Whenever people go away for a holiday, buy new clothes, furniture, a car, or a home, somebody is sure to say, "I wish I had their luck." What do they mean, luck? In the great majority of cases such things are not the result of luck but of steady saving—the putting away of a few pounds or shillings com pay-day in a Commonwealth Sowings Bank account.

Those who depend on a lucky break to provide them with the comforts and necessities of life usually earn their money the hard way, only to part with it the easy way. They keep trying for the million-to-one chance, while others, who know that saving is a certainty

HEALTH REPORTS

The Ripon Shire Council dealt with the following health reports at Monday's meeting:-

Dr. J. B. Donaldson Skipton o epidemic. — Received. From Dr. Gordon Little, Beaufort, reporting for April;—No diseases during April. Number of respiratory affections prevalent, and some cases severe type; complications prevaent. Pneumonia and intestinal fections occurring. — Received. Beaufort, submitted the following annual report:—The most wide the epidemic of chicken pox which swept through the children of school age in the second half f the year. It was not of a very virulent type, however, and complications were entirely absent. There were 11 cases of scarlet fever between August and the end of the year. These cases were confined to five families and no secondary infections occurred There was no evidence that the children were infected from milk as each family had a different source of supply. The Diphtheria

Immunization Campaign, which was due to be carried out in 1949. could not be commenced owing to ne poliomyelitis epidemic and other circumstances. No case of poliomyelitis occurred in the Beaufort area, although it was LOCAL DEALER known that a number of residents living outside the shire had circulated among the townspeople while in the pre-paralytic stage The comparative immunity of Beaufort and Ballarat districts to poliomyelitis suggests that climatic conditions play some part in the distribution of the disease, as warmer areas to the north, south. east and west showed a higher incidence of the disease; although. other factors being equal, Balarat and Beaufort should have shown a higher incidence, being as they are on the main western railway and highway, and therefore more fected persons. - Received. SCHOOL NOTES

Mr James Russell, of Carngham, has been elected to the council of the Ballarat A, and P, Society. Congratulating Mr Russell on his appointment at the council's meeting, the vice-president, Mr A. C. Fisken, said he believed Mr Russell would be an acquisition to the society and carried a great tradition of service to the council.

APPLICANT LOSES INTEREST IN FOUNDRY PERMIT.

We take the following from the 'Ballarat Courier" of May 10:-"In view of the delay likely before shortages of labour and materials were overcome, I had lost interest in my application for a permit to establish a foundry on the Ballarat Common," said Mr A. M. Crick, of Beaufort, on May

He said, however that he was still desirous of going on with his purpose of establishing the factory if a permit could be obtained immediately.

Mr Crick's application for a permit to build a foundry was that stated by Mr J. J. Sheehan, Labor candidate for Ballarat, to have been refused by the State Government.

Mr Crick said he had not persisted in his application after it had not been granted by the Minister for Housing, Mr Warner, earlier this year, and was not aware that the matter was contentious until it was raised recently.

Mr Crick said he was employed as an engineer by the Commonwealth Aircraft Corporation during the war, and when hostilities ceased, he came to Beaufort, saw opportunities of starting in business for himself, and did so. At present he was employing two lad assistants

Until recently he had been training two other workmen, but these had left to go rabbiting and do other seasonal work although there was plenty of work in the foundry had they wished to stay,

Mr Crick said he had made no egort to replace them. So far as he was concerned, he said, he would continue at Beaufort. He said he had enough work to keep his foundry working for some time making parts for a Melbourne firm which had a contract with the State Electricity Commission.

Mr Crick at one stage inspected a building on the former guncotton factory site but found it unsuitable.

He said his reason for wanting to shift to Ballarat was that he was more likely to get extra men there to do the additional work he could get.

What do they mean, luck? in the great majority of cases such things are not the result of luck but of steady saving—the putting away of a few pounds or shillings each pay-day in a Commonwealth Savings Bank account.

Those who depend on a lucky break to provide them with the comforts and necessities of life usually earn their money the hard way, only to part with it the easy way. They keep trying for the million-to-one chance, while others, who know that saving is a certainty, are enjoying the fruits of thrift.

The Commonwealth Savings Bank offers everyone every assistance and encouragement to save at any one of the 420 Branches and 4,200 Agencies throughout the Commonwealth.
