

The Riponshire Advocate.

1841.

Registered at General Post Office, Melbourne, for transmission by post as a newspaper.

BEAUFORT, SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 1, 1913

PRICE THREEPENCE.

—THE— Riponshire Advocate

—Is the only Newspaper Printed and Published in the Shire of Ripon. It contains full and correct reports of all the council's proceedings, local meetings, and all local news generally. The "Riponshire Advocate" is the advertising medium for all contracts and notifications of the Shire of Ripon. We ask that our efforts for the district's good shall be recognised, and as an increased circulation means still greater usefulness on our part, you should support our enterprise to your best power. For the small sum of 3/- per annum it is obtainable direct from the office regularly, or by post.

All regular subscribers are presented with an interesting 14-column Supplement containing a serial tale, a bright array of amusing anecdotes, pastoral news, recipes, and numerous gardening items.

Make your District Known.

Concerning some parts of the district news comes but seldom. This is not entirely our fault; we have no miraculous power of knowing what is happening at all the places within our area of circulation. It is the fault of residents in the silent places.

Will some man or woman take the silence to cease?

If no one else is doing it for your district, will you try on these lines?

Send accounts of public and social events in your township and neighbourhood, such as weddings, deaths, accidents, concerts, matters touching district industries, etc.

Write the names of persons very distinctly.

Don't bother about grammar or spelling; it's the editor's work to look after those trifles. The barest skeleton is enough.

Write only on one side of the paper. Give information; but let criticism alone.

Write your name and address on same corner; not for publication, but

"Better take me along," said the Lion King suggested, jocularly. "For two quid I'll subdue the beast for you with my eye."

"I need you I'll send for you," Quin answered, dryly; and with that he went briskly into the office, where a boy was waiting with two long iron bars, such as are used when heated for caving wild animals. Quin looked at them doubtfully.

"Perhaps," said Quin. "It won't be amiss to take them. Come along, my lad."

They went by way of Thames-street Tower Wharf, and St. Katharine's Quin striding a little in advance of the boy, his pipe between his teeth and his hands in his pockets. Wapping reached, it was easy to discover the Lapwing. She lay anchored a little out from the dock where by rights she should have been berthed, but which was doubtless barred to her under the present circumstances, a tidy-looking, three-masted schooner of good capacity.

CHURCH OF ENGLAND. ANNUAL MEETING.

About 100 members and adherents of St. John's Church of England, Beaufort, were present at the annual meeting in the Parish Hall on Tuesday evening, the 27th ult. The Rev. F. Stillwell presided. The balance-sheet, which was received and adopted, showed receipts amounting to £404 15/11, and expenditure to £286 14/6, leaving a credit balance of £118 9/7. The subscriptions amounted to £140, and the offertory collections to £250; the church paying its way on collections. The vicar mentioned that about £47 had been spent on the work of the church in other parts. St. John's Sunday School balance-sheet showed receipts amounting to £23 12/6, and expenditure to £22 19/3, leaving a Cr. balance of 12/8.—Adopted. Messrs Sands and Muntz urged the church members to give greater financial support to the Sunday school, as they had an increased attendance each year, the number on the roll in the last few years having increased from 40 to 80. The vicar, in supporting these remarks, pointed out that the scholars had done well at the annual diocesan examinations. The following officers were elected:—Committee, Admiral Bridges, Messrs S. Young, A. H. Sands, H. Troay, H. B. Seager, J. B. Trent, W. Norman, and H. J. Muntz, K. A. D. Sinclair, E. W. Hughes, R. O. Welsh, and A. Driver; clergy appointment board, Admiral Bridges, Messrs A. H. Sands and H. B. Seager; supplementary board, Messrs E. J. Muntz, R. A. D. Sinclair, and J. Hillman; auditors, Messrs N. B. Acton and D. Jackson. The vicar moved a vote of thanks to the committee, officers, and all who had worked for the church in any way. As retiring vicar about to leave them, he thanked them very much. Those who had worked hard he hoped would work harder, and that those who had done less would do more.

PRESENTATION TO REV. F. STILLWELL. During his comparatively brief stay in Beaufort of 2 1/2 years, the Rev. F. Stillwell, Vicar of St. John's Church of England, has won the esteem and regard of his parishioners and the townspeople. He has been actively associated with the Town Band, the A.N.A., and the Progress Association. At the conclusion of the annual meeting of the parishioners of St. John's on Tuesday night, and in the presence of a large gathering, the opportunity was taken to bid the departing clergyman farewell: Mr Stillwell leaving for his new parish at Casterton next morning. Mr E. J. Muntz moved a hearty vote of thanks to Rev. F. Stillwell for the work he had done in the Church for the last 2 1/2 years. Personally, he must say he felt very grateful to Mr Stillwell for the good work he had done. All regretting his departure, although not expecting to keep him for any length of time. They felt that they had done little of Mr Stillwell, who had done so much for the parish, which was very much ahead of what it was when he took charge. The congregations were better. He had started a branch of the Men's Society, which they all knew had done very good work in the church itself. The good character of the services were due to the Men's Society, and through them to their vicar. They were exceedingly sorry he was leaving them. They hoped the parish would go on as usual, but breaks like this were always bad. They would remember that some little time ago when Mr Stillwell was good enough to refuse a much better parish, that he did something for him on that occasion. But although they had done that, they would not like him to go away without giving him some little thing by which to remember his last night in Beaufort. So a few of them got together, and decided that it would be nice to give him something. He had much pleasure in presenting him with a very small table of esteem from the parishioners, which consisted of a travelling rug. He used Mr Stillwell would live long to use it. In the parish where he was going he would need it. They thought this one of the most suitable things to give him, and on behalf of the congregation he had great pleasure in asking him to accept it. He would like to add to this motion that they place on record their appreciation of Mr Stillwell's work in the parish. (Applause.) Mr E. W. Hughes remarked that he had great pleasure in seconding the motion. He could testify to the work Mr Stillwell had done, although he had not gone to church as often as he should. He had done much for the church, and he had done much for the parish. They had a good many cases, had looked people up and given them encouragement. He had been very much appreciated in his parish. Mr A. H. Sands said personally he felt that Mr Stillwell's departure was a matter for a great deal of regret. They were all very sorry to see him go. In connection with the Church of England Men's Society, of which he had had the pleasure of being president for the last two years, he could speak feelingly. As Mr Muntz had said to them, Mr Stillwell had been responsible for starting the Society in connection with the church. This had, undoubtedly, helped the church a great deal. It was still growing, and in the future they were expecting a great deal more from it. When they knew Mr Stillwell had made up his mind to leave them they felt they could not allow him to go away without some of the great interest he had taken in the parish since he had come into the Society. With that in view, the Men's Society had agreed to make him a small presentation. When Mr Stillwell came to Beaufort, as some might be aware, he had a small gold cross which he had prized very much. Unfortunately, it had been lost. They knew how he felt about it, and decided to try and replace it. On behalf of the members he had pleasure in handing Mr Stillwell a gold cross, which had been made up on one side, and on the other bore the inscription, "Presented to the Rev. F. Stillwell by the members of the Beaufort branch of the Church of England Men's Society, 27/1/13." He hoped he would live long to wear it, and that both Mr and Mrs Stillwell would have a happy time in their new sphere of labor. (Applause.) In reference to what they had said, they would be glad to see him with applause, thanked them all very much for their kindness, and Messrs Muntz and Sands for their kind words. In reference to what they had said, they would be glad to see him with applause, thanked them all very much for their kindness, and Messrs Muntz and Sands for their kind words. In reference to what they had said, they would be glad to see him with applause, thanked them all very much for their kindness, and Messrs Muntz and Sands for their kind words.

