TFS COAT OF ARMS

In 1974 the College of Arms, London, a department of the Royal Household, advised that the Society had been granted a Coat of Arms – the first such organisation in Australia to gain this achievement.

The Arms depict a rod of Aesculapius, the traditional symbol of medicine, between the two wheels representing the two divisions of the Tramways industry – trams and buses.

The crest shows two hands grasping a wheel as a symbol of perpetuity and friendship.

The motto, In Lineis Tutis literally translates to "On sure lines", linking the sound management of the Society to the tramways industry.
