TO THE EDITOR. Sir,-In your last issue you pub-ished a paragragh in which Crs Cushing and Austin take exception to the report of a public meeting held at Stockyard Hill on P3th ult. as reported to you by me, and also a letter from Cr Cushing re the same, in which he says the report was biassed and to a certain extent untruthful, As I am prepared to stand by that report, I hope you will allow me every opportunity to justify

it. Mr Cushing in his letter denies of my belief, the report is substantially neither does the report. The report correct, and feel certain your correspondent will have no difficulty whatever reads, endeavoured to show that they were frequently misreported, which I in substantiating any statement made will now prove, and in doing so, will therein. In regard to Cr Cushing show that Mr Cushing in his letter contradict a rumour that be did not meeting contradicted the rumour that his term expires, I ask that gentleman he intended to resign, he, from the tone of his remarks, seemed hurt that anyone that rumour, by stating, in the course? should have thought any such thing. of his remarks at a meeting of the His letter also conveys such an imprescouncil held nearly three years ago, that sion. Now, Mr Editor, as the so-called rumor originated from your report of expires (which is August ensuing), he a gathering of gentlemen in the council thought it would then be time for a chamber, subsequent to the election of President on 3rd Sept., 1894, his denial would lead any one to suppose that payers to suppose that he intended that report was incorrect, or that hel retiring? He also tries to prove that had been misreported. This report the farmers have had roads constructed appeared in The Riponshire Advocate of for them with the squatters' money Sept. 8th, 1894. Cr Cushing, returning alone. I would ask Cr Cushing where. hanks for the newly-elected councillors. hese "farmers" toads are ? Certainly . . "And if he lived till the there is a made road between Beaufor present term expired it would make 27 and Skipton, constructed for the benefit years, he thought it would be time to of the travelling public, which by the etire to some corner and allow a way is at times almost impassable with ounger man in his stead." Mr Cash- 4 Lad. Does not Cr Cashing know ng in his letter further justifies me hat any roads made in the shire are when he says he had to interrupt Mr made with the farmers' money as well D. The hon. sccs., Messrs H. Jarvis and J. Shannon, were indefatigable in their exertions, and the club is extremely fortunate in the possession of two such sterling workers, who have amply demonstrated their ability to successfully carry out all the duties of their office.

The principal event of the day, the Skipton Handicap, was won by F. Whelan after a very keenly contested race, the three first men coming in so closely together that the judges found it a rather difficult matter to place them. The bicycle race also proved very interesting, and what promised to be another close finish was marred by an unfortunate accident. The last lap of the final heat pas being run, the three leading competitors riding almost in a bunch, and the encouraging cry of "Go it, Harry," raised by the numerous supporters of a local rider, was heard from all parts of the track, when suddenly a collision occurred between Murphy and Jarvis, the latter rider being thrown fairly under the wheel of Murrell's machine, which ran over him and bucked its rider several feet into the air. He described a magnificent parabola and finished up by landing with tremendons force on his chest. Fortunately, beyond a shaking up, he was not hurt, though the fork of his machine was badly twisted. Nearly all the spokes were ripped out of Murphy's wheel, and Jarvis, quickly picking up his machine, which was very little injured, finished second. The Live Wheel-barrow race and old Buffer's race caused 2 good deal of amuse-

ESPECIALLY THIS ONE. Mr E. Schott, 157 Franklin Street, West Melbourne, Victoria, writes on Jan. 19th, 1896 :-- I was almost at death's door a few months ago through an attack of strongth and appetite were gone, and it was impossible for me to resume work. My lungs were in a bad state, and at night I could scarcely breathe. I had followed medical prescriptions, which only emptied my pockets, and as a last resource was about to undergo an operation, when I came upon one of your Clements Tonic pamphlets. I took three bottles of this valuable remedy, and then found myself as sound as a bell; now I am in the best of health. I write to offer my testimony, which I trust you will use for the benefit of fellow-sufferers of my description .--Yours very truly, E. Schott, 157 Franklin street, West Melbourne, Victoria.

