It is by the judicious use of such articles of diet that a constitution may be gradually built up until strong enough to resist every tendency to disease. GREAT JUBILEE SALE of
Seasonable Drapery,
AT
MANCHESTER HOUSE,
11 and 13 BRIDGE ST., BALLARAT.
In the midst of so many Drapery Sales in Ballarat, James Tyler is determined to keep up the reputation of Manchester House for the Cheapest and Best Goods in the District.
While thanking my numerous patrons for a winter trade that exceeds any of my past returns, I beg to announce that I have taken the advantage of the very depressed state of the wholesale markets and have secured a lot of most useful lines, which, with the remainder of my Winter's Stock, will offer during the next month at
UNHEARD OF PRICES.
I don't often announce a sale, and when I do my customers know that I mean it, and on Saturday Next, I will, for one month only, make a Public Sale of my goods, and give the public the benefit of my recent cheap investments.

THIS IS NO MISLEADING DRAPERY TRUFF!
THIS ANNOUNCEMENT IS A FACT!
Why?
Because my winter's amount of business is already done. My stock is slightly heavy, and sales being the order of the day in Ballarat, my sound position in the trade has enabled me to secure a few Melbourne bargains that must impress buyers and make the professional purifier stand aside.
Every householder should see what I have to offer, and even if you are not in immediate want of Blankets, Flannels, or Overcoats, you will find that I can give you better interest for your money than the Springs Deal.
THE SALE BEGINS ON JULY 2ND
Try me a visit. Walk through my premises, and if you buy nothing, you will get civil treatment.

Floral Talks.

For a hedge, or to plant along any old fence which you find desirable to conceal, you can find no better annual than the sweet pea...

Thlox and petunias are old stand-bys for beds. They are brilliant and constant show of color is desirable...

The aster is our best fall annual. It comes in a great variety of most beautiful colors...

The calliopsis is a fine flower for producing a brilliant and intense show. It is a rich yellow with velvet markings in brown and maroon...

Pansies.—I've had in the heat of summer, when the sun lay till late in the afternoon, pinks an inch and three-quarters across...

A much of lettuce or grass round the plants will keep the ground from drying, but if it rains they should be watered every day...

When the summer size of the flowers has been kept up by watering two or three times a week with water in which one ounce has been soaked till the color of strong coffee...

The late Alexander Mitchell once asked a friend, Mr. Morrill, to go into a certain speculation with him. The latter declined...

Good Stories.

Comte de la Grandiere belonged to the marines, from which he deserted and was punished by being turned overboard, and made money for a time...

Both entered the bath-room; the baron unhesitatingly jumped into the zinc tub. The count went to his clothes, snatched the pocket-book, and bolted, not forgetting to lock the door...

After the money was all spent he returned to the bath-room to his owner. This supplied a clue, and the count arrested while in the act of writing religious letters, soliciting assistance as a persecuted convert...

Pleasant Company.—The Kentuckians told a good story of ex-Gov. Magoffin of that state, who is a good talker and likes to tell most of the talking himself...

"You are right. I met a gentleman of unusual intelligence. We conversed all the way over. I never was brought in contact with a more agreeable man."

"Wait a minute. I have his card," and the governor felt in his pocket and produced a bit of pasteboard. "His name is King."

Hector Berlioz, whose statue has lately been inaugurated in Paris, had a violent hatred of Wagner. An arross out of a simple jealousy...

"I will not write any criticism on 'Tannhauser'; I shall protest by my silence." "That is not a musical critic of the 'Debut'."

At length "Les Troyens" was produced at the Lyrique and turned out a fiasco. It was the death-blow to Berlioz. Wagner in his turn was "richly avenged."

Hundreds of persons in Boston recently stood several hours, on a cold afternoon, to obtain tickets for some lectures to be given by the late Countess de Montebello...

Sketches.

In a Monster's Embrace.

"We were lying about half a mile off the beach at the Barbados, overhauling the standing rigging," said James Gillis, an able seaman...

"Oh, you did! Well, if you bawl out again you will feel something you under your jacket for I'm mistaken."

"I began to get agitated, and had been at it only three or four minutes when the yawl heaved away from the ship two or three feet, and at the same instant the boy screamed out again. His voice had scarcely reached my ears when something like a tropical American, with long hair and a fierce expression, came rushing down the deck and pinned it fast to my body...

The devil fish had swung one of his arms about me. Webb was screaming at the top of his voice, and as I got a look at him I saw that two of the beast's feelers were clutching him. The arm or feeler which had reached me pinned my arm to my side as if in a vice, making a clean wrap around my body...

Nature.

Some Queer Fish.

A far more singular walking fish than any of these is the octopus, or cuttle fish, unfortunately, in the very classical surname of Periphotthalmus, which is, being interpreted, Starabout.

There are plenty of strange creatures floating about in these seas, and a patch of seaweed will sometimes assume a queer shape. I laughed at the boy's fears, but at the same time saw how pale and frightened he looked.

"What was wanted below there?" called the man on the deck, having heard Webb's cry of alarm. "I saw something on under the boat, sir."

"Oh, you did! Well, if you bawl out again you will feel something you under your jacket for I'm mistaken."

The African Honey Bird.—We came to a large piece of timber, and while passing through it I had my first experience with the honey bird of South Africa.

The burning question at Parisian breakfast-tables is whether a Frenchman can legally open his wife's letters. Of course, madame says it is a shame even to suggest such a thing, and monsieur politely remarks that he would never resort to so undignified an unworthy proceeding...

The Chakar.—I was once very much surprised at the behavior of a couple of chinkers on a boat in the bay. On a stormy day in summer I was standing watching masses of black cloud coming rapidly over the sky, while a hundred yards from me stood the two birds also apparently watching the approaching storm with interest.

I watched their flight and listened to their notes till suddenly they made a wide sweep upward they disappeared in the cloud, and at the same moment their voices became muffled and seemed to come from an immense distance. I expected the coming of a sharp flash of lightning, but the birds never reappeared, and after six or seven minutes more their notes sounded loud and clear above the muttering thunder.

The Albatross at Sea.—Mr. Froude, the historian, in a description of his voyage around the world, says:—"We always have a bodyguard of albatrosses, Cape hens, and sea hawks—the same birds, so the sailors said, allowing the ship to rest, all the way."

Strange Bodies in Timber.—Cornelius Smith has the contract for sawing into lumber a large number of logs cut from trees standing on the fields of Antietam, at the time of the battle fight.

A Crab that Climbs a Tree.—In some of the Malay Islands the coccanut is obtained in a curious manner. An enormous crab is found there, and is used for sawing down them down or breaking them by tearing off the husk, and then beating them against the rocks with its huge claws.

Ladies Column.

Beauty may be but skin deep, but in this skin covering lies much of the physical charm of humanity, and great is the crime of choking the pores with bismuth or any other foreign substance.

The skin at the hand is smaller than the English hand, but the nails are not as handsome. The English nails are almost universally rosy and shell-like, and, cut to a rounded, slightly tapering point, kept always scrupulously clean.

The great characteristic of the Venetian carnival season is the number and variety of balls that are given. Nearly every order of nobility, and every class of society, has its balls, the proceeds of which are used for charitable purposes.

In Narrow Bondage.—In small communities many families are divided in an interminable quarrel, kept alive by petty jealousies and still more petty grudges, and made more sharp by the secret deep animosity of the strength of the mysterious bonds of blood.

Friends of the Farmer.—There are two kinds of weeds in the garden, and one is a smaller kind of foe chiefly on mice and insects and is not known to kill poultry. The larger preys also mainly on mice and rats, but in addition sometimes kills rabbits and poultry.

Ship ahoy! Port, port, hard-a-top!" "Looking around, I saw to my dismay a large vessel, her white sails gleaming in the moonlight, bearing down upon us from the eastward, and only a few cables' length from us."

I put my head down the hatchway and sung out, and the skipper and the rest came tumbling up in their drawers and stockings, just as they had turned in. As if by instinct I raised a gasp of surprise, and the skipper, a big, and was on the port tack, and was now only a cable's length from us.

At that moment the crew of the brig began to wake up as it were, and her head began to wear round; then, as she rose on the crest of a sea, seemed no longer to answer her helm. She lung motionless over us, and I expected the coming of a sharp flash of lightning, but the birds never reappeared, and after six or seven minutes more their notes sounded loud and clear above the muttering thunder.

Miscellaneous.

Shod With Gold.—In the year 1855 a storekeeper named Donald Cameron, carrying on business in what was known as the Woolshed, Victoria, was elected first member of Parliament for the Ovens district, and he had the honor—unique in the history of the colony—of being driven in triumph from the Woolshed into Beechworth in a gig in tandem team, the leading horse of which was shod with gold.

The man who has white spots on his nails is fond of the society of ladies, but is fickle in his attachments. He who has them in his hair, rounded at the tips is a proud man. He whose nails are detached from the finger at the further extremities, and when cut showing a larger proportion of the finger than usual, ought never to get married, as it would be a wonder if he were master in his own house.

Friends of the Farmer.—There are two kinds of weeds in the garden, and one is a smaller kind of foe chiefly on mice and insects and is not known to kill poultry. The larger preys also mainly on mice and rats, but in addition sometimes kills rabbits and poultry.

