

New siren provided by Lions

The Lions Club of Warrandyte has provided the Warrandyte Rural Fire Brigade with a new fire siren.

Lions Club vice-president Mr. Max Magill said the club had been told the old siren was outdated and members felt it would be an ideal community benefit project to replace it.

At a recent ceremony the new siren was officially handed over to brigade captain Rod Ewing. Three local ministers of religion, Father Vyn Bailey, the Rev. R. Featherstone and the Rev. Stan Stewart participated in the ceremony.

In the photo above, fire brigade captain Rod Ewing accepts the new siren from Lions president, Keith Webb.

At a dinner at the Park Orchards Chalet in June, Mr. Keith Webb was installed as president. About 100 people attended the ceremony.

Mr. Webb and his officers were installed by the district governor, Mr. Mick Williams.

A major Warrandyte Lions' project, still in the planning stage, is the provision of a diabetes testing service for all local residents. They hope to be able to release details quite soon.

At a testing service run recently by Templestowe Lions, a nurse assisting with the project tested herself, and discovered she was a diabetic!

Cyril (Granny Davis) Street has given it away after more than 20 years on the baker's run. They reckon he's made enough dough to refire, but Cyril says he still needs the bread, so he won't be loafing.

The cab driver was strong on speed, weak on ecology.

Loved Warrandyte, he said, as he wheeled around those downhill Melbourne Hill curves like a candidate for kamikaze school.

No, no. The bush didn't appeal to him. Neither the clear cool air.

But the road! Those bends! Tremendous!

B-R-R-R-R-M!

Ashen-faced passenger says he'll never again miss the last bus home.

Late arrival of the D.T. Council's card announcing the hard rubbish collection had a few of the locals wingeing. Some of 'em didn't even get a weekend in which to do the right thing. Blokes dragging out junk in the dark; and the scavengers barely had time to get organised!

"Mummy says you can't come in and play", said the little girl to her friend up KG Road way the other day.

"She says she doesn't want anyone in the house till she's cleaned up the Christmas mess".

Gee, Mum mightn't win the Good House-keeping of the Year Award. But she obviously had one helluva great Christmas!

Environment League t-shirts look very nice on some of the local sorts. Lovely 3-D effect with the league symbol ("W" — Yarra River) winding over hill and dale. Proceeds to the primary school. Elaine Wilson (844 3621) has a few left. Value at $2.50.

What price Bill Riggs for the flying half-mile in the False Alarm Handicap? The siren wailed forth, Bill poked his head out of the den, sniffed the air, and took off. Just testing, Bill, but as a leading Lion you should have been there anyway.

Marshall wins seat

St. Andrews architect, Mr. Robert Marshall, won the Shire of Eltham north riding extraordinary elections last month.

Standing on a strong conservation platform, Mr. Marshall beat his opponent, Research pig farmer Mr. Stan Jupp.

Mr. Marshall's strongest support came from North Warrandyte.

This is how the figures came in.

Kangaroo Ground: Jupp 99, Marshall 74. Pantom Hills: Jupp 110, Marshall 114. Wattle Glen: Jupp 95, Marshall 92. St. Andrews: Jupp 115, Marshall 123. Kinglake: Jupp 19, Marshall 24. North Warrandyte: Jupp 167, Marshall 313. Research: Jupp 249, Marshall 284. Hurstbridge: Jupp 268, Marshall 217. Postal: Jupp 97, Marshall 151. Total: Jupp 1211, Marshall 1392.

Ratepayers will be required to vote in council elections in both the Shire of Eltham and the City of Doncaster and Templestowe on Saturday, August 24.

Nominations will not be closing in either municipality until after this issue of the Diary appears, but it is strongly rumoured that Cr. Allan Morton of Park Orchards will not be contesting his seat as Warrandyte ward representative on the city council.

It is also believed that Cr. Don Ingersole of Bradleys Lane may be facing a strong challenge in the north riding of the shire.

WARRANDYTE ELECTION

Mr. Robert White, of West End Road, Warrandyte, has announced he will stand as a candidate for the Warrandyte Ward.

Mr. White is a well-known sportsman in the district. After playing football with Fitzroy and Carlton, he later became playing coach of Warrandyte Football Club.

He is also a former captain of the Warrandyte Cricket Club and last season served as president. Mr. White is a journalist on the "Australian."

