ATMENTICS AND THE MIND. A CLURGIA HANGING.

"Yes, captain," replied the young man. "Just hand me that eigar and light it for me." So writes Paul Bourget in the Boston Herald in describing the hanging of a negro murderor in Georgia. The old man placed between his lips the half of a cigar which had been carofully deposited upon a and Medical wooden shelf in the cell. The first half of this Havana, which had been given him by some charitable visitor, had appeared so delicious to Sevmour that he had saved the second in order to obtain a little agreeable sensation before dying. Respital Nurse Recommends Them. DECLARES THEIR VALUE BEFORE THE MAYOR.

No.289 FALKINER, of the "Home of Hope" Hospital, Newtown, where is a highly efficient and careful administrator of the duties downing approacher. In a statutory declaration made before the Mayor Col no of New South Wales, do solemnly and sincerely declare that during everclessional experience as a nurse I have found Dr. Williams' Pink reals a valaable medicine of undoubted curative properties. To nov certain knowledge Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cured a lady residing in Lauran - Street, Cook's Hill, Newcastle, of acute anæmia, even when ali other remedies had failed and a cure was thought impossible. My sister, Mise Daisy Bithrey, has also been cured of agonising neuralgia below through their use. I shall have pleasure in recommending Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to my patients whenever occasion arises, as I am coavinced from actual experience of their great medicinal and before him, the cigar fell from his mouth. But this little shock was the sole sign given by the hardy youth to prove that he had also nerves to conquer. He dominated them imme diately, for he ascended the few wooden steps without the slightest tromor. His attitude was so firm, so simple, so perfectly worthy, even in the infamy of a public execution, that silence fell upon the spectators. Below the sinister rope, which hung always motionless, a plank had been arranged hanging over the open and attached at one end with a thong of leather to the scaffold itself. At the other end it was held by a hinge to one of the two beams forming the gallows. Seymour halted upon this plank. There the shoriff ticd his hands and his feet, passed around his neck the running knot which terminated the rope, and after having enveloped his face with a black veil he withdrew on to the platform of the scaffold and asked him: "Have you anything more to say, Henry?" "Nothing, captain," replied the condemned man without a movement of the black cap, so much was he bent upon showing himself to be calm: "Say, O Saviour, remember me in thy kingdom?" cried a loud voice at my side, the voice of the colonel. "Saviour, remember me in thy kingdom !" repeated the lisping voice of the mulatto. Then, after a little silence, "I'm all right now," with great firmness. "Goodby, captain," ho added, addressing the sheriff. "Goodby, everybody. Goodby, colo nel."

Quite instinctively we all cried, 'Goodby, Henry," and the colonel, louder than the others: "Goodby,my boy. Goodby, my boy," he repeated, and at that very instant the shoriff separated the cord that held the plank with one stroke of his ax. It fell below the feet of the poor fellow, Feotball and Rowing Are Said to Bo Flag Mental Training. In England we are apt to take the necessity for sports in some form for granted, but in America the subject of athlotics is discussed with a seriousness which hardly obtains in this country, says The British Medical Journal. Dr. Conant of Boston, in a very suggestive article in the Boston Medical and Surgical Journal, pleads earnestly for the general acceptance of athletics, not as mere sport or pustime, but as part of the system of education which the universities supply. There can be no question that while the "sit still system" of education has done much harm to children free muscular activity has been conducive to brain development, partly probably by supplying it with more healthy blood, but partly also by the cerebral activity involved, the muscle and the nerve being in fact but two parts of one machine.

Much as one might imagine that carefully planned gymnusium exercises could be arranged to give the exercise required, the gymnasium ! does not seem a popular place, nor , who had told her that she would never be does Dr. Conant seem to think much of it as a means of education. As usu ally arranged it is under cover and so lacks that great essential fresh air, and it lacks the stimulating influence of outdoor sports and especially of games. Nevertheless gymnastics, although not the most useful form of exercise, are of great advantage as a training for a crew or team.