Ship ahoy! Port, port, hard-a-top!" "Looking around, I saw to my dismay a large vessel, her white sails gleaming in the moonlight, bearing down upon us from the eastward, and only a few cables' length from us."

I put my head down the hatchway and sung out, and the skipper and the rest came tumbling up in their drawers and stockings, just as they had turned in. As if by instinct I raised a gasp of surprise, and the skipper, a big, and was on the port tack, and was now only a cable's length from us.

At that moment the crew of the brig began to wake up as it were, and her head began to wear round; then, as she rose on the crest of a sea, seemed no longer to answer her helm. She lung motionless over us, and I expected the coming of a sharp flash of lightning, but the birds never reappeared, and after six or seven minutes more their notes sounded loud and clear above the muttering thunder.

The Albatross at Sea.—Mr. Froude, the historian, in a description of his voyage around the world, says:—"We always have a bodyguard of albatrosses, Cape hens, and sea hawks—the same birds, so the sailors said, allowing the ship to rest, all the way."

Strange Bodies in Timber.—Cornelius Smith has the contract for sawing into lumber a large number of logs cut from trees standing on the fields of Antietam, at the time of the battle fight.

A Crab that Climbs a Tree.—In some of the Malay Islands the coccanut is obtained in a curious manner. An enormous crab is found there, and is used for sawing down them down or breaking them by tearing off the husk, and then beating them against the rocks with its huge claws.

The burning question at Parisian breakfast-tables is whether a Frenchman can legally open his wife's letters. Of course, madame says it is a shame even to suggest such a thing, and monsieur politely remarks that he would never resort to so undignified an unworthy proceeding...

Dinner.

Presence of Mind.—I guess young Jones will get on. He is in an office in Collins street Melbourne or somewhere thereabouts. He is careless, and had made so many mistakes that he knew the one he made last would be fatal. He went back from lunch the other day and a clerk met him on the stairs.

"You'll get it, Jones. The old man's just boiling, and he has been calling for you the last fifteen minutes."

"What is this?" "He must head of the old man's cooking. He ran down stairs and up the street as hard as he could go, to a florist's. There he purchased a sixpenny boutonniere, and marched gallantly back."

"Yes, sir," and he deposited his hat, and the flowers in his coat, walked into the private office and closed the door carefully. "Mr. Jones, I have frequently—" "I have not, sir, but I have a private message for you."

"What is it?" "It's a little bouquet. A lady came in while you were out—a young lady—and inquired for you."

"A Little for the Church.—We had scarcely entered the hotel at Chateau when a colored man approached and asked a subscription for a black church which had been destroyed by fire. We gave him a shilling apiece, and after breakfast, as we were going down the road, towards Lookout, we met the same man again, and he said:—

"What's the matter with all the colored church buildings around Chattanooga?" "Dunno, sah, but dey's havin' powerful hard times."

"A Novel Way of Popping the Question.—A young Aberdeen, bassist, but desparately in love, finding that no notice was taken of his visits to the house of the sweetheart, summoned sufficient courage to address the fair one thus:—

"How to Preserve Teeth.—A green, gawky countryman was recently seen standing in the museum at Sydney, gazing at the bones of a mastodon."

CRAWFORD'S, STURT STREET, BALLARAT.

THE LARGEST DRAPERY OUTSIDE OF MELBOURNE. FIRST SHOW OF SPRING GOODS.

[Extract from the Ballarat "Evening Post."] That Crawford's Drapery Emporium, Sturt street, is the largest business of the kind outside of Melbourne, we, after a careful examination of the extensive establishment, have not the slightest doubt.

The visit and progress of Crawford's is closely identified with the progress of Ballarat, and the facts here given illustrate what can be accomplished by energy, enterprise, perseverance, and civility, such as has always been characteristic of the management of Crawford's. The staff of employees originally numbered eight, while at present there are 250 persons employed on the premises.

And he speaks truly. So also we think that to endeavour to add to the beauty, variety, or quality of the display made by Messrs Snow and Room, would indeed be wasteful and unnecessary. At half-past seven o'clock in the evening everything was in readiness and the doors were thrown open.

The whole place was one blaze of light and beauty and resembled more than anything else we can liken it to a gigantic bazaar, and exhibition of art. The general appearance of a shop was entirely absent. The walls were hung with oil paintings, oleographs, steel engravings, and various kinds of pictures of rare beauty.

BEAUFORT BRANCH A.N.A.

The above branch met in the Mechanics' Institute on Tuesday evening, the president (Mr. G. A. Eddy) in the chair. After the usual routine business had been disposed of, Mr. D. J. Wheal, vice-president of the Board of Directors, was cordially welcomed, and delivered an excellent address to the members who were present. He prefaced his remarks by stating that the board had decided to watch over the younger and struggling branches of the association, as they were aware that assistance was necessary in order to place them firmly on their feet with regard to a knowledge of the three-fold objects of the association. The association, when seeking to gain a hold in Ballarat had had a desperate lot of fighting—not against open attacks, but against under currents and unreliable and misleading statements. The same thing to a lesser extent was going on at the present time, but the association was now strong enough to hold its own. Branches in different places had had the same things to contend with; but it was not the object of the A.N.A. to retaliate, because they did not enter into opposition or competition with any other benefit society. He then briefly dealt with the objects of the A.N.A., taking the national, benefit, and mutual improvement planks in rotation. In national politics, he touched on Federation, and annexation of all the islands belonging by right to this continent. As a benefit society, no other in existence could show the same satisfactory position in so short a time as in which the A.N.A. had been in growing, and one of the strongest portions of their financial foundation was the fact that they had a consolidated fund. Out of this fund all demands could be paid. At the rapid rate the association was extending its operations it would be impossible for branches controlling their own fund to pay even one allowance without calling upon other branches for assistance or making heavy levies. So far the board had used every device upon this fund, and in no case had a levy to be made. The association was conducted on the lowest contribution and initiation basis possible, and the fact that no levies were ever deemed necessary spoke volumes for the association. The advantages of the mutual improvement plank were known to everybody, and in illustration he said that he had met many men of consequence in the commercial world who have always regretted that in their youth they did not avail themselves of advantages such as are afforded in a mutual improvement association. It is in these institutions that young men learn how to address themselves at a moment's notice to a variety of questions; they are afforded opportunities of collating information on a large number of subjects, and young men are prepared for any emergency that may occur in their after life, if they are called upon by their fellow townsmen or citizens to accept any public position. The A.N.A. did not want to push themselves forward, they must either progress or regress; they could not remain stationary; the old pioneers were fast fading away, and their sons must take their places. In all branches of the Association the suggestions of the older men were listened to with respect and attention. But death was gradually laying them aside, and unless the Native Australian prepared himself, how could he expect to take a part in building a grand superstructure on the excellent foundation that had been laid for them. Mr. Wheal occupied considerable time, and was frequently applauded. Several members spoke, and Mr. S. W. Male in moving a vote of thanks said that Mr. Wheal had, he felt sure, imparted a great deal of information to them, concerning which some members had been in ignorance. He had listened very attentively, and should Mr. Wheal again visit the branch, or any other member of the board, the Beaufort branch would give them a hearty welcome. Mr. Wheal replied, and the meeting shortly afterwards dispersed.

PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH BAZAAR.

This amusement was opened at half-past twelve o'clock on Thursday last; but none but a few folks who were in from the outlying districts were able to avail themselves of a chance to see the nice things displayed until the evening, when there was a large attendance. The hall was as usual very nicely decorated, and the stalls containing the various articles to be disposed of were well stocked, with plain and fancy needlework, crocheted-work, wool-work, aprons in all shades, and refreshments. Each person received a ticket on entering, which entitled the holder to a chance for three prizes, which were drawn for at the close. During the evening songs and musical items were given by ladies and gentlemen. The young ladies were very active in arranging art unions; and the handsome return for the evening showed that they had been most successful, upwards of £56 having been taken. The refreshment stall was fairly well patronised, and a modest little sum was received in return for those things which delight the palate. The ladies who had charge of the stalls were Mesdames Adam, Archard, Jackson, W. Smith, Male, and Ison; and those who assisted were the Misses Adam (2), Smith (2), Male (2), Tulloch (2), McFarlane (2), and Bywater. The singers were Messrs. McCraith and Elliott and Miss Adam. In carrying out the arrangements valuable assistance in a variety of ways, and Messrs. H. H. Jackson, McLae, and H. Jackson, jr., were also conspicuous in usefulness. The bazaar was continued yesterday afternoon and evening, and was, as on the first day, well patronised. The amount taken was about £20; making a total of upwards of £70.

Our readers are again reminded of the sale of the late Dr. Croker's household furniture and effects, which takes place on Monday next, at Mr. W. E. Nickola's auction rooms. The fourth and last match for the Union Clubs' trophies will be fired at Ararat on Wednesday next, after which all the teams will meet the competition up with a jollification.

GUILTY OF WRONGS. Some people have a fashion of confuting excellent remedies with the large mass of "patent medicines," and in this they are guilty of a wrong. There are for them, and one at least we know of, the American Hop Bitters. The writer has had occasion to use the Bitters in just such a climate as we have them to be first-class and reliable, doing all that is claimed for them. "Tribune."

