WHAT IS GRAPHOLOGY?

(By RUTH ANNABEL.)

Coming from the words graphium and logos, graphology means the art of reading character from handwriting, and though some people have so far forgotten their derivations as to imagine it is synonymous with fortune-telling, such is far from being the case; the graphologist simply pointing out the talents possessed by a writer and his capacity to succeed in any profession, trade or business, together with the traits of character—social, affectionate, &c.—possessed by the lady or gentleman whose calligraphy is submitted for analysis.

There is no sex in handwriting, because there are no traits of character peculiar to either sex. That woman is not always so soft and tender, one has only to reflect on the cruelty and the way they destroy infant life, and the thoughtless and pleasing to think of her in Montgomery's lines, when he speaks of some— "There woman reigns, the mother, daughter, wife, Strews with fresh flowers the narrow way of life, &c."

The political situation is becoming interesting yesterday (says Thursday's "Age"). It is always the case that public life becomes horrible after the Ballot. Members wake up. They were asleep from early morning talking over the financial part of the Budget, and the afternoon no one could be found—except a Minister—who approved of the scheme as a whole.

The political situation is becoming interesting yesterday (says Thursday's "Age"). It is always the case that public life becomes horrible after the Ballot. Members wake up. They were asleep from early morning talking over the financial part of the Budget, and the afternoon no one could be found—except a Minister—who approved of the scheme as a whole.

NEURALGIA

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

The Cricket Club held a meeting at Martin's Hotel on Thursday, 2nd inst., and decided to make a levy to pay portion of the debt incurred last season. It is likely that a bill will be laid also in aid of the funds.

At the monthly meeting of the Mechanics' committee held last week Mr Stevenson was unanimously elected president for the ensuing year.

A social given by Mrs. Melham, the superintendent of the Sunday school, to the higher classes of the Sunday school and their friends, was held in the Mechanics' Hall last Wednesday week. There were about 150 present, and all seemed to enjoy themselves thoroughly. At the conclusion, about 12 men, hearty cheers were given for Mrs. Melham.

THE Riponshire Advocate. Published every Saturday Morning. SATURDAY, AUGUST 11, 1894.

The proposed further reduction of the municipal subsidy is of serious import to the shire councils throughout the colony. The Riponshire Council discussed the subject at the ordinary monthly meeting on Monday. It was decided by a bare majority to strenuously oppose the reduction by £100,000, and while the opinion was expressed that if members of Parliament are sincere in their retrenchment proposals they should start at home by giving their services gratuitously for the benefit of the country, contrary opinion was voiced that the Government should not be hampered in their endeavors to see the finances straight, and that notwithstanding that all councils wanted all they could get, it was of no use "overrunning the costable" every year. It is stated that the reduction will be carried out on an equitable system, and we trust that this will be the case should the reduction take place. It cannot but be plainly seen that any further reduction must of necessity be very disastrous to the best interests and advancement of agricultural life. It is admitted on all sides that the exigencies of the colony require that the retrenchments should be deep, and that in making reductions it should be taken from those who can best afford to do without them. The municipalities have so far fully recognized the seriousness of the situation, and have heartily co-operated with the Government during the present crisis, but there can be no doubt that further reduction will be the means of causing widespread discontent, and inflicting hardship and injustice. There has in the past been no money so well and profitably expended as that spent by shire councils in helping the country districts. The municipalities have relieved the central Government of the expense and trouble of maintaining roads and bridges, and other public works, and have likewise found part of the cost, and but in a very few instances can the charge of squandering the money be made against them. There is another point in connection with the municipal subsidy that should be mentioned, namely, that it has been the means of providing for a vast amount of local labor. People have been drawn from Melbourne into country districts, and finding remunerative employment, have been enabled to remain there. Nothing has been of greater advantage to the colony in the past than the system of local government. It has promoted the development of the country; it has given men an opportunity of doing that for themselves which they can do much better than the Government, and any policy that may be formulated to hamper the present position of the various local bodies can hardly fail to be disastrous in its results. The granting of the municipal subsidy has done more towards decentralization than, perhaps, any other measure that has been introduced; it has always met with the acceptance of the country generally, and its good effects are visible on every hand. By the reduction of the subsidy, roads will ultimately get into an impassable state, the making of new roads will be hindered, and the farmers and industrial classes of the community will be, to a great extent, prevented from getting the produce of their labor to the markets. It may be pointed out that in the past the amount received by the larger shires in the country districts has been much less in proportion to that received by some of the small shires in the neighborhood of the metropolis. For example, up to very recently, several of the smaller shires around Melbourne, only some few miles in extent, each received from £7,000 to £11,000 per annum, consequently, they have gained enormously, to the detriment of the country districts. But all this time, the large country shires have only received from £2,000 to £3,000 each per annum, and yet these shires contain the land that needs the most development and increased population. If the Government are in earnest in their policy of carrying out the great and important work of decentralization, the proper course is to try and develop those portions of the colony whose development is likely to advance the interests of the country. Nothing, however, gives us more satisfaction than to know that many of our leading statesmen are of opinion that the reduction of the subsidy at the present juncture is injudicious and hurtful to the welfare of the colony, and we trust they will have the courage to stick to their opinions. They are aware that the money expended under the subsidy is spent chiefly in manual labor in the construction of necessary public works; they realize that it is a mistake to out of the supplies to the country districts, and that retrenchment in this direction is very much like a man starving himself in order to save money. In view of the fact that the money intrusted to the municipalities is, as a rule, the best spent money, so far as the interests of our working classes and agriculturists are concerned, we think the Government would act wisely if they allowed the reduction to stand over for a very considerable time. We have always urged, and we confidently assert, that money expended under local government is far more economically spent, and with better results, than is possible in any other way by a central body. We desire to see the money expended upon the highways of the colony for the benefit of the industrial classes and particularly to enable the farmers to bring their produce to the markets; and although the country is laboring under a temporary depression at the present time, there is no reason why ever why money should be kept back from developing its resources.

Local and General News.