If, however, says Dr. Conant, there is to be any attempt at regular and systematic development, not only of the body, but of the mental faculties as well, one must have, in order to get the highest good from such training, a certain amount of stimulus in the work to be done, the stimulus arising from competition and from public appreciation. Speaking of football, he says that there is a considerable risk of injury in the game, especially to men who have not been carefully trained in the sport at school. What is wanted is some constant and careful supervision over the players, so that they shall be in a condition both of physical and mental health. A list which is given of the injuries received by the Harvard men during the last four seasons shows a considerable number of accidents, but comparatively few of a serious nature. and those appear to have occurred chiefly among the "class" rather than the "varsity" teams, showing that the better trained men are far the least liable to injury. There seems needoubt that rowing is one of the best means of developing a man in an all around way, but both in regard to it and "track" athlotics much of the benefit arises from the individual training or "coaching" given pursued Mrs. Williams, "if it had not been iter Clements Tonic. My complaint crept upon me so slowly and imperceptibly that I never knew there was anything the matter till the discuss had obtained a firm grip on my system. A heavy, sluggish feeling took possession of me, 1 had to case all work. My mouth and breathgrew foul. I began to suffer from intense list lacks. After began to suffer from intense lisedache. After eating I had a feeling of lightness and sullocation in the breast, and my food repeated continually, and nothing would stay long on my stomach. Frightful pains in the back and round underneath the ribs distressed me. My sights were fearful. Pains in my back racked me continually. I Could Get No Sleep, and terrible cold sweats broke out all over

me." "A complication of bad symptoms, Mrs.

Williams ? "Yes, but I grew much worse. I was of such a showking sallow colour that it distressed my friends to look upon me. I was oblided to take to my bod Doctors were called in. They said it was liver complaint. They preseribed for me. I took the medi-cine, but get to better. I tank lower and lower. I couldn't lift my head off the pillow, and my stomach was in such a feeble state that I couldn't even take milk and water, Host four stone in weicht in eleven months. It looked like a final breaking m I thought I was done for. I was a mere skeleton, with the skin stretched over my bones. The dectors gave me up. It seemed as though it was only a matter of days. I was in desprir when someone without the doctor's knowledge.

Increased My Weight Daily. My appetite continually improved, and my spirits were revived, and I was soon able to take exercise. My skin took on its proper colour again, and after several bottles of colour again, and after several pottes of Clements Fonic I got ridiof every symptom of disease. I was merely thin and weak, and to get fat and strong was only a matter of time, and this result was happily per-formed for me by Clements Tonic, for it was not long before I was as stout and strong as. you see me now." "You look excellently wellnow,"remarked our reporter." "Ycs, I have always enjoyed good health since my recovery from what all my neigh-bours and friends thought was a fatal illness; and you may guess the faith they all have in Clements Tonie now."

"They have had proof of its merit, you know. "Yes. That remedy also cured my daughter Ethel. She was very ill indeed. Her Blood was Impoverished. It seemed as though it was turning, to water, and she was entirely destitute of colour. I see lots of young girls about in the same delicate state. I didn't know what to do with her. She wouldn't eat, and was always complaining of headaches. She suffered from a sort of lassitude, which made all exertion a pain and a trouble to her. She grew whiter, weaker, and thinner every week. She Was Fading Away under my very eyes, and was in a very diagecous condition. At last fainting fits began to come on; we were then quite starmed. The doctor did not seem able to do anything for her, so I secretly deter-mined to give ner Clements Torio. At first I was doubtful as to whether it would suit her complaint or not, but I roon found out that it was the proper remedy. It had

Very few are too poor now-a-days totake their country paper, and it is false economy to try and get along without it. Hardly a week passes that something or other does not appear in its. columns that will be of financial benefitto the subscriber, and by the end of theyear he had made or saved or won twenty times the subscription paid for it. The city papers don't take the place of the country ones, though some people appear to think they do. The city papers are all right in their way, but they do not give you that in which you. are most interested - your country news. You cannot learn from them when and where your country meetings are to be held, who are dying or who are marry ing, who are moving in or who are moving out, court proceedings, who wants to buy or sell farm or land produce, in fact hundreds of things of which it might be of particular insportance for you to know. If you can afford to take only one paper, by all means take the one that is published in the country or district where you live. It will cost you less, and thereby you will be assisting yourself and keeping the money in the district.

wno was precipitated from the entire height of his body. I must admit that I turned away my head in order that I might not see the dreadful sight.

When I looked again, the body was hanging inort at the extremity of the stretched rope. The neck had been broken at once. There was upon the faces of all the spectators a singular an indefinable expression. They were silent, while outside we could still hear the same cries, the same whistling, the same laughter that we-the colonel and L-had listened to with disgust from the interior of the prison. It was the crowd in the street which had not seen the man die. Finally the doors of the inclosure were opened as a sort of compensa tion.