On Tuesday afternoon Rev. F. Stillwell conducted a service at the Waterloo Church. An altar table, Calvary cross and prayer-book were dedicated. There was a large attendance. At the conclusion of the congregation, presented Mr Stillwell with a purse of gold coins, and the departing clergyman referred to the departing clergyman's good work in that part of the parish. Mr A. Kewley endorsed Mr Martin's remarks, and Rev. F. Stillwell appropriately responded.

LINSEED COMPOUND for Coughs and Colds. During the week Mr W. P. Schlicht, of Beaufort, had a severe loss by the death of a mare valued at £52. The rainfall for the week at Beaufort amounted to 1 1/4 points, and for the month 4 1/2 points. Surgeon Nicholson's many friends will be glad to learn that he has recovered sufficiently to leave the Police Hospital. He will take a few days' leave for recuperative purposes, before resuming duty.

HEAVY DEPRESSED FEELING. About twelve months ago, writes Mrs. B. Neill, Dalton St., South Broken Hill, N.S.W., "I got nearly paralysed by a nervous ailment, which gave me a heavy, depressed feeling. After using various remedies without success, I tried Chamberlain's Tablets, the first dose of which did me good, and gave such relief that I recovered, and am now enjoying good health." Sold by J. R. Witherspoon & Co.

SPARROW SHOOTING.

There was a large gathering of sportsmen and the general public at the Beaufort Gun Club's rounds on Monday (Foundation day), when one of the most successful matches held for some years took place. The day's sport was promoted by Mr A. J. Young, and conducted under the auspices of the local Gun Club, which 700 birds were put through the traps, and Mr S. Bell made an excellent referee. The principal event was an £10 sterling handicap, which attracted 52 competitors. The birds were weakened by the hot weather, and the event was divided on the 10th round by Watson, W. Smith, Brennan, Ransome, Dawson, Kendall (2 nms.), and W. Gannell, No. 1 sweep (sparrows) as divided on the 5th round by Samuels, Mason, Brennan, Smith, and Saph. No. 2 sparrows) was divided on the 4th round by Coffey, "Owen," "Volo," Dawson, and W. Smith. Out of a 55 pigeon sweep was divided on the 2nd round by Ransome, W. Smith, Fenton, and Watson. A great deal of interest was taken in a private match between amateur representatives of England and Australia. The match—the best of 20 birds from the 23 yards—was won by F. Ashman (England), who killed 12 birds to H. Jaensch's (Australia) 10.

The death occurred in Geelong on Monday of Mr Wm. Craswell, an old and highly respected resident of Main street, near Beaufort. He passed away at the residence of his daughter, Mrs. J. B. Craswell, who had been in ill-health. He was 74 years of age, and had been married for over 40 years. For some time he had been suffering from illness, and he was taken to Geelong on Monday evening, where he died at 10.30 p.m. He was survived by a widow and two daughters to mourn their loss. The remains were brought to Beaufort by the railway train on Tuesday, and were interred in the cemetery. The funeral was largely attended, and the members of the local Masonic Lodge (of which deceased was a member) marched in a body. Four Past Masters of the lodge were present, viz:—Wor. Bros. G. H. Cougle, A. L. Witherspoon, W. J. Stevenson, and E. J. Muntz acted as officiators; and the pall-bearers were Messrs J. Myers, L. Buchanan, J. W. Norman, J. B. Trent, W. B. Cochrane, and W. F. Hurst. The Church of England burial service was read by the Rev. F. Stillwell. The funeral arrangements were carried out by Mr A. H. Sands, undertaker, Beaufort.

The annual meeting of the Beaufort District Volunteer Bush Fire Brigade was held in the Shire Hall on Tuesday evening. Captain J. B. Cochrane in the chair, and 6 members present. The secretary Mr D. Cameron, reported during the early part of the year. The brigade received a call for assistance from the Shire Hill Brigade, a large bush fire having broken out on Mawallah station. The members of the brigade responded to the call and went out with the fire-cart, and did their best to bring the fire under. With regard to the financial position of the brigade, £28 12/6 was received in donations, which, with a balance of £14 8/8 from last year, made the receipts £42 10/4, leaving a credit balance of £29 14/9. So far this year we have been free of fires, but there seems a very probability of some very warm weather ahead, and with the great quantity of grass this year, and the exceedingly high winds recently, it is not unlikely that a fire break out might do great damage before being got under; so it is necessary that we should be prepared. The members were asked for financial assistance. Resolved:—The balance sheet was received and adopted subject to audit. The following officers were elected:— Captain, Mr J. B. Cochrane; vice-captain, Messrs W. H. Halpin and J. P. Rogers; lieutenant, Mr G. Tomper; treasurer, Mr R. L. Lilley; secretary, Mr R. A. D. Sinclair; secretary, Mr J. B. Trent; advisory board, Messrs J. B. Trent, W. Norman, and W. Hughes; captain and secretary, Mr H. B. Seager, who was compelled to resign; and relieving the position of secretary, sympathizing with him, and assuring him of the well-wishes of the members towards him. A bonus of £5 was offered to Mr Cameron for his services. The secretary was instructed to have 50 circulars printed and sent to the district squatters and farmers.

BEAUFORT, SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 8, 1913.

BEAUFORT THISTLE CLUB.

The chief (Mr J. H. Robinson) presided over a meeting of the Beaufort Thistle Club on Wednesday evening; there being an attendance of 11 members. Past-chief Cochran reported that in conjunction with Mr D. Stevenson he had been successful in his request to Mr P. Russell, chief of the Geelong Caledonian Society, for the services of the Geelong Pipe Band at the Easter Monday sports, and that Mr Russell had promised to do his best to get the band here and generously offered to pay expenses. The secretary was instructed to write to Mr Russell thanking him on behalf of the club for his generosity. Messrs D. McKerral and Wm. Cochran were elected as members of committee. Seven new members, obtained by the secretary (Mr P. Stevenson), were elected. A programme of dancing, musical chairs for cyclists, Scottish games, dress and piping competitions, tilting at the ring, footracing, underhand wood-chop, tug-of-war, sheaf-throwing, and swimming events (drafted by a sub-committee) for the anniversary sports gathering on Easter Monday was revised, and, after a few amendments were made, adopted. Past-chief Cochran moved that a concert be held in the Societies' Hall on Easter Monday night, with a dance to follow. Seconded by Mr J. T. Glover. Details in connection with a concert were left in the hands of a committee consisting of the chief, past-chief, chieftains, assistant secretary and secretary. On the motion of Messrs W. Glover and A. Stevenson it was decided to sell the rights of the fruit, luncheon and publican's booths by auction on 8th March, and to ask Mr W. H. Halpin to sell same. Past-chief Cochran remarked that he would take the same stand as he had always taken, and would move as an amendment that they have no publican's booth, only a soft drink booth. Seconded by Mr H. Hunter. The amendment was lost, and the motion was carried by 8 votes to 2. If the matter was left to the club, it was decided to suggest that the Geelong Pipe Band journey to Beaufort on Easter Saturday, arriving by the express at night. The secretary and chief were instructed to arrange for accommodation for the bandsmen. A donation of £1 1/ was received from Mr Chas. Lewis. The chief announced that Mr McEwan, an ex-captain of a Highland regiment, who had prominently figured in the Battle of Magersfontein and been awarded the Victoria Cross, was at present working at Beaufort.

The rainfall at Beaufort for January, as registered by Mr J. McKeich, totalled 75 points, as against 26 points for the corresponding month last year.

BEAUFORT ATHLETIC CLUB.