The rainfall for the week ending yesterday morning at 9 o'clock, at Beaufort, amounted to 0.77 inches. There have been many inquiries about the well known Robin Hood's Concessions that were so popular a year ago, before the V.S.W. Government prohibited them. For the benefit of those of our readers who are not acquainted with the matter, we may say that they are still carried on and that they will do no harm as popular as of yore. The address is care of Messrs. Ferguson, Money, Brisbane, Q., and the name alone is sufficient guarantee that the Concessions are genuine. A meeting of the Beaufort Caring Club was held at Mr. H. J. Farnham's Arms Hotel on Monday evening. Present—Messrs. VanderStoep (in the chair), Vowles, Don (secy.), Maher, and Mr. Hill. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed. The chairman intimated that the sub-committee appointed to draw up rules, had met at the Commercial Hotel, and the secretary would submit them for approval. The secretary then read the rules. Mr. Hill moved, and Mr. Vowles seconded, that the rules as read be adopted. Carried. The secretary stated that he had received no reply to his letter. It was decided to hold the next meeting on Monday evening at Vowles' Camp Hotel. The meeting terminated with a vote of thanks to the chair.

The retiring councillors of Riponshire, namely, Messrs. M. Flynn, W. Murray, and H. Cushing, representing the north, east, and west ridings respectively, have been returned without opposition. The councillors of the previous meeting were read and confirmed. The chairman intimated that the sub-committee appointed to draw up rules, had met at the Commercial Hotel, and the secretary would submit them for approval. The secretary then read the rules. Mr. Hill moved, and Mr. Vowles seconded, that the rules as read be adopted. Carried. The secretary stated that he had received no reply to his letter. It was decided to hold the next meeting on Monday evening at Vowles' Camp Hotel. The meeting terminated with a vote of thanks to the chair.

The half-yearly meeting of the Beaufort Mutual Improvement Association was held in the Mechanics' Institute on Friday evening, 3rd inst. Dr. Adam presiding, and 10 members present. The secretary's report and balance-sheet showing a credit balance of 12s 6d was adopted. The election of officers resulted as follows:—President, Mr. Drummond; vice-presidents, Dr. Adam and Mr. C. Troy; secretary and treasurer, Mr. J. P. Dolan; committee, Messrs. McKelch, J. Jackson, S. Stuart, J. B. Cochran, and Hoeking. The secretary was instructed to invite the members of the Middle Creek Society to meet at Beaufort and take part in a debate on Thursday, 10th inst.

A meeting of the stewards of the Beaufort Jockey Club was held at Maher's Farmers' Arms hotel on Monday evening. Present—Messrs. Archard (in the chair), VanderStoep, Maher, Vowles, and Parker. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed. Mr. VanderStoep moved, and Mr. Maher seconded, that a dam be made in the racecourse and Vowles were appointed to visit the racecourse and take the site of the dam, on the motion of Mr. VanderStoep, seconded by Mr. Maher. It was decided to take out about 400 yds. of earth, making the dam 6 ft. deep in the centre, and to invite tenders; Mr. Vowles moving and Mr. Maher seconding the motion. The meeting closed with a vote of thanks to the chair.

The third half-yearly meeting of the shareholders of the Bank of Victoria was held on Tuesday; Mr. E. Miller, M.L.C., presided. The balance-sheet showed a net profit of £29,921, out of which dividends of 6 per cent. each were declared on the preference shares and on the ordinary shares, leaving £5900 to be carried forward. The chairman drew the attention of the members to the capital of the bank, which now amounted to the large sum of £1,181,974, and stated that this showed them how absolutely safe the money was that was deposited in the bank. The cash in hand totalled a million and a half. This was not conducive to profits, but it put them in a very safe position as far as concerned the credit of the bank, and they were quite safe against any runs or anything of that kind. The bank was in a very sound and prosperous condition, and he thought it would continue to be so. Mr. Abbott, of Bendigo, had written to say that his health prevented him from being present. He wanted a detailed balance-sheet, which the directors were adverse to giving, and the directors had never thought of including expenses of reconstruction as an asset. Several speakers protested against Mr. Abbott's questions being submitted, and Mr. O. Phipps said that Mr. Abbott had only one share, and that he did not want any Trades' Hall business done there. The report and balance-sheet were adopted, and as a special meeting certain alterations were made in the articles of association.

The best place to buy a big parcel of first class Drapery and Boots for very little money is at J. McKelch's Annual Cash Stock-taking Sale.—(Adv't.)

On Wednesday Mr. Nott held an inquiry at the Ararat asylum relative to the death of a female patient named Janet Webb, which occurred the previous evening. The deceased, who was 82 years of age, was admitted to the Ararat Asylum from Waterloo, near Beaufort, on the 29th June, 1893. At the request of the friends, no post-mortem examination was made, but the medical evidence was to the effect that the deceased had died from exhaustion and heart failure, and the verdict returned was to that effect.—(Adv't.)

On Wednesday evening a very sociable dance in connection with the Iolanthe Quadrille Assembly was held in the Societies' Hall. There was a good attendance, no less than 50 couples being present. Dancing was commenced (to the strains of Jackson's String Band) shortly after 8 o'clock, and kept up till about 11 o'clock, when the company adjourned for supper, which was provided by Mr. Jas. Owens in his usual style. Dancing was afterwards resumed and indulged in till shortly after three o'clock, when the company dispersed and left for home. Mr. McKelch acted as Master of Ceremonies.

FOOTBALL. STAWELL v. BEAUFORT.

"By Drop-Kick." These clubs met in friendly rivalry at Stawell on Wednesday afternoon last in connection with the "Dunstan" and "Cavanagh" trophy. The day was fine, and the attendance numerous. When the visitors were entering the field the spectators cheered them, and after numbering off the Stawell team also similarly welcomed their opponents, who responded in the same friendly manner. Dick captained the local team, and Sinclair the visitors. The former winning the toss, decided to kick with a strong wind blowing. Being a stranger, and not knowing the local players, I will not venture to give full particulars of the play. After the bounce the locals rushed the ball forward, but the good play of Beaufort's back players, the ball was returned again, and after a good deal of give and take play, it was returned to Beaufort's goal, when Worthington got possession, and piloted it safely through. Soon after the same player added another goal for his side. The locals kept up the attack, and in the 15th minute tried to give full particulars of the play. AND THIS IS ONE OF THEM.