"Keep quiet, gentlemen!" cried the shoriff in a loud voice, which dominated this tunult. "The doctor is listening to see if his heart has stopped beating." A personage with a bright, gay face had, as a matter of fact, mounted upon the scaffold. He drew the hanged man toward him and listened, with his car posed upon his chest. After a few instants of this last auscultation, he said, "It is finished," letting swing the body. The sheriff seized it as it passed, saying, with the same calm as he would have done had he been a porter speaking of a trunk: "I must take this body away

Queen Victoria's Quill Harness

The greatest ouriosity in the queen's stable and harness rooms is a very beautiful set of harness for four horses. It is called "the quill harness," boing one mass of fineembroidery of white quills on black leather. The maker of the set brought an action against the queen on the question of the price. The case, when fought out, resulted in a favorable verdict for her majesty, but Prince Albert would never allow the harness to be used, and it hangs in glass cupboards in the largest of

The Retailer who wants to put you off with a substitute for Clements Tonic or any other article of acknowledged repute only has one aim in view, that is the increase of his own profits. You you are the person who is robbed and swinded, not the proprietor of Clenchas Tollic Toll can't be too particular. The very moment a retailer begins to argue about his "cheap and nasty imitation" being "just as good," skip out as if you had met the plague. Never trust that man; shun him always. Why? Because next time you visit his shop you may want something he knows you can't check, then he sees no necessity to argue with you about the article being "just as good," because he knows you can't detect the fraud, and he can have you how he likes, and you bet your last red cent he will. If a retailer will attempt to rob you when your eyes are open, you must know he will have no scruples when they are shut, and you are blind to his tricks. Never deal there at all again. BAD LEG FOR THIRTY YEARS! Ŵ COULD NOT WEAR A BOOT. COULD ONLY CRAWL. (From the "Steiglits Miner.").

HAVING heard of a remarkable cure by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, a reporter of the Steiglitz Miner called upon Mrs. Margaret Mulrooney, of Long Gully, Steiglitz, Vic. When spoken to she said: "I have been a Long Gully, Steiglitz, Vic. When spoken to sne said: "I nave been a resident of Steiglitz district for 43 years, and for 30 years to September, 1897. that death would have been a happy release. No one can form the remotest idea of how much I have suffered! I could not sit up, and often had to crawl about upon my hands and knees. I spent I know not how much in doctors and medicines, but the relief I obtained was temporary, and at last I was given up as practically incurable. In Sep-tember, 1897, my daughter forwarded me a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from Geelong, doctors and medicines, but the relief I as she had heard they had cured people similarly afflicted. I tried the box, and am similarly afflicted. I tried the box, and am delighted to say I soon received relief. In taking the second box the whole of the pain disappeared in y leg healed up, and I was able to wean my boots and walk any distance. I had acute pains in the side and heart, feverishness, acrossments, heart papination, and pain in the chest. When the disease was at its worst I could not hold myself upright, and had to crawl about. The doctors ordered me to abstain from smoking, drinking tea, and from having ale at lunch, but their from smoking, drinking tea, and from having ale at lunch, but their treatment did not mend matters. Whilst particularly bad I happened to see an old friend; who had been very ill, and who had suffered is similarly. On 14th Occober, 1897, Mr. Austin again successfully contested the election, and this time he increased his major ty to 265. The voting was-Austin, 846; Oman, 581; Mackey, 436. Mr. Austin has therefore represented Ripon and Hampden for over eight years, and it is very noticeable that at each election he has had increased support, his last poll showing nearly twice as many votes as his first, and an increase of 403. It is safe to predict that Mr. Austin will continue to enjoy, the confidence of the electors as long as he acts as honestly and upright'y as has characterised his political career. Space will not permit of our referring to the many considerations which he has succeeded in obtaining for his constituents, but several prominent ones might be mentioned. Mr. Austin has been very successful in getting public works carried out, and the Mortlake people have good reason to thank him in this respect. for at that place there was an agitation for about 20 years to obtain a new State school. Quite recently Mr. Austin had the satisfaction of officially opening that school—a large brick building, which will be ample for all requirements for years to come. Mr. Austin had to fight very hard for this public benefit. Even after the promise was given to him, considerabledelay took place in calling for and accept-ing tenders, but Mr. Anstin kept hammer-ing away at the Public Works Department until the work was carried out. We know of a recent case where no less than six. members of Parliament were fighting against Mr. Austin, who, single-handed, succeeded against such odds in carrying out the wishes of his constituents. This is good proof that his influence in a just cause is well worth having. He has always shown a kindly interest in the working classes, and it is worthy of note

Austin, and at the same time to give took up his abode at Gorinn, Mr. for their rights—a saving of £12,000 a. some particulars of his life and charac-ter. Prostrate with Anæmia!! FIVE MONTHS IN BED. A WONDERFUL CURE.