SCHOOL PLEA TO MINISTER

Strong requests for two new schools in Warrandyte — one primary and one secondary — will be put to the Minister of Education (Mr. Thompson) by local residents later this month.

This move follows continuing representations by Mr. Norman Lacy, M.P. for Ringwood.

Mr. Lacy has arranged for a deputation from the Warrandyte School Committee to meet the minister and discuss educational problems in the area.

Local parents have been concerned about conditions at the primary school for some time.

The acting principal, Mr. Barrie Borley, has described the school's site in Forbes Street as being "grossly inadequate" for the current enrolment of more than 500 children.

The steady encroachment of playing space by portable classrooms over the years has resulted in the children becoming more and more frustrated and could be contributing to social and behavioural problems at the school, according to some staff members.

The Education Department has a site for a second primary school in Warrandyte West, behind the Golden Gate area. The committee deputation will ask that the building of this school be commenced as soon as possible.

The deputation also hopes to be able to underline to the minister the desperate need that exists for a secondary school catering for pupils from Warrandyte and surrounding areas.

The Warrandyte Secondary School Project Steering Committee, formed last year as the result of several public meetings, prepared a detailed case for the establishment of a Warrandyte annexe to the Diamond Creek Technical School.

This proposal was ultimately rejected by the Education Department, the only concession being the provision of a school bus service to Diamond Creek.

"This only further compounded the problem", a spokesman for the steering committee told the Diary this week.

"Our submission showed that Warrandyte children were already attending no less than seven state secondary schools out of the area, the closest being 5½ miles away. The department simply zoned us to another one, adding to the problems of travelling and further fragmenting the teenage population in our community".

The steering committee has been broadened with the support of the school committees from Park Orchards, South Warrandyte and Wonga Park primary schools.

"We are now pressing for the building of a comprehensive secondary school for the district", the spokesman said.

"A site somewhere in, say, South Warrandyte would be ideal. And we are keen that the proposed school should be established with the closest possible links with the four communities it will — hopefully — serve.

"There is a desperate need for community facilities in the district, serving the diverse interests of children, youth and adults. The proposed new school could be planned to cater for all these needs.

"These are some of the ideas we hope to be putting to the Minister of Education", the spokesman concluded.

About people

Parents and pupils at Warrandyte Primary School have been shocked to hear of the recent illness of the school's principal, Mr. Len Mares.

Mr. Mares has been alternating between Prince Henry's Hospital and a convalescent hospital in Hampton. His many friends — young and old — wish him a speedy and complete recovery.

Mr. Barrie Borley is acting as deputy principal in Mr. Mares' absence and Mrs. Rosemary Laity is now non-teaching vice-principal. A new teacher, Miss Aileen Clarke, has been appointed to teach the Grade III formerly taught by Mr. Borley and Mrs. Laity.

John Voller, of Third Street, recently won the Victorian Ceramic Group's annual award for stoneware.

ROO'S NEWS

By Kanga

The Ladies' Guild of the Kangaroo Ground Presbyterian Church will stage a "Fashion and Things" parade on Tuesday, August 13.

The show, in conjunction with Lynne Hardiman, will begin at 1.30 p.m. in the Kangaroo Ground kindergarten hall.

Proceeds will help restoration work on the century-old church. Admission is 75c and afternoon teas will be provided.

Another active group at Kangaroo Ground is the primary school mothers' club.

On Friday, September 27 they are holding a wine tasting and mannequin parade starting at 8 p.m. at Templestowe.

Ritter Davis Pty. Ltd. have donated a display home in which to hold the function.

TV and radio artists will be among the guests. There are only a limited number of tickets at $4.50 each. Jill Holyoak (712-0272) and Robyn Hughes (844-3423) are in charge of tickets.

Proceeds from the evening will assist to stock the new school library.

CHILD CARE: LOCAL MEMBER TELLS

Australian Government plans for pre-school education at child care centres were outlined by the Federal Member for Casey, Mr. Race Mathews at the annual meeting of the North Ringwood Primary School Mothers' Club.

Mr. Mathews told the meeting that the Australian Government planned to have available within five years a place in a pre-school centre or a child-care centre for any child whose parents wanted to take advantage of the service.

Pre-school education would be provided free of charge and there would be a sliding scale of charges for child care services.

(As the Diary went to press, there was speculation that the child care program would be shelved as part of the Government's anti-inflation measures).

"We have already taken action under the national pre-school program to provide more places in pre-school teacher training colleges", Mr. Mathews said.

