BERNARD CARTER OF "THE COUNTRY HOUR"

BERNARD CARTER, actor-writer-agriculturalist, formerly of Perth, now lives in Sydney, where he works for the A.B.C.'s Rural Broadcasts Department.

THE farmer is the most important man in Australia oday," said Bernard Carter, inter viewer and outside broadcaster for the Admiralties. Stationed in Madang the A.B.C.'s "Country Hour," which is heard Mondays to Fridays at opportunity of using the Admiralties. Stationed in Madang for eighteen months, he had ample opportunity of using the Admiralties. 12.15 p.m. over the Interstate

"The new generation on the land is being brought up to realise that farming is a business just the same as stockbroking," continued Mr. Carter. "The man on the land has long passed the day of being a 'Dad' or a 'Dave,' and must be kept informed of new methods to solve and the trend of the harramundy variety." That cut production costs, and the trend of the harramundy variety. him with this information service." Mr. Carter.

months ago on his discharge from the R.A.A.F. He intended going to America, but while in Sydney decided to do some free-lance writing. For the A.B.C. he prepared interviews-for Frank Legg's Weck End Magazine" and Fred Simpson's "Meet the Travellers." John Douglass (the A.B.C.'s Director of Rural Broadcasts) read the interviews and asked Mr. Carter to write ten scripts for the Country Hour's Thursday scature "Agricul-ture in Other Lands." He was then invited to join the staff of Rural Broadcasts.

Bernard Carter is a graduate of ongerenong Agricultural College in Victoria and a Bachelor of Agriculture of Melbourne University.
He had a 3,000 acre wheat and sheep property at Lake Camm in Western Australia, but sold it and bought an orchard property close to Perth, so as to be near the radio centre. He did some free-lance acting with the A.B.C. there and for a time was an appounder in commercial radio.

Notwithstanding these assurances given by My Chifley, the Graziers' Federal Council maintains that the present grant, which is derived from the Petrol Tax is quite inadequate to make up for the lag in war time road construction and considerable additional funds should be made available for this purpose

CONTAINERS FOR WHEAT AND OATS.

The Australian Wheat Board announces that the recent amendment to the Cleanliness (Food) Regulations, permitting the use of superphosphate and sulphate of ammonia bags as containers for wheat and oats, provided they are clean and have been washed, pertains so far as the Board is concerned, only to the delivery of wheat in bulk to silo stations. Under no circumstances will growers be permitted to deliver bagged wheat in the above containers. All bagged deliveries must be made in New Cornsacks only.

POSTAL SUNDAY SCHOOLS. All the Churches are now conducting postal Sunday schools from their headquarters.