Mr Tucker remarked that the bailiff had impugned his evidence, but he reckoned that cutting Sin, from the ground was level with it. Mr Bailes, in reply to Mr Tucker, said, there one no instructions consumitless to stack were no instructions given to saw millers to stack tops. Ho suggested to the Commission that co-orierative parties of miners, who got miling timber gratis, should deposit £3 as a guarantee had paddocks with plenty of wood, who had paddocks with plenty or wood, who would not have to pay a royalty; whilst the woodcuttors would have to pay threat times more than their liceuses cost, basing the royalty at 1d per ton. The liceuse was 55 royalty at 1d per ton. The liceuse was 55 Cr Sinciair was informed that shire councils had not been given permission to get timber from forests for making bridges, but were only allowed to cut trees along the reads. He then thanked the Commission on behalf of the rateroyaity at in per ton. The neense was be per quarter, and he always used to pay a license for props. He was not aware that he would have to pay a royalty until-informed by Mr Bailes after he had taken his contract. He employed men to cut timber at 1s 4d per ton, but if he had to pay royalty it would east double that amount payers for the liberal way in which the evidence had been received, and had no doubt they would go to the Government with the best recommen royalty it would cost double that amount.

Their evidence would receive the most cuts 4 tons a day, or about 100 tons per menth. He did not think he could got an sureful consideration. The Commission would increase in price if all were on the same footing, or that he could make better terms or the biassed either one way or the other. He knew this was a mining community, which should be encouraged in every pessible way, and that they were hard-working near who out other theorem had to get their living. They with the landowners than with the Crown, as the landowners would undersell the woodcutters, being under no restrictions of that industry had to get their living. They would take everything has to get their riving. They would take everything has consideration, and they could rest assured that the Commission would do what was right. Ar all. Mr Tucker supplemented his statement by remarking that there would be a second Pitfield in the Rughan district soon, when it would require six, if not ten, bailiffs to do the duty. John B. Cochran, Beaufort, gave ovidence as a firewood merchant. He paid 32s per truck, delivered in the truck, and the railway freight to Ballarat was 16s tid for 74 tons. The price per truck tor 5tt. wood was 34s. He thought the totalty was very excessive, and far more

AL BULL The Case of MRS. MARGARET BLOMFIELD.

(From the " Marrickville Express.") MR. FREDERICK BLOMFIELD is the Asphalter to the Marrickville Council, and is widely known and much respected. He lives in the Illawarra Road, near tram line. Mrs. Blomfield lately recovered in a most extraordinary manner from what looked like her last illness. The doctors, after efforts as last illness. The doctors, after efforts as strenuous as unavailing, were at length com-pelled to acknowledge themselves beaten, and gave up her case as hopeless. As a consequence of the continual reports of the strange "bringing back to life" of this-last. our reporter was sent to interview here lady, our reporter was sent to interview her and her husband. The newspaper writer was ushered into a pretty little drawing-room by Mr. Blomfield, who, on herring what was required, at once called his w, and remained during the whole interview, from time to time interjecting with some detail confirmatory of his wife's story. Our reporter at once noticed that Mrs. Blemfield looked in excellent health and spirits, and said, "Your health looks all right now." "It is splendid, indeed," replied Mrs. Blomfield, " and I have never been better Blomfield. n my life than I have been since my cure in my life than I have been since my cure some months ago, nor have I ever found it necessary to take a dose of medicine since." "Now, Mrs. Blomfield," said the press man, "I would like precise and unexag-gerated details of your illness." "With pleasure," was the response. "It was a peculiar weakness and second like

The five doctors that I employed one after another were baffled, and were entirely unable to form a satisfactory diagnosis of my case, though they all agreed my heart was affected. I was ill altogether for about twelve months. I first felt a dis-inclination to more about. This was soon inclination to move about. This was soon inclination to move about. This was soon succeeded by a sickening feeling of sinking and weakness at the heart. I was affected with a sort of giddiness. The room would sometimes seem to turn with me. My food was of no service, and, notwithstanding all I ate. I began to slowly dall away like a child with a wasting disease. I gradually became reduced to a skeleton, and my bones stuck out plainly through my skin. I had long enough been forced to give up my hdischold dutics, and I was new obliged to lie up. I became bedridden altogether. My hands trembled 'so with nervousness that hands trembled 'so with nervousness that hands trembled so with nervousness that when I took hold of anything it would fall from my nerveless hands. I was horribly depressed in spirits. I could stand no sort of a noise or shock without suffering most acutely afterwards." "And your rest?" "Ah ! that was the most painful part of my illness. Night followed night and I never

