This was having a detrimental e fect not only on country and under observation. Mr Laney's The Beaufort Town Band held country townspeople, but also on out. The victim of the accident, Wilson and R. Saddlier divided 1 for city people, rail fares had only been raised the merest fraction. The candidate concluded by expressing the belief that the ountry Party policy would prelominate at the next State election. Because of the callous disregard of country interests by the Liberal Party, and because it had been shown that Labor's socialistic policy was not acceptable to the people, he had every confidence that the Country Party's progressive policy would meer the needs of the whole of the State. Another 400 votes at

PRINCE - NIXON.

St. Ignatius Church, Richmond, on Feby. 18, 1950 was the setting for the marriage, with Nuptial Mass, of Georgina Nixon (past pupil of the F.J.C. Vaucluse Convent), youngest daughter of Mrs H. Nixon, Church St., Richmond, to Frederick William, eldest son of the late Mary Prince, and Mr F. Prince, at present in N.Z. Rev. Father Lachal, S.J., officiated. The bride was given away by her eldest brother, Mr Roy Nixon, of Dandenong. A gown of rich white floral taffeta, featuring a light. fitted bodice and a full skirt of tulle, extending to a medium length train was worn; her hips being draped with the same taffeta, which had a striking effect. Her finger tip veil had a coronet of German myrtle and orange blossom over 100 years old, kindly lent by Mrs Jones, of Kew, who also wore it on her wedding day, and it originally belonged to her mother, Mrs Hamstedt. The bride carried a trailer of gardenias, falling from a white padded silk moire Prayer Book. Her sister-in-law, Mrs Lou Nixon, was maid of honour, and looked charming in her pale lavender taffeta frock, with over lace and mittens to match. She wore a close-fitting toque of pink feathers, and carried a bouquet of pink and coloured carnations. The bridegroom's gift to the bride was a marquisette brooch in the shape of a basket of flowers. The gift to the maid of honour was a useful one for her home. Mr William Prince attended his brother as best man. The reception was held at Kenilworth House, South Yarra, where Mrs Nixon, assisted by friends, received the guests. Rev. Father Lachal acted as chairman. Mrs Nixón wore a black frock with shoulder spray of frangipanni, with off the face

white picture hat and black veil.

The bride travelled in a pink linen suit, with black accessories.

Many telegrams and lovely and useful presents were received. Mr and Mrs Prince will make their

HANSLOW CUP SOIL CONSER-VATION COMPETITION.

JUDGING COMPLETED.

FIELD DAY

Judging of the Pyrences Region Hanslow Cup Soil Conservation Competition has been completed and the judge, Mr R. G. Thomas, Senior Conservation Officer of the Soil Conservation Authority, is expected to announce the results

Thirty farms in the Shires of Stawell Ararat, Lexton, Ripon and Avoca were entered in the compettion. This is considered an excellent response to the call for entries in this the first competition of this nature to be conducted in this district. Many valuable and interesting points con-MARMSTRONG STREET SOUTH cerning grazing and farm management were gleaned from the farms entered in the competition, and these will be amplified in the judge's report, which is to be circulated throughout the Pyrenees Region.

> In addition to the winner of the Hanslow Cup and Soil Conservation Authority prize, the best entry in each shire shall receive a prize donated by the various shire councils. These prizes will be presented at a field day to be held of black overchecked with grey on the Hanslow Cup winner's

When the winners of the various awards are announced particulars of the field day will be made known. This field day is certain to be interesting and informative, and a big gathering of farmers and graziers is anticipated. The members of the newly formed Soil Conservation Authority are expected to attend, along scalds on the arms and chest. with Mr H. Bolte, Minister for Soil Conservation.