There are some things that ought to be blown through a million speaking trumpets every hour; that ought to be printed in big type on the front page of every newspaper; that ought to be printed on every sign-board at the cross roads; that ought to be taught in every school, and this is one of them. There is no such thing as a free lunch.

Mr. Thomas Foster, of 15, Chatham Place, Adelaide Street, Hull, in an account of a recent illness says, among other things, this: "I then tried stomach tonics, but they did me no good."

Suppose we have his whole story, which is short, and make our comments on it afterwards. He says: "Up to the month of June, 1891, I was strong and healthy. At that time I fell ill with indigestion. I felt languid and heavy, and was always tired. I had a foul taste in my mouth and a dreadful pain in my chest and sides after eating, whilst my stomach was empty."

Mr. Foster's complaint is easily recognizable. He suffered from indigestion and dyspepsia. The medicine administered by his physician or purchased by himself proved useless because they were not addressed to the disease with which he was actually afflicted, but to some other or more of its symptoms. To abolish any existing evil it is a waste of time to nurse it—never nurse a cureless ailment.

The "stomach tonic" which Mr. Foster hoped might relieve him may have done so for a moment on precisely the same principle that a man who is suffering from indigestion and dyspepsia, by using a medicine which does not address itself to the disease with which he is actually afflicted, but to some other or more of its symptoms, may expect to obtain a momentary relief.

It having been rumored that the railway authorities contemplate the immediate dismissal of 750 men, and that a list of the names of those who are to go has been prepared, the Minister and the Commissioners deny that any such proceeding has been proposed, or that any special list of retirements is in existence.

THROAT AFFECTIONS AND HOARSENESS.—All suffering from irritation of the throat and hoarseness will be speedily relieved by the use of "Drown's Bronchial Tonic." These famous lozenges are now sold by most respectable chemists in the country at 1s 4d per box.

THE WONDROFUL WATERBURY.

The Watch for the People—A Marvel of Cheapness, Strength, Accuracy, and Elegance secured at Small Cost. The "Timekeeper of the Day" defies Competition.

The sale of the celebrated Waterbury Watches in Australia has been so great that the manufacturer and they have made such a palpable hit among all classes of the community, that the Waterbury Watch Company has decided to extend its already successful business throughout these colonies.

Guaranteed to keep Correct Time, and that could be perfectly repaired at a merely nominal charge. The Waterbury Company's financial standing and its great reputation for absolute and its great workmanship are so undoubted that it declines to dispense any of its valued clients.

Beats every other watch in the world. The Waterbury is not an English watch made in a factory, and sent to Australia to be sold at a profit. It is made in Australia, and its sale is guaranteed.

Wonderful Automatic Machines, which make parts so fine that they can be taken at random and fitted together to form a perfect watch—no need for the handling of the intricate parts of the mechanism.

Pioneers of Civilization. It is, in fact, the most successful watch company, and it has attained this position by providing an article of the highest quality and the most reliable.

Accurate time-keeping qualities and perfect finish. Indeed, its name and fame are in every corner of the civilized world. And wherever its popularity is greater than in any other part of the world.

As near Perfection as possible. It can at the present time produce at a low cost a watch of the highest quality, accuracy, and reliability.

Guarantee its Watches. To fulfill all these requirements, therefore, it is the duty of the Australian public to insist on having the genuine Waterbury Watch, and to refuse all substitutes and imitations.

In raising sheep for export, says the New Zealand Weekly Press, there is one point—and an important one too—which growers should keep steadily in view. This is the evident distinction of exporters to send away sheep weighing say 60lb. to 70lb. Of late, sheep of these weights have been passed over by exporters when at the head of a line, and later pens weighing 55lb. or 65lb. eagerly competed for.

THE BLOOD IS THE LIFE.—If the blood is pure, the body is healthy. The blood is the source from which our systems are built up, and from which we derive our mental as well as our physical capabilities.

A meeting of the directors of the Beaufort Butter and Cheese Factory and Creamery Co., Limited, was held on Tuesday evening.

BEAUFORT BUTTER AND CHEESE FACTORY AND CREAMERY CO., LIMITED.

A special meeting of the directors of the Beaufort Butter and Cheese Factory and Creamery Co. Ltd., for the purpose of appointing an export agent, was held on Wednesday afternoon.

Mr. J. R. Workhouse, J.P., the last named being acted in by Mr. Leader before the Court appeared.

An application for a carrier's license was granted to Henry Anderson, of Travalla.

An old man named William Austin was charged on remand by Constable Stevenson with assaulting a youth named James May at Waterloo on 19th ult. with intent to do him bodily harm.

Superintendent Parkinson conducted the prosecution, and asked that the circumstances justified the charge be altered to common assault.

James May deposed that he was a miner, residing at Waterloo. His claim against Austin's, about 60ft, separating the shafts, he saw Austin's wife deliberately cut the rope on his brace on 19th July.

Called him and said that his wife being present. Austin had witness a girl and witness blamed him for the rope being cut. Witness told Mrs. Austin once in the face with his open hand.

He stood back as it was making for his chest, and putting out his hand to guard it off got his hand badly cut. Felt no effects from the blow at the time, but did afterwards.

Austin stood with the axe in his hand and asked witness if he wanted another. He made no reply. Sang out to his name, Wm. Dunn, who was about 100 yds. away and could not see for the scrub, and he came and tied a rope on his hand.

He did not speak a word after the accident. Then came into Beaufort to see a doctor. Austin just said he was going home.

He had been in the hospital for 3 weeks and 3 days, and was discharged last Monday. The hand was not healed up. It is very sore, and he had no feeling in the little finger, but could move it a little.