There was a certain amount of that in every district, but he lound the woodcutters of this district more regular with their licenses than elsewhere. He did not have much trouble with them. One or two whom he had trouble with them. One or two whom he had trouble with had to pay for it. If it were dry wood he gave them 24 hours to take out a license, but in a serious cave of exturn g props he summoned at once. He reckom d he was carrying out his duties accord-ing to the forest instructions. The royalty on ing to the forest instructions. The royalty on the first 20ft, and ing to the forest instructions. The royalty on pile timber was 2s a foot for the first 20ft, and and handed in their arms, but from what I hear most of the weapons were of the old style, pute timber was 2s a 107 tor the first 2015 and 1 d over. Some go into 40 and 45ft., and it was rather a pity to see them come out at prop rates of 4s. Where two grew together he allowed one to be taken. A large quantity would shortly be used, for according to the mining leases taken, up the district would became anothor Bendigo the wounded were left in the open without any attention for about 24 hours. Part of our squadron passed through with a convoy in the up the district would becaue another Bendigo goldtield. The forest of Mt. Cole could supply all the necessary mining timber and firewood if it were properly supervised, and did not think that three mills could work it out in the next six years. He considered the bushes should be out may and stocked but did not believe in same direction about a week before, but were unnolested. To burn off in the summer weather would rumours are current about other victories; in fact, they seem to be closing in on the Boars from all sides. We do not get much news here; the papers we get, a month old, bring us news that we never had the slightest hint of. I get your parcel all right, but no sign of mother's at all. The caps are very nice and warm, and Willie desires me to thank you very much for cause a lot of damage to the timber, as there was so much bracken about. He had no trouble was so much bracken about. He had no trouble with the sawmiller, who cuts according to forest regulations. He had not heard of any special complaints from the men, nor that the Govt. was charging too much in the way of royalty. There were 59,800 acres of State forests and timber reserves and 18,600 acres of Crown hauds, making 77,800 acres in all. There was only the one sawmilt at present, about 60 firewood lie ness, and r splitters. He roughly estimated the revenue from the forests during the time he had from here at £86 17s 10d. He did not comhis, as I must also do for mine. I get the ms, as 1 must also up for mme. I get the papers pretty regularly now that we are near the town. and I am pleased to again be able to show a credit balance of £2 4s 5d. The club had a very successful season, not having been defeated, but there were two games drawn, owing to insufficient time to play them out. The players did not take tho same interest in the club as in former years, and very little practice was indulged in. I may state that this considerably interfered with the members' list, which is not nearly as large as the previous year, although several have still promised to become members. To make the game more interesting next year I would suggest that a district association be formed, to play for a trophy, which could easily be arranged, and cricket in the district would be revived. The club, I am sorry to have to report, is losing one of its best players in the person of Mr E. Barnes, who is leaving the district. You will see by the averages that C. Loo wins the batting trophy (a silver medal presented by Messrs Wotherspoon & Co.), with an excellentaverage of 33.5 runs per innings, and E. Barnes takes Mr Jas. Eastwood's trophy (a ten-set), for the bowing, with a splendid average of 3.11 runs per wicket. In conclusion I thank you for the courtesy shown to me during the season, and hope that same will be extended to my successor. --Yours truly, H. PARKER, Hon. Secy. The minutes of the previous meeting were read and confirmed. REPORTS.

From secretary, reporting financially to date as follow :- Balance in bank, £18 16s; cash in hand, £1 8s; making a total credit of £20 4s. Fees received to date for current half-year, £35 13s; uppaid fees due on stock registered, £4 2s; making the total assessment to date £39 15s. Mr H. Watkin notified me the other day that he had completed his contract for deepening log dam. I therefore suggest that steps be taken to fix the site of the dam from the nearest surveyed selection of J. Cleland, and also to fix the boundaries of the proposed water reserve.-Received, and the necessary action re dam to be taken. From the herdsman, reporting that 2800 sheep and 440 head of cattle passed through the common since last meeting. In reference to G. Vowles' application for permission to occupy 10 acres of land in Waterloo under 65th section, I have to report that the land is not of much use for commonage purposes. The land which Mrs Collins asks permission to occupy in Nerring under the 67th section would, in my opinion, if occupied under that section of the Land Act, increase the sheep trespass in that locality.—The report was received, and it was resolved that no objection be offered to G. Vowles' application, but that the application of Mrs Collins stand over for further 39.5 32 18.3 11.7 consideration.

