From Different Angles.

AT the annual meeting of the Beaufort Golf Club on Friday-night, 27th March, a discussion arose as to whether the stove in the Golf House would be satisfactory, in the event of the building being taken over by the District Warden as an emergency hospital.

Mr R. C. Hodgetts remarked that as District Warden, he presumed it was alright, but as a member of the Golf Club, he knew it was not. (Laughter).

Mr Hodgetts - Should they bud gett for two years ahead, or leave it till next annual meeting? He suto recommend that the club go in- gested a levy of 5/ on members to stabilise the club, and enable them to play at other tournaments. No Sheep Show this Year. - At a special meeting of the Sheep Show committee of the A. and P. Society, it was decided to abandon this year's sheep show. The advisability or otherwise of holding stud sales was discussed. Finality was not reached; the matter being referred to a meeting of the committee, to be held in July.

Identity Cards. - Identity cards to be issued to all Australians will be of postcard size, and will bear the name and address of the person to whom they are issued. They must be carried constantly, and to avoid wear, holders are asked to keep their cards in envelopes. If a card is defaced, it must be produced before another will be issued. A charge of 2/6 will be made to replace a card lost or destroyed. Mr Cuthbertson moved that all the cement boxes, etc., be shifted. The president - That was the committee's job.

In reply to Mrs Watkin, the president said they should allow the District Warden to use the crockery and linen in the golf house for the emergency hospital, if required. It might be wise to remove the more expensive crockery.

Mrs L. Watkin moved that 2 doz, of the more expensive crockery be removed.