Cross-examined.—The horse on the claim walked 15ft. on to the edge of Austin's ground. Austin objected to that. There were holes all around, and the horse would not be taken any other way without filling them up.

He said Austin was too old to have a claim; also said the way was not a claim. He called Austin a — out. Don't think he called Austin a — out.

Do not remember saying that he would settle with him. A young man named Haley was passing, but did not see anything. Witness took his coat off before he was struck, and told Austin if he had anything against him to take it out, but did not shape up to him, nor did he say he would sue Austin out.

He did not strike Austin's wife several times, but only once with his open hand, and not with his clenched fist.

James Haley, a boy of about 13 years of age, swore that he saw Austin strike May with the axe. He was standing beside May's coat. He heard bad words used first.

He saw the blood on May's hand, and went to the police station with him. May struck Mrs. Austin in the face with his open hand.

Dr. Adam was called, but did not appear. Witness did not attend an urgent case in the country.

Samuel Stevenson deposed that he was a constable of police stationed at Waterloo. About half-past 3 p.m. on 19th July, May came to the police station.

His left hand was bleeding freely, and he was quite weak from loss of blood. He said that Austin had assaulted him with an axe.

Witness got May into the cab and took him to Beaufort. May fainted on the road and it took two to carry him into Dr. Adam's surgery.

He saw the wound very deep—the Doctor said it was right to the bone—and it was cut with the sharp edge of the axe, being a clean cut. The Doctor dressed the wound, and directed that May be sent to the Ballant Hospital.

William Austin deposed that he was a bricklayer, plasterer, miner, or anything by which he could get money honestly.

There was no dispute about the ground, but about the horse going on his claim. It was in such a position that he objected to it, as he expected he would have to put up a whip and want the roadway himself.

He went to the police about it. May had landed the whip on his ground. He saw his wife assaulted by May, who kicked up a number of stones and threw them at his two fists, nearly as big as his two fists, struck her on the elbow and raised a terrible swelling.

That was immediately after she cut the rope. May had a double-ended pick and held it over her head. His wife and May's sister, and they were quarrelling.

He told his wife to go away. The pick was wrested from May's hand by his brother Stephen. She went about 40 yards away and a young man named John Haley was talking to her.

She called him to go down, and showed him her arm, which she thought was broken. He saw that it was not broken but very much bruised.

She had the axe in her hand, having brought it to cut firewood, and he took it from her to carry it home.

James May then came down as furious as possible, and assaulted his wife, giving her several blows in the face. He could not get at her very well, as witness was between them.

He challenged him to fight and took his coat off, but witness refused. May said if he didn't he would stretch him out on the surface.

Witness said he would be breaking the law by fighting. At last he got so irritated that he lifted the axe in his hand, and May got cut. May shaped at him, and what he did was in self-defence.

Dunn was not there.

Cross-examined—May did not strike him. He knew about the rope being cut, but did not authorize his wife to cut it.

It was not partially out, and could be seen. It has been since spliced and is being used. He could not have saved Dunn down the shaft by giving him warning, as he was getting up stuff from his shaft.

He admitted all the danger of the rope being cut. May shaped at him before he lifted the axe. He did not know when Dunn came up the shaft, James May had threatened to stick the pick into his wife when he held it over her head.

The boy could not see all that took place.

James May (re-called) said that at the time the rope was cut his mate was in a drive down the shaft. The rope was on the brace. The bucket was landed before the rope was cut, and nothing went down the shaft.

John Haley was called, but his evidence was of no importance. He only saw May shaping at Austin.

Mr. Leader said it might have been a very serious case for Austin, had not the court allowed Superintendent Parkinson to reduce the charge to common assault, as he would have been committed for trial and no doubt been dealt with very differently. In view of the provocation

BEAUFORT REVISION COURT.

MONDAY, 13TH AUGUST, 1894.

REMOVING TIMBER FROM CROWN LANDS.

The following letter, signed with reference to the above has been received by Mr. W. K. Shaw, secretary A.M.A. Waterloo.

1894.—Referring to your letter of the 19th ult., in which you ask whether miners can enter ground selected under the 65th section and felled in, and cut and cart away timber growing thereon when wanted for their own building purposes, I have the honor to forward you with for your information a copy of the Crown Lands Act, 1894.

I, J. THOMAS, Secretary for Mines, in my opinion, holds that the provisions of the 65th section in respect of the exchange of "excepted" land, selected under the 65th section, for the purpose of building timber, is not in violation of the 65th section, and by that section their rights as regards taking timber, are not in any way affected, and that the provisions of the 65th section, in respect of the exchange of "excepted" land, selected under the 65th section, for the purpose of building timber, is not in violation of the 65th section.

BEAUFORT

SALE OF GIFTS AND EXHIBITION.

A Sale of Gifts and Exhibition, in connection with the Primitive Methodist Church, was opened in the Societies' Hall on Thursday afternoon and continued last evening in aid of the stipend fund.

The Rev. R. Jackson, in calling upon Dr. Adam to perform the opening ceremony, said that it would be agreeable to him that it was extremely kind of the Doctor to do so. He must say that in his experience he had never found a medical man so willing to assist him in his church as Dr. Adam, and they seldom found a gentleman in his position taking such an interest in church and Christian work.

Dr. Adam remarked that the ladies formed the bulk of the people there at the present time, but he hoped there would be a large gathering of the other sex that evening, and that the ladies would use their irresistible arts to fleece them. He had much pleasure in coming to perform this duty, but thought Mr. Jackson had conveyed their thanks more warmly than he deserved.

After some discussion it was resolved to cancel H. Wilcox's contract at the expiration of a month's notice from date, on the grounds that he has not carried out the work of rabbit extermination in a satisfactory manner.

From the Ballarat Benevolent Asylum, soliciting a donation from the funds of the com. com.—Received.

From the Beaufort Benevolent Society, forwarding copy of balance-sheet for year ended 30th June last.—Received.

The following accounts were passed for payment:—Herdman, £3 9s; Secretary, £2; premium, £1; H. Wilcox, £7 10s; A. Parker, £1 10s 6d; A. Cunningham, £1 1s 6d.