SCRAPS.

A certain young man being out of employment, requested of a former employer, a well known secretary of a building society, a letter of recommendation to aid him in securing a situation. The letter was written and handed to the applicant, who was totally unable to read it, as was every other person to whom it was shown. A friend advised him to take it to a printing-office, as compositors are noted for being able to make out the very worst specimens of chirography. It was handed to the compositors, and in turn given up without being deciphered—at last, as a forlorn hope, it was taken to a druggist, who makes up a great many prescriptions, and who has the reputation of being able to read anything. The man of drugs took the scroll, gazed at it long and thoughtfully, seized an empty bottle, and then made a raid around the shop, taking some fluid of various colors from sundry bottles, finally shaking the compound vigorously; then, handing it to the owner of the letter of recommendation, he remarked to that much-astonished individual, "A shilling, please. That's a very good cough mixture."

Wife: Cyrus, this is a pretty time for you to be coming in. It's half an hour past midnight. You've been at the club again drinking. Husband (with impressive gravity and maintaining equilibrium with much effort): "M'ria, dear, you do me injustice; I was caught on jury. Couldn't get off five minutes ago. Came straight home." Wife: You are deceiving me, Cyrus, say me on a dram and a half of brandy and a couple of brandies. Husband (cautiously): "Certainly, m'dear. Memoran—moran—bandansect—(getting reckless and letting go all holds)—Gout o' my way, madam! If I can't get into my own house 'bout giving final pass-word, I'll resign as head o' this family. 'Gway!'"

In a small town out west an ex-country judge is cashier of the bank and building society. "The cheque is all right, sir," he said to a stranger, "but the evidence you offer in identifying yourself as a person to whose order it is drawn is scarcely sufficient." "I've known you to hang a man on less evidence, judge," was the stranger's response. "Quite likely," replied the ex-judge, "but when it comes to letting go of cold cash we have to be careful."

VITAL QUESTIONS!!!!

Ask the most eminent physician: "Of any ailment, what is the best thing in the world for quieting and allaying all irritation of the nerves, and curing all forms of nervous complaints, giving natural, childlike refreshing sleep always?" And he will tell you unhesitatingly: "Some form of Hope!"

CHAPTER I.

Ask any or all of the most eminent physicians: "What is the best and only remedy that can be relied on to cure all diseases of the kidneys, urinary organs, such as Bright's disease, diabetes, retention, or inability to retain urine, and all diseases and ailments peculiar to women?" And they will tell you explicitly and emphatically, "Bucht!" Ask the same physicians: "What is the most reliable and surest cure for all liver diseases or dyspepsia, constipation, indigestion, biliousness, malaria, rheumatism, sciatica, and they will tell you: "Mandrake or Dandelion!" Hence when these remedies are combined with others equally valuable, and compounded into Dr. Soule's American Hop Bitters, such a wonderful and mysterious curative power is developed, which is sovarious in its operations that no disease or ailment can possibly exist or resist its power, and yet it is harmless for the most frail woman, weakest invalid or smallest child to use.

CHAPTER II.

AN ERROR FOR THE HUMOURIST.

There is a sort of humourist whose manuscript turns up in this office with the utmost regularity, and goes out of it with the utmost regularity. This is the man with the joke about the young lover and the father with a large boot and a larger bull-dog.

This merry-maker is spending a large portion of his substance in postage-stamps, and common humanity demands some interference on our part. We cannot let him go down to the poor-house without some attempt to steer him toward the right course.

Bull-dogs! Boots! Gentle Idiot, there are no bull-dogs, there are no boots for the young man who comes a-courting now-a-days. He must be a worthless character, indeed, if he is not welcome in the house of many daughters.

Dear Idiot, the path of the marrying young man is strewn with roses. He is not a man to be snubbed and slighted; he is a man to be welcomed with great joy, and with timbals, and with the sound of the sackbut. The mother bows down when she meets him, and the father goes into the front gate to bid him enter. A feast is provided for him, and a great entertainment; and free-lunch is spread on both sides of the path that leads into the house-door.

Know you not, Sweet Idiot, that it costs a dollar or two to keep a daughter in decorative idleness? If a horse may be said to eat his head off, what shall we say of a young woman whose heaviest burden is her winter bonnet?

Nay, Fair Idiot, there is no one in this young woman's family who has designs to visit her with matrimonial intent. Well does that young man know that his father-in-law-to-be will never support him. The main question with him is slightly different. He has to make sure that he will not have to support his father-in-law.

For, be it known to you, O Idiot, it is the young men who are making money; it is the old men who are paying interest on the mortgages. The time has gone by when a man had to marry at twenty for fear of being called an "old bach" at thirty. There are no old bachelors now. The man of forty is a charming young fellow, if he is unmarried. Everybody courts him. Everybody asks him to dinner. He has to learn to spar, so to speak, to keep off eligible daughters. Bull-dogs! Boots! Why, the man's ears are deaf with listening to the praises of Jane Matilda and Maud Louise.

If you must write of such matters, Wild Idiot, write of the shining truth. Write down the fact that Charles Augustus, be he ever so homely, ever so mean and small, ever so vicious, and ill-bred, is made at home in the family circle, because it may come to pass that he will look with favourable eyes upon Charlotte Augusta, and wed her, in the end, if he is given sufficient encouragement.

Write of this, and your tales will be printed. Down into oblivion, with the dullest and most sickening thud known to our nineteenth century civilization, have gone your merry jests about booted and bull-dogged parents, for the truth was not in them. Arouse yourself! Trumpet forth to the world the fact that a young man who can support a wife is at present selling at about two hundred per cent, premium—and strike a popular chord. Bull-dogs! Boots! Write of young men who would give good money if they could get out of a house full of daughters—or, even, full of one daughter—as easily as they could get in.—"Puck" New York, August 17th.

THE POSITION OF WOMEN.

(Professor J. Stuart Blackie in Cassell's Magazine.)

There is a good deal of talk at the present day tending towards the abolition, or at least the softening down and shading away of the great lines of demarcation which nature and the traditions and usages of all nations, from the oldest times, seem to have drawn between the sexes. That this tendency has a certain root of rightness in it seems not to be doubted; for in so far as either sex may be able to borrow the graces and virtues of the other without losing its own peculiar type, it will, of course, be the more perfect. If the granite could appropriate the warmth of the sandstone without losing its hardness, or if the sandstone could take to itself the hardness of the granite without losing its warmth, then, of course, there would be in each case a union of excellencies in the compound, which does not exist in either of the rocks taken separately. But here precisely lies the difficulty. The union of opposite qualities is, undoubtedly a higher excellence; but in a great many cases this higher excellence can only be obtained by sinking or subordinating some distinctive feature of one of the types.

Those who are so zealous to break down the wall of partition that by the precedent of ages has established itself between the sexes, should observe, in the first place, that Nature seems to be of a different opinion; for she has certainly, in the physical presentation of the two creatures, taken care to make them look as distinctively different as a birch-tree is from an oak. The structure of a woman is altogether more slender, her stature, as a rule, less, her tissue more fine, her nerve more delicate, her muscular strength and capacity for hard work less.

In close connection with this more delicate constitution of a woman is the fact that her emotional nature is more keen, her sensibility more quick, her passions more violent, her instincts more imperious, and less submissive to necessary limitations, than in the man. This strongly-rooted sensibility in women is the cause of their characteristic persistency in all matters that depend in any considerable degree on sentiment. It is in vain to combat sentiment with reasons. A woman of strong passion and fine sensibility will hold by her instincts, and leave your arguments to float, and in so doing may, in not a few cases, be right; but if the case is one in which cool judgment and not keen feeling, is to decide, she will probably be wrong. Arguments in such cases are stronger with a man, because he is either naturally less richly furnished with sentiment, or has trained himself to keep his sentiment in subjection; but with the woman it is omnipotent, as being nature radically to the constitution of her nature. You may bend the branches of a tree, and force them to grow, as we sometimes see, contrary to Nature, downward; but if you tug at the roots, you kill it.

Again, the faculty of observation is more quick and more minute than in man. She deals more in particulars than in general—in persons rather than in principles. She is more akin to the artist and to the poet than to the philosopher, and in all cases describes better than she concludes. This seems to argue that in brain-force, or power of thinking, she is, as a rule, inferior to the man. She argues generally rather by induction from special facts than by deduction from large principles; and she has a habit of leaping from a fact or two, accidentally picked up, to a sweeping generalization, such as can safely be built only on a broad and deep foundation of facts. She seems to have neither range, nor patience, nor grasp, for severe reasoning. Those who deny this—and I have no pleasure at all in maintaining it—are forced to attribute the general inferiority of women in persistent brain-work to neglected education, a narrow sphere of action, and the hereditary social tyranny of the stronger sex; but in the face of so many manifest differences, both physical and moral, it seems difficult for an impartial mind to believe absolutely in the cerebral equality of the sexes.

