SUPER IN BULK: From a study of costs incurred in handling superphosphate by its officers, the Transport Board believes that it will pay farmers hand-somely to get supplies in bulk. Cost of new bags is at present the equivalent of £3/9/6 per ton. It should be possible to save most of this sum for every ton superphosphate bulk by rail. If road transport for bulk superphosphate is used no additional cost will be incurred-by the grower if read freight ex works to property does not exceed:—Cost of bars, £3 9/6 per ton. Plus rail freight. Pus cartage from local railway station. The allowance for road delivery in bulk would therefore be an amount not far short of £5 per ton.

Beaufort Cycling Club held a 5-mile road race on 24th Novr., man, 80 sec., 1; Alan McKen-zie, 120 sec., 2; N. Broadbent, 60 sec., 3. Fastest unplaced time -K. Torney. Nine starters.

When Avoca cricketers, playing at Beaufort, were dismissed for the small total of 51, it seemed that their chances of winning were slight. The home batsmen however, fared even worse, with only 40 runs, and another success, although rather surprising, came Avoca's way. In all matches played on the Beaufort made 25. THE CONSUL REACHES BEAUFORT ORIGINAL CAR ATTRACTS Curious crowds were attracted o Messrs. J. R. Wotherspoon & Co's, showroom on Friday, 2nd Decr., when a most unusual style car made its first appearance in Beaufort. Their interest could be understood as this new car really is something entirely different. We refer to the Consul, Australia's newest car. Built by Ford Motor Compan the Consul is in many ways somewhat similar version of world famous V8 Custom Sedan Consul is the latest addiion to Ford's range of products: It is a five-six seater, four cylinier, family car with attractively-Australian-built bod and an English-built engine c The Consul is not a re-styled car. Its design is completel original and has been fully tes over a long period on a series ibmitted to the most rigorous tests under almost every concei-Outstanding features of the Consul are:—Smooth riding; smooth running of the new style "over-square," overhead valve engine; smart appearance achieved by flowing body lines. Wotherspoon & Co. stated that until recently car engines designed in England were, to a large extent, controlled in regard to the relation between bore and stroke by a method of taxation which had a bias against bore diameter. When this method of taxation was altered and a fixed charge irrespective of engine dimensions substituted, Ford engineers seized the opportunity to produce the "over-square" engin — that is, an engine in which the bore diameter of the cylinders is greater than the length of the stroke.