A general meeting of the Beaufort Athletic Club was held at the Mechanics' Institute on Monday evening. Present—Messrs J. George (president), D. R. Hannah, W. J. Stevenson, J. T. Glover, Cougle, W. R. Glover, W. H. Halpin, and Parker (secy.) The secretary submitted a balance-sheet for the past year, the receipts amounting to £409 0/5, and the expenditure to £272 7/9, thus leaving a Cr. balance of £136 12/8. Mr J. Fullerton certified to the correctness of the accounts. The secretary stated that the loss on the year, including £20 voted towards the Park improvement funds, was £25 18/1. The balance-sheet and auditor's report having been received, Mr Cougle said he thought the charge of £8 10/ made by the Shire of Ripon for doing up the tracks was too high. Mr Hannah said he had always maintained that the societies using the Park were badly treated by the Shire, as with a 10 per cent. commission on gate receipts they had to pay both ways. He thought the work could be done in a week, and the account should be referred back to the Shire Council for details. The secretary said the account had been paid and it was too late to refer it back, which should have been done before it was paid. He did not think any further details than those already given, viz., that the charge was for the time occupied by the caretaker in doing the work, would be supplied. The work had been very satisfactorily done, and it was better to pay £1 or £2 more to get it done well than to have it improperly done. When they previously paid the caretaker direct the work usually cost from £7 to £7 10/, and there were three tracks to do now instead of two. The caretaker was only paid for looking after the gates on Boxing Day, and he understood he received £1 1/ for performing that duty at night, in addition to £1 for the day. Mr Hannah said that after paying the percentage charge it was a fair thing for the council to have the tracks prepared. Although the account had been paid, he thought the club had been salted, and that it was an overcharge. He moved the adoption of the balance-sheet and auditor's report, which was seconded by Mr W. J. Stevenson, and carried. The secretary read a list of subscriptions amounting to £49 14/6, being £5 18/6 more than last year. The president returned his sincere thanks to all the officials for working so hard and making the sports a success. He felt with Mr Hannah that the club should not be called upon to pay for putting the tracks in order when they had to pay £11 4/ percentage, or nearly £20 for the use of the Park on Boxing Day, especially as the sports were held for the benefit of the town. He thought that they should express their indignation at being charged so much. He thanked the members for their attendance, and hoped they would continue to work for the club. Messrs Hannah and Halpin responded, eulogising the work of the president and secretary; Mr Hannah remarking that Mr George's work bore very favorable comparison with any of his predecessors, and that as long as the club had such men at the helm it was bound to be a live concern and prosper.

INTERSTATE NEWS & NOTES.

The exhibition of Australian goods being held in Melbourne by the A.N.A. is indeed enlightening and educational to Australians. Though the old adage that Australia is not a manufacturing country is slowly being dispelled, few realise how many and varied are the industries carried on here. The furniture exhibit is particularly interesting both as a display of timber and as a finished product. The woods principally used are blackwood, red gum, mountain ash, messmate, oak, and yellow box. Now that so much of the forest timber has been mutilated and burnt, we are awakening to a tardy realization of its immense value and worth to the land which possesses it. For durability very few timbers can touch many of the Australian woods, and as an example of this, a railway sleeper is on view which has done duty for 30 years, without showing any signs of wear and tear. The Northern Territory and Papua have seized the opportunity to advertise their wares, and hay, coconuts, cotton, ginger, rice, rubber, sugar, and all make an interesting display of tropical products. An example of the ancient and modern methods of manufacturing blankets is much appreciated by spectators, who can follow the whole process until the blanket emerges from the loom as a finished product. The Australian Tennis Team buckled up to some purpose, and gave a fine display of their mettle in Sydney. The Brooks-Paris match was of course particularly spectacular, and no more interesting tennis is likely to be seen there for some time. The match against Dixon was also a fine example of his prowess as the Victorian champion's play. The well-known faultless, Parke kept up his intensely brilliant standard, though his shots were a trifle wide at times. Altogether Australians are something what happened to epoul a win during the recent Davis Cup match. The score read: Australians 12 matches, 12 sets, 119 games; English 12 matches, 12 sets, 121 games.

The Department Office of Australia is contemplating making its headquarters in Melbourne instead of Sydney. Most of their business is done on the south side of Sydney, and Melbourne would be a more central depot for their purposes.

Picture shows flourish everywhere; and when one realises the profits per acre there it is not to be wondered at that the speculators have plunged to the extent of £2,000 each, and the money went to reconstruct the Queen's Theatre (Quadrant) into a Picture Theatre. Lately they sold out and the sum of £10,000 acted as a slight consolation for its doing.

One of the most persistent and invulnerable of our noxious weeds is the will tobacco plant. Twenty-five years ago a couple of these innocent-looking plants grew near Wentworth. Now thousands and thousands of acres of good land are rendered absolutely useless by the encroachments of this pest.

There is a new cure for people overworked with this world's goods in the way of adipose tissue. Take a job on a large plantation in Sumatra, and between February and April during the season the flowers fall and the air is permeated with a fine pepper that which fills the eyes, the nose, mouth and eardrums, bringing in its train the features of the damned and the eyes are worse than the disease. A life stone Queenslander thought for the effect of this treatment and he claims to have lost weight and his weight in a couple of months.

A new proposition for disposing of the prickly pear has been advanced. Mr. J. Roberts is an American chemist who has been studying the plant for some time in Queensland, and claims to have secured a method to kill the pear by means of powerful gases which are pumped through the air. Being heavier than air the gases will sink amongst the vegetation, and fill the pear within three weeks. It is also stated that one application is sufficient and the operation need not be repeated. If this scheme is as successful as is hoped, it is certainly the simplest and quickest treatment yet discovered. Mr. Roberts would do well to acquire some of the Prickly Pear Area which the Queensland Government offers on special terms to those courageous enough to grapple with the clearing problem.

Another North Coast shipping disaster has been narrowly averted; the dredger Seal Rocks being again the aggressor. The Brundah, in a heavy fog, had struck the Rocks, and was being towed by a watchful captain, because he was responsible for the loss of five vessels during the last few years.

One Yankee boasts of a queer variety of the lower-cum-animal variety of shell. The bower is about six inches long and half shaped. At the top is a true half-filled with a slightly sticky substance. The bower is usually found in a patch, and is bogged. This is a very interesting bird, and is making the fine air tight. The orator proceeds to digest the capsules in his beak, and when all the clear response, and so the process goes on.

A general report blows in from miles, the sportive bunny has done such deadly work. The sign of grass is unknown. The district, which was used to carry thousands of sheep is now a desolate, arid waste, and even fresh fields.

Harry Tredeak knocked up a bumper score at Castlemeane, worthy of immortalisation—268 runs (not out) in 2 hours 25 minutes. Trumper also shows signs of reaching his second wind. In Sydney he made 301 runs against South Australia; 138 against Victoria; and 100 in a club fixture.

In the removal of the wreck of the "Norma" from Port Adelaide, an ominous obstacle has been done away with. This derelict has been responsible for the loss of at least one other good vessel, and navigators will rejoice to know that thirty feet of water covers any reminders of the destroyer and destroyed.

The fatal edelweiss fever has been responsible for more alpine accidents. Near Muelen, a young lady, named Anna Frey, fell over a precipice and was killed; and on Mount Sontis a Swiss climber, named Arnold Frischensch, fell 500ft. to his death. Herr Bollwagen, a Social Democrat member of the Bavarian Diet, fell 1,800ft. while climbing the Schartzschrofen, in the Mosa Mountains, and his body was recovered terribly mangled. Herr Waaga, a tourist from Graz, has been found frozen to death on the Mugol, near Loeben, with a sprig of edelweiss in his hand.

Prince and Princess George of Bavaria have had such a serious matrimonial quarrel that their household has been dissolved and steps taken to secure the annulment of the marriage by the Pope. It is denied that questions of precedence at Court are responsible for quarrels entirely to the Princess's "unconquerable dislike" of her husband. Prince George is a grandson of the Emperor Francis Joseph and the Princess is a daughter of the Archduke Frederic of Austria. They were married in February, 1912.