If woman is differentially inferior to man in the thinking faculty, she is decidedly superior to him in the finer emotions; and let this not be considered a small matter; the emotions are the steam-power that sets the great moral machinery of the world in motion. Women have proverbially more love and more fidelity than men; and, if they have less energy, they have less selfishness. To those on her own level, woman is more sympathetic and more communicative; to those beneath her, more pitiful, more merciful; and more lenient; to those above her, more deferential and more respectful. Her greater reverence and respect for authority makes her more devout and more religious than man, and she will overlook or ignore a gross superstition in the gratification of a noble emotion; inasmuch that, while an irreligious man is not uncommon now even where the received faith is least liable to sceptical objections, and may, without piety, practise many virtues and exhibit many graces that will secure the esteem of his fellow-citizens, an irreverent and irreligious woman is always out of nature, and a sort of monster.

A WOMAN FROM AUSTRIA.

Near the village of Zillingdorf, in Lower Austria, lives Maria Haas, an intelligent and industrious woman, whose story of physical suffering and final relief, as related by herself, is of interest to English women. "I was once very ill," she says, "in the winter of a large farmhouse. I was brought on sick headache, followed by a deadly fainting and sickness of the stomach, until I was unable to retain either food or drink. I was compelled to take to my bed for several weeks. Getting a little better from rest or quiet, I sought to do some work, but was soon taken with a pain in my side, which in a few seconds spread over my whole body, and seemed to throb in my every limb. This was followed by a cough and shortness of breath, until finally I could not sew, and I took to my bed for the second time, and as I thought for the last time. My friends told me that my time had nearly come, and that I could not live longer than when the trees put on their green once more. Then I happened to get one of the Seigel's pamphlets. I read it, and my dear mother bought me a bottle of Seigel's Syrup, which I took exactly according to directions, and I had not taken the whole of it before I felt a great change for the better. My last illness began again in 1885, and continued to August 9th, when I began to take my usual food. Very soon I could do a little light work. The cough left me, and I was no more troubled in breathing. Now I am perfectly cured. And how happy I am! I cannot express gratitude enough for Seigel's Syrup. Now I must tell you that the doctors in our district distributed handbills cautioning people against the medicine, telling them that it was no good, and that many were thereby influenced to destroy the Seigel's pamphlets; but now wherever one is to be found, it is kept like a relic. The few preserved are borrowed and read, and I have lent mine for six miles around our country. People have come eighteen miles to get me to buy the medicine for them, knowing that it cured me, and to be sure to get the right kind. I know a woman who was looking like death, and she told them that she was here for her, that she had consulted several doctors, but none could help her. I told her of Seigel's Syrup, and she wrote the name down for her that she might make no mistake. She took my advice and the Syrup, and now she is in perfect health, and the people around us are amazed. The medicine has made such progress in our neighborhood that people say they don't want the doctor any more, but they take the Syrup. Sufferers who were confined to their bed and could hardly move a finger, have been cured by it. There is a girl in our district who caught a cold by going through some water, and was in bed five years with constant rheumatic pains, and had to have attendant to watch by her. There was not a doctor in the surrounding district to whom the mother had not applied to before she died. But everyone crossed themselves and said they could not help her. Whenever the little bell rang which is rung in our place whenever somebody is dead, we thought surely it was for her, but Seigel's Syrup and Pills saved her life, and now she is as healthy as anybody, goes to church, and can work even in the fields. Everybody who mentioned when they saw her out, knowing how many years she had been in bed. I have sent her, in gratitude to my God, the name and Seigel's Syrup. MARIA HAAS. The people of England speak confirming the above.

AFTER MANY YEARS.

"Whittle-woods, near Clonkey, December 26th, 1883. Dear Sir,—Mother Seigel's medicine sells exceedingly well with us, all that try it speak highly in its favor. We had a case of your kind that had been troubled many years with pains after eating. She tells me that the pains were entirely taken away after a few doses of your medicine.—Yours truly, "Er Peel."

AFTER SEVERAL YEARS.

Stoke Ferry, January 9th, 1884. "Gentlemen,—I have used Seigel's Syrup for several years, and have found it a most efficacious remedy for Liver complaints and general debility, and I always keep some by me, and cannot speak too highly in its praise.—I remain, yours truly, "Harriet King."

THE EFFECTS HAVE BEEN WONDERFUL.

"Liford Road Dispensary, Dunkeith, May 3rd, 1884. "Dear Sir,—I am happy to inform you that the sale of your Syrup and Pills increases here continually. Several of my customers speak of having derived more benefit from the use of these than from any other medicine.—Yours very respectfully, "Professor J. T. Eastwood."

ADVICE TO MOTHERS!—Are you broken in your rest by a sick child suffering with the pain of teething? Go at once to a chemist and get a bottle of Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup. It will relieve the poor sufferer immediately. It is perfectly harmless and pleasant to taste, it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes as bright as a button. It soothes the child, it softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves restlessness, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for dysentery and diarrhoea, whether arising from teething or other causes. Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrup is sold by chemists, druggists everywhere. It is 1s. 1/2d. per bottle.

VALUABLE DISCOVERY FOR THE HAIR.—If your hair is turning grey or white, or falling off, use "The Mexican Hair Renewer," for it will positively restore in every case Grey or White hair to its original colour, without leaving the disagreeable smell of most "Restorers." It makes the hair charmingly beautiful, as well as promoting the growth of the hair on bald spots where the glands are not decayed. Ask your chemist for "The Mexican Hair Renewer," Sold by Chemists and Perfumers everywhere at 2s. 6d. per bottle. Wholesale depot 33, Farringdon Road, London.

"KEATING'S POWDER" destroys BUGS, FLEAS, MOTHS, BEETLES, and all other insects, whilst it is harmless to domestic animals. In exterminating Beetles the success of this powder is extraordinary. It is perfectly clean in application. See the article you purchase in "KEATING'S" as imitations are so numerous and so dangerous. It is therefore necessary that the public should be cautioned against the use of any form of Phosphorus not perfectly soluble in water.

John Wotherspoon, and that the Council adjourn for a few minutes to enable them to do so. Cr. Oddie seconded the motion, which was carried, and the adjournment took place.

On resuming, the President moved "That this Council hereby records its profound sorrow at the death of Cr. John Wotherspoon. The many conspicuous services he has rendered the community as a councillor during the last nineteen years; his assiduous attention to the interests of the shire; together with the cordial and generous relations he always maintained with his brethren councillors, evokes this tribute of their personal esteem for his memory as a friend and brother councillor, and that a letter of condolence be written to the widow and family, embodying the foregoing sentiments, with the expression of the council's deep sympathy in the affliction which has befallen them."

REPORTS.

The Engineer, Mr. Jackson, reported—That satisfactory progress is being made with the contracts now in hand. Tenders are invited, returnable this day, for a bridge at Raglan and other works in the north riding. With respect to the complaint of Mr. Gooden, that Hehir Bros. have some roads fenced in the parish of Trawalla, I find that the roads referred to are between Hehir's selections. One of them is a short road which terminates at an allotment, and is not required by the public; the other passes over steep ranges, and I am not aware that it has ever been used. Hehir's land has been fenced in as it is now for a great number of years. Hehir's lately applied to the council to have a fence of Geoghagan's removed that was in the way of traffic. Received and adopted.

Mr. McKeas, the rabbit inspector, reported that the case against Mr. Parnment had resulted in defendant being fined £3, and £3 1/2 costs. After the case was over, defendant was informed that if he did not take active measures to destroy the rabbits within a fortnight, I would have to put men on. He failed to take advantage of the time allowed him; consequently three men were engaged on the 3rd inst. to do the work at his expense. Referring to Mr. N. Wilson's letter, complaining of rabbits on the Beaufort common, the council was informed that the inspector went to Trawalla station to see Mr. Wilson or his manager, but did not see either. On the 15th ult. he wrote to Mr. Wilson, asking him to send one of his men to point out the place he complained of, so that if necessary men could be put on to destroy the rabbits, but no reply was received. The inspector had been on the common several times, but could not see many rabbits on any portion of it; and on the 3rd, he accompanied the herdsman and examined the southern fringe of the common late in the evening, and saw only two rabbits. These are rabbits on the common, but so far as he could ascertain they were not numerous.—Re Parnment. Cr. Oddie said the very fact that this man had no means to pay the fine showed that he had no means to keep stock on the land. The Council were in possession of information that stock were grazing on the land, and it was patent that Parnment must be a medium for some one. He would like to know whether that stock could be seized under distress. He moved that legal advice be obtained respecting the case, and that Parnment be sued for expenses, and that the Government be requested to cancel the lease. This was seconded and carried. Re Mr. Wilson's complaint.—Cr. Cushing moved that a bonus of 30s per 100 be given for the scalps of rabbits killed the common; and that a statutory declaration be made by each party claiming the bonus that the rabbits were killed on the united common. Cr. Lewis seconded, and a long discussion ensued, several councillors speaking emphatically on the subject of the obligations of the managers of the commons to destroy the rabbits. The experiment of allowing the bonus should be tried, and the amount paid should be made a charge against the managers of the commons, and in the event of the managers repudiating their liability, application to be made to the Government to abolish the commons. The motion was agreed to.

The treasurer reported that at the conclusion of the financial year the council had a credit balance at the bank of £74 5s 9d, with credit in excess of liabilities amounting to £315 9s 10d. The rates received during the year are—General, £312 13s; water, £219 4s 6d; leaving outstanding—North riding, £3 6d; water rates, £3 10s. The £3 10s, north riding has exceeded its expenditure in the sum of £297 17s 4d; to meet this £100 is expected out of the next vote in aid of its expenditure of the guinea. The east establishing parks and gardens. The east riding expenditure is £10 18s 10d in excess. The west riding, upon payment of £235 4s 1d. The receipts for the year amount to £752 7s 7d.—The report was received.