NEW FIELDS FOR NOVELISTS. THAWING OUT FROZEN MEAT. Why Does Not Some Writer Use an Eskim A Dark Room Treatment Before Leaving as Heroine?

the Cold Storage House According to the process -invented emporary novelists has not as yet inby Messrs. Nelson Bres. for thawing cluded Greenland, where some new frozen meat in such a way as to put it on the market in a sound condition and avoid the many objections to which the sale of the meat while still in a frozen 'state was open, the chamber of the apparatus is provided with double doors, one of which is extremely thick, so as to shut out, as far as possible, all external atmosphere. The chamber has no windows, but is supplied with electric light. On entering one sees only some 80 quarters of beef hanging in rows or hooks over a slightly raised open plat form, with a canvas curtain at the back. Under this platform, however, there is a series of steam pipes, while behind the curtain there is a series of pipes filled with compressed ammonia, similar to those used in connection with the ordinary freezing processes. The steam pipes under the meat cause a current of warm air to ascend all around it, and as soon as this current reaches the top of this obamber it is drawn to the freezing pipes behind the oritain, by which all the moisture is frozen out of it, on to the pipes themselves. It accumulates there in the form of snow some three-quarters of an inch in thickness.

The snow has to be scraped off the pipes from time to time, and it is stated that the accumulation during five days, in the thawing of 80 quarters of beef, has resulted in no fewer than 168 pounds of water. During that same period the meat has lost only 1 per cent in weight. The purpose of the canvas curtain is to divide the ascending warm current from the descending cold current, and it is claimed that the effect of this incessant passing of the air first over the steam pipes and then over the freezing pipes wild desire to wear petticoats instead of trousers and to drink tea instead of is eventually to free it from all moisture. When the meat is first hung, the temperature of the room is almost at freezing point, but on the fifth day the temperature, of the chamber has been raised to that of the air outside. By this time the frost has all been thawed out of the meat, which is then in a condition to be sent to market.-London

The plague cause use we then The home The plague came upon as three days home-ward bound from New Gainea. First, two of the sailors fell sick, then next day three of the sallors fell sick, then next day three more, and so on, the fever went through the ship. We swallowed large quantities of quinine from the medicine chest, but with very little benefit. We all fought against the disease as hard as we could; we disn't like the idea of bing there as we found if like the idea of lying down, as we feared, if we did; we should nover get up again. There was sometimes but two of us able to be on deck at a time to navigate, steer, and keep a look-out, and the engineers below were as short-handed as we were. The sea was dead snort-induced as we were running short of coal against us, we were running short of coal and medicine; the skipper was laid up with the fever in his hunk, and on the way down we were forced to run into Morton Benter to make a state of the state of the state of the state between the state of the state of the state of the state between the state of the state of the state of the state of the state between the state of the state of the state of the state of the state state of the state Bay to get supplies and it is a matter of regret to me now that I wasn't aware of the fine properties of Clements Tonic, for if I but known of that remedy I should had certainly have taken in a good stock of it at Briabane, when we should have been much lietter able to combat the fever which had better able to combat the fever which had seized upon us. However, I didn't get any Clements Tonic till we reached Sydney. him. Is now quite well and strong, and free from former ailments. Mrs. Harris, about a year ago, became anæmic, lost appetite, weight, and colour, felt languid and listless. Hands became bloodless; at night she would lie awake gasping for breath. A leading physician's treatment did not restore her. Her husband recommended Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and several boxes cured her. She sleeps well; has a good appetite; head-Ċ ches have left her; is now bright and happy.

Compound Rhyming Words. In the south they have a very expres sive phrase for one indifferently well-"frobly-mobly"-and to be in "mubble-lubble" signifies low spirits. In Leeds, fabble when a person is overpowered with as-tonishment, he is said to be "much struck," a phrase foroible but soarcely polite. "Huck-muck" is an expression of like character, meaning fonl, miry, and in Devonshire a bedraggied, be-mirched person is said to be "muckson up to the huckson." In Gloucestershire a wavering, unstable or worthless man is called a

