bertson, who considered that the erection of a picket fence was a very desirable thing. Mr Sinclair, who presided, said the object of the meeting was the erection of a picket fence around the oval. As a matter of fact, the Athletic Cluh and Agricultural Society contributed a sum for this purpose some time ago, but the North Riding councillors considered it was not enough and spent it on a ladies' room, which was needed. The club's sports would not be a comit on a ladies' room, which was needed. The club's sports would not be a complete success until they picketed off at least part of the oval, as the public always came under the chains. If they could raise £50 or £60, he believed his colleagues in the North and West ridings would subsidise it by a certain amount to improve the Park. Every year there was a small subsidy from the Government in aid of the Park, and that could part of the park and that could be a complete success until they picketed off at least part of the recovery of all GENERAL, WATER, and SANITARY RATES, and INTEREST DUE THEREON, remaining unpaid after the 31st July, 1925.

He was Featuring FRANK KEENAN and ANNA Q. rather disappointed that there was such a small meeting. He could say as president that he believed the club would be time to he run for the movement. They could call a meeting of the club and consider that, and if they felt inclined to lic, they could have another meeting later on. Then, perhaps, they would have a better meeting than to-night. There was plenty of time between now orego their day and give it to the puband Xmas. There was no reason why, if the meeting was properly worked, they could not make £100, when £300 was to come to their aid, and he thought £100 would be ample for it. Mr A. Parker also supported the suggestion, and said he had been advocating the erection of a picket fence for 20 years. Mr A. M. Parker moved that this meeting stand adjourned, and that the presit and secretary be instructed to cal another meeting before August 15th, and to invite other clubs and societies to send representatives. The Football Club's ball was a decided success; there being a large attendance. The room was nicely decorated with multi-colored streamers. Many beautiful dresses were worn by the ladies. During the evening two guessing competitions were got off by AIr W. Beasley. A golden casket (the gift of the president, Mr. P. Panther), was won by Mis Finch. A box of chocolates (the gift of Mr Tucker) was won by Mr I. Grant. A wallzing competition was held; 16 couples competing. Mr J. Irving was the judge, and he certainly bid a difficult task, as all the competitors were splended dancers. He gave the prize (the gift of Mr Saph) to Mr J. The Rev. L. Burgess, who has been appointed vicar of the newly-formed parish of Skipton, Mt. Bute, and Cirranballac, was farewelled at a social evening at Linton, when the vicar (Rev. A. G. Horner) presented him with a handsome suit-case, study chair, and other gifts from the congregations of Linton, Carngham, Smythesdale, and Scaradale. Mr Hornes spoke in culozistic terms of Mr Burgess, who had been his curate for about 18 months, and wished him success and happiness in the Skipton parish. Mr A. J. Smith and Mr L. Sparrow also spoke, and the Rev. L.

Burgess suitably responded. Nothing touches the Ford for country work

THE dependability of the Ford Car is famous throughout Australia. No other car is so popular in the country, where hard daily service must be given over the worst kind of roads.

Dependable, easy to handle, comfortable and—above all economical, the Ford is easily the soundest car investment.

More Ford Cars are in daily use than the combined totals of other makes. Such leadership could only have been established by outstanding quality in the product itself. Many thousands of Australians select the Ford as the most practical car for country use.