The Secretary was instructed to notify the Bank of Victoria that the Council were not disposed to pay them more than 6 per cent. interest on overdrafts, and to direct attention to the fact that all other banks were only charging this rate.

RIFLE SHOOTING. The fourth and last of a series of competitions took place at Ararat on Wednesday last, between the Ararat, Beaufort, Great Western, and Stawell Rifle Clubs.

On the commencement of the series the match was looked upon as a sure thing for Stawell or Beaufort, although the latter were by no means sure of a victory until after the third match, when they obtained a lead of 29 points.

The best shooting was in the first match, which was fired at Stawell. The result was a win for the home team by 1 point only.

The next match was fired at Beaufort, and the home team turned the tables on Stawell to the tune of 2 points, giving them a lead in the two competitions of 1 point.

At Great Western, however, Beaufort held their own, and came away with a long lead, although the day as regards weather was the worst experienced throughout the competition—dull light, drizzly and heavy rain making the day very bad for shooting.

Stawell, however, expected to wipe out the difference. Mr. McRae, whose average in the three previous matches was 89, found, at the last moment, that he was unable to go. The circumstance was regretted by all the team when they were acquainted with the cause.

Firing was commenced at about 10 o'clock. When three men of Stawell and Beaufort had fired at 400 and 500 yards, things looked blue indeed for the latter; Stawell having gained 8 points on them.

But at the 600 yards range this score was wiped off, and 12 put on to the goal. The last two men to fire in each team shot very well and evenly; they had less of the choppy wind that prevailed in the morning.

Mr. S. W. Male made top score of the day; and Mr. Playford, of Stawell, came next with 90. Of Great Western, Best and Young shot well, making 82 and 84 respectively.

They beat Ararat this match by 24 points. The result of the four matches is as follows:—

CHOOSE YE ON THE 20th INST.

To the Editor of The Riponshire Advocate. Sir,—The lamented death of Mr. John Watherspoon, the late senior member for the north riding in the Riponshire Council, is causing a contest for the seat thus rendered vacant.

The candidates who are seeking the suffrages of the ratepayers are two ex-councillors, the one being Mr. Geo. Wetherspoon (brother to the late member), and his opponent being Mr. Albert Andrews, chemist, of Beaufort. Now, Sir, it behoves the ratepayers to carefully analyse the claims of the two candidates to the high and important trust of looking after their interests at the council table.

In the first place, I expect the ratepayers will naturally ask themselves, "Can Mr. Andrews be the same gentleman who, on a previous election occasion, at the Golden Age Hall, Beaufort, made certain statements accusing the shire engineer of malpractices, thereby implying that the council who employed him were also corrupt?"

The meeting was very adjroitly held the night before the election, and there was no time to refute the slander before the poll came off.

Mr. Andrews having thus jumped on the back of the engineer, stuck there, and actually rode into the council on the engineer's back, and insisted that he (the engineer) was an old screw, and not fit to do the work as a thorough pacer ought to. On that occasion, I think it will be remembered the old screw bucked the chemist off, and launched him in a quagmire, where he stuck till he had to beseech Mr. Jackson to lift him out of the hole, as all the statements he had made concerning him were without foundation, and therefore false.

An advertisement appeared in the Star, Courier and Riponshire Advocate which read thus:—"[COPY.] Beaufort, 16th September, 1885. To Mr. H. H. Jackson, Beaufort. Sir,—Having made statements at the Golden Age Hall, on the 12th August last, reflecting on your private character, I now beg to state that I was in error in so doing, and wish to retract such statements.

A. ANDREWS. Witness—J. B. Pearson, solicitor, Ballarat." After that, all common sense people thought that Mr. Andrews would have allowed the Riponshire Council to have known him no more. Such was not the fact, as Mr. Andrews stuck to the seat like grim death to a dead nigger. His admirers felt disgusted and annoyed, when they discovered that their idol, instead of being made of sterling metal, was composed of rotten clay, with a thin veneering of brass; and when he transferred his belongings to St. Kilda, he had the effrontery to ask the council for leave of absence, which was very properly refused. It seems, Mr. Editor, that there is a certain organisation in Beaufort, which some people call the "Mutual Admiration Society," and these mutual admirers expect that by the outside public they should be "Admired as heroes, and as gods obeyed," and a brother admirer was selected to step into Mr. Andrews' seat when he resigned.

But "The best laid schemes of mice and men gang aft a-gley," and the little arrangement fell through owing to the good sense of the ratepayers rejecting Mr. Andrews' nominee. So now another attempt is to be made to pitchfork a pigmy (metaphorically speaking) into the shire council to replace a giant. Forbid it, common sense! It is a trite saying that the "cobbler should stick to his last," and I predict that on this occasion the ratepayers will tell Mr. Andrews to stick to (his last) the dispensing of medicine, as public business (especially shire council) is not his forte, and therefore outside his line.

Well, what claim has Mr. George Wetherspoon on the ratepayers that they should elect him to the council. In the first place, he is a shrewd, intelligent man of business; tactful in speech; honorable in all his dealings with the public; and represented the north riding as member at the shire council for a number of years, with credit to himself and benefit to the north riding ratepayers, as all who were connected at that time with the council well know. He also had the honor of being the first honorary secretary who organised the Beaufort Agricultural Society; and when his connection with the society as such ceased, he was presented with a solid massive silver stand of most elaborate workmanship, in recognition of the valuable services he had rendered the society. Mr. George Wetherspoon is not a man of many words; he is an active worker; and not a talker, which is the main thing required at the council table.—I am, Sir, yours &c.,

LYNX EYE. October 13th, 1887.

GR. THOMAS' MOTION. To the Editor of The Riponshire Advocate. Sir,—I would suggest through you that meetings be held in each of the ridings of the shire to consider the action of the shire council on Thursday, in respect to Councillor Thomas' motion to reduce the engineer's salary. As far as the north riding is concerned, we ratepayers should take immediate action in the matter. This year our water rates have been raised. There is to be no valuation made, and next year we shall be expected to pay the same rate. Now, Sir, it is a fact,—we have it on the authority of the late Cr. Wetherspoon,—that L100 has to be made up on the water supply revenue every year out of the general rates revenue, and while this is going on, for the next year, L60 is to be paid to the valuer for work that it has been decided not to do. Nothing but united action on the part of the ratepayers throughout the shire can put a stop to this little game. Would Cr. Thomas call a meeting to discuss the question in the north riding?

I am, yours &c., RATEPAYER. 14th October.

NORTH RIDING ELECTION.

MR. ANDREWS AT WATERLOO.

Mr. Albert Andrews, one of the candidates for the vacancy in the North Riding for the Council of the Shire of Ripon, addressed a meeting of about 150 ratepayers at Waterloo on Thursday night last.

C. J. Leadbeater, Esq., J.P., presided, and in introducing the candidate, asked that he might be accorded a patient hearing. Mr. Andrews, on rising, was well received, and spoke for a considerable time, dealing with the question of local government generally, advocating the extension of the powers of the local governing bodies; he also supported the suggestion to readjust the ridings of this shire, being of opinion that the present subdivision is unjust to the ratepayers of the North Riding.

He also spoke favorably to the proposed trust scheme being carried out to augment the water supply of Beaufort and provide a supply of water for Waterloo; and also referred to the closed roads question, and a number of other municipal matters. At the conclusion of the address, a vote of confidence was passed in the candidate, and another of thanks to the chairman terminated the proceedings.

Mr. Andrews also addressed a meeting at Region last evening, and will speak at Beaufort on Wednesday evening next.

VITAL QUESTIONS!!!! Ask the most eminent physician. Of any ailment, what is the best thing in the world for quieting and allaying all irritation of the nerves, and curing all forms of nervous complaints, giving natural, childlike refreshing sleep always? And he will tell you unhesitatingly "Some form of HOPPER'S."

CHAPTER I. Ask any or all of the most eminent physicians. "What is the best and only remedy that can be relied on to cure all diseases of the kidneys, urinary organs, such as Bright's disease, Gravel, Gout, Rheumatism, and all diseases and ailments peculiar to women?" And they will tell you explicitly and emphatically, "Beche's."

Ask the same physicians. "What is the most reliable and sure cure for all liver diseases or dyspepsia, constipation, indigestion, biliousness, malaria, fever, ague, &c.?" and they will tell you:— "Mandrake or Dandelion!"

Hence when these remedies are combined with others equally valuable, and compounded into Dr. Soule's American Hop Bitters, such a wonderful and mysterious curative power is developed, which is so varied in its operations that no disease or ailment can possibly exist or resist its power, and yet it is:— "Harmless for the most frail woman, weakest invalid or smallest child to use."

CHAPTER II. "Almost dead or nearly dying." For years and given up by physicians, of Bright's and other kidney diseases, liver complaints, severe coughs, called consumption, have been cured. Women generally cured. From agony of neuralgia, nervousness, wakefulness, and various diseases peculiar to women. People drawn out of shape from exerting pains of rheumatism, inflammatory and chronic, or suffering from scrofula. Bysalpinx! Salsipernum, blood-poisoning, dyspepsia, indigestion, and in fact, almost all diseases frail! Nature is left to be cured by Dr. Soule's Hop Bitters, proof of which can be found in every neighborhood in the known world.