"meckle-keckle fellow," and it is worthy of remark that in Derbyshire poor ore is called "keckle-meckle." An awkward simpleton is called "hauvey gauvey" in the neighborhood of Leeda In Warwickshire they style such a one as "hobgoblin," or else it is from "hob," a lout, and "bog," a lump. One dropped into the centre of us; cutting the two front legs off a horse, but like a lot more of their shells, it never hurst as the horse was the only The Glenpatrick party, namely, Messre-Stevenson Bros., McNish, Lilley, and others, decided to further sink this abandoned shaft. The timber was front legs off a horse, but like a lot more of their shells, it never burst, so the horse was the only one to get hurt. I had a party of 30 men lying down bohind a konje to cover the retirement of our troops, when a shell dropped short and burst about 20 yds. behind us. The report was deaf-ening. Three of the men had their noses bleed-ing from the concursion, so you can guess what it is. One man was thrown off his feet by it, and the horse-holder had hard work to hold the horses; but we got into a good thing, for some a pop at our chaps, when we gave them a volley, and some of them got away, but we bagged a yestorday, and 25 horses killed. Lieut. It was necessary to get of our troops. We got our horses up and dis-mounted, then mounted the hill and waited. The anemy also tried to get there, but we had the drop on them, and as they came up we let wounded to one of our chaps hit in the hand. While we laid there a shell burst abeut 20yds, away. It was deafening. One man was knowled While we laid there a shell burst about 20yds, away. It was deafoning. One man was knocked off his fact, and two men's noses bled with the concussion, and the dust went up in a cloud. Then to make matters worse there are various lumps of iron flying round, and on the whole it is not a pleasaut thing or any way friendly of the Boers to send them about. But we hold the trump card, the lyddite shell; they are the terror of the eneury, and when one bursts the men all round can be seen running for hundreds of yards. Then there is the shrapuel shell; this bursts in mid-air, and throws down a shower of operative party of twenty each receiving 1000 scrip paid up to 1s. Ultimately in about 12 months the shaft was bottomed at 186ft. The ground upon which the steam puddlers are now being erected was opened out at this depth, and the first yield of about 30oz; rather opened the eyes of many people in the district. The comursts in mid-air, and throws down a shower o bursts in mid-air, and throws down a shower of bullets about the size of an ordinary marble. These were fired at us yesterday, but as the range was a little long for them they did not do any damage. I can tell you shell-firing makes things very lively, and when you take it into consideration that there is a d stance of three miles between the lines, the art of war has been well looked into. pany only had one horse puddler, but when the ground proved exceptionally rich, giving an average of between 4 and 5 oz. to the set, the excitement commenced. If you ever watched a dentist draw a nerve out of a tooth, you will remember how much it looked like a little snip of wet, white cotton thread. How can so contemptible a thing inflict such a mountain of agony? And why does it do it? "Disease," you say. Ah, surely. "Well," replied Mrs. Annie Francis, of Box Hill, Victoria, to our reporter, "I am only too happy to give you Victoria, to our reporter, "I am only too happy to happy to whatever information you require regarding my case." Mrs. Francis is a native of the West of England, and 36 years of age. She came to Australia in the "Orient," some 18 years ago, and was then in the enjoyment of good health and bright spirits. A few years after arriving here, Mrs. Francis became a victim to various complaints, including general debility, asthma, bronchitis, weakness of the heart, rheumatism, dropsy, and kidney troubles. For nearly 16 29 rheumatism, dropsy, and kidney itoutes. It of a che. years she has scarcely been entirely free from pain or ache. Life was indeed in her case a burden. Asked if she had 2 consulted doctors and tried medicines, the good lady replied in the affirmative, and volunteered the statement that her medical adviser had told her honestly and plainly that there was no hope

TEXAS LAW FOR TEXANS. How Judgo Culberson Once Won & Cass That Scemed Hopeless. Congressman Dave Culberson, as he is familiarly known in Texas from the Ric Grande to the Red river, is one of the most entertaining members of the house. He is always ready with a witty reply to any law or political question propounded to him by his associates and is the subject of more stories than any member of congress except Thomas B.

Reed. "In 1860, just after Lincoln had been elected president," said an old friend of Judge Culberson the other day, "there was a neighborhood quarrel betweeoz two citizens in Upshur county, Tex The southern question was at fever heat, and the feeling was very strong on both sides. Each side of the case, of course, was anxious to get the verdict. The de fondant went to Jefferson and engaged Culberson, who was then rising to distinotion as a bright lawyer. Dave's client didn't have any case, the evidence being all against him; but, true to his trust, as he always is, Culberson determined to make the best fight he could for him. When the trial came off, it turned out that the other fellow had employed a smart young saddlebag lawyer from Maryland, just located in Texas. "Culberson had the opening speech and made a good defense for his client under the circumstances. When the Marylander replied in behalf of his client, he produced a vast array of authorities, from which he read in support of his case. When the young man closed, Culberson picked up one of the books from which the opposing counsel had been reading and said: 'If your houor please, this young brother of the profession has been reading for your instruction Massachusetts law. This book is printed in Boston. It is "Greenleaf on Evidence." We don't want Massachusetts law to govern us in Texas. I have been giving you genuine Texas law, made by our own people.' "What's that?' asked the judge sharply, 'been imposing on the court with Yankee law?' "Yes, sir, your honor,' said Culberson; 'he has been reading from this book, which was printed in Boston, Mass.' " 'Pass it over this way,' said the surprised court, looking at the fly leaf. Then he said: "'Mr. Culberson, the court finds that yon are correct. It is a Boston print, and we don't want any of it here. No abolition law for Upshur county, and the court will be d-d if we will have