"The next step is building the new centres through which the Government's mothers work are receiving plans can be put into effect".

"The other day I visited the pilot child care project which is being conducted jointly by the Australian Government and the Knox City Council".

"Sixty-six children whose day care in the homes of other mothers who prefer to stay at home .

"This is the next best thing to a child receiving its own mother's care .

"Weekly charges for the service are up to $12 a child according to the means of the family, and a weekly fee of $12 per child is paid by the council to the mothers who are providing care .

"None of the present groups is larger than four children, but the council has used Australian Government grants to acquire two houses of its own in which up to 20 children can receive care .

"We are launching the Child Care Program at a time when there are places in child care centres for only one in every ten of the children who need them .

"At present, there are places in child care centres for only 34,500 of the 345,000 children under six whose mothers are members of the workforce", Mr. Mathews said.

Apex Club tribute

The Apex Club of Warrandyte reached a unique milestone at their last meeting in June.

More than 40 members from the Apex Clubs of Melbourne, Dandenong, Hawthorn, Doncaster, Templestowe and Warrandyte attended the meeting, representing an unbroken chain of Apex Clubs spanning the past 40 years.

The oldest club present was Melbourne Apex which was formed in 1934.

Melbourne were responsible for the formation of Dandenong in 1952, and this process was repeated and finally reached Warrandyte in 1973 under the sponsorship of the Apex Club of Templestowe.

The story will be completed on August 25 at Alfred's Homestead when the Apex Club of Warrandyte will be formally presented with its charter by Apex Association officials. Reservations for this evening can be made on 844 2179.

Space wanted: then and now

What's new with parking in Yarra Street?

Nothing!

It was a problem when one G. Hoile, then secretary of the North Warrandyte River Reserves wrote to the "Herald" a long time ago.

It's still a problem.

But let's hear from Mr. Hoile.

He put the parking problem — and the environment question — in rather eloquent terms in his letter, which the "Diary" reprints from the "Herald" of December 27, 1934:

"In the early days, when Warrandyte was a little bush hamlet, houses were built as close to the river as possible, to provide water for the home. Gradually, on one pretext or another, the land that should have been a beautiful river reserve was settled on, not even leaving the chain and a half which is shown on the plans, the usual river reserve. Today the river frontage to Warrandyte has been devastated by floods, even encroaching to the opposite buildings on the main road. What was a few weeks ago a scene of sylvan beauty is now a muddy stream, on one side almost devoid of trees and shrubs, the river bank being piled high with great trees uprooted, piles of tangled tea-tree, and refuse.

"The beautiful bridge at Warrandyte, so beloved by artists is now an ugly structure when bereft of the graceful wattle trees, and the verdant islands are nothing but mud flats piled with logs. One island, a dream when the wattle was in bloom, was reduced to one-third of its size. Now is the opportunity for the town-planners to come to the aid of this beauty spot and give the Government the benefit of their experience to help to make it worthy of Victoria's 100 years. All the houses and shops which are on the riverside have been flooded and should be removed before it is too late. Surely the Government, which permitted the riverside to be alienated, should resume this area, and help to establish the owners on more suitable land.

"On the main Warrandyte road there is much need for a parking area, which is not available owing to the formation of the country. If this river area were resumed it would be available, and the additional reserve would be a blessing to the large, increasing population from the suburbs, which are reaching out on all sides from the tram terminus at Kew. There are trustees for the river reserves, who are anxious to obtain more open spaces for the people, and who from time to time have obtained additional areas of land; but, even so, the future generations will not have proper provision made for them unless this matter is taken in hand. As it is the river has undermined the bank, and much land will be lost.

"Recently a beautiful, graceful tree at the bridge-head on the north side of the river was ruthlessly cut down by the men engaged on repair work, simply because they wanted a temporary post. Residents are justly indignant, seeing the ruin by flood water added to by those engaged to repair the damage. Such lack of vision by those entrusted with our priceless treasure is deplorable. The tree took years to grow, and was perhaps as old as the village".

Like we said, what's new?

BOYS AND GIRLS HAVE A BALL

Last month, Warrandyte Football Club challenged Warrandyte Netball Club to a "friendly" netball match.

The game was played on a particularly wet and muddy Sunday afternoon.

After soaking the ball in water for two days to ensure that it weighed much more than the regulation 14 ozs., captain Alf Valentine forgot to inform his team that netball is a non-contact game and football tactics kept encroaching with interesting results.