None genuine without a bunch of green hops on a white label, and Dr. Soule's name blown in the bottle. Beware of all the vile stuff made to imitate the above.

WE SHOULD BLOT OUT DISEASE IN ITS EARLY STAGES. The disease commences with a slight derangement of the stomach, but, if neglected, it in time involves the whole frame, embracing the kidneys, liver, pancreas, and in fact the entire glandular system, and the affected organs discharge a miserable excrement which gives a relief from suffering. The disease's often mistaken for other complaints; but if the reader will ask himself the following questions he will be able to determine whether he himself is one of the afflicted:—Have I distress, pain, or difficulty in breathing after eating? Is there a dull, heavy feeling, attended by drowsiness? Have the eyes a watery, red, or inflamed appearance? Do my gums ulcerate? Is there costiveness? Is there vertigo or dizziness when rising suddenly from a horizontal position? Are the secretions from the kidneys highly colored, with a deposit after standing? Does the stomach sour after eating, accompanied by flatulence or belching of gas from the stomach? Is there frequent palpitation of the heart? These various symptoms may not be present at one time, but they form the forerunners in turn of the dreadful disease progress.

If the case be one of long standing, there will be a dry, hacking cough, attended after a time by expectoration. In very advanced cases, the skin assumes a dirty yellow appearance, and the hands and feet are accompanied by a cold sticky perspiration. As the liver and kidneys become more and more diseased, rheumatic pains appear, and the usual treatment proves entirely unavailing against the later agonising disorder. The origin of this malady is indigestion or dyspepsia, and a small quantity of the proper medicine will remove the disease if taken in its incipient stage. It is a dry, burning, and sticky, and is promptly and properly treated in its first stages, when a little medicine will effect a cure, and even when it has obtained a strong hold the correct remedy should be resorted to, and the patient will be cured. The disease is eradicated, until the appetite has returned, and the digestive organs restored to a healthy condition. The surest and most effectual remedy for this distressing complaint is "Seigel's Curative Syrup," a vegetable preparation sold by all chemists and medicine vendors throughout the world, and by the proprietors, A. J. White, Limited, London, E.C. This Syrup strikes at the root of the disease, and drives it out of the system, and branches out of the system. Ask your chemist for Seigel's Curative Syrup.

"Sir,—It gives me great pleasure to be able to add my testimony in favour of your valuable Syrup as a curative agent. I had suffered for some length of time from a severe form of indigestion, and the usual train of distressing symptoms following that disease. I had tried all possible means to get relief, by seeking the best medical advice. I had swallowed a sufficient of their stuff to float a number of years, so to speak, but to no avail. A friend of mine, coming on the scene in the midst of my sufferings, brought with him a bottle of your Syrup; he advised me to try it, stating he had himself benefited from it. Being weary of trying so many drugs, I commenced it before trial, thinking it could not possibly do me any good, but ultimately determined to take the Syrup. After doing so for a short time it worked such a change in me, that I continued taking it for nearly two months, and I then felt thoroughly cured, for I have discontinued its use for the weeks, and feel in the best of health, and am now pursuing my usual avocations with ease and comfort. I am therefore thankful to you that, through the instrumentality of your valuable medicine, I am restored to the state of health I now enjoy. Truly, "To Mr. A. J. White," "W. S. FORSTER," "Waterloo House, London S.W., 17th, 1887."

"Messrs. White and Co., London. Gentlemen,—It is with great pleasure that I add my testimony to the wonderful effects of Seigel's Syrup. For years I have been suffering from bilious attacks, which began with giddiness; then a mist would come before my eyes, so that I should not be able to recognize any one or anything at the distance of a yard or two from my face. This would be followed by excessive trembling of my knees, so that I could not stand without support; and when a severe headache would occur, lasting often two or three days. I have tried many remedies for these distressing symptoms, but until I tried Seigel's Syrup I had no relief. Since then I have had excellent health in every respect, and I feel a headache coming on, I take one dose of the Syrup, and am relieved. Hoping that this testimonial may be the means of inducing others who suffer as I used to try the Syrup, as I feel sure they will receive speedy benefit and ultimately be cured. I beg to remain, yours faithfully, "A. H. Horton."

SEASON 1887-88.

Geo. Hague & Co.

BEG to intimate to Wool-growers and others interested that they will hold Sales of Wool every Tuesday during the coming season. Their well-known Warehouses and large

NEW SHOW ROOMS are unrivalled for extent and suitability for the trade, combining, as they do, all the latest modern improvements for the EFFICIENT DISPLAY OF WOOL. The Stores now run in one unbroken flat from street to street, giving ample space for a catalogue of 10,000 BALES to be exhibited at one time.

The Wool when stacked being easily accessible, the fullest facilities are available for inspection, not only in sample but also in bulk, thus ensuring more confidence in purchasing.

CAREFUL VALUATIONS made prior to sale, and every lot is protected up to full market value.

FARMERS' CLIPS receive special attention, and no effort is spared to secure utmost value for even the smallest clips.

English, Continental, American, and Colonial buyers attend all the sales in full strength.

Account Sales and Cheques for proceeds rendered invariably within three days after sale.

Changes are the lowest ruling in the colony, and growers will find that they save about Seven Shillings per bale by selling in Geelong instead of Melbourne.

Separate Warehouses are provided for the disposal of Sheepskins, Hides, and Tallow, auction sales of which are held weekly throughout the year.

ARARAT PRODUCE MARKET.

Little activity has been displayed in the produce market during the past week. In wheat we have again a weaker feeling to report. Several small lots have come down from the Wimmera district, being landed at 3s 1d per bushel, bags in, whilst one lot of 200 bags of local wheat under offer on Saturday at 3s 1 1/2d, bags in, at Melbourne was completed. Flour shows a corner, ending decline, though a good deal has been sent out at 2s per ton. The Hordsham wheat market is very depressed, the normal quotation being 2s 10d. A further decline is observable at Donald, the only sales reported being at 2s 9 1/2d per bushel, but in this district being at 6d per dozen. On sales of district being almost unimportant. Ballarat potatoes came in freely at late quotations. Hay is liberally supplied. Fresh butter is plentiful at the reduced rate of 7d, and eggs are now abundant by supply at 6d per dozen. We quote:—Wheat, 3s 1d to 3s 1 1/2d per bushel bags in. Oats, 2s 8d per bushel, bags in. Pollard, 10s 10d per bushel. Bran, 9s 1d per bushel. Flour, 13s per ton. Cape barley, 3s 6d per bushel. English barley, none. Peas, 3s 6d per bushel. Potatoes, Ballarat, 12s 15s per ton. Hay, sheaves, 13s per ton. Hay, tressed, 13s 5s per ton. Straw, oatmeal, to 30s per ton. Chaff, 3s 9d per cwt. Carrots, 2s per cwt. Onions, 1s per cwt. Butter, fresh, 7 1/2 per lb. Butter, potted, 6d per lb. Hams, 11d per lb. Bacon, 9d per lb. Cheese, 6d to 7d per lb. Eggs, 6d per dozen.—“Advertiser.”

BALLARAT WHOLESALE PRODUCE MARKET.

Messrs. A. M. Greenfield and Co. report under date of Oct. 21:—We held our first wool sale of the season on Thursday, when buyers were well represented, and every lot was bid for freely, and at fair rates; considering the condition of the London market. The catalogue was a small one; the wool forward showed considerable merit, and the quality is, if anything, slightly over last year. We quitted a fair merino, grown in the Rokewood district, at 8 1/2d, and the first cross for the same grower at the same price. The wool was light and well grown. For some merino grown at Windermere 3d was realized, for a small clip from Trunk Creek a fair merino. A small lot from the Beaufort district brought 7 1/2d. Prices ranged from 2 1/2d to 5d, and bellies 2 1/2d to 4d. Wheat, weak, at 3s 4d for prime milling; oats, Danish 2s 9d to 2s 10d, stout, up to 2s 10d per bushel; peas, 3s 1d to 3s 2d; Cape barley, to 3s 4d; prime mutton 5s 6d to 6s; mung-bells, 30s; carrots, 11s; potatoes, 11s to 1s 11d to 1s 6d; hay continues firm, prime chaffing, 13s 10s to 13s 12s 6d; medium, 13s to 13s 5s; caven straw, 12s 10s; wheat, L2; mung hay, 14s to 15s. These quotations are all legs in.

DALGETY & COMPANY'S WEEKLY WOOL REPORT.

Wool.—We have received for sale during the week the first instalments of several new clips from New South Wales and Victoria, of which the following are the most important:—AC over 20 (in diameter) B over TC (in square), LO, O (in square), MI, Murchie, A. Tobin & Sons over Wingham, and RS over Kalkal. The last-named, which is from the Hon. Robert Simon's station near Travalla, deserves special mention, being one of the finest clips from the Western District of Victoria, and one which has realized, as usual wool, as high as 3s 0 1/2d per lb. in the early London sales of this year. On this occasion, however, the clip comes forward in the gross. We held our opening sale before a crowded attendance of buyers and others interested, and submitted a catalogue of 257 1/2 bales, comprising some of the best known and choicest clips of Victoria and New South Wales. Competition was very animated, and we sold by auction and privately 217 bales, realising very satisfactory prices considering the state of the European market.