Mr. Jackson declared the Sale of Gifts open. He said that Dr. Adam was not the only Presbyterian in the district who had shown them sympathy in their difficulty.

Mr. Lewis, of Stoneleigh, had very kindly sent a cheque for £2 2s, and Captain Bridges one for £2 3s, the Doctor also sending them a cheque.

Mr. Lewis was a Presbyterian and Captain Bridges belonged to the Church of England, so that they had sympathized from gentlemen all round, and those outside their own denomination had helped them considerably.

The articles were neatly arranged on five stalls, and made a very good display. They consisted of plain and fancy needlework, toys, flowers, cakes, &c., fruit and lollies, and were presided over as follows:—Fancy stall, Miss A. Day; apron stall, Misses Duggan, Pimblett, Frasier, J. Day, and Miss Pimblett; refreshment stall, Messdames Provis and Gassoigne; flower stall, Miss R. Strickland; fruit and lolly stall, Miss P. Very few exhibits were received in bread, jams, &c. For bread, Mrs. Jope first prize and Mrs. Elliott second prize. With the donations, about £50 was realised the first night.

During the past two weeks a billiard tournament at the Railway Hotel has caused some excitement. Some very close games have been played. The prizes are—1st, an electro-plated lamp, valued at £2 2s (the gift of Mr. Wm. Loft) and 25s; 2nd, 15s; 3rd, 7s 6d; and 4th, 2s 6d. There were 20 competitors, and the result was as follows:—"Doodlumbuck," 40 points, 1; "The Jay," 35 points, 2; T. Wilson, 60 points, 3; "Platin" and "Kikano" have to play off for 4th prize.

A second tournament has been arranged, the principal prize being a gold Waltham watch, valued at £14 14s.

BIGAUFORT UNITED COMMON.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed.

The secretary reported that the accounts for the year ended 31st July, 1894, have been audited and published in the Riponshire Advocate; that the statement of receipts and expenditure shows that the assessment for the last half of that year was £17 14s below the assessment for the first half, shown as follows:—Assessment for first half, £114; for last half, £96 6s; the arrears being £2 5s and £17 2s respectively. The herdsmen (Mr. Cameron) reported that 2000 sheep passed through the common since last meeting; that branding and registration for the current half-year will be commenced next week; that H. Wilcox is employing only two boys to destroy rabbits on the common, one of the boys being very young; have requested him to put on a man in his place.

After some discussion it was resolved to cancel H. Wilcox's contract at the expiration of a month's notice from date, on the grounds that he has not carried out the work of rabbit extermination in a satisfactory manner.

THE REGENERATION OF SOCIETY.

By LADY COOK (nee TENNESSEE C. CLAVLIN).

"For there was a time when men, like the brutes, roamed abroad over the earth, and like wild beasts upon other animals. Then reason bade us sway, but all was ruled by superior strength. Then ties of religion and the obligations of morality were then unfulfilled. Lawful marriage was unknown, and no father was certain of his offspring."—Cicero.

Since that far-off time of which the eloquent philosopher wrote two thousand years ago how much has been accomplished, and yet how much still remains to be done! The ages, with all their various changes and improvements, have not brought us to perfection. Races have supplanted races, creeds have ousted creeds, empires overthrown empires; but amid the swirling scenes of the drama of humanity we are unable to discern justice. We can abundantly perceive passion, lust, cruelty, selfishness, pain, treachery, and here and there a gleam of noble devotion to truth and duty, and occasional examples of greatness, of goodness, and of genius; but far more of patient and heroic suffering.

Some upon whom have brought to countless generations an equal share of misery, so that did we not look higher and farther, the poet's gloomy creed, that "man was made to mourn," would seem absolutely true. For modern lions are as ferocious, and modern lambs as passive, as their ancient congeners, and to-day we appear as far removed from the promised millennium as ever. Millions have been scourged, and continue to be scourged, for the vices of others as well as for their own. The sins of the fathers are visited upon the children much farther than to the third or fourth generations, for it is force in morals as in physics that all force is imperishable; therefore, the consequences of a human action never cease.

It is thus of paramount importance that the conduct of each unit of society should be well and wisely directed, and this can only be done by the strictest conformity to natural laws. We cannot violate Nature with impunity. As Horace said, though you expel her through the door with a pitchfork she will come back again through the window. The civilization of the last nineteen centuries has been largely founded upon the assumption that a poetic Eastern allegory was to be accepted as an historical truth, and therefore as a basis for human laws and human conduct. The legend of Paradise teaches that through the first woman man had fallen from a state of moral and physical perfection to a state of sin and weakness. On this theory the whole fabric of Jewish and Christian dogma is based. From it the most iniquitous laws and customs have been deduced ever since the time when the misogynistic dream of a poet was regarded as the voice of God. As a poet it is beautiful; but proposed it to any scientific naturalist as a fact, and he would laugh you to scorn. For if profound experts, without a dissentient opinion, have established one truth more firmly than another, it is that our origin is of the lowliest, not downward; that in our self-culture and the culture of others we have to contend with superior propensities, bestial propensities, stubborn and ingrained depravities of thought and feeling, with the occasional recurrence of forgotten instincts, and too frequently with "abandoned development"—that is to say, with cases which cannot yield to improvement by any treatment whatever.

It does not clearly see his way it must be admitted that the political position is critical. I have consistently ear-knobbed politicians of every creed and color through day and night, and yet cannot conscientiously affirm that I have attained the truth. There was a Ministerial caucus held on the adjournment of the House on Thursday. One set of class men say that provided the present motion is defeated the Government will consent to jetison Messrs Webb, McColl and Winter Cooke, and find associates more suitable. Another avers that the Ministry will hand together, and, if defeated, will challenge the verdict of the country. In the present inchoate state of politics I still incline to the belief that the Ministry will pull through, though it is still right to let you that this opinion is disputed by almost every politician I have seen. Their grand chorus is "the Government is out!" Still I do not think so.