"The girls seem to be different, somehow", one of the lipstick and mudstained footballers commented after the game.

The teams were:

Girls: Sharon Price, Abby Day, Alison Walker, Meredith Blair, Ingrid Kuynouchchev, Marg World and Sue Campbell.

Boys: Alf Valentine, John McCartin, Gary Broome, Warwick Blair, Colin Walker, Max Summers and Nicky Day.

With their advantages of height, weight, strength, water-logged ball and sheer audacity, the boys won by 9 goals (according to them) and 7 goals (according to the girls).

A return match (football, this time) is to be played this month. The girls are reported to be on a strict and strenuous training routine.

Rumours that they plan to steal the boys' boots and soak them in the river for a week beforehand are being discounted by football club officials.

The boys are now so keen on netball, they are considering playing the game next summer.

LIONS SEEK SPECTACLES

The Lions Club of Warrandyte is still calling for spectacles for distribution to needy people in developing countries.

"We have had good support from local people", a Lions spokesman said this week, "but we still want a lot more if the campaign is to be a big success".

Spectacles can be left with Mr. Emil Lim, Riverview Motors, or Mr. Bill Riggs, newsagent.

COMEDY DATE IN ERROR

The Warrandyte Arts Association Drama Group's scheduled production for September, William Shakespeare's "The Comedy of Errors", has been deferred until later in the year.

Instead, the Group will present a drama in mid-September, and director Bob Karl has been retained for this production.

BUSHLAND PHOTO SHOW

A photographic exhibition, designed to create interest in a proposed wildlife reserve, is being held this weekend.

Organised by residents working to preserve 20 acres of unspoiled bushland at South Warrandyte, the exhibition is being held this Friday evening and Saturday morning, August 2 and 3, in the Lower Mall, Eastland shopping centre, Ringwood.

The exhibition is being opened by Mr. David McKenzie, M.P. for Diamond Valley.

The management of Eastland have provided space and amplifying equipment free of charge, in support of the project.

A petition urging the creation of the reserve will be available for signing, and residents working for the scheme will be there to answer questions.

Warrandyte meet Moorloobark this Sunday (Aug. 4) in what seems to be a keenly fought match.

Last time the sides met at Warrandyte, the home side won by two points.

But Moorloobark protested. They claimed that some Warrandyte players who had played on the Saturday in the second eighteen were not eligible to play on the Sunday.

The Eastern District League upheld Moorloobark's claim and Warrandyte lost the game.

Warrandyte will be keen to avenge that loss this Sunday. Coach John Tuckwell has called for an all-out effort, and if the Bloods can show the same do-or-die effort as they did last week against Yarra Glen they should win.

Club officials are hoping that as many local supporters as possible can make the trip to Mooroolbark this Sunday.

Warrandyte has a comparatively easy run home. If they defeat Mooroolbark they should account for South Wantirna and Rowville in the remaining games.

Three wins at the end of the season would put the club in the middle of the list.

In the seniors match against Yarra Glen each player showed a lot more desire to go in after the ball — something that had been lacking in previous games.

Next season club officials intend to recruit strongly and to provide incentive payments for all players.

Club officials are disturbed at the loss of the club jumpers. All players in possession of club jumpers must return them immediately.

The committee has passed a resolution that any player failing to return a jumper shall be liable for the cost of the jumper.

The under-13's were beaten on the last kick of the day against Lilydale and went down by four points. Best were: Delahunty, Woolcox, Brad Day, Garrick.

Coming events: August 10, Under-17 dance in the rooms. August 23: Annual seniors presentation night ball, South Warrandyte Hall, $10 double. August 30, Senior players' dinner at Coffee Bean Restaurant. September 30: Under-17 presentation night Coffee Bean.

NETBALL SUCCESS

At least two — and possibly four — Warrandyte junior netball teams have won their way into the finals.

Certainties are: under 16 and under 14B.

When this edition of the Diary went to press there was a strong possibility that both under 12C (section 2) and under 10 (A grade) would qualify for the finals on percentage.

DRAMA GROUP AUDITIONS

If you suspect you have hidden talent and are just waiting to be discovered, Tuesday, August 13 could be your lucky night.

On that night the Warrandyte Arts Association Drama Group is holding a series of general auditions in the Mechanics' Institute hall.

Auditions are being held to assist casting for "The Comedy of Errors", and the Group's next production,