"To the supreme disgust of the young lawyer the court continued as follows: 'Sir, upon the evidence of the case I dismiss the suit against Dave Culberson's friend and fine the plaintiff $1 and costs and his lawyer $5 for contempt of court. Now, young man, let that serve as a warning to you how you try to practice abolition law in this state "Culberson's olient set up the dinner, and the young Maryland lawyer was one of the first men to enlist in the war.

A MAN'S BEST IDEAS. An Old Student Says They Come Into the Mind Unexpectedly. Professor von Helmholtz, the great German scientist of imperishable fame. not long before his death gave an intersting review of his life work on the octasion of the celebration of his seventieth birthday, in which, among other things, he reveals some instructive features of his habits of study and the process by which he won his ideas as well as the time and manner in which it was his wont to commit the latter to paper: "As it has frequently been my lot to have to await in uncertainty the arrival of appropriate thoughts and conveptions, which then would broak suddenly and unheralded upon me, I have just gained some experience in the management of these capricious ideas. This may be of utility to other students of like physiological temperament.

"The best ideas have often stolen ailently into the current of my thoughts while the latter were not employed in seeking them. I know not by what process of unconscious cerebration they were evolved. I only knew that they were there. Nor could I at first fully estimate the importance of such unexpected but welcome visitors.

"These ideas never introduced them selves when my brain was tired and almost never at my writing table. I had first to turn my problem in all directions and envisage it from every side, and thereafter to consign it to my involuntary thoughts without even prematurely attempting to solve it within myself or committing my reflections to writing. Long and patient preliminary investigation was the unconditional preequisite to success.

"No matter how urgent the necessity for action, I must always give my brain its time to relax from fatigue or strain and await the recurrence of a feeling of both physical and mental well being and contentment before writing for publication. My most valuable ideas have presented themselves in the morning on my awakening from a refreshing sleep, but the favorite period for them has been while I was seeking relaxation by roaming slowly over picturesque hills or through wooded parks in the bright sunlight. The slightest indulgence in alcoholic beverages sufficed to banish them from my grasp."-Baltimore Sun.

Of Assistance to Young Men Who Find I Hard to Take Their Departure.

A young man stood in the portico of an apartment house in Washington park, Brooklyn, the other evening, and on the step above him stood a pretty girl. It was late, and the street was deserted. Despite the darkness it was apparent to the occasional passerby that the young man had the daintily gloved right hand of the young woman within his own, while his left hand rested over it like a cover to keep it guarded. The young man was apparently trying to say good night, and the young woman evidently could not hear him, for she was bending her head close to his. They stood in that attitude for nearly 15 minutes and might have been discovered in the same pose by the gray dawn of the morning had not something intervened. That something was round and bright, and it came out of a sixth story window. It descended slowly, the moonning themselves in the covert of the light shimmering on its silvery surface house where she was boarding and askand making it conspicuous. Soon it could be seen that it was a string and was being lowered by an elderly woman. When it dangled over the portion, there was a sudden burr-r-r-r-r-ring, and the young man and young woman parted like an overstrained hawser. The young man seized the round and bright object, which was still ringing, and held its face to the electric light. The hands on the alarm clock were olasped at midnight. He raised his hat to the young woman; murmured a few words in a low tone and disappeared. The alarm clock was hoisted up quickly, but the young woman was up stairs before it finally reached the open window .- New York Sun.

Her Reward.

A well known obaracter in Paris is an old woman whose breast is literally covered with crosses and decorations, and who is now peacefully engaged as a flower seller. Her name is Jane Bonmere, and her honors were gained in the Crimea, at Rome, Gravelotte and at Orleans. On one occasion she rendered valuable service to her country by swallowing a military dispatch of great importance and so prevented its falling into the hands of the enemy. A woman who has swallowed so much for her country with dispatch should not be allowed to sup sorrow in her old age .--Chicago Herald.