There are rumors of reconstruction in the air, and there is that terrible fear of the whip of dissolution. So far as I am an ascertainment—and I have been at much pains to find this out—the Government are not partaking in their desire to meet their followers; any way this was the result of to-day's caucus. The query put at the Opposition caucus by one of the corner-men, as to whether the acceptance of Mr. Geo. Turner as leader would bind them to vote for his motion was very suggestive. The corners are evidently not satisfied, despite the fact that Mr. Turner is to be the successor of the Premier.

But what difficulties appear to be oblivious of is this: that the Patterson Government, if defeated by a small majority, or if victorious by the like, will certainly appeal to the country, and that they will not make that appeal on their discredited Budget. All they have to say to the electors is that the Assembly has asserted that it has no confidence in us—have you? They can take the vote on the personal issue. They need not even submit a programme or a policy.

With the question that the House must be exhausted ere a dissolution can be granted, it is unnecessary for me here to deal. The proceedings are conclusive. A defeat of the Patterson Government, which I do not think will happen, must inevitably occasion the dissolution of Parliament. Those who argue that the contrary simply shut their eyes to the signals of the proceedings. The Patterson Government, I feel assured, will stand or fall by its acts. There will be no question of re-construction to afford opportunity for place-seekers. If it falls, which I do not think it will, it will at least go down honorably.

Now, this view of our origin gives us the complete clue to all that is mysterious and contradictory of our nature. We see Reason, more or less imperfect, struggling with animalty. We recognise the meaning of that dualism of the individual which could puzzle even a Socrates and a Plato. And the knowledge it gives us is never at fault and never out of place.

Just as the fetus has passed through various stages of pre-human life which were once the normal stages of our own progenitors, so the new-born child begins his life, even down from Cicero's nomadic and conscienceless savage. It is true its moral and mental growth occurs by bounds and leaps—historic ages are perhaps compressed into days; but all this admits of easy explanation. The parent or teacher, thus armed, will select the surest and wisest methods of education; the physiologist will account for monstrous and abnormal offspring; the legislator will understand why laws are made, and why some are mysterious and some plain. Instead of groping in the dark, we walk firmly in the light, with heads erect, and the certain remedy in our own right hands.

Fortified by these reflections, we comprehend why woman has ever been subordinate to man, and why she has been, and still is, the victim of cruel laws and customs from which he is free. No doubt St. C. Jumba thought of the legislator as a cow to be kept by the man; for, said he, "Where there is a cow there must be a woman, and where there is a woman there must be mischief." For this same reason celibacy became a virtue, marriage a sinful yielding to animal desire, tolerated, but not approved. Women were not only to be avoided by the pure-minded, but they were not even to be born. This is the true, the destined, the inevitable spark of honour and duty, which heredity and long-persistency in habits, without anything of the man but the life, these creatures are created for. What is the end of this? Public policy and regard for their victims demand their extinction. But so long as abandoned races may pollute virgins, and every honorable semblance of a man may marry at discretion, vie and marry, and be perpetuated, boldness is often the highest wisdom, and severity the truest kindness. And we are bold to say that the regeneration of the world requires the extinction of the physician rather than those of the fiddist.

While we honour religion, and believe it to be a powerful factor in elevating our race, we do not believe, as we hope our readers will also do, between it and priestcraft. Dogmatism has been the bane of civilization, and a curse to mankind. It has degraded our sex, stifled our intellect, and made us slaves to a petty reformer and every noble cause. We are indebted to it for the fatal error that men are a sort of fallen angels, and therefore to be treated tenderly. By putting and praying they may become new men and lead a new life, and meanwhile the streams of vice flow steadily on, and the world is made a more miserable place than it has ever been before. Let men be elaborated from brute life, that their present condition is superior to any they have hitherto known, that among them are those who are destined to do great things, and that they are to be treated as such. This is the true, the destined, the inevitable spark of honour and duty, which heredity and long-persistency in habits, without anything of the man but the life, these creatures are created for. FOUNTAINS IN PLAY.

Who doesn't enjoy looking at a fountain in play? The bright water leaps into the air...

Under date of March 16th, 1892, a lady writes that for twenty years she has always felt low-spirited...

Before we answer let us read the rest of the letter. The writer says: "For twenty years I have suffered from liver complaint and indigestion..."

"My appetite was poor, and I had a bad taste in the mouth, and aching pain in the chest after eating. I was also frequently sick, throwing up a sour, frothy fluid..."

"In March, 1881, I became so bad that I called a doctor, who gave me opium and for twelve months he gave me medicines but I got no better..."

"I was mentioned that my mother, who lives at West Wycombe, Bucks, was afflicted with indigestion and dyspepsia..."

"This much, however, experience constantly assures us of: that it is very valuable, and that the condition of the mental faculties depends upon that of the body..."

"The fountain play only when the water is forced powerfully through its pipes by gravity or machinery. So the spirits are free and elastic only when the organs within us act without hindrance or obstruction..."

ONE WORD!

I come to you with a small affair that you may need. In England, the Continent and many foreign countries, myself and wares are well known...

Confidence between man and man is slow of growth, and when found, its rarity makes it valuable. I ask your confidence and make a reference to this Journal to indorse that confidence. I do not think it will be misplaced.

I make the best form of a cure—an absolute one—for biliousness and headache that can be found in this year. The cure is so small in itself, and yet its comfort to you is so great—20 minutes being the limit when relief comes—thereby becoming the marvel of its time. One and a-half grains of medicine, coated with sugar, is my remedy, in the shape of one small pill, known to commerce as DR. HAYDOCK'S NEW LIVER PILL. It is old in the markets of Europe, but is new to North America. The price is as low as an honest medicine can be sold at, 25 cents. Send a postal card for a sample vial, to try them, before you purchase.

DR. HAYDOCK, 63 FULTON ST., N. Y.

In the course of an address at Pyramid Hill on Tuesday evening, Bishop Joe said he did not think it was the highest and noblest aim of the church to alleviate the condition of the masses. The church was a divinely appointed fold for training up its flocks for a better home hereafter; and he did not wish to see any alteration to suit the utilitarian ideas of the present day.