Very few are too poor now-a-days to take their country paper, and it is false newspaper is your job printing; if you worth of printing orders from you, he is economy to try and get along without not in a position to give you a pound's it. Hardly a week passes that somesurely you can afford to give the worth of advertising for nothing. And thing or other does not appear in its you have had value for the printing columns that will be of financial benefit heads, letter-heads, envelopes, and all already. Go into a grocer's or draper's to the subscriber, and by the end of the business printing to execute. The for L3 worth of goods, and the grocery year he had made or saved or won newspaper man needs it, and it helps man or draper will not throw in gratis twenty times the subscription paid for him to pay his printers for setting up 1.1 worth of something else that you it. The city papers don't take the place the thousand and one free notices he may ask for. Try him, if you don't of the country ones, though some people appear to think they do. The city papers are all light in their way, but they do not give you that in which you are most interested-your country news. You cannot learn from them, when and where your country meetings are to be held, who are dying or who are marrying, who are moving in or who are moving out, court proceedings, who wants to buy or sell farm or land produce, in fact hundreds of things of which it might be of particular importbeen through all the colonies, and he ance for you to know. If you can has never seen such distress as in afford to take only one paper, by all means take the one that is published in the country or district where you live. It will cost you less, and thereby you will be assisting yourself and keeping the money in the district.

Greece played a daring hand in attempting to force action upon the powers, and would have been in a very strong position for keeping the powers up to the rectitude of the hour if she had at once, on the promise of Cretan autonomy, withdrawn her troops and held them in readiness to return to Crete if the promise of the powers to secure reforms from the obdurate Sultan had not been carried out within a stipulated time. But by proceeding on the hypothesis that immediate and continued action in Crete meant the surest way of those reforms, she placed herself to cross purposes with the powers of Europe, and allowed the Ottoman Government an opportunity of hitting back with ten-fold force with the atmost security. So that, as it has been pointed out, instead of the whole attention of Europe being concentrated upon the Sultan and reforms, it has been distracted by the action of Greece, and every effort put forth to subdue the smoulderng flames of a general war. ALL ABOUT CAPONS. How the Caponizing Is Done-Best Breeds to Operate On-Growth of Capons. T. Greiner of New York, whose experiments are always worth knowing about, gives a very interesting account of raising capons in a communication to Country Gentleman. His first trial was made last year with many precantions. This year, however, he has got at it in a business way and makes short and successful work of it. He writes: My way has been to shut up from 8 to 17 cockerels at night, leave them without food and drink until the second day following and then caponize them. As soon as caponized the birds are placed in a small pen with an earthen floor, where they are well fed with soft food for a few days, during which time they are examined once or twice and reliev. ed of "wind puff," if such happened to occur, by a slit made into the puffed up skin with the point of a keen bladed penknife. In a week or less we give the birds their liberty and let another lot, just caponized, take their places. I find, however, that the birds when skillfully operated on are so little affected by being caponized that they will eat on the operating table while undergoing the operation. Whether kept in confinement. for a few days or given their liberty at a tile salt may be added where the once, whether fed soft food or whole ground is bare and on the asparagus grain, they are sure to heal up and recover perfectly in about a week's time. Usually I open the birds on both sides, finding it safer and more expeditious than to try to remove both testicles from one side. Only when the lower testicle appears in plain sight and in a favorable position do I take both from one opening, but even then, contrary to the ordinary directions, I take the upper one first, as I find no difficulty to remove blood (should any appear); by means of soaking it up with a little piece of moist sponge, and thus bring the lower testicle in plain sight again.

When I first began, I used the horseheir canula. I am now using thin tinned wire, such as beekeepers use for fastening artificial comb foundations in their frames, and find it far superior Setting Out Fruit Trees. The most desirable soil for fruit trees is a rich loam, naturally dry or made so by drainage. Lay off the rows at rejuired distances and dig holes at least feot wide and 2 feet deep. Fill the holos by breaking in the sides, commencing at the bottom and going upward. Use surface soil in filling up and your town. The time may come when with this mix a shovelful or two of cotton seed and stable manure compost well. decomposed. Avoid the contact of the roots with heating manures.

One and two year old trees of thrifty growth are the preferred kind. P. J. Berokmans, the well known Georgia nurseryman, advises removing all broken roots previous to planting. " He says: Cut back 1-year-old peach or apple trees to a naked stem two or three feet high. Leave no side branches. Twoyoar-old trees should have their branches out back to half their length or more, the lower less than those above, cutting in shorter as you go upward, and leave the leader the longest. Plant as deep as the tree was standing in the nursery row, except Dwarf pears, which should be planted sufficiently deep to cover the stock from two to three inches. Bear in mind it is best to allow the tree to form its head in its permanent place rather than in the nursery row. In this climate vegetation, although inactive in winter for the formation of leaves and now wood, is never so as to now roots. A tree transplanted in November or December will by the ensuing spring have formed sufficient new roots to give it a firm hold in the ground by advertising.