GEELONG WEEKLY STATION PRODUCE REPORTS.

Messrs. George Hagne and Co. report under date Wednesday, October 19:—Wool.—We held our opening sale of the season to-day, when we submitted a catalogue of 452 bales. Biddings throughout the sale were exceedingly animated, and prices were up to the last ruling since the sales opened in the colony this season. Greasy fleeces, average to good, 8 1/2d to 10 1/2d; do, do, inferior to medium, 5d to 7 1/2d; do, pieces, 3 1/2d to 5 1/2d; washed fleeces (cold water) 11d to 14 1/2d; do, pieces, 9d to 10 1/2d; scoured merino, 9 1/2d to 15 1/2d; do, crossed (10 1/2d to 13 1/2d); do, (crossed) 8 1/2d to 10 1/2d; slip-skins (1s and 2s) 3 1/2d to 5 1/2d; do, fine cross-bred, 3 1/2d to 5 1/2d; do, coarse do, 7d to 8d. Sheepskins.—Butchers' fresh-killed, 18s to 13s 6d each; good, 18s to 30s; do, inferior to 50s; each country and station skins, 18s to 36d each, superior to 48s each, and 3d to 5d per lb.; pelts and short-wooled skins, 1d to 2d per lb., and 1d to 1 1/2d each; lambskins, 2d to 3 1/2d per lb. Hides.—Sold as follows:—Heavy and superior in good condition, from 34s per lb upwards; averages to good, salted, 3d to 3 1/2d per lb.; light and medium sorts, 2 1/2d to 3d per lb.; kip, 3 1/2d to 3 3/4d per lb.; calf, 5d to 6d per lb. Tallow.—We have sold our usual supply of oddments and country mixed lots at current quotations, and 53 pipes good beef and mutton, for shipment at a satisfactory figure.

Given under my hand, at Stawell, this seventeenth day of October, A. D. 1887. RICHARD WARBURN OLLARD, Returning Officer for the Nelson Province.

Address of Mr. J. P. Macpherson to the Electors of the Nelson Province.

GENTLEMEN.—As most of you are aware a vacancy in the representation of your Province in the Upper House has arisen, and in response to the request of a very large number of influential residents in our electorate, I have consented to come forward as a Candidate for your suffrages. I accede to the wishes of my friends, because being Australian born, and having only the interests of my country at heart, I will be enabled, in my place in Parliament, to advocate your wants. If elected, I shall take every opportunity of urging the necessity of more energetic co-operation being shown by the mining industry in the Upper Chamber than it has hitherto. In the Nelson Province a falling off in gold production has been apparent of late years, and in no district is there so much mineral ground as yet undeveloped, but which could be made to yield up its treasure if a fair deal of assistance and recognition were given by the State. There are many other necessary works in various parts of the province which should be considered in the same manner; and, if elected, I will certainly use my exertions in forwarding them as fully as possible. Now that the greater part of the land of the colony has been alienated from the State, it is imperative that the rising generation should be instructed how to utilise the land to the best advantage; therefore, as an Australian, I would advocate a thorough teaching, in our State schools, of agricultural knowledge throughout the length and breadth of the country. It is highly so closely allied to agriculture, that one is necessary to the other in the arid districts of the colony; and I will favour any scheme by which water can be stored and utilised for increasing the product of the soil. I am of opinion that federation of the colonies is a necessity, and am in favour of steps being at once taken to forward the movement. The foregoing are my views briefly upon some of the leading questions of the day, and which must engage the attention of Parliament. But I shall make it my duty to address you upon other subjects. If elected, I will serve you honestly and well, and to the best of my ability. I have the honor to be, Gentlemen, Your most obedient servant, J. P. MACPHERSON.

To the Electors of the Nelson Province.

GENTLEMEN.—Having at the request of a number of the electors of the Province become a Candidate for the seat vacant in the Legislative Council by the death of your esteemed representative, the late Hon. Thomas Brownell, I beg to briefly lay before you my views upon the various questions of the day. I am of opinion that more attention should be paid to technical education; and that industrial supremacy can only be gained by careful study in industrial training. I will advocate the extension of colleges and experimental farms in the agricultural districts, and the affiliation of colleges with our school of mines. Forest conservation being most important, especially in the mining and farming communities, I am in favor of creating forest boards which should attend to tree planting, and the preservation of State forests. Having a firm faith in the great future of Australia, I will warmly support the federation of the colonies, believing that there are many vital questions that can only be dealt with by a federal Government. I have resided in Ballarat nearly all my life, and I have been interested in developing many of the largest mining ventures in the district, and have invested a considerable amount of capital in these enterprises. I have thus had an opportunity of gaining mining experience of a thoroughly practical nature. I believe it would be a larger amount of capital in mining if the mining laws were simplified and mines rendered unassailable so long as bona-fide work is carried on. If elected, I will use every endeavor to have the necessary reform carried into effect. The prospecting grant should be largely increased, and sums set apart to assist in draining known leads where the water is too heavy for single companies to battle with. There are many parts of the electorate where systematic prospecting by means of the diamond drill would result in great good. I will use my best endeavors to have these fields thoroughly prospected. The colony mainly owes its present prosperous condition to its protective policy. I will warmly support all tariff propositions that are distinctly protective. I have always taken a practical interest in native industries, being largely interested in several woolen mills and other labor-supplying interests. I am distinctly in accord with the main principles of the Education Act. The question of “local option” is surrounded with many difficulties, but I am in favor of giving electors the fullest possible control of the liquor traffic, consistent with justice and equity to the hotelkeepers, who should be fairly compensated. Every extension I deem an absolute necessity, and will urge the immediate extension of the Seardsdale line to Campdenburg. All my interests being in the Province, I need hardly say that I favor a fair and equitable distribution of the Government expenditure, and an increase of local responsibility, being strongly opposed to centralisation. I will take every opportunity of making my views more freely known to you personally. I am, Gentlemen, AGAR WYNNE.

To the Electors of the Nelson Province.

GENTLEMEN.—I intend to contest the seat for the Nelson Province, vacant through the lamented death of the Hon. T. Brownell. Yours faithfully, JAMES P. MACPHERSON.

To the Electors of the Nelson Province.

GENTLEMEN.—I cannot but feel highly flattered by your liberal promises of support on the announcement being made that I proposed coming before you as a candidate to represent your Province in the Legislative Council, but in consequence of business engagements, and a previous promise to Mr. J. P. Macpherson that I would support him in his candidature, I now WITHDRAW from the contest. Heartily thanking you for your kindness, should you require my services in the Council on a future occasion, I shall be happy to place myself at your disposal. Yours, &c., E. MOREY. SATURDAY, OCTOBER 22, 1887.

The efforts which are being made in various agricultural centres, to secure something of the nature of protection to farmers, is at least intelligible enough.

We are constantly being told that the manufacturing interests of the colony are in an eminently satisfactory condition, and that they have been rendered so by the agency of protection. Production—manufactured production—is steadily increasing, profits are well maintained, and the manufacturers are growing rich. All this, it is claimed, has been brought about by means of the tariff. Something more has, it is true, been brought about by the same agency. The metropolis has been practically converted into the colony, with a monopoly of concentrated wealth, with almost a monopoly of labour, and with a frightfully disproportionate amount of poverty and crime. The latter elements are not laid great stress upon by the protectionist evangelists, but if they are kept as far as possible out of sight, they have their existence nevertheless, and it is as well to take heed of them. The farmers are bent rather upon taking heed of their own position. If it be really true, they are arguing at the various public meetings which are being held, that protection has done so much good to others, why should it not be utilised to do good to us? Shut out foreign agricultural products. Shut out live stock. Make the growth of exotic vegetables impossible by the imposition of prohibitory import duties. Treat us all alike. If we have cheerfully submitted to a heavy increase of taxation, for the benefit of Melbourne manufacturers, give us some share in the beneficent system. Give protective sauce to the agricultural goose, as well as to the manufacturing gander. Let us all be in the swim, and let us all grow rich by that wonderfully beneficent device of producing only for ourselves, of trading only with ourselves, and of dividing all that we have and all that we earn amongst ourselves. This would be the ideal protectionist millennium. But it is very remote from the point of actual realisation—so remote as to appear to be hardly worth hoping for. In the meantime, the farmers are content to strive and hope for something less. They are agitating for the imposition of a bounty on wheat, as the most practical method of enabling them to share in the blessings of protection. The agitation is drawing to a focus. Early next month there is to be a great representative gathering in Melbourne, at which the demands of the farmers are to be enforced upon the Government. Ill-natured people will very likely say that this is only another of the devices by which country people are attracted to Melbourne at Cup time; but we decline to give heed to such a shallow invention. The coincidences of common life are quite numerous enough to prevent us from wondering greatly that a popular racing festival and an important political event should be made conveniently contemporary, or that the locality of the one should be selected for the other. It will be more to the purpose to consider whether the demands to be made are rational ones, and whether they are at all likely to be acceded to. As to the first point the position is easily summed up. Agriculturists complain that for years past, whilst they have been striving, in the face of serious difficulties to develop the natural resources of the country, they have been heavily taxed—taxed in a score of different ways—to assist those who have been endeavoring to acclimatise industries for which the country is only secondarily adapted. They have borne their burdens contentedly if not cheerfully; and they have done their work effectively. They have reduced the cost of the necessaries of life to a minimum. They have largely over-supplied their natural market, and the only outside market open to them is one in which even the narrowest margin of profit is not always to be depended upon, in consequence of its distance, and the heavy incidental charges which are entailed. This is the position of the tariff-burdened Victorian farmer of the present day; and his demand for a bounty is urged for precisely the same reasons, on exactly the same grounds as the manufacturing protectionist was accustomed to urge before he got what was wanted. There is this, also, to be said in its favor. It could not raise the price to the local consumer. That, at least, could be effectively guarded against, whilst it would tend largely to increase the available capital of the country and render agricultural development more certain and more remunerative. This view of the case will hardly be disputed when the agriculturalists urge their demands upon the Government. Their abstract equity will be conceded. But we doubt whether any further concession is to be expected. It is not so much that a bounty would be unpopular; it is not at all certain that it would be unpopular. But it would be a new departure, which might lead no one can exactly tell whether, and cautious politicians, such as those at the head of affairs, are apt to be wary of creating precedents which in the unforeseen future, are liable to be used against them. There is no strong force of public opinion at the back of the farmers. The proposal is comparatively a new one. It will have to be discussed and ventilated before it takes root in the public mind. It may never take root. But it would be foolish to assert on that account that it ought not to do so. It would above all, be foolish for protectionists to assert this. They owe support to the farmers; whilst the free-traders, who have been content to put their principles in their pockets whilst the antagonistic system has had a trial, may, without doing extreme violence to their convictions, go one step further, and prove whether the new agricultural nostrum will work the cure which its advocates are disposed to believe.