ARARAT MINING BOARD.

A special meeting of the Ararat Mining Board was held on Monday at the Board Room, Ararat, there being present—Mr T. Foyster, president, in the chair, and Messrs Williamson, Jones, Bath, Magee, Browne, Humphreys, Hodgetts, Curnick and Burke.

The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed. From the Maryborough Mining Board, forwarding copy of resolution passed in reference to the survey of land for the establishment of village settlements in portions of the Bollaroo Forest. It was decided that the board co-operate and solicit the influence of the member for the district to have the survey of the land annulled.

From the Secretary for Mines, forwarding proof sheets of extracts from by-laws for revision by the clerk of the board, with the object of issuing a "Miners' Handbook."—Attended to. The chairman mentioned that the printed report of the proceedings in connection with the conference of mining men held in Melbourne on the 10th, 11th and 12th instants, contained a summary of the business transacted. On the motion of the chairman, seconded by Mr Bath, the report was adopted.

On the motion of Mr W. Bath, seconded by Mr Thomas Foyster, it was resolved—"That the best thanks of the board be conveyed to Messrs W. Osmond and W. McEellan, for their kindness and courtesy to the delegates appointed by the board, and for their assistance on the occasion of the mining conference held at the White Hart Hotel on the 17th instants."—Carried.

Mr W. Bath moved, and Mr W. H. Jones seconded—"That the clerk, when giving the number of meetings of this board to the Minister of Mines, also give the number of sub-committee meetings at the same time." Carried.

Mr Thomas Foyster moved, and Mr S. Williamson seconded—"That the attention of the Hon. the Minister of Mines be drawn to the completion of Mr Bradford's report on the auriferous resources of the Ararat division, and respectfully urge that instructions may now be given to have the other divisions of the district reported on." Carried.

Moved by Mr Jones, seconded by Mr Bath—"That Mr Magee be accorded permission to withdraw his notice of motion having reference to non-leasing of ground above water level." Carried. By-law No. 3, which was amended in the direction of extending the area of prospecting claims to 720 feet, passed its second reading.—Abridged from Advertiser.

FOR LASSITUDE, TORPIDITY, SOUR STOMACH, INDIGESTION, HEADACHE, BACKACHE, &c. Take a couple of Fletcher's Pills every second night; they are a prompt and sure cure and give certain relief.

FLETCHER'S PILLS are a quick, sure and reliable remedy for all complaints arising from torpid liver, indigestion, sour stomach, and impurities of the blood. They are prepared on rational and sensible lines and do not contain a particle of calomel, gamboge, or any drastic purgative, but operate by perfectly natural means, by stimulating the liver and increasing the flow of bile and thus producing easy evacuations and natural catharsis without the annoyance and pain of griping and purging.

Beware of the many harmful substitutes on sale in many shops. None are genuine unless they bear the signature of F. Moore Clements on the outside wrapper. CLEMENTS' TONIC and FLETCHER'S PILLS have become such household words that imitations are frequently offered. We intend that this imitation is the sincerest proof of their virtues, so that you always get the genuine, bearing the name and address of F. M. Clements, Newtown, Sydney.

Bayley's Reward mine has turned out 2234,000 worth of gold in its first 13 months of life. The answer is, that it is unquestionably the finest blood purifier that science and medical skill have brought to light. Thousands of wonderful cures have been effected by it. For Scrofula, Scurvy, Eczema, Skin and Blood Diseases, Bad Legs, Pimples, and Sores of all kinds, its effects are marvellous. Sold everywhere, at 2s 9d per bottle. Beware of worthless imitations and substitutes.

The case of William Strathmore Judd, who is charged with embezzling certain sums of money from the Country Fire Brigades Board, in whose employ he was as secretary, was dealt with by the Criminal Court, Melbourne, on Tuesday. The prisoner pleaded guilty. Mr Duffy addressed his Honor on behalf of the accused in mitigation of punishment. He said that the case was an extremely painful one, and the accused was willing to go to gaol to hide himself and evade his crime. Several witnesses gave evidence of character. His Honor, in passing sentence, said the prisoner added one more to that extremely long line of regrettable cases which asserted themselves in this city with alarming persistence. People did not get into positions of trust and power unless they established confidence in other people, and it appeared that there was no security whatever to the community nowadays from what ought to be an intuitive sense of honor in many so-called men of position and trust, who, after a lifetime of seeming honesty and integrity, suddenly abandoned those good qualities and placed themselves among the criminal classes. It was, therefore, impossible to deal leniently with them. The statement that the prisoner had suffered from sunstroke in South Africa would cause him (his Honor) to forego the infliction of solitary confinement. The sentence of the Court was two years and three months' imprisonment.

CORRESPONDENCE.

We do not in any way identify ourselves with the opinions expressed by our correspondents. It is desired that letters to the editor shall be accompanied by the real name and address of the writer, not for absolute publication, but as a bona fide guarantee.

TO THE EDITOR. Sir,—Kindly allow me through your columns to inquire how it was that I (as a member of the B.F.C.) was not notified that tenders were called for the spread in connection with the match between Beaufort and Stawell clubs. Now I would very much like to know what ill-feeling the "genial" secretary of the B.F.C. has to me, and whether it arises from bigotry or ignorance, as the captain of the team told me he instructed the secretary to notify me. Trusting the secretary will give a satisfactory answer to this, or if not, that the B.F.C. will select a member of broader principles in future years.—I am, yours respectfully,

MATTHEW KELLY. Beaufort, Aug. 23rd, 1894.

MINING ITEMS.

There is nothing fresh to report in local mining during the past week. As far as we can learn only one of the pitting parties reached 102, whilst the other yields varied between 10dwt. and 18dwt. At the rush at Waterloo a few parties are still getting payable gold, whilst others are searching for the lead. At Poverty Point Smith's party have not yet succeeded in locating any payable wash.