A novel method of getting an objectionable caller out of one's house has been invented by a Copenhagen gentleman who had a bailiff sent to his flat. His sympathetic friends arranged for a German band to play to the flat. Arrived there, the band played with such energy that the poor bailiff, after enduring the "music" for several hours, inquired when they were going to stop. Being told that the band had an engagement for "lifetime," the bailiff urgently requested that another offer should be sent at once, as he could not stand the noise any longer. The relief bailiff was welcomed with a funeral march, and with this tune the band went on practically without interval for five hours. The police were asked to interfere, but answered that they had no power to do so, as the "concert" took place inside the house. The siege was ultimately raised, as it was found impossible to get another bailiff to go near the house, and the band marched out, playing "See the Conquering Heroines."

MacKay (Queensland) is going to get busy with its new outer harbour. The subject has been battled and finally locked for several years, and shortly the voting has gone by 3 to 1 in its favour. The cost is estimated at £250,000, and the time taken in its construction will be four years.

The Bank of England is custodian of a large number of boxes deposited by customers for safety during the past two hundred years, and in not a few instances forgotten. Many of these consignments are not only of rare intrinsic and historical value, but of great romantic interest. For instance, some years ago the servants of the bank discovered in its vaults a chest which, on being moved, literally fell to pieces. On examining the contents, a quantity of massive love-letters indited during the period of the Restoration. The directors of the Bank caused to be made in their books of the representative of the original depositor of the box was discovered, and the plate and love-letters handed over.

A curious custom connected with the Serbian army is that in the second campaign in 1900 cost £800,000. Roosevelt's campaign in 1891 cost £420,000. But the late treasurer of the Republican National Committee destroyed every scrap of the campaign bookkeeping. These figures are taken as supporting Mr. Roosevelt's denial that his election in 1904 was paid for in part by the Standard Oil Company.

Married eleven times "and always for love" is a record claimed for Lester Lawrence, a popular American actor, who has just taken a bride to the altar again. The actor gaily admits that some of his wives are now mere memories, and while he can recall the Christian names of most, he has completely forgotten the sixth. All his marriages have been regular. Some wives divorced him and he divorced others.

SULTANA SCONES.

Required: Half a pound of flour, one tablespoonful of sultanas, one dessertspoonful of fine sugar, one dessertspoonful of butter, one dessertspoonful of baking-powder, and one pinch of salt. Mix the flour, sugar, baking-powder, and salt; then lightly rub in the butter. Add some milk, then sultanas. Make the dough rather soft. Bake in a hot oven for about ten minutes.

SCALLOPED KIDNEY.

Cut a kidney in thin slices, season with pepper and salt; butter a pie-dish, and put in a layer of kidney, a few thin slices of onions, a layer of breadcrumbs, some little bits of butter and a few drops of Worcester sauce. Fill up the dish with alternate layers, then pour in half a cupful of water, and sprinkle the top with brown breadcrumbs. Bake for one hour in a moderate oven.

SYRUP SPONGE.

Required: One heaped breakfast-cupful of flour, a quarter of a pound of butter, two teaspoonfuls of baking-powder, two eggs, three tablespoonfuls of syrup, and a little milk. Butter the basin and pour in the syrup. Mix flour and baking-powder together, and rub in butter with hands till it has the appearance of breadcrumbs; add sugar. Well beat eggs and sufficient milk to a nice consistency; pour into basin, and steam three hours. Tried and found successful.

NICE SUMMER DRINK.

Procure two medium-sized sticks of rhubarb, cut into small pieces, and put into a jug with a good spoonful of sugar and a strip of thinly-pared peel. Pour upon it a pint or so of boiling water, and let it stand till cold. It is most refreshing, as well as a wholesome drink.

FARM AND STATION.

Good work is being done by the Department of Agriculture in showing the most profitable type of sheep for the agriculturist in the respective districts. Sheep on the farm are an indispensable collateral agency for the economic maintenance of the fertility of the soil, as a look into a few of the facts show. Properly managed, a flock of sheep becomes a direct, as well as an indirect, source of wealth to the farmer engaged in wheat-growing.

To produce wheat profitably in regions of limited and irregular rainfall, following must be practised. We are having frequent reminders of the expediency of following in the low yields on the unfallowed areas; and the good results from those followed. In following the principle of following, however, and exhaustion has to be avoided, as reckoned with. The soil is deprived of its humus by the continuous cultivation essential in maintaining the soil moisture. The loss of humus also deprives the soil of its moisture-holding power. To sustain the humus, vegetable or organic matter of some kind must be introduced into the soil. This can be done by rotation of crops. To use these crops to the best advantage sheep come in as the most valuable factor on the wheat farm.

In many wheat-growing districts lamb raising and fattening on the rotation crops becomes a very remunerative; and while some farmers have argued that cropping the land with wheat only and bare fallowing every other year pays better than growing fodder crops alternately, they overlook what is manifestly of greatest importance—namely, the maintaining of the soil's fertility.

PRACTICAL RESULTS WITH SHEEP ON THE FARM.

At one of the agricultural bureaus in South Australia some interesting papers were read last year by farmers showing their actual experiences in combining sheep and wheat-growing on the one farm. These papers were published in the South Australian "Journal of Agriculture." In the Willowie district, where the rainfall is about 17in per annum, Mr. W. P. Foulis gave figures of a year's transactions in lamb-raising in conjunction with wheat-growing. He took a farm of 640 acres as a basis. This farmer, however, depended on the grass and rubbish of his fallow produced as feed for the sheep. This is a very doubtful practice, but his experiences are interesting, and are worth noting.

He stated that in the month of October, on a farm of 640 acres, the farmer would have a little over 200 acres each of grass, crop, and fallow. Sixty ewes would be quite sufficient for a farm of this area. From October until harvest there would be 200 acres of grass on which to graze the stock. After harvest, and up to following October, there would be 400 acres on which the stock could run. The rubbish grew so quickly on the fallow that there would be almost 400 acres upon which the stock could depasture right up to the following October.

In April there should be about 50 tons of these would be matured on 50 ft of these would be matured for freezing in September, and should net about 9s. per head, or a total of £22 10s.

Each ewe should cost 8s. of wool, valued at 7d. per lb. Deducting 1s. per head for expenses left 3s. 8s. per ewe for wool, or a total of £7 6s. There would then be a clear profit of £26 4s. on the year's transaction. This was made on a farm of 640 acres, worked to its best wool-producing capacity. "Some of the people kept sheep merely for the wool they produced; but in lamb-raising the ewes paid for themselves, with the additional 9s. per head for the lambs. There was no other way in which the grass could be made to give such a splendid return in so short a time.

"This raising of lambs fitted in well with the other agricultural pursuits. In April, when the grass was young and tender, the lambs were young; and grass of this kind was just what they wanted. As the grass grew the lambs grew also; and in September, when they were required to be at their best, the feed was in the very best state to top them off.

"With other stock this was not the case. They had to be fattened in the spring, and then held over through the summer, when feed and water were often scarce, and they were sold in the winter at a time when it was hard to keep them in condition."

A BETTER METHOD.

The return of £26 4s. per annum from sheep as a collateral to wheat-growing, on a farm of 640 acres, falls short of what the land is capable of. The farmer quoted is, however, utilising the natural grasses and herbage, which comes on the fallow. As following is mainly for the purpose of conserving moisture in the soil for the use of the next season's crop of wheat, it is obvious that a better all-round plan would be to grow fodder crops, such as rape, on a section of the farm and feed the sheep on that. A greater number of ewes and lambs could be thus sustained on a given acreage, and more organic or humus-forming matter put into the soil by the reside of the rape and manure of the sheep. Anything growing in the fallow extracts a certain amount of moisture from the soil. The land must be cultivated, too, at regular intervals to maintain the soil much, and to keep down any plant growth. Obviously the value of the few pounds the South Australian farmer received from his sheep under his plan of feeding on the natural pasture, and weeds of the fallow, would be subsequently lost through the wheat crop being deprived of the moisture by the weedy growth on the fallow.

LAMBS FOR EXPORT.

