Mr T. E. Sands (the well-known trap-shooter and racing man) said he felt greatly honored to be asked to present to so many old sportsmen and new ones to-day. Fifty years ago he had attended the meeting at Buangor, and it was a great pleasure indeed to be back again and see so many old identities. and many of a new generation among them, to see this fine sports ground, and witness the excellent way in which the sports were carried out to-day. Everybody had enjoyed the outing, and no doubt looked forward to the sports being continued. There were some very fine trophics here, and it was a credit to this little town that there were so many good sportsmen about. He had witnessed some fine racing indeed, and the competitors deserved great credit for bringing their horses here and winning these trophies.

With a few, well-chosen words, Mr Sands then handed a cup to Mr A. Lewell, the J. Jones' cup (the gift] of Mr A. Kelly) to Mr Alex. Lofts, and the Alex. MacRae Cup to Mr Alf. Brown.

Messrs. Lewell and Brown returned thanks. PRESENTATION OF LIFE MEM-BERSHIP BADGE.

Mr Sands announced that several other trophies would be kept till some future time. He had now the most important presentation of the lot to make-that of a life membership badge to Mr J. Jones. He knew Mr Jones as a boy, and no doubt many of the old residents knew what a great sportsman he had been. The name of Jones would be remembered as that of one who had done much for the club and the town, and the members felt justified in conferring on Mr Jones the honor of life membership. Mr Jones was unfortunately not here, and he handed the badge over to Mr J. K. Pickford, whom he asked to convey to Mr Jones the goodwill and best wishes of the inhabitants of this district. (Applause).

Mr Pickford, in accepting the gift on behalf of Mr Jones, thanked the club for presenting the badge, and Mr Sands for his kind remarks. Unfortunately, Mr Jones had been called away on business, and had asked him to receive this gift for him. He had asked him to let them know that the improvements to the ground were not nearly complete. Mr Jones said that on his return he would have the entrance gates put up, on which would be the name. "Toronto Park." Buangor. He understood that Toronto, Canada, was where Mr Jones' grandparents came from. Mr Jones was going to build a grandstand next year, and make many other improvements. Next year he would like to see them all back, because they would have a very fine ground indeed.

THE REFERENDUMS.

OFFICIAL ADVICE TO VOTERS.

The following advice to voters in connection with the Referendums has been issued by the electoral authorit-

The polling booths will be open on Saturday next, 6th March, continuously from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m.

Voting is compulsory. Failure to vote without a valid and sufficient reason renders the elector liable to a penalty not exceeding £2.

Electors are urged to vote during the morning or early afternoon so as to avoid crowding or delay at the booths

Wherever possible, the elector should vote as an ordinary voter by attending a polling booth in the subdivision for which he is enrolled. It is the simplest way.

If, however, an elector will not, during the hours of polling, be within his own subdivision, he may vote as an absent voter at any polling place elsewhere in the State for which he is enrolled.

Electors who, on polling day, will be outside the State for which they are enrolled, or will be more than five miles from a polling place in that State, or will be travelling under conditions which preclude them from attending a polling place, or who are seriously ill or infirm (including women approaching maternity), may vote as postal voters. As. however, a postal vote cannot be is sued after 6 p.m. on Friday, the 5th March, any elector requiring to vote by post should make the necessry application to a Divisional Returning Officer at once

Every voter attending a polling booth on polling day should clearly furnish his surname, full Christian name, address and occupation, to the presiding officer. This will expedite the polling, and prevent errors in identification.

Each elector voting as an abso voter must state the division, and to the best of his knowledge, the subdivision for which he is enrolled. If he is in any doubt, he should seek the assistance of the presiding officer.

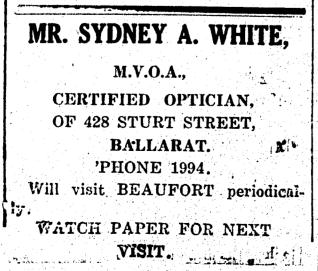

If an elector's name cannot be found on the certified list, and the elector believes it has been improperly omitted or removed therefrom, he may state the facts to the presiding officer. who, if satisfied the elector is so entitled, will permit him to record his vote under Section 121 of the Electoral Act.

HOW TO VOTE. Only one ballot-paper will be issued to each voter, but on this ballot paper there will be two questions. one relating to the proposed law with respect to aviation, and the other to the proposed law with respect to marketing.

The voter should indicate his vote separately in respect of each proposed law, as follows:---

1. If he approves of the proposed law, by placing the number 1 in the square opposite the word "Yes," and by placing the number 2 in the square opposite the word "No": or

2. If he does not approve of the proposed law, by placing the number 1 in the square opposite the word "No." and by placing the number 2 in the square opposite the word "Yes."

