CHURCH FAIR.

The Raglan Methodist Ladies Gates have baked cakes to be sent to the district men abroad, and the Hall on Wednesday, 12th inst. The stalls made an attractive display, and the stallholders were soon busy disposing of their goods. The fair was opened by the Rev. W. R. Harrison, who commended the ladies on their activities. He said that although there were people who believed that all activities. He said that although there were people those connected with patrock efforts should cease at a time like this, the Church had a great work to do at all times, and the organisation of this fair showed that there were people in Raglan who wanted to help the Church to dark agreed work to do at all times, and the organisation of this fair showed that there were people in Raglan who wanted to help the Church to acry on that work.