Continuing, Mr. Foulis said that: "During a period of four years Messrs. Greig Brothers sold for freezing 909 lambs, for which they received, on an average, 10s. 8d. per head clear profit. Their estate had an area of 2100 acres, one-third of which was cropped. What these gentlemen had done others could do by working on the same lines.

There is a vast difference in raising lambs for export and in raising lambs in the ordinary way. A man must have this difference centred in his mind from the start. "The pure merino was not the best type of lamb for freezing purposes. The Dorset-Merino and the Shropshire-Merino would realise 10s. more per head than the pure merino reared under the same conditions. "Lambs intended for freezers required careful attention, but more labour need not necessarily be bestowed upon them. They should be shifted from paddock to paddock, and should not be allowed to go hungry for a single day if it could be possibly avoided. Even though the feed be good, a change was beneficial. He advised the cropping with wheat of one-third of the farm as the chief source of income, with the raising of lambs as a secondary industry."

ANOTHER VIEW.

Another farmer at the same meeting, argued that lamb-raising in conjunction with agriculture was not profitable. To secure the greatest return from the farm the land must be well cultivated to give the wheat crop every possible advantage. Were this done, there would be very little (if any) surplus feed for sheep. It was well known that one could secure a greater return by cultivating the land than by grazing it.

"Suppose a farmer owned 1000 acres of land, and was able to keep 400 ewes upon his farm. These ewes would rear 350 lambs for export purposes. This meant that he would have 750 sheep for five months of the year, and 400 during the remaining seven months. This would be the outside number he could keep on the area; and he would receive £175, and 400 ewes' fees at £5 per fleece another £100; so that the total income for the year would be £275.

"By cultivating his farm without keeping any sheep he would be able to crop 500 acres of fallow each year. When members were discussing the average wheat yield per acre, the majority considered that good fallow ground, if manured, should at least average 12 bushels per acre, and upon this average he based his calculations. "Cropping once in three years, he said, would be advocated; but the Roseworthy College experiments, and all the experience of the farmers in his district, had proved this to be a failure. Not only did it allow the land to become dirty, but it ploughed up rough and cloddy, and needed much more working to secure a good seed bed.

"Generally speaking, the stubble fallow was the greatest yielder, unless the land had been left open for a number of years."

HOW A FARMER WORKS IT OUT.

He says that 500 acres at 12 bushels, of four bags, to the acre equalled 2000 bags of wheat, which, at 3s. per bushel, or 9s. per bag, amounted to £2000. Working expenses for the year were:—Following, at 4s. per acre; cultivating with light harrows twice in spring-time at 1s. 6d. each time; cultivating before drill, at 6d. drilling and harrowing, at 1s. 6d.—amounting to 10s. per acre.

"Further, there would be one bushel of seed wheat per acre at 3s., and 50lb. of super-phosphates at £4 per ton, or 2s. per acre. Harvesting and wheat sacks would cost another 8s. per acre, making the total expenses of working 18s. per acre.

"Five hundred acres at 18s. amounted to £900. This, deducted from £2000, gave a net income of £1100, as against £275 from lamb-raising. This showed that by cultivating the land one got over one-half more clear profit than by grazing.

"From grazing one received an income of £275 from 1000 acres of land, or 5s. 6d. profit per acre. By combining lamb-raising with agriculture the farmer could still crop his 500 acres. However much he saved his stubble, and even if he fed right on until late in the spring, he would not be able to keep any more than half the number of sheep before-mentioned, allowing that he could keep as many sheep on a suitable paddock as on good grass land."

THE MAIN POINT.

There is no doubt that this farmer's view regarding the proper cultivation of the land to secure the best yields; and when this is done well there should be no surplus feed for sheep on the fallow. The comparison he draws, however, between the earnings from lamb-raising and wheat-growing combined, and wheat-growing only, is not logically referable to the position. It has been shown in previous times and again that continuous cropping and fallowing exhausts the vegetable matter or humus from the soil. Hence the land ultimately fails to produce a grain crop until the organic substances are restored to the soil. The soil also, as previously pointed out, loses much of its moisture-holding power when humus is lacking. To restore humus it is necessary to incorporate with the soil some kind of vegetation. To do this economically, growing fodder crops, and feeding sheep on these crops, have been resorted to with highly satisfactory results.

Whether the wheat crop or the fodder crop as sheep feed pays the better is of no consequence to the farmer. One or the other of the two crops is indispensable in the economic stability of the farm. Comparing results from the sowing and wheat, respectively, for the sake of argument, it may be said that in many cases from the actual returns show that the value of the lambs with the wool from their mothers, from an acre of rape, amounted to £2; equivalent to 30 bushels of wheat at 8s. per bushel.

"MORRISON OF PEKING."

A DISTINGUISHED AUSTRALIAN.

Dr. Morrison, well known as correspondent of the "Times" in Peking, accepted the position of political adviser to the President of the Chinese Republic for a period of five years. He began his duties in October last. "Morrison of Peking," the journalist who thus becomes a sort of assistant editor of the largest and most popular newspaper in the world, has seen much of the world since he was born at Geelong, Victoria, Australia, in 1862, says the "Daily Chronicle." He began his adventures early. At 29 he tramped across Australia from north to south. A year later he led the "Melbourne Age" expedition to New Guinea, and brought away as a souvenir a spearhead which was cut out of his body the following year when he arrived at Edinburgh to study medicine. He took his M.D., but set out on his journeyings again, and signed on as an ordinary seaman in the South Seas to study the trade in Koro, and for the sugar plantations. Trips to America and the West Indian lands followed, and then he settled down to the humdrum life of a doctor—as Court physician to the Sheriff of Wazan in Morocco. At 33 he was in London, after a 3000-mile trip through China. The book he wrote on this journey attracted attention in the "Times" office, and he was sent off to the East. He travelled from Bangkok, in Siam, to Yunnan City, in China, and in 1897 crossed Manchuria. Finally he settled in Peking, and by 1900 was a world-famous man as the best-informed man on all that concerned China, and the ambitions of the Powers in that part of the world.

MARRIAGE STATISTICS.

INTERESTING CENSUS FACTS.

The Commonwealth Statistician recently issued a bulletin containing interesting information concerning the ages at which persons marry in the Commonwealth, and a comparative statement of the ages of Australian families. At the time of the taking of the last census, in April, 1911, there were 1,000,000 persons under 14 years of age, and 2,250,000 between 15 and 24 years of age. At 17 years, while there were 1,000,000 over 100 years, there were 1,000,000 between 95 and 100, and 175,000 between 90 and 94 years.

It would appear from the statistics that the marrying ages of the males in the Commonwealth are considerably earlier than those of males. Eighteen girls married at 13 years, five of whom had infants at the same age; 92 entered the matrimonial sphere at 15 years, 23 having children during the first year of marriage, while at 16 years no fewer than 415 girls became wives, and 149 of their mothers' marriages at 17 years seem to have been equally successful. In April, 1911, 1075 girls of that age were included in matrimony, and the half of them having offspring during the first year.

There are three million in the Commonwealth over 100 years of age, four between 95 and 100, and 175 between 90 and 94 years. At the time the census was taken there were 110 husbands and 10 wives alive with families of 21 and upwards.

The bulletin also contains comparative statements regarding the religious and birthplaces of wives and husbands. There is a rare specimen of business humour, received the other day by a London firm. It ran:— "Our cashier fell unconscious at his desk, this morning. Up to this time, if you, we have been unable to get a word out of him except your names. May we say to him, with a view to his immediate recovery, that we have you cheaper, as we think that is what is on his mind?"

A story is told in Lady Frances Balfour's "Once," when addressing a huge audience, the officers, fearing the General would not be heard, began to close the windows of the hall. Half were shut, when, peremptorily, he bade the officers stop. "Don't suffocate them till the collection is taken," said the General.

