Mrs Jenner, who was a prisoner of war in Japanese hands for three years, gave a very interesting talk on her experiences. A very enjoyable evening was spent on Friday, 23rd Novr. when more than 30 friends of Sister Elwyn Norman assembled at her home to welcome her back from Morotai, where she had been serving as a member of the Army Nursing Service. A euchre tournament was conducted. Sister Norman described many interesting incidents of her life in the Islands. A delicious supper was served, following which Mr C. R. Louden welcomed the guest of the evening; expressing his delight in seeing her looking so fit and well. Sister Norman briefly responded, and said she was particularly pleased to see among those present, Alb. Smith former prisoner of war. Mr Webster: That appeal, he took it, was for 'administrative work in Melbourne. The R.S.L Distressed Diggers' Fund was open to any cases coming before the Dads, as well as the League. The appointment of a repatriation officer seemed du plication to him.

Mr Buchanan: He saw it that way, too. The State Executive were trying to keep up with the expansion of the association That service was already available through the Repatriation Commission.

Mr Webster: Those officers were already available to any serviceman at Anzac House There were advisory officers available for everything a serviceman needed, but he did not care i there were 30 men advising providing they did a 100 per cent. job. The local Repatriation Committee would also pass on all the advice available. Mr Buchanan said he was quite in accord with building up their local fund.

Mr Duke pointed out that cases needing assistance would crop jup of volunteers who were not sent out of Australia, and who were ineligible for membership of the R.S.L.

Mr Webster said he thought that before long the constitution of the league would be altered to take in all volunteers, but that was only his own opinion. The men referred to were entit led to repatriation benefits and everything the R.S.L. had to of fer, excepting that they could not wear a badge. Mr Buchanan said that any man who had six months' service was entitled to all hospital, medicinal and vocational training penefits. Mr Webster said he was behind Mr Duke in the matter of a local fund.

the sixth round of the Western Plains Cricket Competition, and were soundly defeated by a better balanced batting side. As Skipton had remained unbeaten prior to this match, good cricket against the strong Derrinallum team was to be anticipated, and Derrinallum, sent in to bat first opened strongly with Woolley and Bourke; the first wicket falling at 48, when Austin smartly stumped Woolley off Notman's bowling. Russell, who followed immediately went for the bowling, and a merry knock for 29 ended when he mishit Notman into Peit's hands at cover. With a score of 2 for 94 at tea. Derrinallum were set to go for runs, and at the compulsory declara. tion, were 4 for 174. Bourke, who opened, had scored a classical 80 with good, safe shots all round the wicket. Skipton, faced with the task of getting 175 in 105 minutes, opened strongly; Austin and Guthrie putting on 54 runs in 30 minutes, before Austin was smartly stumped by Bourke off Brewer. This was most unfortunate for Skipton as a slump followed, and with the pressure on, later batsmen were required to try and force a draw, but the side was all out for 94, with minutes left for play. # FROM THE COMMONWEALTH LOANS DIRECTOR TO l'o the scores of thousands of voluntary vorkers throughout Australia who formed our war loan committees, or acted as secrearies of our war savings groups, I say that \ustralia needs your services now as much as t any time in the war years. Our organizaion which you helped to build, and which unctioned most successfully in encouraging National Savings during the war, must coninue for the nation's welfare.

ublic willingness, fostered by your efforts, o limit spending and to save money during he war, was one of Australia's strongest weapons. If we are to keep prices down in the change-over from war to peace, the same restraint in spending our accumulated purchasing power is just as necessary, until goods available to us once more equal our spending power. At the same time, Australia still needs money for war commitments, for the repatriation and rehabilitation of service men and women.

In brief, apart from our national obligations, we have very serious personal responsibilities. To spend too much now is to buy too soon. If we buy only what we need until goods become more plentiful we shall get value for our money in a wider choice of better goods at reasonable prices. Until that time, to keep prices stable, our surplus money is still needed in the savings reservoir of Commonwealth securities.

It is to YOU - the Commonwealth's Loan Committee workers and savings group secretaries — that we look to perform the very responsible task of telling your fellow Australians why this must be so to complete our victory.

You have done a magnificent job for Australia during the war. I urge you to stay on the job to finish the job! I urge you to make your objective the maintenance of your loan committees and savings groups at their peak strength, and to develop sales of War Savings Certificates and stamps to the fullest possible extent.