ARREARS OF RATES.

Messrs, R. A. D. Sinclair and D. F. Troy, J's.P., occupied the bench at the Beaufort Police Court on Monday. Prior to commencing the business, Mr Sinclair said that it might appear wrong for two justices to be on the bench when both were councillors, and the Ripon Shire Council was the complainant in a number of cases for the recovery of arrears of rates. It was guite legal for Mr Troy and himself to act as justices.

CASE AGAINST GOLD-SEEKER DISMISSED.

First-constable Robert Henry Shaw, of Lexton, charged Frederick Albert Edwards with being in possession of certain articles believed to have been stolen.

Defendant pleaded not guilty.

First-constable Shaw stated on oath that he saw the defendant at Mt. Lonarch on March 1st. Edwards had in his possession a swag, which contained two blankets, a dungaree coat, matches, and other articles. He asked defendant how he came to be in possession of these, and he said he did not know. Defendant denied having broken into a house. He said he slept with his overcoat on, and put the two blankets over the top. In reply to First-constable L.

Roche, witness said that he received information about a house being broken into. The man whose house had been entered identified the coat and blankets as his property.

Frederick Albert Edwards, sworn, stated that he was travelling around from place to place looking for gold. He put his swag down by the side of the road whilst he went in search of some food, and on returning, found his own swag missing, and the one produced in court in its place.

In reply to First-constable I Roche, Edwards said that he knew the blankets were not his property. He wanted to tell the Bench that he did not steal the articles.

To Mr Sinclair-My swag was gone, and the other one was in its place.

After a short adjournment, the Bench dismissed the case.

"I WOULD RATHER BE SQUARE THAN A MILLIONAIRE."

By John L. Sullivan.

It is a good thing for young people to start out in life with an object in view. The earlier they find the object of their life's work the better. But every boy, and every girl as well, oughi to be particular to fit the body in the young years of life for the strain that it will be called upon to bear when they grow older. Without a good physical foundation no man can be a real success, no matter how much money he has. During youth is the time to build for the future. Parents should know what is good for their children, but I don't believe very many of them do, judging from the poor. sickly children we see these days And most of these puny, hot-house flowers appear to be the children of people who are rated as successes in life. Did you ever stop to ask the question: "What kind of successes will those children be in life?"

When you start out in life, young man, have some motto before youthe simpler the better-but have one. When I was a boy I didn't have as many opportunities as the majority of boys have nowadays, but I had a motto. It was this: "Be square." That's a homely old motto, but it has been the best guiding-post in my life. You won't have any trouble looking any one in the face if you live up to that motto; but, maybe, there will come times in your life when you will find it hard to "Be square." I'd rather be square than a million-

Naturally, I am more familiar with boxing than most anything else, for it was boxing that brought me before the public and helped me to earn the money that I haven't got now. But I always found it paid to be square in the ring, and in all matters pertaining to the ring. There are boxers who have more money than I bave, no doubt, and maybe they are considered to be greater successes in life than am, but I'd rather be what I am and be able to look the whole world in the face and say: "I've been square," than to have been guilty of stooping to what some of them did to get their fortunes. No; I wouldn't advise a young man to take up boxing as a profession now. The day has passed when anyone but a champion can hope to make anything out of it. And the same amount of energy and care and training that it takes to produce a champion boxer could be used in some other calling and bring a hundred-fold better re sults.

The young men of to-day waste themselves. Why, if these young fellows would take as good care of themselves as the animals they would be stronger and better men. We can learn a good many valuable hints from the beasts. which they say have no souls. Maybe, they haven't; but some of them have better sense than human beings in the matter of taking care of themselves.

Be true to yourself, and be true to your friends; but don't make too many friends. You better have half-a-dozen friends who will stick to you through adversity than a hundred friends who will stay by you only during your prosperity. I know. I have had both kinds.

Between the ages of eighteen and twenty-four a boy is his own worst enemy. He thinks he knows; he thinks he is wise; but he isn't. And that is a dangerous period for our girls too. Be careful between eighteen and twenty-four, and if you "get by" there you can feel that you are good for something on beyond.

MAKES GEOGRAPHY ATTRACTIVE Never was geography more important than it is to-day," observed a student of the subject.

"One cannot read the newspapers intelligently without geographical knowledge or constant reference to maps. Regions that fifty years ago were practically unknown except to daring explorers are now the goal of the tour-

"Forbidden lands like Tibet and, in a lesser degree, the interior of China, have been opened up, and countries supposed to be mere barbarian lands have suddenly shown themselves civilised and progressive. Japan is a notable case in point.