The sailor had just shown the lady visitor over the ship. In thanking him she said: "I am sorry to see by the rules of your ship that tips are forbidden." "Less your heart, mum," replied Jack. "So were the apples in the Garden of Eden." 1893.

At a conference of country newspaper proprietors held in Melbourne and presided over by Mr H. A. Luke, of Sale, it was unanimously decided, "in view of the serious legislative restrictions placed on the press by the Commonwealth Parliament," to make a charge of 1/ an inch for publication of addresses delivered by all candidates, irrespective of parties. One of the proprietors who was actively associated with the passing of the resolution, said that by making this arrangement candidates would themselves become practically responsible for what appeared. It was only fair that country newspapers, which had to struggle against great opposition from large centres in respect to printing, should in the face of the disabilities placed on them by the Federal Parliament, be requiring all matter relating to the elections to be signed, ask for this modest payment.

Mr G. Skeen, blacksmith of Beaufort, injured his hand severely early in the week, and has been unable to work for several days.

Fullerton, fixing the levy at 3d, was carried.

OBITUARY.

A very sad death occurred at the Trawalla Hotel on Tuesday morning, when Miss Margaret Rose Jaensch, eldest daughter of Mr and Mrs H. W. Jaensch, passed away. Deceased, who was 23 years of age, had been suffering for five months from rheumatic fever, followed by heart disease and dropsy, which were the immediate causes of death. Deceased was of a very bright and cheerful disposition, and possessing many excellent qualities, was highly esteemed by all who knew her. Her marriage had been arranged for Thursday—the day on which she was buried. A great deal of sympathy has been expressed for the bereaved parents and relatives. The funeral took place on Thursday, the remains being interred in the Beaufort Cemetery. As showing the sympathy felt for the parents in their sad bereavement, and also the esteem in which the deceased young lady was held, people from all parts of the district attended the funeral, which was the largest seen in Beaufort for many years past, the cortege comprising 75 vehicles and two horsemen. The top of the hearse was covered with beautiful floral tributes of sympathy. Messrs C. E. Jaensch, J. O. Jaensch, G. H. Jaensch, J. A. Jaensch, L. A. Jaensch (uncles of deceased), and William Jaensch (brother) acted as coffin-bearers; while the pallbearers were Messrs G. R. Jaensch, junr. (brother of deceased), Herman Jaensch (cousin), S. Baldwin, M. Fitzpatrick, W. H. Halpin, P. Grant, John Jess, Jas. Rodgers, D. McCallum, W. C. Jones, and M. Martin. The Rev. J. F. Coughlan conducted the Roman Catholic burial service. Mr A. H. Sands, undertaker, Beaufort, carried out the funeral arrangements.

Mr and Mrs James Deans, of Beaufort, suffered a bereavement early on Monday morning, their infant daughter, Marjorie Caroline, aged 9½ months, passing away after an illness of three weeks' duration. The cause of death was convulsions and teething. The funeral took place on Monday afternoon, the remains being interred in the Beaufort Cemetery. On Thursday, 13th inst., Mr and Mrs P. Hains, of Beaufort, had the misfortune to lose their infant son, Lawrence George, aged 8 months, the cause of death being marasmus, malnutrition, and exhaustion; the child apparently having been debilitated from birth. The remains were interred in the Beaufort Cemetery on Friday, 14th inst.

MATERNITY BONUS. AN ILLEGAL CLAIM. WOMAN FINED £10. Considerable interest was taken in the Smythesdale district in the case heard at the police court on Tuesday last, when Hannah Jane Nunn was charged, before Mr S. J. Goldsmith, P.M., with having obtained, on 4th November last, a maternity allowance by means of a false declaration that a child was born to her on 10th October, whereas the birth was prior to that date.

Mr J. P. Pearson, who appeared for the prosecution, stated that the accused's child was born on 20th September, but in her application for the bonus she declared the birth to have been on 10th October, the first day upon which the maternity grant came into operation. The bonus was paid to the defendant. This was the first case of the kind in the Commonwealth, and a prosecution was necessary. Patrick Henry Kileen, clerk in the Maternity department, said the claim sent in by the defendant appeared to be correct. It was accompanied by a midwife's certificate, signed "J. Collins." The money was paid. Later he received another document, signed "Jane Collins," and, noticing a difference in the signatures, he instituted inquiries. Jane Collins, nurse, of Raglan-street, Ballarat, stated that Mrs Nunn was a resident of Snake Valley, and that she came to witness's home for the accommodation. The child was born on 20th September. She signed no document for Mrs Nunn. Detective-Sergeant Rogerson gave evidence of having interviewed defendant, who, in the presence of her husband, confessed to having signed the name "J. Collins" to the form produced, adding, in answer to a question, that her sister witnessed the signature. The sister was a little girl, and did not know what she was doing. Defendant stated that she had not believed there was any wrong in what she did. There had been so little difference between the date of the birth of the child and the coming into force of the maternity bonus that she had thought it did not matter.

Mr Goldsmith said the defendant was clever enough to cunning enough to fix the exact date upon which the act came into operation, and had not scrupled to use another woman's name. A fine of £10, with 28/8 costs, was imposed.

BEAUFORT CEMETERY TRUST. The annual meeting of the Beaufort Cemetery Trust was held at the Shire Hall on Thursday evening. Present—Messrs J. R. Wotherspoon, Chairman, W. O'Sullivan, and J. Parker, Secretaries. The Chairmen reported that the accounts had been audited and found correct. The balance-sheet for the year was received and reported upon. The Secretary reported that the revenue for the year was £230, and the expenditure £224 1/2, leaving a balance of £5 1/2. A new gate and fence are now in progress, having been painted and repaired during the past year. A new gate and fence are now in progress, having been painted and repaired during the past year. MINING NEWS. The machinery for the Northern Hope has been dismantled. The first lot is expected to arrive at the mine next week. Arrangements for the removal of the machinery purchased by the Hope Extended Co. are being pushed ahead with all possible speed. The Hope Co. are having on their site to give the existence of further minerals running into the Hope, which, if proved, will be an important development.

Mr Stanley Hunter, the Department mining expert, is in Beaufort for the purpose of compiling a report on the recently developed Trawalla field and district mining in general. Mr Hunter will probably remain here for some weeks. The manager of the Northern Hope (Mr Derwick) reports:—Three parties panning and trucking west end—one party east and all in good average ground. East branch reef drive extended 23 ft.; total, 255 ft.; carrying 18 ins. payable assay. West branch reef drive extended 35 ft.; total, 144 ft. Working short haul. Started pump Tuesday; working well. Yield, 150 ozs. 9 dwts., from 55 fathoms. The local yields for the week are as follows:—Hope (fortnight), 150oz. 9dwts.; Sandries, 3oz. 5dwts. 19gr.

ORDINARY CREDULITY. A case that has just been reported from Orleans, is highly interesting. It is a case of a woman who followed the fortune-telling illegal and the offence in itself. The woman would almost make one of all the parties concerned to life out of M. De-... credit play "Credulities." and was a frail, delicate little woman, and her primary was a burly, red-tinted, making a typical of mind and matter. The man asked the seer, "What the price of mutton in six months?" For the modest of the lady condescended to a quotation. Thereupon she said she possessed, but as many flocks of sheep could with the money—she would.

"And the invisible forces of the earth," she said, his house property, and even his health. Another patient of hers was suffering from a disease of the heart, and she would not heal her, but she would let her a beggar, and she would only mullied in the form that was to be used in this event. And several other cases.

BALLARAT STOCK MARKET.