The following are the yields of gold in the Beaufort district for the week ending Saturday, 18th inst.—Lucky Company, 13 oz 3 dwt; Smith and party, 6 oz 8 dwt; Lewis and party, 1 oz 6 dwt; Stevens and party, 15 oz 12 dwt; Eccleston, 6 oz 7 dwt 10 gr; Fry Again, 6 oz 2 dwt; Blackwood and party, 2 oz 1 dwt; Rutherford, 1 oz 12 dwt; Albion, 6 oz 10 dwt; total yield, 82 oz.

MIDDLE CREEK NOTES.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.) Crops throughout the whole of the district are looking very healthy, being very far advanced for this season of the year; but grass is very scarce, and stock, in most instances, with the exception of those which are being hand fed, are in low condition. Farmers are now busy following their land for next season's crop, and if we are to judge by the quantity that is being turned over, they are not likely to be discouraged by the low prices now ruling for all kinds of agricultural produce.

On Friday last the members of the Middle Creek Debating Society paid a visit to Ballyrgan, being invited by that society to their social. The night was a lovely moonlight one; indeed a more pleasant night could not well have been chosen. About 65 couples were present, among them being the members of Ross Bridge and Tatoo Debating societies. The social was held in a large barn, kindly put at the disposal of the society by Mr C. Stewart. A lengthy programme of dances, the intervals being taken up with songs, recitations and dialogues, was got up for the occasion. Music was supplied in an able manner by the Gordon family. During the night, Mr Bryant, on behalf of Ross Bridge, and Mr W. Fay, on behalf of Middle Creek, thanked the members of Ballyrgan for their kind reception, which was responded to by Mr C. Stewart, on behalf of Ballyrgan. A very enjoyable night was brought to a close by the singing of "Auld Lang Syne."

THE ATTEMPTS now being made to force colonial beef and mutton on the continent (writes the Argus London correspondent on July 20) are naturally rousing the lauded interests to great exertions to prevent them permanently obtaining a foothold. It is amusing to read the appeals to patriotism that pervade the protectionist newspapers in Austria. Indeed, it appears from them that the only true and genuine high-souled patriot is he who will buy home-fed beef and mutton, and refuse to touch colonial. No doubt this policy is patriotic from the point of view of the producer; but why is it patriotic for the poor to pay twice as much for meat as they need do if difficult to explain on any grounds but selfishness of the moneyed classes. All over the Continent it is the same—Belgium, Austria, Germany, or France. The moment any attempt is made to introduce cheap meat from the colonies the "tom tom" of what is called patriotism is heard throughout the land. Still there are many beginning to doubt this patriotism, and freetrade doctrines are being instilled through the stomach. Whenever the introduction of cheap colonial beef and mutton takes place and the public taste it they take to it, and it will require a good deal of the lusted interest to stop it. The burgomaster of Vienna is very enthusiastic over the introduction of cheap meat, and there is little doubt that it will ultimately come to pass that the Continent will take more and more until a fair trade is done. Look at Paris prices of meat and see how it is impossible for things to go on long as they are. The wholesale price of beef and mutton this week there is 9d per lb. The difference between this and colonial is enormous, but it is the duty that is the difficulty. With the octroi of Paris it comes to 2d per lb, or nearly as much as the cost of the meat. This is for mutton; the taxes on beef are not quite so heavy, being 37f. per 100 kilos against 44f. for mutton.

Wool is selling at an advance of from 3 to 5 per cent, on prices obtainable at last London wool sales. Advice to MOTHERS.—Are you broken in your rest by a sick child suffering with the pain of cutting teeth? Go at once to a chemist and get a bottle of Mrs. WISLAW'S SOOTHING SYRUP. It will relieve the poor sufferer immediately. It is perfectly harmless and pleasant to taste, it produces natural, quiet sleep by relieving the child from pain, and the little cherub awakes "as bright as a button." It soothes the child, it softens the gums, allays all pain, relieves wind, regulates the bowels, and is the best known remedy for dysentery and diarrhoea, whether arising from teething or other causes. Mrs. Wislaw's Soothing Syrup is sold by Medicine Dealers everywhere at 1s 1d per bottle.

The nomination of the Hon. W. H. F. Osmund, the retiring member for the Nelson Province, was duly lodged with the returning officer yesterday at Stawell. Mr Osmund was congratulated by a large number of the electors during the day on his consenting to seek re-election as a member of the Legislative Council for the Nelson Province. He will probably be unopposed.

THE POLITICAL SITUATION.

MATTERS STILL UNSETTLED.

The political situation is unchanged, both sides being in this position that there is no certainty about the result of the division to be taken on Tuesday night. It is near the mark, however, to say that there are 43 contingents on each side and seven men wavering. Everything depends on how some of these gentlemen will go at the last moment. The discussion of terms as between the Opposition and the Ministerial Corner included the question of dealing with the tariff, and it was stipulated by the Opposition, in the event of a new Government being formed, that there should be no alteration of the tariff for two years. This condition did not find the support expected in the Ministerial Corner, though there are some members sitting there who would be glad to accept even this stipulation in order to get a solid vote against the Patterson Ministry. On the other hand, there are a number of Ministerial supporters who by no means relish the idea of joining the Opposition under the present circumstances, and they have been considering how they might be saved the necessity of voting with the Left and at the same time avoid expressing confidence in the Ministry. To enable them to achieve this object it has been suggested that some prominent member should move "the previous question." If this motion were carried Mr G. Turner's motion would be shelved. This suggestion, however, has not got beyond the initial stage, and it is doubtful if anything will come of it unless with the support of the Ministry, which is not likely to be given. Another means would be to move a motion for the presentation of an address to the Governor praying that he should dissolve Parliament, and the draft of such a motion has actually been written out and may yet be submitted.—Argus, Friday.

The Sale of Gifts in aid of the Stipend fund of the P.M. Church of Beaufort, concluded on Saturday, and proved a thorough success. We are indebted to acknowledge with thanks the receipt of a donation of £1 from the Hon. W. H. Osmund, M.L.C.