"Then we have the Sahara desert becoming prominent, partly in virtue of the fact that it will soon be spanned by telegraph wires; and, again, we learn of tremendous changes in the position of the ice-mass at the South

DICM & CANNIBAL ISLAND.

A cake of soap is said to have saved the lives of five men and a boy off the coast of New Guinea. The story, as told in the smolling-room of a steamer going to Brisbane, by an old man, the owner of several vessels engaged in pearl-fishing, is reported in Mr. Nisbet's "Colonial Tramp."

"It all happened in a moment," said the old man. "The ship struck a part of the reef and went down like a thunderbolt, and we had only time to jump overboard and swim ashore.

"We were at the mouth of Cloudy Bay, which meant slow roasting alive as soon as the natives got a peep at able, with nothing to stay the pangs and E. R. Martin. Results:of hunger. "As daylight dawned I saw a case to secure the treasure. We had it on shore in no time, and prising it open with our fingers found it filled with soap. We hemoaned our hard luck in emphatic language.

"Cloce round the case, boys, they're coming!' I shouted, as I saw fifty mopheaded savages armed with spears. At fifteen yards' distance they paused. and their chief came out to talk with us. I grabbed an armful of the soan tablets and advanced to meet him. His eves lightened as he saw the amberlike cakes on which the sun was shining. Novelties, when they take, mean success.

"Going simicht up to this man-eater I offered him a cake. He took it, smelt it, and fasted it. Evidently he did not like its taste, for he scowled at me. By signs I showed him how to use it. The Papuan is fond of washing himself. and my pan'omime took his fancy Seeing a stream of fresh water. I led the chief to it. First washing my own hand f gave him the tablet. He did as I had done, and was delighted. "Then for the next ten minutes there was a scrubbing among those connenstins, Their weapons were thrown down, and they lathered one) another: and then tossed the water over their belies.

"We were saved, and made on the spot medicine men of the tribe. The plererial advertisements of the source malers were used to decorate the idol house. Two weeks afterwards we were rescued by an English war-shoon." ه مرکز از میکند این میکند این میکند با بین میکند در این میکند و میکند و میکند این میکند این میکند این میکند این مرکز از میکند این میکند این میکند این میکند این میکند و میکند و میکند این میکند این میکند این میکند این میکند ا

CAUSED BY "CODDLING."

While there are many people who suffer as a result of not studying their diet, there are others whose maladies are 'caused by pampering and "coddling" their digestive organs.

"Most of the people who declare that they cannot cat this or that ar ticle of food would be much healthier if they simply took the ordinary dies of every-day life and did not troubic themselves whether their food agreed with them or not."

Such was the dictum of a doctor who has studied the question. The principle does not apply only to food Throat complaints are often caused by "coddling" the throat, and chills b over-clothing the body and shunning the cold air. Hundreds of invalids would be well and active if they were forced to go out and take their share of the world's work.

MAX O'RELL'ON KEEPING YOUNG.

It is restlessness, ambition, discontent and disquictude that make us wrinkles on our faces. Wrinkles do not appear on faces that have constantly smiled. Smiling is the best possible massage. Contentment is the Fountain of Youth.

We complain when we ought to be thankful, we weep when we ought to rejoice, we fidget and fret. Instead of smiling, which keeps the cheeks stretched and smooth, we frown--which keeps them contracted and engraves wrinkles on them. Instead of looking at the rosy side of things.

The organs of man are like the works of a clock. If they are not used. chine is kept well oiled and regulariy wound up. It goes.

It is activity, it is work that keens that makes you feel that you are not a useless piece of furniture in this on your face. Work, work again, work always:

written to the Department and received a questionnaire in reply. It would be a great thing if they could get a band going in the school, and it would be a recruiting ground for the Town Band. They had had their swimming test for the senior certificate, and the weather had turned out cold, and eight of the 16 candidates would not face the water. The district inspector brought a swimming expert with him, and seven of the eight candidates passed, and two got medallions. The junior test was to be held this week. In regard to the garden, there was good soil there but it needed treatment with lime, and some manure put into it. Messrs. Scriven and Drake promised to get a load of stable manure and a bag of lime for the school. In reply to Mr Buchanan, Mr Dalrymple said the morning attendance at the sloyd class was 22, and 14 from the district schools in the afternoon. He would be pleased to see any of the parents visit the sloyd class when at work. He would also like to see parents on any other matter in regard to the education of their children. In answer to Mr Hughes, Mr Dalrymple said a teacher at the school was qualified to take the children for swimming, and a fallen basket-ball pole would be attended to. Mr Buchanan suggested that the Department be written to and thanked for the work done in the school ground. Mr Drake moved that that be done. Seconded by Mr Wells, and carried. Mr Dalrymple said the planting of more trees in the school plantation would soon have to be attended to. This was referred to the plantation trustees.