Tuesday. Fat cattle—175 head yarded to-day, the bulk being principally useful sorts, with only a sprinkling of prime quality. The demand was fairly good, and values generally were without much alteration from last market. Quotations:—Prime pens bullocks, £12 to £13 12/6; good pens bullocks, £10 5/ to £11; medium, £8 to £9 10/; best cows, to £10 17/6. Sheep—5510 penned for to-day's sale, majority being chiefly medium descriptions, only a small number being prime, with a fair proportion of good quality. Market opened firmer, and improved as sales progressed. Values generally show a good advance on late rates. Quotations:—Prime crossbred wethers, 17/ to 18/6; extra quality, 20/ to 21/11; good crossbred wethers, 15/ to 16/6; medium do., 13/ to 14/; prime crossbred ewes, 16/ to 17/; extra quality, to 18/; good crossbred ewes, 14/ to 15/; medium do., 11/ to 12/6; best merino wethers, 14/ to 15/6; good merino wethers, 11/ to 12/6. Lambs—2664 came forward, only a fair number comprising good to prime quality, balance medium sorts. There was a good demand for all descriptions, and values show a further improvement on last week's improved rates. Quotations:—Prime pens lambs, 15/ to 16/; extra quality, 17/ to 18/9; good pens lambs, 13/ to 14/; medium do., 10/ to 11/; others lower. The following district sale is reported:—8 cows and heifers for Mr D. Stewart, Monnot, Skipton, to £7.

HEAVY DEPRESSED FEELING. "About twelve months ago," writes Mr. R. Neill, Patton, South Broken Hill, N.S.W., "I got nasty pains across my stomach and chest, which gave me a heavy, depressed feeling. After using various remedies without success, I tried Chamberlain's Tablets, the first dose of which did me so much good and gave such relief that I persevered with them, and my enjoyment good health." Sold by J. H. Waters, Sydney & Co.

The Man Who Does Not Advertise

Reads there a man with soul so dead That to himself he hath not said, "My trade of late is getting bad, I'll try another ten-inch ad." If such there be, go mark him well, For him no bank account shall swell—No angel watch the golden stair To welcome home a millionaire.

To such a man the noisy din Of traffic may not enter in, For bargain hunters by the score Shall pass nor heed his dingy door. For tho' his sign is on the wall, And on some boardyard sign is set, No people who have eyes and nose, Go prancing onward to read the fable.

The man who never asks for trade By local line or ad displayed, Cares more for rest than worldly gain, And patronage but gives him pain; Treat lightly, friends, let no rude sound Disturb his solitude profound. Here let him live in calm repose, Unthought except by men he loves.

Make your District Known.

Concerning some parts of the district news comes but seldom. This is not entirely our fault; we have no miraculous power of knowing what is happening at all the places within our area of circulation. It is the fault of residents in the silent places.

Will some man or woman take the matter in hand and cause the silence to cease. If no one else is doing it for your district, will you try on these lines? Send accounts of public and social events in your township and neighbourhood, such as weddings, deaths, accidents, concerts, matters touching district industries, etc.

Write the names of persons very distinctly. Don't bother about grammar or spelling; it's the editor's work to look after those trifles. The barest skeleton is enough. Write only on one side of the paper. Give information; but let criticism alone.

Write your name and address on some corner—not for publication, but to prove good faith. The following temporary appointments have been made in the E. Co. Senior Cadets, Beaufort: Color sergeant, E. G. Rogers; sergeants, A. J. Haggis and R. Watkin; corporals, P. J. George, H. Slater, and S. Haggis. These appointments are provisional and subject to examination, which is to be held shortly.

A fine opportunity to secure a good bicycle at a cheap price presents itself to the intending buyer at the Massey Bicycle Depot, Ballarat, where the firm announce they have a stock of 200 of these machines to dispose of. Every bicycle has been carefully overhauled and fitted with new parts where required. The frames have been re-enameled, and new tyres are fitted to every second-hand machine sold. The Company also advertise some cheap tyres, with a six months' guarantee, at 6/ each, which can be recommended.

REST AND SHADE.

THE LAST WORDS OF STONEWALL JACKSON.

"Let us cross over the river, and rest under the shade of the trees." These were the farewell words of whom? Of course poet sighing for the idleness of Arcady, of some worn-out spirit drooping for the cooling stream? No; they came from the lips of one who had never known or asked for repose or shade, whose crossings of rivers had hitherto been done in the face of blasts of hostile shells, from a stern, unrelenting man, not old, but under forty years, not exhausted, but in the full tide of gigantic enterprise, not peaceful, but the fiercest soldier of his age—Stonewall Jackson dying by his hurts on the field of Chancellorsville. They were his last words, closing a series of sharply uttered commands: "Order Hill to prepare for action!" "Pass the infantry to the front!" Then, "very quietly and clearly," the beautiful, almost metrical sentence recorded above, and straightway, says his fine historian, the late Colonel Henderson, "the soul of the great Captain passed into the peace of God."

Jackon had long been delirious from his terrible wounds, those rapid orders were, of course, nothing but "the last words of Marston," the breath of a martial spirit hovering over the fighting-line, so long it is home, before it took flight. But we have always been convinced that his final words welled from the clear spring of his own unclouded mind. Often does Death, listening, "dull cold-ear'd" legate, for his assured detail—often does he bear his own inheritance. That last faint whisper sometimes carries the Fathman shot of his escaping enemy, the soul.

The deep interest of Stonewall Jackson's dying words, however, lies not in their individual application, though that in his case is unexpected enough, but in their general. The passing warrior whispered not only his own but a universal yearning. For an instant of time all the pain and passion of the world, all its weakness, its inherent humility, its beast-like sense of burden, found voice in those most unlikely lips, the thin soldier's lips still ruled rigid and straight, not by death, though within a tick of death, but by the utterance of order of battle.

For all the world wants rest, and shade, wants it more every day; not only the old world, moreover, not only the scorched toiler numbering in the "labourer's sweet sleep," but the happy shepherd boy himself, shouting on the world, has caught sight of that immortal sea which will bear him hence, and he, too, cries "Thalassa!"—"Linesman," in the "Spectator."

STAGE REHEARSALS.

I have witnessed some very extraordinary and sometimes most pathetic scenes at rehearsals. There are some well-known actors, and what is still worse, some famous actresses, who can never play unless more or less under the influence of drink.

I saw the early rehearsals of one of the most successful comedies of the past few years. In the piece was one of the most fascinating and clever young actresses of the day. When she arrived at the theatre she would always drink half a pint of champagne before going on the stage.

She made no secret about it at all. She often would drink the wine on the stage in the presence of the whole company. One day her dresser forgot to send out for the wine; the actress laughingly said she would try to get on without it; she was quite "line" perfect by this time, but there were some rather emotional scenes which she had not yet played quite to her own or to the producer's satisfaction.

On this occasion, however, she went through one of the scenes—a most trying and difficult one—when she was alone on the stage for nearly fifteen minutes, splendidly. All of us who were standing about the wings broke into an involuntary cheer when she finished, and the producer came forward to congratulate her. She smiled and thanked him, but I saw her was trembling all over, and I was a ghastly colour. She sent her dresser out for some brandy, and before she went on again she drank nearly half a pint of it neat.

Her fate is certain. She will die a drunkard's death, and that before very many years are out, and she is not thirty yet. I have often seen another famous actress at rehearsals, who is killing herself by remaining on the stage. She is suffering from an internal complaint which would probably be cured if she were to lead a quiet sedentary life.

She fainted one day at a rehearsal after going through a very emotional and difficult scene, and it was some time before she recovered consciousness. Then looking round at the people standing near her she exclaimed with a pathetic little cry: "Ah, I shall have to play my last scene very soon. I am afraid."

As a matter of fact, she is still on the stage, but she is in very bad health indeed.—Theatre Manager, in the "Yorkshire Post."

Mrs. Beek: "But how do you know that he is a married man? Did he say he was?" Mr. Beek: "No; but he looked sympathetic when I told him I was."

POSTAL RATES.

NEW SCHEDULE DETAILED.

The new postage rates, which came into force on 1st May, when penny postage operated throughout the Commonwealth, are as follows:— Letters, 1d per 1/2 oz.