The election of a councillor for the north riding of the Shire of Ripon, in the room of the late Cr. John Wotherspoon, took place on Thursday last, and resulted in the return of Mr. Albert Andrews, by a very small majority over Mr. George Wotherspoon, viz., 7 votes.

The polling was a great surprise to those who had recorded in favor of Mr. G. Wotherspoon, and this surprise will have been carried far beyond the confines of Beaufort before this morning's issue is read by our subscribers. The interest that has been stirred up over this election has brought forth, to the minds of many, recollections of contests in the earlier days. It has certainly proved to the supporters of each candidate that no stone must be left unturned if success is to be ensured. For this seat, just decided, it cannot be denied that the riding has been thoroughly well canvassed by both sides, but the question whether the ratepayers have all been faithful to their own interests,—to the welfare of the riding,—remains yet to be answered. In saying this, we do not mean to imply that the successful candidates will not make a good public man. His recommendation of himself at the meeting on Wednesday night—"Gentlemen, I have the time, the talent, and the ability to represent you"—should certainly be a sufficiently well-concocted pill for anyone to swallow, and the majority of the ratepayers having swallowed it, their action leaves us no room or occasion to grumble with them on their decision. As concerning the ratepayers, whose welfare is as much our aim as it can be their own, we accept the verdict; congratulate Mr. Andrews on his re-entry to the Council; and whilst hoping that he may always prove worthy of the confidence of the majority, we may finally remind him that "great things are expected from him who 'promiseth much.'" At Mr. Andrews' meeting at the Golden Age Hall on Wednesday evening last, the candidate delivered himself of a prodigy—an outburst of indignation against ourselves. We were inclined to let it all pass unnoticed, especially as we did not hear all of the remarks; but as Mr. Andrews thought fit to lay a charge against this journal, of not having afforded him fair play, or, in stronger terms that he used, that the local press had "gagged" him, we wish to emphatically deny it,—and to state that Mr. Andrews, in making such an assertion, spoke that which he knew to be utterly incorrect, and when asked for a personal explanation on Thursday morning, he admitted that "you know that we must say something to raise a laugh." Mr. Andrews, from time to time, has been highly favored by this journal, without any return, and no one knows it better than himself; and we are confident that he can have no just reason to credit us with an ability which enables us to successfully perform an impossibility. We regret Mr. Andrews as a townsman, also the gentleman he opposed; and in these columns we asserted nothing in favor of either. Mr. Andrews took exception to the publication of a letter in our last issue, signed "Lyons Eye," and said that we had no right to insert it without affording him a chance of replying. We contend that he had the best possible opportunity of replying to that letter at his meeting on Wednesday night, and that that was the proper place for the candidate to reply, if reply were necessary. We certainly dispute Mr. Andrews' right to dictate what shall and what shall not be inserted in this journal; in matters of this kind, we exercise our own discretion, a qualification which Mr. Andrews' utterances on Wednesday night do not lead us to believe he exercised. At the same time, we would point out to that gentleman that neither candidate at this last election received at our hands more than could be expected from a newspaper taking up an independent position, which we certainly did in respect to both candidates, and if Mr. Andrews refers to the first paragraph of our last issue, he will find the only comments we indulged in over the election, and we leave it to any reliable and reasonable man to say whether anything could be more impartial. We might mention that we entertained no animosity against Mr. Andrews, but these remarks merely in reply to his accusation.

The hon. secretary of the local committee begs to acknowledge the kindness of Mr. G. Wotherspoon, who when recently in town purchased for them two valuable and serviceable boats for the park lake, and at the same time gave the committee a donation of £2. The boats arrived yesterday, and were placed on the lake.

The annual meeting of the Beaufort District Agricultural Society will be held at the State Hall to-day at 2 o'clock.

The rainfall at Beaufort from October 1st to 20th, both days included, was 2.45.

We received the following wire from Ballarat yesterday afternoon:—"Macpherson's committee papers lodged this morning—Charles Dyer, Macpherson's Committee rooms, George Hotel."

Messrs. Molesworth and Ware's Esne Charbon sheep station was sold to Sydney Synnott on Thursday last. It will now be cut up for farms, and it is believed will greatly benefit Charbon. "Punch" for this week is to hand.

We have received from Mr. Hugo Wertheim, of Seaving machine fame, a novelty in the form of a birthday book, which has been compiled by Mr. Garnet Waich, the well known author of several publications. In advertising memoranda Australia is certainly coming to the fore in the issue of novelties. The publication before us is a useful work, and besides containing the space for recording the birthday of any friend, supplies a lot of historical and interesting information which one would hardly think it possible could be included in its pages.

Taylor's "Called Back" Dramatic Company will visit Beaufort on Wednesday next, as announced in our advertising columns.

NORTH RIDING ELECTION.

The election of councillor for the north riding of Riponshire, in the room of the late Mr. John Wotherspoon, took place on Thursday last. The committee of each candidate set to work at a very early hour, and at the outset it was seen that both parties meant business. The voting was regularly recorded, and a constant simmer of excitement prevailed throughout. Up to one o'clock 210 votes had been recorded, and by Mr. Wotherspoon's friends it was estimated that his chances were secure. The afternoon, however, told the tale, and Mr. Andrews' committee rebuked their efforts to let a very man to the poll, and the excitement rose to the point that caused a rumor to go round that each candidate would require every vote he could get. The announcement that at the Beaufort both Mr. Andrews had by a majority of 8, was received with vigorous cheering by his supporters; but those of the other candidate were dumfounded. It is believed that scarcely ever has such a surprise taken place. The Waterloo returns added four to the majority obtained by Mr. Andrews. This was also another surprise. Raglan increased the lead to 19; and the "Middle Creek will decide it." Mr. Middle Creek did not. It was left for Nerring to do, and the crestfallen hopes rose in anticipation that the promises obtained at this place would be sufficient to number of the lead of three, to which the Middle Creek returns had reduced the totals. It was not to be, however, and Mr. Andrews was elected by a majority of seven votes. The number of votes polled was 503, but this was not up to the number polled at the last election. The following is the result of the poll:—

Sketcher

Two of a Kind.

Miss Carlton-Pell (daughter of society matron): "Marie says that James' wife is very sick."

"What are you going to do at Klunder's?" "I want to order a basket of roses to send to Mrs. Connoisseur."

"Why, she was at the Van Renwick dinner two nights ago." "Yes, I know; but she is enough indisposed to attract any attention."

"Oh, here is Plush & Satin's! Sit still, if you like; I shan't be long." Miss Carlton-Pell (ten minutes later): "Why, mamma, you looked quite flustered."

"What did you say?" "Oh, I simply looked her over with my eye-glass! Then I said, 'You will cut off a yard and a quarter from the price I did select and send it once, and come on.'"

"Where do you go now?" "I want to show for five minutes at a business meeting of the Society for the Amelioration of the Condition of Shop Girls."

"Your five minutes were nearly ten, mamma. Did I hear you tell James to drive to Tiffany's?" "Yes, I want to order that set of champagne for the evening."

I have heard of the mountains and of the mountain country, and it is with feelings of high anticipation that, in company with a friend and behind a good team, we take our way for a day to the mountains.

Women in Business.

Business men and heads of government departments have some time since said to me that they have tried women clerks, found them unsatisfactory, and have given up the experiment.
