of Mr John Ferguson as the Choir's new musical director.

John Ferguson comes to us with an enormous background of experience in the area of conducting and instrumental performance in the U.K. and Europe, which initiated from his school days in London where he was a horn player for the London Junior Orchestra. John has many strings to his 'accomplishment bow' and is already well known in the Caulfield area following his two year sojourn as head of music at Caulfield Grammar School, and, presently, as director of music at Scotch College.

Before arriving in Australia in 1987, John was heavily involved with brass band, orchestral and choir conducting, music arranging for record companies and television.

Since coming to Melbourne, John has furthered his conducting studies with Robert Rosen (of VCA fame), has worked as an AMEB examiner for brass, as a professional French horn player and as a verification panel chairperson and CAT setter for VCAB.

All choir members are enthusiastically looking to a fulfilling year of music making under the leadership of their new director.

Rehearsals are already in full swing and John is busily producing a very interesting program with orchestral accompaniment for the Choir's first performance, scheduled for Saturday, June 4, 1994 commencing 8pm at the Caulfield Arts Complex.

'Fragments of past civilizations' exhibition

FRAGMENTS of Past Civilizations is an exhibition of mixed media collages by Greg Mallyon to be held at the Caulfield Arts Complex, cnr Glen Eira and Hawthorn Rds, Caulfield from April 14-27, 1994.

This exhibition is the result of Greg Mallyon's 14 journeys through Europe, America and Asia. Combining traditional painting and collage techniques with laser and computer scanned images, Greg Mallyon explores precious and intriguing fragments of past civilizations. The works which mark a new direction for the artist, vibrate with energy and capture the splendour of Egyptian pharaohs and goddesses, Chinese courtesans from the Tany Dynasty, the dazzling courts of Aztec America and the classical beauty of ancient India.

This is Greg Mallyon's 23rd solo exhibition. He has successfully exhibited in France, Italy, the former Yugoslavia, America and

In an attempt to satisfy the basketball appetites of the children of Caulfield, the Centre will run 'Pick up Basketball' on Saturdays commencing 11.30am. For just $3 per session, children get to use the Centre's indoor court and draw upon the expertise of the Centre's resident guru. Those who attend 'Pick up Basketball' can practice their skills or participate in a match. 'Pick up Basketball' is for children aged 7 years and over and commences on Saturday, April 23.

For more information call Bruce, Caroline, Steve or Maria at the Caulfield Recreation Centre on 524 3288.

BOWLED OVER

CAULFIELD RSL Ladies Bowling Club had a proud day when the Group 16 (Arthritis Foundation) mixed pairs was won by Patricia and Harry Harte in a tight game from Barry and Gwen Close of Melbourne C.C. Bowls Club.

This win added to a good season for president Harry who won the club championship after being runner-up for the past four years.

CAULFIELD South Bowls Club Inc. had the following results for recent events. National Mutual Financial Planning mixed fours winners were a Caulfield South team skipped by Henni Cortenback, runner up, a team skipped by Burwood's P Heil. Consolation prize going to Benteigh Club's Leon McCarthy.

Men's invitation fours, sponsored by member Arthur Smith and VIC Turf was won by Stan Bond from Rich River and team, and runner-up was Brian Tressider's team from South Oakleigh. Consolation prize to John Manning and his team from Werribee. Club champions for the season were (men's section) Henni Cortenback and runner-up Peter Hodgson, (ladies section) Cath Bugden, runner-up Marie Scanlan. Congratulations to Cath Bugden for being elected president of the newly formed VLBA Group 19. Ladies A2 Pennant Side did well to finish top of their section and will be promoted to Division A1 next season. Best wishes to member Peter Darwin who won a silver medal at the Victorian Blind Bowlers Championships, qualifying his to participate in the National Blind Bowlers Championships held in Perth. Coming events, men's triples, first, second and third Monday of each month.

New members most welcome.

Accredited coaches are available. Enquiries 534 5510.

ELSTERNWICK District Bowling Club's forthcoming social events include mixed triples on the first Sunday of each month, 1pm, nominated teams or single entries welcome for both events. Cost $2.50 includes afternoon tea and very good trophies. Phone 528 2923 for further details. Ladies triples are held on the second Friday of each month, 11am, nominated teams or single entries welcome, lunch and afternoon tea provided. Phone 523 7029 for further information.

Congratulations to ladies championship winner, Kath Hamilton. Club tournament day held on March 20 was very successful. The Club would like to thank the ANZ Bank for sponsoring the day. Winners of the ANZ trophies were Geoff Cohen, Leon Goldman, Miriam Golman and Ruth Eisner.

GLEN HUNTLY Bowls Club Inc. Rumours persist regarding the closure of the Glen Huntly Bowls Club, however, despite these rumours, the Club is alive and well. This season, membership has increased for both men and ladies sections.

In February, the Club said goodbye to Margaret and Cyril Goodwin after a three month visit. They have returned to England. During the season, the Club was pleased to assist MCC and Caulfield Park Bowling Clubs with the use of the fine green. Through a lean result for ladies pennant, men's pennant continued to do well.

Glen Huntly Bowls Club suggests to anyone looking for good company, good bowling or perhaps learning to bowl, to contact the Club at 1147 Glen Huntly Rd, Glen Huntly, or phone 571 4008.

SPORTS RESULTS...SPORTS RESULTS...

Victorian Indian Sporting Association Inc.

THE ninth annual India Cup Cricket Tournament run by Ken McIntyre for the Victorian Indian Sporting Association was won by the Old Josephians who defeated the Melbourne Kangaroos in the grand final played at Lord Park on March 14, 1994. Old Josephians scored 166 runs led by skipper John Mariadason who scored 84 not out!

Winners of the individual awards were:

- best bowler - A Wimalasuriya from Sri Lanka Assn.
- best batsman - D Singh - Melbourne Kangaroos.
- best wicket keeper - S Toussant, Southerners.
- man of the series - A Voulanos - Sri Lanka Assn.

The juniors trophy was won by Cavaliers Juniors who defeated Vic. Tamils Juniors in the grand final on March 13, 1994.

Carnegie Football Club
LOCAL Southern Football League Club, Carnegie, played its first practice match with the same endeavour that saw it win an historic grand final in 1993. The Demons easily accounted for Box Hill North in near perfect conditions at East Caulfield Reserve.

Senior coach, George Efthin was naturally pleased with the six quarter hit out and in particular with the form of some of the new recruits in John Fry, Chris Parr and Peter Killeen. A few other valuable contributors were Laurie Carozza, Greg Jury and veteran Steven Reeves. Efthin is adamant that his men will keep the momentum going to prevent a reoccurrence of the disastrous start to 1993 which ultimately cost the club dearly.

Carnegie is in the third division of the Souther Football League and boasts three consecutive finals appearances in addition to a wealth of characters and local legends.

Should anyone reading this article be interested in becoming involved with this successful local team, as a player or not, you would always be most welcome.

The team trains from 5.45pm on Tuesdays and Thursdays and plays Saturdays.