Letter cards—Single, 1d each; reply, 1d each half.

Postcards—Single, 1d; reply, 1d each half.

Printed papers, as prescribed, 3d per 2 oz. or part of 2 oz.

Books printed outside Australia, 3d per 4 oz. or part of 4 oz.

Books printed in Australia, 3d per 8 oz. or part of 8 oz.

(Magazines, that is to say— (a) Magazines, reviews, serials, and other similar publications printed and published in Australia in numbers at intervals not exceeding three months, 3d for 8 oz. or part of 8 oz.

(b) Magazines, reviews, serials, and other similar publications (including newspapers) printed and published outside Australia in numbers at intervals not exceeding three months, 3d per 4 oz. or part of 4 oz.

"Hansard," that is, reports of Parliamentary debates printed and published by the authority of the Commonwealth or State, 3d per 12 oz. or part of 12 oz.

Commercial papers, patterns, samples, and merchandise, as prescribed, 1d per 2 oz. or part of 2 oz.

The penny postage concession will apply to letters to the United Kingdom and to some other British dominions.

THE CLOSE SEASON.

For the whole year.—Tits, wild turkey, emu, white cranes, fantails, noddies, laughing jackass, ibis, kangaroo, larks (all species), lyre birds, magpie larks, native bears, owls, platypus, robins, curlews, and swallows, wild pigeons and doves of all kinds, black swans.

From 1st August till 5.30 a.m. on 1st February.—Quail of all kinds, except Californian quail.

From 1st July till 5.30 a.m. on 1st February.—Wild ducks and teal of all kinds, wild geese of all kinds, coots, gannets, cockatoos, magpies, native companions or Australian cranes, land rail, plovers (except southern stone plover or curlew), honey-eaters (except water birds and leather-heads).

It has been decided that opossums shall be protected in all parts of the State throughout the year, instead of for the six months ending 31st October. The Game Department considers that it will be two or three years before there will be a break in the close season.

Owing to the exceptionally high prices ruling for their skins last year, great numbers of opossums were shot, and though the destruction was not so manifest this year, the protection which has been given was considered urgent.

CLOSE SEASON FOR FISH.

From 1st October to 30th November (both days inclusive).—Murray Cod, Murray Perch, and Murray Bream.

From 1st May to 31st August (both dates inclusive).—English Trout, Minnow Weights.—Murray Cod, 1 lb.; Murray Perch, 3 oz.; Murray Bream, 3 oz.; English Trout, 3 oz.

Too Well Known to Need an "A.D."

This idea that you have lived so long in town that everybody knows you and you don't need to advertise is a mistake. This very indifference to advertising, indifference to doing business as it is done in this day and age, is what has enabled the catalogue or mail order houses to grow from mere nothing to great concerns. The merchant who can convince the people of his section, and keep them convinced that his store is the best place to buy this and that article, will not lose trade to the mail order house. Of course, he cannot afford to get out a catalogue as thick as a Bible, but he can keep an advertisement in his local paper, and see that it is changed every week, thus keeping new bargains continually before the public. He should also have a mailing list, and send out a circular letter at least once a month. Don't look upon your country newspaper as an object of charity. There is not a single country newspaper in the State, with a general local circulation, which is not able to give full value for money received. The country papers can help you solve this question if you give them a chance.—Ed. K. Slater, in "Merchants' Record and Show Window."

Railwa Time-Table.

The following is the local railway time-table:—A mixed train leaves Ballarat at 11.25 a.m., Travalla at 12.10 p.m., reaching Beaufort at 12.18, and taking its departure at 12.27. It leaves Middle Creek at 12.49, and Buangor at 12.58. The Adelaide express leaves Melbourne at 4.40 p.m. (Sundays excepted), Ballarat at 7.40, and Beaufort at 8.33 (arriving here at 8.39). On the return journey to Melbourne (Monday excepted) the express leaves Beaufort at 6.20 a.m. (arriving at 6.24). The afternoon mixed train from Stawell to Ballarat runs every week day. It departs from Buangor at 4.49 p.m., Middle Creek at 4.58, Beaufort at 5.28 (arriving here at 5.22), Travalla at 5.39, and Burraumbest at 6.45. Mixed trains will also leave Ballarat and intervening stations to Stawell every week day at 5.10 a.m. (leaving Beaufort at 6.30) and 5.15 p.m. (Burrumbest at 6.10, Travalla at 6.31, Beaufort at 6.50 (arriving here at 6.44), Middle Creek at 7.18, and Buangor at 7.30. The morning mixed train from Stawell to Ballarat leaves Stawell at 6 a.m. instead of 6.15 a.m., and is timed to leave the district at the following times:—Buangor, 7.53; Middle Creek, 8.4; Beaufort, 8.37 (arriving here at 8.27); Travalla, 8.48; Burrumbest, 9.12. The 8.25 p.m. train from Stawell to Ballarat departs from Beaufort at 11.18 p.m.

This Testimony Tells All Sick Women—WANT CLEMENTS TONIC

Mrs. Nieton, who gives this testimony to this splendid nerve and blood medicine, called in person when on a visit to Sydney to tell the proprietors of her great recovery to health and strength. Surely there is a greater recovery on record, for at one time she was so ill, she never expected to be able to walk about again. She was run down in nerves, almost strengthless, in fact, an invalid in every sense of the word, yet here is her letter. She is a strong healthy woman now, thanks to Clements Tonic. She writes from her home, 132 Liverpool Street, Hobart, November, 21, 1910.

CLEMENTS TONIC LTD.

"I write to tell you in my opinion Clements Tonic is the most wonderful medicine known."

I have been for 28 years in business in Hobart, well known to everyone there, and years ago I was taken very ill with Hydatids of the Liver, which resulted in several serious operations, and which led to continuous ill-health afterwards. Like a sick woman will, I tried many doctors and medicines, without regaining health or strength.

I suffered as the result of the operations from Loss of Memory, Nervous Breakdown, Loss of Sleep, Poor Appetite, and Indigestion. I could not walk across the room I was so weak; in fact, I thought I would never be able to attend to my business again.

Clements Tonic I decided to try, found it to act like magic in giving me an appetite and better nervous strength. This is the result. To-day I am alive and well. I am here in the flesh to-day, thanks to that splendid medicine, which cured me of the ailments specified in this letter. Nervous Breakdown in particular. I can give you the names of dozens of Hobart citizens who know these words are true, also the name of the chemist there who sold me the tonic, Mr. A. P. Miller, Liverpool Street, Hobart.

I always recommend Clements Tonic to persons in ill-health, because I know what it is and what its use means for women, and I hope you will use this letter in the great cause of suffering humanity."

(Signed) (Mrs.) MINNIE NIETON.

Witness: F. Fowler, J.P., Enmore, N.S.W.

Life is so short, yet thousands yearly shorten life by neglect to keep a good medicine when the system and stomach are out of order. Unhealthy people should remember that good health and Clements Tonic go hand in hand. It may be described as twin brother of health and strength.

NOTICE.

Organisers of concerts, bazaars, socials, picnics, sports gatherings, race-meetings, meetings of societies, Sunday school and church anniversaries, and other religious services will please observe that when advertised every endeavour will be made to send a representative to obtain an extended report of the proceedings, but when an advertisement is not given only a brief summary of the event will be published. As a business proposition, organisers of all public functions will find that it pays to advertise them in the local paper, for after all a newspaper is a business, and not a charitable institution.

The law of exchange was never satisfactory in its working; thus it was that the custom of buying and selling, using a standard currency, was introduced. One form of that currency is known as "paper money," and of paper money there is more than one kind. All kinds of useful, but not every kind retains its original value. The "paper" money most valuable to a newspaper proprietor is that which is sent him by "Subscribers and Advertisers" and he will do his utmost to entitle him to "his share of it."
